Lou Salica Retains Bantam Title

BALTIMORE, April 26 — (AP).—Lou Salica, staging a garrison finish after he had been outboxed in the earlier rounds, came back to win a unanimous decision over Baltimore's Lew Transparenti and retain his bantamweight title here last night.

Transparenti fought a courageous battle all the way, but weakened toward the end and barely weathered a terrific flurry of rights and lefts as the champion rallied in the fifteenth and final round.

The 22-year-old Baltimorean was groggy at the closing bell and all but out on his feet. It took just that for Salica, who gets tough when the chips are down, to hold on to the crown that he almost lost in the earlier rounds.

Transparenti got away to a flying start, capturing three rounds in a row, but Salica got going and from there out it was a battle royal. They belted each other at long range, stood toe to toe and slugged it out and mixed in terrific infighting.

Salica's ring craft enabled him to overcome Transparenti's three-inch advantage in reach.

In the eleventh, with Transparenti ahead to that point, the champion piled into his slender and rangy opponent with piston-like rights and lefts that slowed him down. In the 13th he waded into the challenger with battering infighting.

Transparenti weathered that and came back to take the 13th by a slight margin.

Salica came out in the 14th with a barrage of lefts and rights and in the 15th he had the challenger groggy on the ropes.

Suspects Eden May Fall Result Of Greece

(By KIRKE L. SIMPSON.)

WASHINGTON, April 26 (AP)—A comparative lull in the German attack on the last-stand Anglo-Greek defense line across Greece probably is traceable more to Nazi high policy than to terrain difficulties or the grim resistance still being offered by British and Greek rearguards.

What Hitler's strategy is aimed at is presenting an object lesson to the Greeks that their British allies, not the Greeks themselves, are his foes. He is obviously seeking, even before the last fateful scenes of a perilous British retreat from Greece are enacted, to induce a complete Greek surrender, and probably proffering generous terms to Greek commanders in the field.

If this conception of Nazi strategy is sound, and the terms granted the surrendered Greek Army in Epirus tend to support it, a relaxation in the battering attack by Nazi mechanized spearheads on Greek positions west of the British front is understandable. Should the Greeks there follow the example of the hopelessly trapped army in Epirus and surrender in the field, British hopes of evacuating any substantial part of the force still in Greece would be doubly jeopardized.

Can't Repeat Dunkirk

They are gloomy enough in any case. No such miracle as the retreat from Dunkirk seems reasonably possible. The Royal Air Force cannot muster nearly as many fighting planes above Greece embarkation ports as they did over the Dunkirk beaches to ward off German bombing and machine-gun attacks. At Dunkirk the Metropolitan Air Force, the home guard of Britain itself, was thrown into the battle.

As the drama in Greece draws toward a close there is a rising tide of British press criticism of the Greek campaign. As a partial offset to this, however, Britons may derive some comfort from the fact that the Empire force sent to Greece was not larger. Unofficial estimates still insist that less than 100,000 Empire troops were involved. If it proves that there were more than that in Greece, the ultimate losses can only be increased.

London despatches indicate that some of the critics charge that the force sent to Greece was inadequate. There is little to suggest, however, that the outcome would have been much different if several times as many British troops had been sent there.

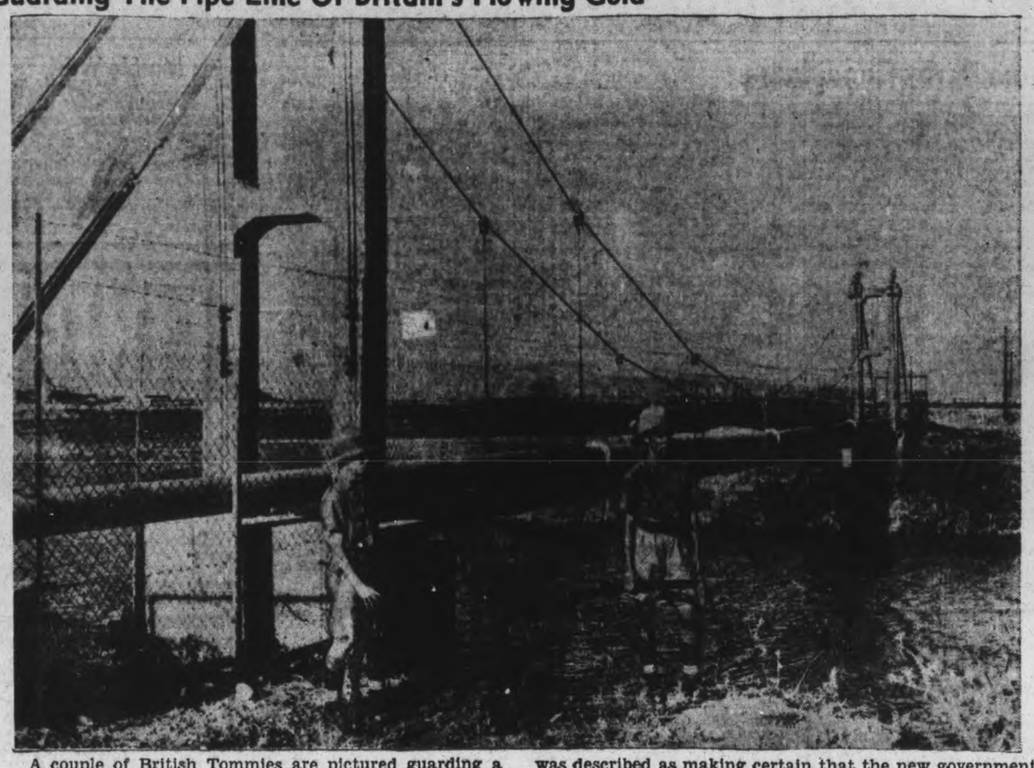
Churchill Not Endangered

Nevertheless, demands for somebody's head are quite probable in Britain and Australia. It does not appear likely that Prime Minister Churchill himself is endangered, although it was a similar British reverse in Norway that paved the way for his elevation to power over the late Prime Minister Chamberlain.

Many observers in London single out Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden as the probable target of political attack. Details of his conversations in Athens and in Turkey, of his discussions with General Wavell, Commander in the Middle East, and of what he learned about Yugoslav ability to wage at least a delaying battle have never been revealed.

They are destined to come out now, and bring the Balkan campaign into clearer focus. Despite the British defeat there, that campaign has some asset value for Great Britain. Mr. Churchill will make the most of those in his promised accounting, and there are increasing signs that he hopes for even more tangible offsets from North Africa.

Guarding The Pipe Line Of Britain's Flowing Gold



A couple of British Tommies are pictured guarding a section of the huge pipeline which stretches for hundreds of miles across the Syrian desert from Iraq to the Mediterranean Sea. The oil fields of Iraq, under British ownership, produces annually 4,000,000 tons of oil, that is piped from the heart of Iraq to the terminal at Haifa, Palestine. Arrival of strong British army at Basra on the Persian Gulf, was described as making certain that the new government of Sayid Rashid Ali, who came into power recently, through a coup d'etat, allegedly aided by the Nazis, would carry out its defence treaty with Great Britain. Another phase of the landing of the army is to thwart any German plan to seize the rich near eastern oil fields with parachute and airplane troops operating in the African desert.

Drastic Changes Seen Due In U.S. Spending

WASHINGTON, April 26 (AP).—Treasury Secretary Morgenthau asked the United States Congress yesterday for $3,500,000,000 new taxes, greater defence production, reduced non-defence spending, and safeguards against profiteering.

Morgenthau made no specific recommendations about how the new taxes should be raised in his formal statement. He told the House Ways and Means committee others would present the treasury's viewpoint.

These treasury proposals have been reported at the capital to provide steep increases in income surtaxes which may force many persons to pay six times as much income tax as before, and also to put new or additional taxes on soft drinks, liquor, cigarettes, gasoline and many other commodities.

Terming the proposed tax increase "unprecedented," Morgenthau said "the new taxes will seem a small price to pay" for the security of the nation to be insured by the defence program.

Together with existing taxes which may make the total Federal tax bill in the next fiscal year, beginning July 1, about $12,600,000,000, the secretary said "we shall find ourselves spending less than 15 per cent of our national income for the national safety."

"It would be a tragic error to assume that we can expand our defence production on a colossal scale and still go our usual ways, whether as a government or as individuals. It would be folly to assume that we can continue to spend now (for non-defence needs of either the government or civilians) as we did in normal times."

Six-Fold Increase

The committee already has before it a treasury plan which would increase existing income taxes as much as six times in some cases, and a counter-plan which would be somewhat less drastic on most of those who make less than $20,000 a year.

This counter-plan, prepared by the staff of the Joint Congressional Committee on Taxation, was reported to provide for a surtax on all net incomes above $2,000. The surtax rates would range upward from six per cent. In addition, taxpayers would have to pay the preesnt 10 per cent defence supertax, so that effective starting rate would be 6.6.

The initial surtax rate under the treasury program would be 11 per cent (12.1 when the supertax was added).

Both schedules would make the surtax additional to the normal income levy of four per cent (4.4 including supertax) and both would permit the deduction of tax and interest payments, contributions to charity, losses and the like. What remains after these deductions is the so-called net income.

In computation of the surtax, the two plans have radically different methods. Under the treasury's proposal, the surtax would not become effective until personal exemptions had been deducted from net income. These exemptions might range from $800 for a bachelor to as high as $6,000 for a married couple with 10 children. The counter-plan, however, would fix a flat $2,000 exemption for everybody before surtaxes applied.

Fire Extinguisher

A new fire-bomb extinguisher to douse Nazi-dropped fire-bombs is shown geting its first test in London. An asbestos lined metal case, on the end of a long pole, is dropped over the blazing luftwaffe calling card. A movable metal plate is slid underneath, and presto there the bomb is, safely encased in the air-tight case where it quickly smothers, and in which it can be carried off and disposed of.

Ontario County Organizes Hog Producers

WHITBY, Ont., April 26—(CP).—Live stock buyers and farmers of Ontario County at a meeting last night voted unanimously to establish a hog producers' association for the county and elected provisional executive officers.

The meeting passed a unanimous resolution to the Provincial Government asking that the Agricultural Department's bonus of $1.00 on select or Grade A hogs and 50 cents on B1 hogs be paid to all producers selling live hogs as well as those marketing rail grade hogs.

Under the present Federal legislation governing this phase of agriculture all marketed hogs reach the packing firms eventually due to the fact they must be rail graded before they can be paid for, Walter Thompson of Pickering, Ont., told the meeting.

P.C.V.S. PRESENTS - - -

Special The Examiner By a P.C.V.S. Student

After a self granted leave of absence for two weeks we return from hiding (?) to present another dissertation on doings at P.C.V.S. During our absence the floors of the corridors were oiled and the gym floor had its face lifted. The badminton courts can now be easily distinguished from the basketball boundaries, thanks to a myriad of white lines neatly and geometrically printed on the floor.

St. George's Day at P.C.V.S.

Wednesday, the twenty-third, was the sixteen hundred and thirty-eighth anniversary of St. George's death. The patron saint of England, St. George, was put to death at Nicomedia, April the twenty-third, three hundred and three. Nicomedia (now known as Ismid on a large map) is in Bithynia, near the Propontis, and was the last refuge for such famous men as Constantine and Hannibal.

So much for an introduction...

St George was honored on Wednesday morning at the Junior Assembly and again on Thursday at the Senior Assembly This repeat performance was at the request of many who wished to commemorate his death The service began by the showing of a slide depicting St. George slaying the dragon—symbol of dread and evil. Jean MacTavish gave a fervent recitation called the "Banner of St. George," to further this "Salute to Britain" and Mr. L. J. Pettit followed with a superb speech in which he outlined the legend of St. George and the import of St. George's Day. Mr. Pettit included some interesting facts about the swastika It formerly was the symbol of Aryan sun worshippers and is now the symbol of an individual called Adolf Schickelgruber (we think that's the spelling but Hitler is the more common appendage).

The student boy joined in reading the prayer for the King and Royal Family and the special Assembly ended with the singing of the National Anthem.

It is hoped that Britain and her allies thwart the forces of evil abroad in Europe today even as St. George killed the dragon in ancient times.

The Beginning of the End.

Reports were distributed this week to several hundred students whose fates depended on the two numbers after the percentage. Remarks varied everywhere from poor to excellent, while pupils' faces stretched longer or wider in scowls or smiles. Students groaned in boredom when teachers explained that "since this is a final examination for many, the papers will not be returned"; but sometimes this followed, "however I will arrange to discuss the papers with many who wish to see me after four." Many who passed in every subject began a mass exodus from the school to local factories, frantically seeking a war job that would enable them to leave school now under parts a, b, and c of section four, part ten, of the special provisions regarding Middle and Upper School examinations. Whew! This contingency would provide a positive method of avoiding possible failure at stiffer final exams in June. Even at this date there are many students continuing in their search for eight weeks of war work. Good luck to you!

Interlude.

The life of a correspondent, reporter, columnist news-hound or what-have-you, is strange and varied. Columns must be written under many changing conditions and atmosphere, since there is a deadline for news, believe-it-or-not. News must be written at all costs, whether it be squeezed in between homework and other activities or not. The extremes to which one can be put to was clearly illustrated on Monday evening at the local Y.M. C.A. Frequenters of this institution noticed the odd spectacle of a well-known scribe ponding the keys of a typewriter, selling soft drinks and candy, doing homework, and conversing with associates, all in the space of several hours. The pervading influences did not infiltrate into a certain column (we noticed), but nevertheless it can be seen to what extremes a reporter may be exposed.

Teasettes.

Stamps totalled six hundred dollars this week, five hundred and forty dollars the week before holidays. Good work!

Flags were awarded once again for the sale of War Savings Stamps. Special Commercial led their group with the high average of $10.83 per student. Betty Richardson received the flag for Special Commercial. XIII B Academic came a close second with an average of $10.38 per pupil. XA Commercial won in the second group and Jean Moore was presented with the flag. Phyllis Robertson represented 9 H Academic that sold the most Stamps in the Lower School.

Rings and pins arrived on Friday. Students will now be sporting these proudly whether they are in Grades IX or XIII.

A grotesque array of totem poles was on display in the main showcase Friday. These interesting little totem poles were cleverly carved by boy students of Grade Nine. There are 22 of them and everyone is worthy of high praise.

The Echoes will be distributed on Tuesday so don't forget to bring your quarter for each copy you ordered. Our school magazine is resplendent in a classy blue and silver cover that gives it still more distinction among school year books

Hastings Honors Pulfer Couple

HASTINGS, April 26—(ENS). — Mr. and Mrs. Eric Pulfer (nee Claudine Hoard), now of Toronto, whose marriage in Trinity United Church, Hastings, on Easter Saturday was an important event, returned to Hastings on Wednesday evening for a specially planned event in their honor.

The committee in charge of the social evening held in the Town Hall was Arthur Beomish, Cecil Oliver, James Moore, and Arnold Stevenson, and approximately 175 guests, including friends from the entire community, Norwood, Peterborough and Roseneath, gathered and enjoyed themselves in dancing, with the music furnished by Fife's Orchestra.

The main feature of the evening took place around midnight, directly after the service of refreshments. The honored guests were called to the platform and as James Moore read an appropriate address, Cecil Oliver presented the bride and groom with a purse of money as a gift from the community.

The groom, in well-chosen words, acknowledged the gifts and thanked everyone for planning a delightful time for them. As this was the first opportunity for many to meet them, hearty congratulations were extended to the bride and groom, who returned to Toronto following the enjoyable event.

Kiel A Fiery Spot

London, April 26 (CP).

"VERY substantial loads of bombs" were dropped on the big German shipyards of Kiel and Wilhelmshaven by the Royal Air Force last night after the planes penetrated heavy curtains of anti-aircraft fire, the air ministry news service said today.

The two places are Germany's largest centres of ship-building, cradles of many a German submarine and surface warship.

Toward the end of the attack large fires were seen burning so brightly that the bombing crews could make out the extensive areas devastated in previous blows at the shipbuilding centre.

There's A Story Behind
THE WORN HEEL

FARM SOLD.

Howard Fallis has bought the late Harry Clarke farm on the Peterboro-Port Hope highway south of Springville. The deal was put through by Bert Arnott.

FOR BRITISH FIRE FIGHTERS.

A small army of girl taggers took over all the corners in the downtown section early this morning in the drive for assistance for the British fire fighters who are carrying on the battle against Hitler's incendiary bombs. Apparently the campaign will be a success as the majority of the folk seen on the street this morning were wearing tags.

PICKING UP EMPTIES.

One of the first duties of the city's park staff these mornings is to pick up the empties. This morning they discovered an empty 40-ounce bottle near the War Memorial in Confederation Square, and yesterday morning they found two smaller "dead soldiers" in the same vicinity.

HOUSES "FUMIGATED."

Only as it indicates an obscure activity of the city's health department is it worth mentioning that nine houses in the city were fumigated this week. This means that a Toronto firm filled the places with cynanide gas to kill bedbugs. Five of the "treatments" were ordered by the Board of Health through Sanitary Inspector MacPherson.

DR. HARDY TO SPEAK.

Dr. E. A. Hardy, O.B.E., Toronto, chairman of the Board of Education in the Queen City last year, will be the speaker at Monday's luncheon of the Peterborough Rotary Club. His subject will be "Pursue Health as a Natural Asset."

A QUIET NIGHT

Police report a quiet night. Outside of a hit-and-run accident and the arrest of an intoxicated man who had fallen by the wayside in Confederation Square and had to be collected there was nothing but routine patrolling during the night.

HIT-AND-RUN ACCIDENT.

A truck belonging to the Beatty Transport was damaged late on Friday night when it was struck in front of the C.P.C. plant by an automobile, the driver of which did not stop. As the result of police investigation of the accident, charges against a local man will be heard in Police Court on Monday morning.

WAS PASTOR HERE

Rev. Dr. J. G. Brown of Vancouver, formerly of this city, was a visitor in the city early this week. He is a former minister of St. James' United church, and is now principal of Ryerson College of the United church, Vancouver. While in Peterborough Dr. Brown was a guest of Ernest V. Warne and William McLaren, Chamberlain street.

200 Rose Bushes To Be Placed In Stocker Bed

Frank Mitchel of Windsor, head of the Peterborough Bus Lines, brought two hundred hyorid tea roses to the city this morning for the Walter Stocker Memorial Rose Garden in Confederation Square, which he proposed some time ago to the city council.

The plants were trenched in this morning and will be permanently placed next week. Mr. Mitchell was delighted with the location of this garden, south and west of the citizens' war memorial in the park. The planting will be done under the supervision of the Parks Committee of the council and the Horticultural Society.

Alderman Roy, Parks chairman, told the Examiner that Mr. Mitchell included in his selections of varieties a number of the polyanthus type of roses, and after looking over the lay out of the garden he decided to get more polyanthus bushes to be used as a border.

The city's parks staff under the direction of Foreman Bert Cooper, has been preparing the bed, which consists of a large circle a short distance southwest of the civic war memorial. It is expected that a memorial tablet will also be erected at the same spot.

The parks staff has Confederation Square well groomed already and have also done some work at the junction of the park and the government parade ground. Other parks have also been taken in hand and the grass mowed everywhere. In fact the work is very much advanced over the average year.

Car Strikes Bridge

LAKEFIELD, April 26—(ENS).—Occupants of a car driven by Louis Hubble of Peterborough narrowly escaped injury when the car in which they were riding was damaged on Friday evening.

Coming from Peterborough into the village from the west, and after passing the Apsley-Bancroft bus, a tire blew out as the car came on the canal bridge, and drawing it to the left side of the bridge, resulting in badly damaged left fenders and the glass on that side being all broken.

Car Hits Parade 12 Women Hurt

TORONTO, April 26 (CP)—Four women were injured seriously last night when a car crashed into the rear of a column of members of the Canadian Auxiliary Territorial Service, a women's service unit, as they were marching along University Avenue. Eighty others suffered minor injuries.

Most seriously hurt were Margaret Craig, head injuries, Marjorie Gould, head and leg injuries, Phyllis Morrow, head injuries, and Alfreda Bolton, cuts and abrasions.

After the accident John A. Bain of suburban North York was charged by police with dangerous driving and operating a car without a permit.

The uniformed women were marching from Convocation Hall at the University of Toronto, accompanied by a soldier's band, when the accident happened. Soldiers assisted in carrying the women to Toronto General Hospital nearby while other members of the band seized the driver of the car as it came to a stop.

Second Baby Clinic Opening Wednesday

Dr. L. A. Clarke, M.O.H., is opening a babies' clinic in a room of All Saints' Sunday School building at Rubidge and Sherbrooke streets next Wednesday at 3 p.m. Mothers in the section of the city south of Simcoe street and in the southwestern area of Ashburnham are invited to bring their babies to this clinic, the second one which will now be operating in the city. The other one is at Central School for infants of the north end of the city.

Dr. Clarke said today that a clinic should be held in Ashburnham, preferably in the vicinity of Hunter and Mark streets, and eventually the Department of Health hopes to extend its work across the river with a clinic for that entire area of the city.

The Junior League is assisting at both the present clinics.

Military Camp Entertainment Well Received

Highlighting another week of entertainment for the troops in training at C.A. (B) T.C. 32 at Morrow Park on Thursday night, Madam Perry Laird fulfilled a return engagement with her troop of variety dancers. With the Red Shield hut well filled with enthusiastic soldiers, a group of about 25 talented dancers performed to the gratification of all the members of their large audience.

So well indeed were the efforts put forth appreciated, that when Lt.-Col. E. O. Keeler, M.C., V.D., spoke words of thanks on behalf of those in the camp, the roof was raised by the cheers that followed. The commanding officer suggested that Madam Perry be engaged as an instructor at his camp, and when the opinion of the soldiers under his command was asked, truly thunderous applause followed. The word "variety" describes the show probably better than any other could, for the numbers included the Highland Fling, by a four-year-old star which was woven amongst patterns created by ballet numbers and those of an acrobatic nature.

A full week was climaxed by the amateur show held on Friday night, during which members of respective companies vied with one another for the favor of the troops. Movies were shown on Monday and Wednesday, with Dorothy Lamour in the "Jungle Princess" and Margaret Lockwood in "To the Victor" being shown in that order.

The Salvation Army Temple Songsters, under the direction of Ben Smith, were heard on Tuesday night, when the soldiers displayed their ability to appreciate the finer in music.

Next week, as usual, a full sheet has been prepared to include several popular features. Movies will be shown on both Monday and Wednesday nights, and the Roman Catholic party will present a play on Tuesday night. A program by the Presbyterian choir of St. Paul's Church will be presented on Thursday and though Friday remains an open night at present, plans are being made for a feature to round out another week in the usual high-ranking style.

Census Offices Are Opened Up

Preparations are already under way for the taking of the census in West Peterborough, A. J. McClellan, the commissioner for this district, said this morning. Offices have been opened in the Barrie building and the staff of canvassers is now being appointed.

"There will be classes of instruction opened for them later on," Mr. McClellan stated.

The West Peterborough commissioner along with eight others from constituencies in this part of Ontario has been attending a class of instruction himself at Belleville this week, addressed by Dr. Lemieux of the Bureau of Statistics. The commissioners were there for two days receiving detailed instructions as to the carrying out of the census.

HASTINGS, April 26 (ENS)—The afternoon tea which was to be held at the home of Mrs. C. M. Baker under the auspices of the Mission Circle of Trinity Church was held in the church basement due to the illness of Mrs. Baker.

Salvage Drive Needs Helpers

The first two days collection in the local salvage drive were a success, Inspector James F. Reid stated this morning. A large amount of waste material was picked up in all sections of the city and is being sorted.

"The trucks promised by various firms and individuals all turned up," said Inspector Reid, "and they all did a good job. One feature has developed however and that is that there is a very real need for helpers to accompany the drivers of these trucks. Much of the salvage to be picked up is heavy, some of it too heavy for one man to handle. The firms are doing their part in supplying us with trucks and drivers. Now what we would like to have is half a dozen voluntary workers for Thursday and Friday mornings of the next four weeks to accompany the drivers and help them load up."

The starling has been blamed for many things since this district was invaded by these big black and noisy birds a few years ago. But now they face a most serious criminal charge, nothing less than interfering with His Majesty's mails, and the person who makes that charge is no one than the postmaster of Peterborough, Charles Lacheur.

"We are having trouble along several rural routes," he tells The Examiner, "with starlings who are getting into the mail boxes, tossing the letters out and then building their nests inside the boxes."

"Farmers are asked to fasten the flaps on the mail boxes during the nesting season and keep the pests out." Mr. Lacheur added.

MARMORA

MARMORA, April 26—(ENS). — Jack McFarland and Elmer who have been continuing trapping operations since the latter shot the large wolf near Mud Turtle Lake, have in the last few days, come across more evidence of the presence of wolves in Lake township.

No less than six carcasses of deer were seen by these trappers, one being of a fine specimen of which only one front leg and one hind leg were left.

"Wolves are like the foxes, very cunning," said Mr. McFarland. "They always know where to get their next meal. They might come back to finish off this cascass and they might not."

Churchill Club Makes First Donation

Within three days of its being formed, the Churchill Club, with R. L. Dobbin as chairman of the Peterborough Branch, has made its first contribution in the sum of $40 to the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund. This patriotic club has lost no time in paying its tribute to the gallant people of the British Isles, and from the enthusiasm with which its inception here has been received may be counted upon to do much to further the efforts of the local fund to help the distress of the victims from air raid bombings.

The Home Arts Guild of the Women's Art Association held a raffle on an antique class compote donated by Mrs. Clemens, Walton street and as a result of their efforts, the Fund recieved $20 which is acknowledged today. The Happy Dozen Euchre Club also has contributed $20 to the Fund in today's list. Mrs. F. C. Marshall makes a second contribution within two weeks' time from the sale of knitting needle mitts, and this is worth just a little more than passing notice.

Jack Gray, a pupil of Grade V, Queen Mary School whose eldest brother is serving with the C.A.S.F. in England, brought in three dollars collected by the pupils in his classroom, and we pay tribute to them, for this is their second donation. For the second week in a row, over $1,000 has been the contribution made voluntarily by the citizens of this city and district to the Fund.

Hunt Soldier In Creek

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., April 26 (CP)—Chippawa Creek is being searched today for Pte. Clifford Lloyd Brant, Hamilton member of the A. and S.H. of Canada Regiment who is believed to have been drowned in the creek early this morning when a canoe he was paddling overturned. Pte. Fingerlings Are Placed In Trout Streams

Peterborough County is likely to become the owner of one of the best trout streams in the whole district by the time nature has given increase in stature to the fingerlings which have been deposited in the county forest's creek during the last two years.

E. N. McDonald of the Deer Lake Hatchery, merely mentioned yesterday that this is the second season he has been placing speckled trout fingerlings in the little stream that runs through the wooded property the county bought for reforestation.

"It is one of the nicest streams in the country," Mr. McDonald remarked to the Examiner on Friday on his way to Mount Pleasant with 4,000 speckled trout.

Fingerlings of the same species have been deposited this week in streams in the Buckhorn area, and to-day another load is being taken to Burleigh Falls.

From the information Mr. McDonald casually imparted it may be that the county may acquire an added asset in a well-stocked trout stream, and rent fishing permits at so much a day. Probably it wouldn't relieve the taxpayers of much of their present levy, but at any rate the county is going to have its own trout stream in another year or two. When that comes about probably all the members of the Council would be striving to get on the reforestation committee.

Chimney Fires Call For Official Sweep

Three chimney fires were the only activities on the fire hall record this morning, and according to Chief Gimblett that was three too many.

Householders who have had chimney fire experience know that they are usually caused by carelessness in putting off the essential duty of seeing that chimneys are kept clean and clear of soot.

These chimney fires are a threat to property and to the insurance record, and it is likely to be suggested to the fire, water and light committee of the council that an official chimney sweep be appointed to work in conjunction with the fire department.

War Work Included In Year's Art Club Program

Activities of the Lyceum Club, Women's Art Association this season have included a considerable amount of war work in addition to a fine schedule of studio and club programs. The sum of $227.50 for war work has been realized, War Savings Certificates to the value of $100 were purchased at the time of the Dominion-wide campaign, and at Friday afternoon's annual meeeting in the Y.W.C.A. Green Room a similar sum was voted for the same purpose. That interest in the Association is growing is apparent by the increase of membership to one hundred.

Mrs. C. S. Thompson was re-elected to the presidency, and officers for the coming season were nominated as follows: Honorary president, Mrs. F. E. Hooper; 1st vice-president, Mrs. G. R. Langley; 2nd vice-president, Miss Leona Walsh; recording secertary, Mrs. R. G. Maniece; corresponding secretary, Mrs. C. E. Stanton; treasurer, Mrs. C. S. Browne; assistant treasurer, Mrs. H. Wightman, Mrs. W. C. English; program committee, Mrs. W. R. Widdess, Miss Frances Routley, Miss Gertrude Cox; members' representatives, Mrs F. C. Neal, Mrs. H. M. Yelland.

Members of the Guild of Arts and Crafts have not been working at crafts this season, but spent the time knitting, articles totalling 386, and including 3 Balaclava helmets, 16 pairs of wristlets, 14 pairs of mitts, 20 scarves, 36 helmets, 20 sweaters, 1 tuck-in, and 276 pairs of socks. An afghan for the Red Cross is the result of five work afternoons, and $60 was given to the Red Cross by ths Guild, which has a membership of 35.

The program of the Home Arts Guild, which has a membership of 35.

The program of the Home Arts Guild opened with a visit to Barnum House near Grafton on October 10, followed by eleven evening meeetings at the homes of members or friends. Subjects studied during the year were varied, and included five demonstrations, gesso ware, weaving, rug-making and bead work, with opportunities given for practical work based on the studies. There are twenty-one members who have worked energetically at knitting and other Red Cross and refugee projects at each meeeting. As a group, the Guild has sponsored the sale of raffle tickets on an antique glass comport on which proceeds amounting to $20 have been handed over to the British War Victims Fund.

Seven meetings of the Literary Study Group were based on Scandinavia, with two evenings spent on the study of Denmark, Norway and Sweden, and one on Finland. The first evening dealt with historical background, and the second with customs and politics. A book review by Scandinavian authors, accompanied by a sketch of their life, was an instructive part of the program. Two of the ten meetings held during the year were given to the study of modern poetry, and at a musical evening folk-lore and music of Scandinavia were presented.

Although Italy had become an active enemy of the Empire before 1940-41 programs of the Art Study Club were planned, the study of Italian cities initiated by the study of renaissance in Florence in 1939-41 was continued. The study of Rome included architecture, for which illustrations obtained from the Toronto Art Gallery gave members a foundation for the study of ruins, museums, forums, monuments and cathedrals. The club has an active membership of 19 and an average attendance of 14.

Studio programs of the Lyceum Club, Women's Art Association during the season included lectures, demonstrations and musical presentations by such well-known personalities as: Monica Mugan, "Radio in Rompers"; Mrs. Eric Jordan, "Melody and Rhythm for Your Child and Mine"; Joan Hall, Style Show and Exhibit of Canadian Homespuns; Agnes Logan Greeen, pianist; Pearl McCarthy, "The Changing Art of Domestic Living"; Mr. Blair Lang, "English Masters"; Mr. E. To Outline Life Of John Muir

Speaking of the life of John Muir, the American naturalist, Mr. F. J. A. Morris will address a meeting of the Women's Association of Murray Street Baptist Church next Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock.

Coming out as a boy with his father from the south of Scotland to a farm in Wisconsin, John Muir became a very distinguished naturalist. His life work was in the west, exploring the Sierras, canyons and giant forests of California, and the icefields of Alaska. To his efforts was largely due the formation of sanctuaries and national parks during the presidency of Theodore Roosevelt, and to him we owe the preservation of such marvels of nature as the big trees or sequoias, and the hot springs, fossil forests, and other wonders of the Grand Canyon, and Yellowstone.

The mighty Muir Glacier in Alaska and the Muir Woods of giant Sequoias in California do honor to the name and memory of this great naturalist.

DO YOU KNOW . . .

To make a smooth flour thickening for gravies or sauces, beat the paste with a rotary egg beater. This is a quick and easy way to avoid lumpiness.

Before icing a cake always brush off any loose crumbs on the top and sides and cut off rough edges with scissors. If the crumbs get into the frosting they make it look lumpy.

When you have to pack a pleated skirt or frock, lay the garment flat, smooth the pleats into their proper position, and slip a hair grip into the hem to keep them in place. Then fold the skirt or frock to the necessary size. At your journey's end the pleats will emerge flat and in perfect shape.

FASHIONS

Here's a charming little jumper frock that is fresh and bright for your little girl. A crisp flower printed cotton with a sheer white blouse is pretty enough to wear to parties and for Sunday best. Its pointed bodice and gathereed skirt are becoming to young fashionables from four to 12. Be sure to make several blouses and she will always have a fresh one on hand. For everyday wear, choose a bright sturdy cotton such as pique or broadcloth for the jumper and your little girl will be well dressed at all times.

Style No. 2876 is designed for sizes 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. Size 8, 1½ yards of 35-inch fabric with 2½ yards of ruffling for jumper; 1¼ yards eof fabric for blouse.

William Saroyan Lifts Curtain On His Latest Play

NEW YORK, April 26—(CP). — William Saroyan, the whimsy-loving California writer who has an interesting contempt for the rules of any game, and in particular the rules of the theatre, lifted the curtain this week on his latest play, "The Beautiful People."

It is a courageous little production, if only because Mr. Saroyan braved hard-boiled Broadway, refused to accept the ordinary canons of play-production, invested his own money, picked his own actors, directed them, and brought forth a tender little theatrical morsel which deserves the success it probably will have.

By no means great or even important theatre—although six enit the best play of the season—"The i the best play of the season—"The Beautiful People" has its moments. Mr. Saroyan doesn't so much tell a story as create a series of moods and tones, some of which are mellow and pleasant.

Finds Girl in The Chorus

In his casting Mr. Saroyan looked for 'types' to fill his roles, not actors. He found his girl in the chorus of "Panama Hattie." His boy is Eugene Loring, the balelt dancer, who created Saroyan's ballet "The Great American Goof" last season. In still another role he cast a successful cartoonist with a penchant for playing the cornet. The four remaining roles are in the hands of regular actors.

Such story as "The Beautiful People" possesses deals with a precocious boy of 15 who believes that literature is too wordy and therefore writes one-word novels—one of them is "Tree," another is "Mouse" —and his sister who loves all living creatures, even mice. At least 1,000 mice are said to inhabit their house. These mice are said to like Agnes Webster, the girl; they even leave her name spelled out in flowers on the floor, we are told, and everyone calls her St. Agnes of the Mice. The father, an amateur philosopher (in other words a Saroyan) spouts at street corners, the mainspring of his philosophy being that humans should love freedom and have untrammelled imaginations.

His children have such imaginations. The young "novelist" believes he can hear his brother playing his cornet in New York 3,000 miles away. The mice are very real to Agnes, even though it is her brother actually who arranges the flowers spelling out her name. The happy family lives on a $24 a month pension that continues to arrive, even though the pensioner has died long ago.

Almost everyone in this play, as in Mr. Saroyan's other works, lives in his imagination rather than on this solid earth. A spirit of happy improvisation is maintained. The characters seem to speak whatever comes into their minds. The results are sometimes amusing, sometimes boring, sometimes plain silly.

"The Beautiful People" is, in a word, an interesting manifestation of Mr. Sarayon's ego, which he demonstrates quite conclusively by putting in front of his theatre a series of photos not of the actors, but of Mr. Saroyan showing him in the process of directing the play.

George Street Church Choir Heard In Delightful Concert

Choral work of a high order was heard in George Street United Church Friday night when a choir of sixty-five voices conducted by Charles Renaud presented a program of religious music, with two Toronto artists, Jeanne Pengelly, dramatic soprano, and Joseph Pach, Czecho-Slovakian boy violinst, assisting.

In a program that was generous in its offerings, and lofty in its conception, there was abundant evidence of the intelligent directing, an equally intelligent response from the choristers. Organ and piano music, with Mrs. Charles Renaud at the organ, and Gwen Craw at the piano, were smoothly combined for a musical background that added much to the impressiveness of choral numbers, and the pastel gowns of the lady members, together with excellent lighting arrangements, presented a stage appearance that was altogether pleasing.

A clarity of diction not often heard in choral singing allowed the audience to follow through the mood of the offerings, and intensive training of the singers was reflected in the precision of the voice-groups even in the most rapid passages. The difficulties of maintaining an adequate male voice section during war-time had to be faced in considering last night's performance, but on the whole the balance was good, with a strong bass section and a fine group of contraltos.

Well-chosen as opening numbers were "Now Let All the Heavens Adore Thee" (Bach); "Sheep and Lambs" (Homer), in which voices were delicately shaded, and an outstanding Hallelujah chorus taken from the cantata "Mount of Olives" (Beethoven). In contrast to this group was beautiful negro spiritual later in the program, sung without accompaniment, in which a negro's plea to God, "O Lord Have Mercy on Me" (Burleigh) was sung with sincerity, sweetness and pathos. Gretchaninoff's "Over the Steppe" and Tschaikowsky's "Pilgrims' Song" were included in this group, the former telling of the one he has lost, a sad melody in which listeners were conscious of exquisitely interwoven tones of light and shade.

Eichborn's "Two Temples," an arrangement for women's voices, was rendered with tenderness and beauty, and told of the "Unseen temple of the immortal soul," which endures, in contrast to the temples made by man, "which crumple into dust." Clokey's "Flower of Dreams" was also a ladies' chorus, a delightful melody sung with happy effect.

Sibelius' majestic "Finlandia" gave opportunity for an impressive piano and organ prelude and finale, and was a request. Schubert's "Great is Jehovah" and Elgar's intensely patriotic "Land of Hope and Glory" were a fitting climax to the concert, with Miss Pengelly taking solo parts.

The large audience welcomed the guest artists, who appeared with the choir at its concert last year, by a flattering ovation, insisting on encores after each appearance. A skilful technique unusual in one so young is exhibited by Joseph Pach. He appeared a little unsure in his opening number, but recovered in Kreisler's "Praeludium and Allegro" and "Concerto in A Minor" (Vivaldi), difficult compositions calling for dexterous bowing and fingering. A group of Gypsy air (Sarasate) and "Horo Staccato" (Dinicu-Heifetz) were played with really brilliant technique, and as an encore there was Schubert's "Ave Maria." Lloyd Edwards, at the keyboard, attracted much attention by the excellence of his accompaniments.

Jeanne Pengelly is a gifted soprano, and her capacity for dramatic singing was evident in Malotte's "The Lord's Prayer" and two numbers by Rachmaninoff, "To the Children" and "Floods of Spring." She was especially delightful in Boccherini's "Minuet" and encore, and "Voices of Spring" (Strauss). Miss Helen Cherrie was her skilful accompanist.

Roses were presented to Mrs. Pengelly, and to Mrs. Renaud and Mrs. Craw, who deserve high praise for their organ and piano team-work.

BE HONEST WITH YOURSELF IF YOU FAIL IN MARRIAGE

Every Woman Who Contemplates Second Venture Should Study Mistakes She Made the First Time.

Dear Miss Dix—I am married for the second time. Inasmuch as second marriages are different from first ones, could you give me some suggestions for making this marriage a success? My first marriage was a failure. MRS. X.

Answer—Well, my first suggestion is that you have a heart-to-heart session with yourself and try to find out why your first marriage was a failure and what you did that helped to wreck it. Of course, you will lay all the blame on your husband. I have yet to meet a divorced person of either sex who wasn't a perfect angel who was driven out of domestic paradise by a cruel and inhuman wife or husband whom not even a saint could endure. Now that that episode is over and you are taking a fresh matrimonial start, try to salvage something that will help you in the future from your unfortunate experience. Be honest with yourself. Look into your conduct and see if you ever really tried to make a go of your marriage. Did you try to make your husband a happy home? Did you give him good food to eat, a clean hearth to sit by? Of did he come home at night to a slovenly, ill-kept house and a meal that would poison an ostrich? Were you pleasant and agreeable to get along with? Or were you peevish and fretful and nagging? Did you doll yourself up and try to look attractive? Or did you think that being married gave you a right to look like heck and say things to him that you wouldn't have said to any other human being? Did you run him in debt with your extravagance? Did you always have the house full of your people?

Some Questions

Did you quarrel with him about trifles? Or did you gumshoe around the subjects on which you knew you disagreed? Maybe you did some, or all, of these things, and when you stand before the bar of your conscience you know that you were responsible for his going to the corner saloon for a comfortable place to spend the evening, and turning to other women for the pleasant companionship you did not give him.

So make up your mind that you are not going to treat your husband that way.

The next important thing to do when you marry a second time is to shut your teeth on your past life. Don't always be reminding No. 2 of No. 1. Don't reminisce about where you and George used to go, or what you and George used to do

After all, no man or woman can keep from being a little jealous over sitting at the second table of the matrimonial feast and being served warmed over affection. So the least said about it, the better.

Very often second marriage are happier than first ones because the widow and widower have learned not to expect the impossible of marriage and know better how to adjust themselves to its exactions. May that be the way with yours.

Widows Should Seek Employment

Dear Dorothy Dix—I am a widow of 29. Have a boy of 5 and a girl of 10. I now receive aid for dependent children, but when my girl is 16 this aid will become so small that I shall have to seek employment. I would like to look for work now and not wait until I am forced to do so. My friends tell me to stay with my children while they are young, but I know that if I wait until I am six years older that it will be much more difficult to find a situation. I appreciate the help I am receiving, but it is gall and wormwood to me to be dependent and I want to get on my own if I can. What would you advise me to do? READER

Answer—I advise you to try by all means to get some work to do that will make you independent. If you try you can find some one who will take care of your children. In every community there are old women who are glad of such jobs. Or perhaps you can find some way, such as running a boarding house or taking in lodgers, by which you can earn money and keep your children with you. Thousands of women do that.

Of course, your duty is to your children, but you must realize that if you do not strike out for yourself and become self-supporting that you will be a burden upon them as long as you live. In a little while they will be grown. They will want to go off about their own affairs.

They will want to marry and set up their own homes. And you will realize how much better it would have been for them if you had made yourself, years before, an independent woman instead of being a parasitic mother who hampered their lives.

The old-time mother who sat down and folded her hands and waited for her children to take care of her was a forlorn and miserable creature. Don't be one of her.

The Problem of Mothers-in-Law

Dear Miss Dix—Why is it that mothers-in-law insist on living with their children and ruining an otherwise perfect marriage? My mother-in-law is a peach of a person in herself and I could like her a whole lot and would do a lot of things she expects me to do if she wasn't continually under my feet all day long. She never gives my husband and myself any chance to be alone and have any private conversation. She listens in on everything we say. As a result, I hate her like poison and am tempted to chuck the whole business and go back to work again. Some day when I am fed up on her I'll do it. Don't mothers-in-law ever think about their first years of married life?

Answer—Evidently they don't, or none of them would ever go to live with their married children. How they can so completely forget how they felt when they were brides is something past comprehension.

For every mother-in-law has gone through the same experience. She knows that one of the reasons every girl marries is to get away from her own mother and from being told how to do everything, from washing the dish towels to managing her husband. She knows how cocky every bride is and how determined to run her own house in her own way, without any advice from anybody.

She knows how much every young couple want to be alone in that new experience of really getting acquainted and adjusting themselves to each other. And yet, knowing these things, mother-in-law plants herself down in the newlyweds' home because she is so selfish she doesn't want to be separated from her own darling John or precious Mamie.

And thereby she not only often wrecks the marriage, but keeps her in-laws from ever loving her, as they would do if they only saw her intermittently. For people are like landscapes. It takes distance to enable us to get the right perspective of them.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, April 27

Sunday's horoscope accents the social, domestic, affectional and cultural interests of life, although these may not be blessed with perfect harmony and satisfaction. There are signs of temperament as well as temper, with stubbornness and resentment to mar perfect happiness. Maintain emotion impulses and postpone acceptance of fresh obligations or responsibilities.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year to tax their poise and good judgment, as they may function under strain, emotional excitement and general intensities of feeling and conduct. With these subdued, poise substituted and major responsibilities deftly handled there is promise of much domestic, social and sentimental happiness and success, with unusual vocations flourishing.

A child born on this day should have some originality and talent of an artistic, poetic or musical character, although it may be intense, emotional and bold.

For Monday, April 28

Monday's astrological forecast should be for a day of thrilling and intriguing adventures, with a rapid and surprising pace spurring to action and accomplishments in all directions. There is a surprising angle to events, having a radical influence on the future, with change of plans, associates and environs. The intimate life seems involved with romance, adventure and emotional artistic urges clamoring for expressions. In this be wary as to peculiar complications.

Those whose birthday it is should be assured a year of outstanding experiences of a dramatic, romantic, emotional or artistic expression, involving the personal life with a marked or curious quality. It may be in high adventure and romance or in achievement of a thrilling character in some artistic, mystical or unique gesture. In such attainment there are peculiar hazards or complications.

A child born on this day should be talented in several probably unique or extraordinary ways, with a dramatic and spectacular life. Romance and are are dominant but not without curious undercurrents.

HASTINGS

Bishop Writes Athabasca's Thanks For Bale

HASTINGS, April 26—(ENS). — Miss D. Plant was hostess to the members of St. George's Women's Auxiliary on Thursday afternoon for their monthly and devotional meeting, with Miss Plant presiding and leading in the devotions.

The president announced the 55th annual meeting of the Toronto Diocesan Board of the Women's Auxiliary to be held in St. Anne's Parish House from April 25 to May 3. Plans were made to have a delegate attended.

Committees and all details were arranged for the spring tea to be held next Wednesday, April 30, at the home of Miss Plant.

A Red Cross quilt will be quilted and one pieced for the same cause at the next meeting.

The secretary received a letter from Bishop Sovereign of Athabasca, acknowledging that the bale sent by the W.A. had been received, and would be distributed among the white settlers. He spoke most highly of Rev. and Mrs. A. C. McCullum now of St. George's, Hastings, and formerly of the Yukon.

Following the meeting the hostess served refreshments.

The Bishop's letter is as follows:

Mrs. Roy King,
Hastings, Ontario.

Dear Secretary,—There has arrived at Peace River your bale which you have been so kind as to send to the Diocese of Athabasca. We deeply appreciate what you have done, especially when we learn that there are so few of you and yet you have been so thoughtful and helpful.

May I first say that I am so glad that you have with you Mr. and Mrs. McCallum. They are delightful people and have been so loyal and faithful as missionaries for Christ and His Church in the Far North. When I was Bishop of Yukon, Mr. McCullum was at a mission called Mayo. There he was loved and respected by all. The men at the silver mines knew him and welcomed him; the general manager of the company equally respected him and welcomed him to their home. Nothing ever daunted him in his labors for Christ —the extreme cold which at times would reach seventy degrees below zero—long journeys through the intense cold and on swollen rivers in the summer. Both Mrs. Sovereign and I are very fond of them, and I rejoice that they are with you at Hastings. I know that you all will be delighted with both of them and that your church will truly prosper under their spiritual leadership. This is one of the ways in which your Church will be blessed — by thinking of others. That is always true.

Mrs. Sovereign will be writing to you in a separate letter, so I just write to you now to tell you that your bale has been safely received and appreciated.

I do not think that Mrs. Sovereign will send the bale out just as it is. She will probably open it and choose special articles in it for specially needy people. That is her usual plan. In this way the exact type of clothing goes to the family which can use it best and which needs it most. Some of our new farmers from the dried out areas are very, very poor. They have practically nothing except their little log houses of one room and their farm which they have to clear, extending it a few acres each year. They have their food but it is very difficult for them to obtain clothing. Our winters here are also quite cold. Last winter at the town where we live, Peace River, it reached fifty-five degrees below zero and at Athabasca Landing, where Archdeacon Little has his parish, it reached a low mark of sixty-four degrees below zero. It is then bitterly and cruelly cold.

Please thank all of your members for their Christ-like gift. May God bless you all in the giving and may your church prosper.

Carpetball Notes

A social evening and the distribution of prizes was held in the Paragon Hall on Wednesday last, April 23.

The members of the City Carpetball League linked hands with the Sons of England, foregoing their annual banquet as a fitting observation of St. George's Day. A silent tribute to our friends who are going through such stressing times in the Motherland.

During the evening a collection was taken for the British War Victims' Fund, and $8 was taken up from those present. Many members of the league were absent and any who desire to enlarge on this contribution are requested to send any monies to the secretary. A few words of appreciation were heard from President W. W. Gray of the S.O.E., and President Dave Leether of the Carpetball League.

Mr. A. Hope presented the league winners with the Hope Cup, and accompanying prizes, won by the team from the British Empire Service League, J. Ridyard, Jr., J. Ridyard Sr., G. Gardner, J. Morrison, A. Nokes, skip.

Mr. Hope gave this cup to the league when it first started in 1929.

W. G. Shiner of the Sons of England presented the Beal Trophy to the Wanderers, who came second in the league standing: G. Brown, V. Barry, A. Robinson, H. Gray, T. Ferguson, skip.

C. W. Wiggins, the first president of the league in 1929, was called on to give the prizes to St. George's team No. 5, who came third in the standing: A. Sims, G. Colbran, G. Dobson, F. Storey, C. Crouter, skip.

Sons of England team No. 1 with G. Palmer, A. Bromley, R. Dixon, W. G. Shiner and G. Soulby, skip, received the Elsie Bennett Trophy emblematic of the highest rolling average outside the prize-winning teams. The cup being handed over by the smaller squarest shooter in the league, Homer Lundy of the Loyal Orange Lodge.

President Dave Leether presented the Carpet Tacks, No. 10, with the President's Cup and prizes as winners of the special elimination contest held every season. Special note being made to the fact that although the team finished in the cellar in the league schedule, they came through to beat the best for the President's Cup. The members being as follows: W. Mahood, A. Holden, H. Lucas, V. Payne, and H. Rusaw, skip.

On motion by F. Parsons, seconded by W. G. Shiner, an honorarium was voted to the secretary for his work during the season.

Everyone present spoke of the clean games played during the closing season and hoped that next winter would find us all working together again, keeping the old game arolling.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Sons of England for the refreshments; Mr. C. W. Coleman for the use of the hall, and to all who contributed to the success of the meeting.

HEALTH PROBLEMS

By DR. L. A. CLARKE
Peterboro M.O.H.

FIRST AID.

Among other things, a mother is supposed to be an expert at First Aid. Since comparatively minor injuries, if not properly attended, may, due to infection, be very dangerous, a knowledge of first aid is essentital.

Dr. L. A. Clarke

The first thing that is necessary for any cut or abrasion is to cleanse it thoroughly and for this purpose ordinary soap and warm water is probably as good as anything, after which some antiseptic should be applied to the wound. Children naturally shrink from most of the older antiseptics because they hurt, but there are several now on the market that do not cause pain when applied and which are carried in stock by most drug stores. For cleansing wounds and for bandaging, old cotton or linen which has been washed and ironed should be used. Merely clean looking materials may harbor germs of infection which cannot be seen, but which may be present. The hands should also be carefully washed before treating a wound.

Bleeding can usually be stopped simply by applying pressure directly to the wound by means of a cloth such as mentioned before, soaked in some antiseptic. Large cuts will, of course, require the attention of your physician for they may need one or more stitches. Stitches bring the edges af the skin together, help to stop any bleeding and shorten the length of time required for healing and reduce the size of any scars there may be.

Burns require special mention. The majority of burns of course require no attention. They affect merely the surface layers of the skin and will heal in a few days. Severer burns, generally speaking, receive the worst first aid treatment in the home of any common injury. Do not smear burns with grease or other things because the first thing a doctor has to do is clean the grease off and this causes pain. It is far better to do nothing than to do the wrong thing. Do not open blisters as you may infect the burned area and thereby cause a serious condition to follow a minor one. Severe burns are much better left alone altogether until a doctor sees them. As I said before, burns are very easily infected. On addition to this the scaring which follows severer burns is frequently extensive. The danger of this, that is—of the infection and scaring, may be considerably reduced by proper and skilful treatment.

A word about fractures. When you suspect that a bone may have been broken there are a few things that may be done before the doctor arrives. The first is to keep the injured person warm, as this helps to treat the shock from which he may be suffering. Move the injured limb as little as possible and if movement is necessary be sure to support both ends of the broken bone. If broken ends of bone are sticking through the skin, do not attempt to draw them back. This may carry into the deeper tissues of the limb infection which may necessitate very drastic treatment. Try to prevent the wound from getting any dust or dirt in it and leave the cleansing of it to the doctor.

Minor dog bites may be treated the same as any other cut or scratch. It is better, according to most surgical authorities to have severe bites cauterized. Dogs which bite people should not be killed but should be securely chained up or confined in a safe place and the accident reported to the Health Department together with the address and name of the owner of the animal. The animal will then be kept under observation for fourteen days to see that it is not suffering from rabies.

Fortunately we do not see many cases of tetanus or lockjaw nowadays, but they still do occur occasionally. This disease is caused by certain bacteria getting into abrasions anywhere on the body and travelling to the central nervous system where the bacteria multiply and cause the disease commonly known as lockjaw. This disease may be prevented in one of two ways, either by giving the injured person an injection of serum which will protect him against the disease for a short time or by giving as general preventive to persons who are not injured but who may be injured in the future, three doses of tetanus toxoid which is a product similar to that used in the prevention of diphtheria. This will give protection aginst lockjaw for a long period of time, how long we do not yet know, because the product has not been used for very many years. Remember that any break in the skin, particularly those that occur where manure dust may be present, may be infected with the germ that causes lockjaw; that its prevention is easy and its cure may be difficult or impossible.

Forest And Farm Slides Srown To Apsley Rally

APSLEY, April 26—(ENS).—Mr. F. C. Paterson, agricultural representative, Peterborough county, visited the Women's Institute on Tuesday evening in the Public Library and showed two sets of lantern slides, in connection with the standing committee for agriculture, with Mrs. B. Tucker as convener.

Mrs. Smith, president, introduced Mr. Paterson, and the first set of slides on reforestation and tending to wood lots were shown. These were in color and were very beautiful. The second set was on "Pasture" and feeding cattle, of interest to the farmers present. Mr. Paterson fully described each picture, and the slides were much appreciated by all.

St. George's Day was celebrated in Apsley by a service at 3 p.m. in St. George's Anglican Church. Five of the district schools were present, with their teachers.

Those who took part were S.S. Nos. 4 and 5, North Burleigh, Tucker's School, and Hales' School (East Road). The five schools met at 2.45 p.m., and with flags, colored caps, etc., marched to the church singing "There'll Always Be An England."

The service was directed by Rev. Cathcart, rector, and assisted by Mr. Newhall of the Apsley United Church and the Rev. C. A. G. Spence, with Mrs. G. Kilborn at the organ. The service was opened by the hymn, "God of Our Fathers Known of Old," followed by the Bible lesson read by Rev. Mr. Cathcart.

The school children then sang, "There's an Empire Back of the Union Jack." Prayer was taken by Mr. Newball. An intercession for victory. Mrs. Roland Tucker read a patriotic reading.

The address was ably given by Rev. C. A. G. Spence on St. George's Day, and the patron saint of the Mother Land. After the singing of the hymn, "Unto the hills do I lift up," the salute to the flag was given by all the children. "O Canada" and the National Anthem brought an inspiring service to a close.

The teachers present were: Miss Askenhurst, Mrs. B. Tucker, Mr. L. Lewis, Mr. Patterson, Mr. Northey and Mr. Hampton.

Mrs. Chesel McColl, who has been a patient in St. Joseph's Hospital for the past few weeks, returned to Apsley on Sunday.

Mr. Bert Reynolds is in hospital in Peterborough. He was operated on Monday for appendicitis.

Mr. Everett and children spent Easter week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dunford, Douro.

Mr. and Mrs. V. Young and Mrs. L. Young spent Tuesday in Peterborough.

Mrs. N. James Ward and Evelyn have returned to their home in Chandos after a visit to relations in Ottawa.

Crete Air Base Expected To Be Retained

(By KIRKE L. SIMPSON.)

WASHINGTON, April 26—(AP). —Another Thermopylae has been fought and lost in Greece. A new and heroic defence of the "Hot Gates" by Anglo-Greek valor freshens the lustre of that imperishable symbol of human bravery.

Yet now, as in the dim past, Thermopylae is also a symbol of tragic defeat, as well as of iron courage. Its fall before onrushing German hosts must inevitably lead quickly to a grim end for Greece. Surrender of Athens to save its people and its monuments, seems impending.

Just where the British troops and such Greek comrades as have not been cut off from them are attempting to stand anew, south of Thermopylae, is not indicated. How many thousands of English, Scotch, Australian, New Zealand and Greek troops are in the closing Nazi trap can only be vaguely conjectured.

There is no doubt, however, that with the fall of Thermopylae Pass, Athens itself may even now be within range of Nazi big guns as well as bombers. Berlin offers to spare the ancient city, as Paris was spared, if the Greeks and their Allies yield it up undefended.

No Escape by Land

The parallel with what happened in France as the Nazi war machine closed in on Paris ends there, however. In France a wide sweep of terrain remained beyond Paris to which French armies could withdraw and still fight on.

There is no such escape for the British and the Greek fighters except by sea or across the slender Isthmus of Corinth into the Peloponessus, at which German bombers are hammering remorselessly. Sooner or later, and it may be that right now the decision is in the making in Athens and in London and Cairo, the Allies must face the possibility of surrendering the valiant troops still covering Athens. Some of them cannot possibly make good their retreat by land or sea.

It would seem useless, lead only to a fruitless waste of lives, to continue the struggle there beyond a certain point, although neither Athens, London or Greek evacuation or even the Greek mainland is under way. The rear echelons of the Allied forces on the Athenean Peninsula may have been withdrawing to the Peloponessus. Unbridgable straits protect it from blitzkrieg land attack except across the Corinth Isthmus where small forces could hold back for a time even far greater numbers.

Hopes to Hold Crete

It would be a fairly short sea jump from the southern coast of the Peloponessus to the island of Crete, where Greece has re-established her Government about the Grecian King. And it is indicated that, come what may in Greece proper, Britain hopes to hold Crete as an air and submarine base to help safeguard the Eastern Mediterranean.

Crete is perilously close to Nazi bombers based in conquered Greece. Yet the tiny British island of Malta has lived through countless bombing raids in even closer proximity to Axis air bases in Sicily. To what extent British surface craft are able to use it for refuelling operations at night is not disclosed. It seems certain, however, that both British planes and submarines still are served there.

The Crete base offers better opportunity for dispersal of fuel or other stores and of planes which alight there from across the Mediterranean. It also will remain a threat to German supply lines in Greece and the Southern Balkans while in British hands.

Well Provisioned

HERON BAY, Ont., April 25 (CP).—Packsacks found on four Germans who were captured here early today, completing the search for 28 German war prisoners who escaped from a nearby internment camp last Friday night, weighed 70 pounds each and were said to contain enough food for 10 days in the bush.

Although the men had been free six days, their packsacks contained bread which had been toasted and crumbled to save space, then packed in small sacks like sugar. Chocolate, made in the camp kitchen, was in big bars wrapped in wax paper. There also were cigarettes, tobacco, sugar, bacon and canned milk.

In addition the packs held knives, compasses, blankets and other articles.

Admit Sub Aces Gone

BERLIN, April 26—(AP). — The Nazi high command acknowledged finally today that two of its ace U-boat commanders have "failed to return." They were listed as Cmdr. Otto Kretschmer and Lt.-Cmdr. Joachim Schepke.

(British authorities have announced that Schepke is dead and that Kretschmer, known to British seamen as the "Wolf of the Atlantic," is a prisoner of war.)

Wife's Blunders Hold Her Back

A pair you often see—the husband getting ahead, making friends with smart people, and the wife who can't keep in step. Her careless speech is such a drawback!

"Who was that PARTY you spoke to? Why DON'T he stop so AS I can meet him?" she inquires. Of course his cultured friends would raise their eye-brows at such errors. They say correctly "That PERSON . . . Why DOESN'T he stop so THAT I can meet him?"

People who are meticulous about their speech notice your mistakes and criticize you for them. Do you pronounce "clique" KLICK, "finance" FY-nance? You'll find it correct to say KLEEK, fi-NANCE.

It's easy to make such little corrections, acquire a delightful speech. And you can boost your fame as a conversationalist, by learning clever ways to say things—"whispering taffeta," "stentorian tones" "blistering heat."

Make your speech a social asset. Our 32-page booklet explains words often misused, gives English and pronunciation errors with the right forms. Advises on slang to avoid, tells how to enlarge your vocabulary. A guide to charming speech.

Send 15c in coins or stamps for your copy of HOW TO IMPROVE YOUR VOCABULARY to the Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER
By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

RESCUING IS DANGEROUS

IF YOUR hand is totally void of cards in the suit your partner has bid and bid, that does not mean you should rescue by taking him out into one of your own suits. Maybe he hasn't a thing in the world in any of your suits, and you will have to keep playing away from your own hand, thereby wrecking your own chances to get anywhere. Also maybe he can do quite well in his own suit, if it is trumps, using your honors for entries to your own hand. As a rule, the hand with a fair sprinkling of honors here and there works better as a dummy than one containing no high cards.

	♠ 9 4 ♥ A J 10 9 7 4 2 ♦ Q 3 ♣ 7 3
♠ K Q 8 2 ♥ 8 3 ♦ J 10 7 ♣ 8 5 4 2	W. N. E. S.	♠ 7 6 ♥ K Q 6 5 ♦ K 8 5 2 ♣ 10 9 6
	♠ A J 10 5 3 ♥ None ♦ A 9 6 4 ♣ A K Q J

South should never have made his 4-Spade bid. He had already shown both his exact distribution and his strength. If he had a 4-4-4-1, expert bidding would have shown the suits in regular order—such as spades, then diamonds, then clubs, or else clubs, then diamonds, then spades. But he showed spades first, then not diamonds, but clubs, and lastly diamonds. To an expert partner this would betoken five cards in the first suit and four each in the others, with consequently a void in hearts.

Knowing he had told this to North, he should have passed the 4-Hearts, which was bid with full knowledge of South's blank. North had a tough job with the 5 Hearts, but made it, whereas the 4-Spades should have been set. East led the spade 7, which North took with dummy's A. He played three clubs, discarding his other spade, ruffed a spade and then led the heart J to East's Q. The latter, with only red cards made his only safe return, a heart. North won with the 10, cashed the heart A and then put East in again with the heart 9 to the K. This time East had nothing left but diamonds, so he had to lead one. North let it ride to his Q, and was safely home by playing to the dummy's diamond A and then taking in his remaining trumps. It was neat work—a double leading-throwing end-play.

Your Week-End Lesson

What kind of bidding gives you the greatest warning against ultimately doubling the opponents' contract, when you hold a lot of honors in all suits except trumps? Can you set up a hand which illustrates that type of bidding?

The Last Shot

DECATUR, Ga., April 26 (AP).—Digging in his yard, Floyd Walden found a nine-inch-long shell of American Civil War vintage. He put the projectile back in a hole, heaped kindling about it, Walden touched a match to the heap and soon the last shot in the battle of Atlanta sent logs flying skywards.

TWEED, April 26—(ENS).—Andrew Masterson of the Township of Hungerford was arrested by Chief J. C. Masterson appeared before the local magistrate and was remanded to the County Jail.

Battle Of Atlantic Brightens With New U.S. Patrol Churchill Cheers Empire

Sees War Spreading To Spain And Morocco Possibly Russia, And Turkey With New Tempo In Mediterranean Area

LONDON, April 28—(CP).—The vitally-important battle of the Atlantic has entered upon "a far more favorable phase" for Britain because of the United States' decision to patrol the waters of the Western Hemisphere, Prime Minister Churchill declared in a Sunday broadcast to the Empire and the United States.

"When I said 10 weeks ago, 'Give us the tools and we will finish the job,' I meant, 'Give them to us, put them within c. reach'," Mr. Churchill asserted, "and that is what it now seems Americans are going to do and that is why I feel a very strong conviction that though the battle of the Atlantic will be long and hard and its issue by no means yet determined it has entered upon a more grim but at the same time a far more favorable phase."

Although expressing confidence in ultimate victory, the Prime Minister, in a 30-minute war review, told his listeners "We must now expect the war in the Mediterranean, on the sea, in the desert and above all in the air to become very fierce, varied and widespread.

"The war may spread to Spain and Morocco. It may spread eastwards to Turkey and Russia. The Germans may lay their hands for a time upon wheat lands of the Ukraine and oil wells of the Caucasus.

"But there is one thing which is certain...Hitler...in order to win this war he must either conquer this land by invasion or he must cut the ocean lifeline which joins us to the United States."

But, Mr. Churchill continued, "no prudent and far-seeing man can doubt that eventual and total defeat of Hitler and Mussolini is certain in view of the respective and clear resolve of the British and American democracies.

Only Allies Can Win

"There are less than 70,000,000 malignant Huns, some of whom are curable and others killable....The people of the British Empire and the United States number 200,000,000 in their homelands and in British dominions alone....They are determined that the cause of freedom shall not be trampled down."

He said the winning of the battle of the Atlantic was imperative and

Hamburg Docks Flattened For Half Mile

LONDON, April 28—(CP).—Nazi air raiders subjected Portsmouth to a particularly sharp attack last night, causing what the government called "rather heavy" casualties.

Roaring in during Prime Minister Churchill's broadcast to the Empire, the German bombers loosed heavy explosive and a large number of incendiaries on the town, doing some damage to residential and business sections in a three-hour attack.

A communique said the number of persons killed was not large and added that there were no reports of casualties at all in attacks in the southwest of England and on the northeast coast of Scotland.

One raider was said to have been shot down over the south coast.

Royal Air Force raiders loaded with Britain's powerful new bombs hammered at Hamburg Saturday night in an assault which one pilot said left a half mile of the great port "a huge, heaving mass like a volcanic eruption."

"Although I have been on 31 raids," the pilot said, "I have never seen anything to match the effect of this bomb," which the Air Ministry said also has been used in Berlin, Kiel and Bremen.

The Ministry said Bremerhaven's shipbuilding yards, Emden and Cuxhaven, Germany, Le Havre, France, and Ijmuiden, the Netherlands, also were attacked Saturday night.

Lindbergh Resigns

Resents F. D. R. Questioning His Loyalty

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, "greatly disturbed" at implications which he said President Roosevelt had made "concerning my loyalty to my country," today made public a letter to the president resigning his commission in the United States Army Air Corps Reserve.

In his letter, the flier referred to remarks made by Mr Roosevelt at a press conference last Friday in which the president classed Lindbergh with appeasers who urged peace during the Revolutionary and Civil Wars on the grounds that those conflicts could not be won.

Lindbergh said the remarks had "disturbed me greatly," and that he had "hoped that I might exercise my right as an American citizen to place my viewpoint before the people of my country in time of peace without giving up the privilege of serving my country as an air corps officer in the event of war."

In a speech in New York last Wednesday night, Lindbergh said that "the United States can not win this war for England, regardless of how much assistance we extend." He has repeatedly asserted that Germany is almost certain to win and has criticized American foreign policy.

In Washington, the White House had no comment today on Lindbergh's resignation as a colonel in the United States Air Corps Reserve.

Stephen Early, presidential secretary, said that a letter from Lindbergh to President Roosevelt, announcing the resignation, had not been received.

The Text Of Lindbergh's Letter

"My Dear Mr. President:

Your remarks at White House press conference on April 25 involving my reserve commission in the United States Army Air Corps, have of course disturbed me greatly. I had hoped that I might exercise my right as an American citizen, to place my viewpoint before the people of my country in time of peace without giving up the privilege of serving my country as an air corps officer in the event of war.

"But since you, in your capacity as president of the United States and Commander in Chief of the Army, have clearly implied that I am no longer of use to this country as a reserve officer, and in view of other implications that you, my President and my Superior Officer, have made concerning my loyalty to my country, my character, and my motives, I can see no honorable alternative to tendering my resignation as colonel in the United States

Terrific Toll Due, Canada To Fill The Breach-King

OTTAWA April 28.—(CP).—Prime Minister Mackenzie King to-day told the House of Commons "we must be prepared for an extension of the fighting over wider areas and for an intensity and ferocity of warfare resulting in terrific destruction and loss of life."

In the course of his statement on the war Mr. King said:

"Canada will spare neither resources nor man-power in the battle for world freedom."

Mr. King said there would be more reverses on land and sea "so long as Britain stands, no reverse shall be decisive."

He said Prime Minister Winston Churchill, in his broadcast yesterday, had properly expressed the significance of the statement made by Mayor Fiorello Laguardia of New York in Ottawa last Wednesday on United States defence of the Atlantic.

(Last week Mayor La Guardia said the United States would extend its defence operations 1,000 miles off the North American shores.)

Mr. King said Mr. Churchill's radio address yesterday had disclosed the importance of the United States naval and air patrols out over the Atlantic as a means of assisting Britain in the Atlantic.

Surprise For Emden

London, April 28 (CP)

ONE of Britain's new Stirling heavy bombers made a "daring and successful attack" on the German city of Emden today, the ministry of information announced.

The great plane came down to low altitude—presumably by daylight—dropped its heavy bomb load and then opened machine-gun fire from a height of 1,500 feet.

The foray came after German night raiders had subjected Portsmouth to a particularly sharp attack, causing "rather heavy" casualties.

Greece Finished Says Berlin 'Hun Troops Now Ready For New Mediterranean Job'

Australia Reports Aussies Now Leaving Greece

Athens In Nazi Hands, Claim Ship Loss Now Above Dunkirk

NEW YORK, April 27—(CP). — The British Boradcasting Corporation said Sunday night that the last message broadcast by the Athens radio before the City was engulfed by the Nazis was that Athens was being "ringed by bombs."

The BBC added that it was believed the Nazis avoided bombing the ancient Greek capital itself because of the British threat that if Athens were raided Rome would be bombed.

(An earlier report quoted NBC as saying that the BBC had reported Athens itself was being bombed and its streets machine-gunned by German planes. The BBC in London today denied this report.)

SYDNEY, Australia, April 28 — (CP)—Withdrawal of certain Australian troops from Greece has begun "and as far as this has proceeded it has been successful," Army Minister P. C. Spender said today. He added he was unable to confirm or deny reports that the majority of the Australians and New Zealanders had been removed safely from the Hellenic peninsula with their weapons.

(Official sources in London refused immediately to confirm or deny Mr. Spender's report.)

H. S. Foll, minister of information, said last night Australians would be told the details of their soldiers' activities and the equipment they carried into the Greek campaign when parliament meets.

He declared the Australian people had not disapproved the sending of Australian forces to Greece.

Expect Equipment Loss

The Army Minister said considerable losses in heavy material are expected because Lt.-Gen. Sir Thomas Blamey, Officer Commanding the Anzacs in Greece, had been ordered to evacuate the men before the tanks and other equipment.

Hitler's next aim, he said, will be to strike at Britain's oil wells and attempt to close the Suez Canal and the Straits of Gibraltar by air and land attacks.

There had been some criticism of the campaign in Greece but Australians knew some war losses would be incurred, and realized they had to keep the bond to help Greece.

Labor Minister Harold Holt cabled Prime Minister Menzies in London that enemy propaganda of disunity of Australia is "utterly false." The industrial situation is better than at any time since the war began and there is no hold-up or stoppage in any section of industry, the Labor Minister said.

AUSTRALIA REPORTS

BERLIN, April 28—(AP).—German observers said tonight that major military action in Greece is finished and that Hitler's troops are ready for new—but unspecified—tasks.

Mopping up in both Greece and Yugoslavia, these quarters contended, is in the nature of "police action" with the air force assigned the chief role of harassing retreating British and Greek forces, reported by the High Command to have reached the heart of Peloponnesus.

The German admitted that the terrain of the Pelopponesian peninsula lends itself to prolonged resistance by small groups.

Nazi spokesmen gave no hint what the new tasks of the armed forces might be, but said the Mediterranean action would continue.

Greece was regarded as a phase of a larger plan which is unfolding.

In the surprise occupation of the Isthmus of Corinth before Sunday entry into Athens a miliary spokesman claimed German parachute troops captured 900 British troops.

Dive Bombers In Van

Stuka dive bombers were reported ahead of the German spearheads, smashing at troop concentrations and straffing roads across the southernmost part of Greece.

The Greeks Fight On

Canea, Crete, April 28 (AP)

GREEK PREMIER Emmanuel Tsouderos declared today that Greece's fight must be continued unflinchingly "in our little islands."

"Destiny," he declared, "has chosen two islands as the last but worthy ramparts of the free peoples of Europe: the great island of Britain and this great island of the Hellenes."

(Crete, off the southern coast of Greece, now is the seat of government. King George of Greece and his government moved there before the Nazi occupation of Athens in order to carry on Greek resistance.)

Pilots, Air Crews From Canada Posted Quickly To Battle Units

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, April 28—(CP Cable). — New blood for Britain's fighting forces, a large contingent of Empire airmen and Canadian soldiers and sailors recently arrived from the Dominion to-day were being rapidly posted to squadrons and units.

The troop convoy included at least 1,000 pilots and air crew men from the Commonwealth Air Training Plan, reinforcements for theRoyal Canadian Navy overseas, and men for nearly every branch of the Army.

The airmen went directly to a Royal Air Force reception depot, where some left within 24 hours for operational squadrons and will be on bombing raids in a few weeks.

It is understood the Canadian seamen will go to a new Canadian naval manning pool in England and from there assigned to Canadian destroyers.

The air contingent was welcomed by Wing-Commnader the Duke of Hamilton who said: "Whatever happens in this war, every operation so far has proved beyond a shadow of doubt that success depends on air superiority."

"Production is of no use without trained airmen and ground staff," the Duke said.

The soldiers went to a Canadian base holding unit where gunners, infantrymen, and ancillary service troops launched immediately into overseas training or went direct to their regiments.

A road construction company of 300 men with equipment is expected to start construction work in a few days.

The first representative group of the Canadian Armored Corps left for British armored formations where they will be trained in mechanized warfare with a view to instructing Canadian tank men later.

The Air Force contingent was the largest group of Canadian-trained Imperial fliers yet to reach the United Kingdom. Their arrival was announced yesterday — after the troops had taken trains to their new stations and the convoy had dispersed.

Pall of Death Over the Slums

Bombs Still Crump On London's East End, Mainly Deserted

By D. E. BURRITT
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

LONDON, April 28.—(CP).—Abandoned and desolate, some of London's humble eastern borough present the most dismal of modern war scenes.

Here a stillness of death hangs over the innumerable narrow streets where only empty shells form what once were rows of little homes.

These barren places, built mostly of prison-grey brick and gloomy enough in their original style, are among the thousands of British homes destroyed by Nazi bombs.

They form a picture different from other sections attacked as far back as last September. In other sections, gaunt structures still stand in main thoroughfares and debris heaps appear along any route. But traffic still passes. People live and move in those parts.

Here there is only th desolation of a ruined, deserted city. These little streets, looking unreal in bright sunlight, are littered still by debris and broken glass. Here and there are ruins to show where German bombs demolished homes.

In the main, the districts still stand. At the top of any of these roads you can look down and see rows of houses still intact — you think. But you find they have been shaken, broken, cracked open, their doors, windows and chimneys gone, their roof slates blown away.

Houses not ruined were evacuated because the ministry of home security ruled the district an "unsafe" area.

Now, for block after block, street after street, little buildings that houses probably the lorry driver, the street cleaner or chimney sweep, stand deserted.

Most of their belongings were salvaged and the people sent to other areas; many mothers and children to the country. But even yet German bombs rain over the district, threatening only the lives of firemen and volunteers who remain at

US Gears Arsenals To Top All

Output To Beat Capacity Of Any Foe By 1942

WASHINGTON, April 28—(AP).—Against the possibility that war may still be raging two years hence, defence officials are shaping plans fo. expanding output of the "arsenal of democracy" beyond the capacity of any possible foe.

Persons in close touch with the planners reported today that vast new bomber, amn.unition and other arms plants were in the preliminary design stage and predicted requests to Congress for billions to build and operate them.

The program is based on estimates of the 1943 needs of United States armed forces and those of countries which this nation may then be supplying with munitions.

Biggest Force Of Fliers Ever To Cross

Thousands Of Soldiers Among Units Now In New Camps

Somewhere in England, April 28—(CP)—Arrival of a heavily-guarded convoy, bringing to Britain thousands of Canadian fighting men and the largest force of Canadian-trained imperial fliers yet to reach the United Kingdom from Canada to take their posts in the war against Britain, was disclosed during the week-end.

The announcement was made after the troops had taken trains to their new stations and the convoy was dispersed.

Today, the new arrivals, at their stations newly-installed with their fellow-Canadians, began their "post-graduate" training that will put them speedily in line with the thousands of Dominion troops already here in the field and sky helping guard this Atlantic citadel of empire.

With the new arrivals came the first representative group from the Canadian armored corps and a road construction unit of the Royal Canadian Engineers, complete with their own steamrollers and tractors. Infantrymen, army doctors, dentists, chaplains, provist and ordnance men were among the new troops as well as a huge batch of general reinforcements.

Construction has yet to start on the second big program of munitions plants, construction for which Congress has provided more than $1,500,000,000.

These plants, including upwards of 30 ordnance factories and a major expansion of the aircraft industry, are not expected to reach the full production stage until well into 1942.

Just beginning to turn out powder, shells, machine guns, aircraft and tanks are plants built under the first program into which the Government put $1,750,000,000. Construction work on most of these started only last fall.

Some Washington estimates say that 15 per cent. or more of the nation's entire industrial output this year will be in the form of munitions of all kinds. The projected expansion would bring it appreciably nearer the 50 per cent. ratio attributed to Germany.

Defence officials have noted the possibility that the war might be over by 1943 and that billions might be expended uselessly, but they maintain this is a risk which cannot safely be avoided.

New arbitration machinery is working well, co-operation with union leaders is increasing, and workers are increasingly recognizing the enemy threat to their industrial standards and their security, Mr. Holt said. The workers were realizing their personal responsibility to provide equipment for their comrades-in-arms.

John Curtin, Labor parliamentary leader, said the Advisory War Council had been responsible for the concentration upon the war effort which has resulted in amazing results.

Australia, he declared, was not seeking scapegoats for recent events but will review the present realties and seek to return weaknesses to strength.

disclosed. Neither has the fate of the remainder of the Greek army directed by its king and government on the island of Crete to fight to the finish.

(Some of the British and Greek forces apparently fell back to the Peloponnesus in a reaguard action to cover further embarkations.)

Few details of the German occupation of Athens — 14th European capital into which Hitler's forces have moved—were received immediately in Berlin.

In a special communique announced by martial music over German radios the high command reported yesterday "troops of the German army fighting in Greece in pursuit of the enemy over the Thebes Khalkis line arrived in Athens at 9:25 a.m."

(A dispatch by an Associated Press correspondent from Athens five minutes after the entry of the Nazis made no mention of fighting as German motorcyclists rode into the centre of the city.)

Heavy Ship Losses

BERLIN, April 28—(AP).—German military dispatches claimed today that British shipping losses in the withdrawal from Greece have surpassed those suffered at Dunkirk.

The German military estimate was that British ships totalling 287,000 tons have sunk in Greek waters the past 11 days.

This, the Germans say, is 25,000 tons more than Britain lost in the Dunkirk withdrawal—and they added that this phase of the action in the Eastern Mediterranean is not completed.

Lloyd's listed British shipping losses at Dunkirk at 72 ships totalling 280,556 tons and Allied losses at 39 addition ships aggregating 163,348 tons. The Lloyds' figures did not include small pleasure and fishing craft used at Dunkirk.

There was no immediate British comment on these German claims, but unofficially it was pointed out that whereas at Dunkirk the Anglo-French forces taken off the French coast numbered about 335,000, only a fraction of that number would be involved in a retirement from Greece, hence a much smaller number of ships would be involved.

Army Air Corps Reserve. I am, therefore, forwarding my resignation to the Secretary of War.

"I take this action with the utmost regret, for my relationship with the air corps is one of the things that has meant most to me in life. I place it second only to my right as a citizen to speak freely to my fellow countrymen, and to discuss with them the issue of war and peace which confront our nation in this country.

"I will continue to serve my country to the best of my ability as a private citizen.

Respectfully,
Charles A. Lindbergh."

When F.D.D. Struck Out.

President Roosevelt, at his press conference last Friday, asserted it was dumb to consider a Nazi victory inevitable and classed Lindbergh with appeasers who urged people during the revolutionary and civil war on the grounds that those wars could not be won.

Lindbergh's name was brought into the discussion when a reporter asked why the flier had not been called into active service, although he held a commission in the air corps reserve.

Replying, Mr. Roosevelt said that during the civil war numerous foreigners, liberty-loving people, fought on both sides, and that at the same time both sides let certain people go; that is, did not call them into service.

He said the people who were thus ignored were the Vallandighams. He explained that the Vallandighams were people who, from 1863 on, urged immediate peace, arguing that the North could not win the war between the states.

(Clement L. Vallandigham was a member of the House from Ohio. In 1863 he was arrested for alleged "treasonable utterances" and banished from the Confederate states. He was known as a leader of the "Copperheads.")

Lindbergh has been a colonel in the Air Corps reserve since 1927, the year of his New York-Paris flight.

His last appointment was in 1937 after the passage of the recent Air Corps Act. Appointments are renewed every five years. His present appointment would have expired in 1942.

He has been on active duty with the Air Corps three times, first in 1923 while a captain. He was on duty for a few weeks in 1927 and again in the spring of 1939 when he mad a nation-wide inspection tour of air corps facilities.

was destroyed and others badly damaged by a machine-gun attack while they were embarking soldiers at the Libyan airport at Benina, a Royal Air Force Middle East communique said to-day.

The attack on an unstated number of Junkers troop transports on the flying field at Benina, about 10 miles east of the Axis-held Libyan port of Bengasi, was described by the communique as part of harassing air operations in North and East Africa.

British fighter planes machine-gunned motor transport at Alomata, Ethiopia, yesterday, causing heavy damage and set fire to gasoline stores at the airport there, it said.

Heavy casualties and considerable damage were inflicted the day before, it added, in an attack "on a convoy of motor transport which was carrying enemy troops."

Duke of Aosta Taken?... ... .

LONDON, April 28 — (CP). — Military circles in London said today the Duke of Aosta, Viceroy of Ethiopia, and commander of Italian forces there, last was reported in the vicinity of Dessie, but were unable to say whether he had been captured when the town fell.

These quarters said Gondar, 250 miles north-west of Addis Ababa and 190 miles north-west of Dessie, and Jimma, 160 miles south-west of Addis Ababa, now are the only Italian strongholds left in Ethiopia, but that there probably are some other pockets of resistance.

The Port of Assab, in Eritrea near the southern end of the Red Sea, also remains in Italian hands, they said.

Roads run from Dessie, a town of about 36,000 population, to Asmara and Assab, Eritrea, to Gondar and to British-occupied Addis Ababa.

The Information Ministry described Dessie, a town on a high plateau, as one of the main centres the Duke of Aosta had selected for continued resistance.

The town, which British forces had been attacking from all sides, was said by the ministry to have been seized finally by troops operating from Addis Ababa. The ministry said it was believed that stores and ammunition for three months had been collected there by the Italians.

In the Gambela area of Western Ethiopia, Belgian troops last Friday repulsed an attack by two battalions of Fascists, the ministry said.

Fires In Alberta

EDMONTON, April 28 — (CP).—Forest fires lashed across Alberta areas during the week-end, taking toll of life and property.

Two groups of firefighters were reported trapped in the Rocky Mountain House district, 127 miles south-west of here, while in the Wetaskiwin area, 75 miles south-east of Edmonton, a volunteer aiding a forest patrol died when overcome by smoke.

The War Today

By DON GILBERT
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

Somewhere in Greece, presumably in Peloponnesus harbors, the British expeditionary force was believed to-day to be embarking aboard transports and evacuating the little kingdom it failed to save from the vast German hordes that poured southward from conquered Yugoslavia.

How big the force was and whether the evacuation had been completed was not disclosed for the moment, but Prime Minister Churchill announced in his radio address yesterday that is retreat was being covered by New Zealand and Greek forces.

Only official word on the situation came from Army Minister Percy Spender, of Australia, who declared at Sydney that the evacuation was under way and that "as far as this has proceeded it has been successful."

Fulfilment of the evacuation or its failure will probably bring surrender to Greek forces remaining in their own country and complete the Nazi conquest of continental Greece.

Thus, on the face of it, withdrawal of the British might be evaluated as the failure of a mission. Actually the value of intervention can be gauged only in the knowledge of losses by both sides, including those involved in the British evacuation.

There seemed every reason to believe that the German losses were immense, for they were reported to have employed their steamroller tactics, involving hundreds and thousands of closely-packed men at a time, men who were mowed down by machine-gun and rifle fire until they came in such numbers that the defenders could not fire fast enough to hold them back.

The fact that the vastly-outnumbered defenders were able to effect their withdrawal in complete order could in itself be taken as an indication that they inflicted huge losses in comparison with those they suffered themselves.

With the Balkan wars apparently over there appeared every reason to expect greater German assistance to the feeble Italian effort in Africa, which yesterday lost the Ethiopian stronghold of Dessie which South African troops had been hammering in the hardest fighting of the East African campaign.

A diplomatic offensive is believed underway against Turkey to obtain access to the Dardanelles and island bases from which to strike at Suez.

Mr. Churchill yesterday mentioned also the possibility of the war involving Spain or Russia if Germany reaches for Gibraltar and the rich wheatfields of Ukrainia.

30-Day Trainees May Be Recalled

OTTAWA, April 28. — (CP).—Speculation arose to-day over the possibility of further calls for compulsory service to the 75,000 odd men who received 30 days military training during the autumn and early winter in view of the decision to retain men now undergoing the new four-month training period in the army for service in Canada.

The 30-day trained men, like those called for four months' training, are members of the reserve army under the National Resources Mobilization Act and regulations made following its enactment.

As such they are liable to be called for such further training or military duty in Canada as the Minister of National Defence may direct.

The four months' training period as it now is organized is designed to fit a man to take his place in a unit already on active service as a reiforcement. Before the men who trained for one month could be assigned to such units they would probably require further training.

They alone maintain watch over this melancholy area which seems a city of the dead, a city deserted in haste as if to avoid plague which settled without warning.

But those who know the Cockney swear that as soon as the plague has passed he will return to reclaim his broken home.

In the districts which, while heavily attacked, have not been deserted, the Cockney still hangs out his red-and-white-and blue bunting, the Union Jack, or varied signs indicating that business is wanted in the shops or that no one is dispirited.

But as your boots crunch over broken glass block after block and you watch the panorama of civilian suffering in modern war this comic touch loses all its humor.

The amusing signs, crayoned usually in blatant letters, have been described many times. They have revealed the spirit of the cockney even among death and destruction.

But more sombre signs also appear. Outside the mortuary or undertakers, whose building has been partly wrecked, hangs a grim sign, "Business as usual," and "Please apply to temporary office in garage."

Almost alongside is another damaged building where people who have been bombed and who have lost relatives may find "specialists in mourning wear."

Fish And Chips.

"A limited quantity of fish and chips will be on sale at noon-hour," says a sign outside a building so boarded that you are unable to see what's behind. A crowd of women and children, many of them coated by dust from the debris-littered street, has formed two hours before opening time.

Hot Days Ahead For Crete As Greece Falls

(By EDWARD E. BOMAR.)

WASHINGTON, April 28—(AP).—Whatever Hitler's course following the conquest of Greece, one seeming certainty is that his bombers soon will turn their full fury on Crete, the British Mediterranean fleet and the Suez Canal.

Prime Minister Churchill foresaw this in a warning Sunday that war in the Mediterranean and "above all in the air" would become fierce and widespread.

Alexandria, vital base of British seapower; Haifa, where Iraq's oil pipelines reach the seas, and the Canal itself with its important terminal facilities may be destined for severe bombing.

There are reasons to believe, however, that by aerial attacks alone neither British naval power nor the Canal can be more than harassed. Decisive Axis victory in the Middle East demands a successful drive by land which air raids can only supplement. What seems inevitable is a new phase of the struggle between air and sea power.

Advantages for Luftwaff

The occupation of Greece and the panzer divisions' desert drive eastward to Egypt's borders have given the German airmen numerous immediate advantages.

Skirmishing with the British forces at Salum, on the Egyptian frontier, the Nazis are now little more than 300 miles by air from Alexandria, and fewer than 475 miles from the Canal.

From Athens, bombers are some 600 miles from Alexandria and some 100 from the Canal, whereas Italy's Dodecanese Islands, which the Nazis now are in a position to reinforce and use as a springboard for raids, are but 370 or so miles from Alexandria. Palestine's oil pipelines are even closer.

And Crete, the Grecian island which Britain was quick to convert into an outpost bastion, is only an hour or less by bomber from either the Greek Peninsula or Rhodes, in the Dodecanese.

Thus for the first time the Axis is in a strong position to imperil by air Britain's domination of the Eastern Mediterranean.

Difficult to Block

But sea-level Suez, needing no locks, is far less vulnerable to bombing than the Panama Canal.

German experts have acknowledged than in an emergency a new channel section may be dredged within a few days through the soft sandy banks around any sunken ship that may impede traffic. Even complete blocking could only hamper the flow of war supplies to Egypt, as long as Britain controls the Red Sea, since the 101-mile link between the two seas is paralleled by both railway and highway.

Britain's prospects of holding on in the Middle East are brightened by several considerations. Foremost is the confidence of the stubborn Britons themselves that they can halt their foes, and that even should they lost the Mediterranean and the Canal, they can still keep East Africa, the rest of the Empire and the homeland, and ultimately win the war with United States aid.

Demand Higher Wages

VICHY, April 28 (AP)—A demand for higher wages loomed today as the next controversial issue for France.

L'Effort, publishel in occupied France, carried a front page article by Union Leader Mercel Imbert saying "Where the departmental index shows a 35 per cent rise in the cost of living, it is not enough to raise wages 10 or 15 per cent."

Painful, Pus Filled Boils the Cause of Much Misery

If you suffer from boils you know how sick and miserable they made you feel.

Boils are an outward indication of impurities in the system, and just when you think you are rid of one another crops up to take its place and prolong your misery. All the lancing and poulticing you can do may not stop more coming.

To help overcome boils you should purify the blood, so why not give that old, reliable blood medicine, Burdock Blood Bitters, a chance to show what it will do in helping you get rid of them? Thousands have used it for this purpose for the past 60 years. Why not you?

PORT HOPE

Durham Lodge Of I.O.O.F. Attends Church

PORT HOPE, April 28 (ENS) — The true manner of attaining the brotherhood which the world so badly needs today is to obey God's command to love and obey Him and secondly to love our neighbors, the Rev. Dr. N. S. McKechnie told members of Durham Lodge No. 178, I.O.O.F. and Ganaraska Rebekah Lodge No. 25, when they attended the Baptist church this evening in a body.

Dr. McKechnie related several stories from the Bible which emphasized the biblical interpretation of brotherly love, which God intended should encompass the world. The true brotherhood is one which is greater than the hatreds existing between nations, races and colors. In man's heart the same desires and visions are found and when the existence of God as the father of all men is realized, the step to accepting all men as brothers in the greater sense of the word, is not difficult.

Dr. McKechnie gave a brief history of Oddfellowship, which originated in England in the eighteenth century as a fraternal organization. Its members, Dr. McKechnie said, can practice the principals of brotherhood.

Claims Chinese Army Drive Saved HongKong

SYDNEY, April 28—(AP).—John Beasley, member of the House of Representatives and a Labor representative on the Advisory War Council, said to-day that Japanese forces were preparing to take Hong Kong when the War Council issued its warning to the Commonwealth last February 12.

At that time the Council issued a statement which said that the war was entering a grave stage.

Beasley said that the Japanese planned to land a force of 20,000 on one side of Hong Kong while their fleet, based at Hainan Island off the south coast of China, patrolled the other side.

He said that Chinese attacks prevented the plan from materializing. He added that China is of great strategic importance in the Pacific for Japan has had to keep 1,000,000 troops, 300 naval vessels constantly occupied in the Chinese War.

He suggested that the recent treaty between Japan and Russia might release a part of this force for service elsewhere.

New Magnesium For Bombing In Cheap Process

HAMILTON, April 28—(CP).—A new process of producing magnesium metal, which is becoming increasingly useful as a war material, has been worked out by a Hamilton metallurgist. His backers say that his method may cut the cost of the metal by as much as two thirds.

The inventor of the process is Ralph Keenle, who turned from his work as an engineer in Northern Ontario to metallurgy. H. E. Wilmot of Toronto, on of the members of the syndicate which has been financing the experiments, says that estimates already worked out indicate the cost of producing the metal may be reduced to less than 10 cents a pound. At present its commercial cost runs from 27 to 30 cents a pound.

The tests have advanced so far that the small laboratory units which the metal has been produced may now be set aside and plans are ready for construction of a small plant which would be able to turn out 2,000 tons a day.

Keenle's process makes use of dolomite, one of the most plentiful minerals in the world and one of the greatest sources of magnesium. Extraction of the metal from this mineral, however, was heretofore proved difficult and more expensive methods have had to be used.

At present commercial magnesium is separated from minerals more rare than dolomite. One method in use at present in the United States extracts it from sea water.

Keenle packs the dolomite in an electric furnace. The current is turned on, the mass heats up to several thousand degrees, and the magnesium passes off as a gas at white heat. One of the tricks is catching it before it contacts the air and explodes.

This is done by "shock-cooling" it in a current of gas. The solid particles which form on cooling suddenly drop into a bath of crude oil. The oil is then distilled off, leaving the metal in the form of a powder.

Propose Holding Budget Debate Over Till Friday

OTTAWA, April 28.—(CP)—Conservative sources said today the Conservative group in the House of Commons will ask for an adjournment of the budget debate until Friday after Finance Ministel Ilsley brings down the budget Tuesday afternoon.

Name of the opposition financial critic has not been announced yet. In the last debate J. H. Harris (Con. Toronto-Danforth) led off for the opposition and he may take over the same task this week. The final decision probably will be made at a Conservative caucus Tuesday.

It was reported today the caucus also will discuss conscription. So far the Conservatives in the Commons have not endorsed conscription for overseas service.

With the members just back from their constituencies following the Easter recess, it was expected the situation would be canvassed to find out what the Conservative members feel would be the attitude of the country to a demand for conscription.

Compulsory service at present extends only to defence duties within Canadian boundaries, under the policy announced Saturday by Defence Minister Ralston of detailing to defence posts men who completed four-months' compulsory military training under the National Resources Mobilization Act.

Obituary

MRS. GEORGE SWALWELL

COBOURG, April 28 (ENS) — A former resident of Cobourg, Mrs. George Swalwell, died at her home, 29 Concord Avenue, Toronto, Friday, April 25th.

Possessed of a fine personality and kindly manner she was beloved by all who knew her and will be missed by her many friends.

Her husband died on January 13th and she had been quite ill since then. Left to mourn the death of a truly devoted mother is her son, Mr. George Swalwell, and her daughter, Miss Mary Swalwell, of Toronto, who have the sincerest sympathy in this their second bereavement in such a short time.

The funeral took place this morning from her home, 29 Concord Avenue to St. Francis church for Requiem High Mass at 9 o'clock, thence to St. Michael's cemetery, Cobourg for burial in the family plot.

A London schoolgirl told her teacher that the inhabitants of Ceylon were called Celanese.

"TIRED" ALL THE TIME

She felt miserable—draggy—low in vitality—lower in spirits. She hadn't thought of her kidneys, until a friend suggested Dodd's Kidney Pills. At once she took Dodd's. The "washed out" feeling was soon replaced by clear headed energy and restful sleep. Headache, backache, lassitude and other signs of faulty kidneys disappeared. 112

Officer Braves Trip Back To Cabin For Blankets As Ship Goes Down

An East Coast Canadian Port, April 28—(CP).—Sub.-Lt. Ellsworth Large of Charlottetown, P.E.I., wouldn't talk much about what he did when the Rajputana was crushed by two German torpedoes, but his pals, and his bunk-mate Sub.-Lt. Murray Knowles of Saint John, N.B., let out the story.

The two of them were sleeping in their bunk early in the morning the Nazi sub struck swiftly. They were rolled out onto the floor by the shock of the first torpedo, but quickly dressed and hurried on deck.

It was just at that point that Large stopped talking about himself, and talked long of the other fellows. But finally the story came.

As one fellow put it: "It takes nerve to go below in a crate that's sinking," and that was what Large did. Seeing that several of the men had rushed to action stations only half clad, he returned down the darkened steps, felt his way to his cabin, and there cooly threw some things into a case for their protection.

Socks, sweaters — anything he could put his hands on were taken along. Then the second torpedo exploded in the listing Rajputana.

Tossed to Floor

For the second time Large rolled about on the floor, but managed to crawl through the debris to deck with his cargo of comforts.

Sub.-Lt. Knowles called the torpedoes "Easter eggs," and thought the Germans were a little unfair in calling so early. Just before the second "egg" was left, Knowles said, he was racing towards the quarter-deck. He met Midshipman Frank Johnston, also of Saint John, patted him on the back, and said "keep up the good work."

That's the last I saw of him," he went on. "I don't know what happened to him."

When the order to abandon ship was given Knowles had to jump for his boat—a distance of some 20 feet. "The boat was packed," he said, "and I landed right on their heads, feet first."

"Many of the fellows got seasick while they were waiting to be picked up, as the sea slapped us around quite a bit."

Both Large and Knowles told of the thrill they got when a Sunderland flying boat spotted them, and later directed a destroyer to their rescue.

"The men on the destroyer were swell," said Large. "They gave us warm clothes, hot drinks, and everything."

And just then the two rememberd they had papers tucked in their tunics giving them leave. So they politely but firmly left the reporters.

A Long And a Hard Way

The newspaper critic in London who felt disgusted because "Hitler can still push us around" turned out a good phase, but when doing that he forgot something.

He overlooked some of the first addresses which Mr. Churchill made shortly after he became Prime Minister. Those addresses were not made up for the occasion, nor were they filled with fluff or snap decisions.

The Prime Minister promised tears, agony and sacrifice, and he also at a later date went on to speak of the time when Britain would take the offensive, and he never mentioned it being done in 1941. It might come late in 1942 or 1943, but there was no hope held out that it would be an early event.

Mr. Churchill knew well enough what the situation was. He realized that Britain was short of equipment, and that it had for years been deliberately following a system which would aggravate that shortage. There had been the high hope of world peace.

It was known that Germany had been building armament for seven full years; it was known that Italy had been doing the same thing for a longer period. War plans had first call in Germany during all those years and German production was actually on a war basis years before the British started on their ill-fated plan of appeasement.

When the war started it was apparent that Germany had brought into existence a machine which was greater than any other which had existed. It had a mobility and striking might which had not previously been equalled. It is that same machine which the British encountered when they went to the rescue of their allies in the Balkans. They were actually meeting and encountering the effects of those seven full years of war production on the part of Germany, during which time the war production in Britain lagged to the point where it did not exist.

We consider it is fair and right to say that today the strength of Britain's land and air forces is only beginning to show and feel increased strength. It took months, and precious months they were, to gear British factories up to anything like a peak of production. It is only within recent months that the industrial unit of United States, the great manufacturing spot in the world, has started to reach efficiency in war production, and the same is true to an appreciable extent in Canada. Outside the production of shells and small arms we knew little of war business. The making of planes with us was something which had been confined to commercial or pleasure machines for private use, and that sort of manufacture has little in common with war production. Never had we made a tank.

We are also facing the serious business of getting production from this side of the Atlantic across to England, and it means nothing at all unless we do get it there.

Possibly the London editor who had grown weary of being shoved about by Hitler had been carried away by the success of the Greek campaign against Italy, and the success of the British dealing with the same nation in Libya. It may have caused him to come to the conclusion that the striking power of Britain and her Greek ally had actually attained a place where success was assured.

But again he was forgetting that seven-year start which was registered to the advantage of Germany before the war started. He was overlooking the dull and blunt fact that the machine was still there and that we had done nothing to knock it to pieces. And that is exactly where we stand today.

No person in a place of authority has ever predicted that the war was going to turn in our favor shortly. We have had a surfeit of irresponsible statements about Germany being short of oil, and being hard put for fats and supplies, and all that kind of talk does nothing but give to us a sense of false security—that is if we believe it. It is time we quit believing that kind of talk because as we see operations from day to day we know Germany is not lacking in essentials. Her machine is still strong.

We consider it remarkable that Britain has been able to stand up as she has. We know for certain that Hitler looked for the end of the war in 1940. Clear-thinking British folk figured early in the conflict that if the struggle could be prolonged Britain would win. If the conclusion were to come suddenly then Britain would lose.

That business of growing stronger may be irksome to those who fail to marshal all the facts, but it is a process through which we have to pass in order to live. It calls for cool heads, the tightened jaw, the pocket with less and less in it; it demands patience and fortitude and suffering and agony and death. It is the hard way of which Churchill spoke months ago, and that is the way we are travelling today.

Let's Get It Done

When President Roosevelt steps out of line to brand Col. Charles Lindbergh as a "copperhead" it would seem the time has arrived to officially cancel the pass which was issued to the same Lindbergh by the Canadian National Railways.

There was a time when it did not make so much difference what Lindbergh did or did not do. We could readily and easily come to the conclusion that he would probably not be making use of the pass. For that reason it meant little to us and would cause no outlay on our part when we were paying the annual deficit on the operation of the C.N.R.

But that time has gone. Definitely. Lindbergh is now setting himself squarely and openly and forcefully against the adopted policy of United States to aid Britain. He is doing all he can to wean people from such policy. That being the case we can class him as nothing less than an enemy to the British cause. And being an enemy of the British cause he becomes an enemy of Canada.

Lifting that pass might cause no inconvenience to Lindbergh, but it would at least let him and the people of United States know what Canada thought of him, and we can see no good reason for keeping out official tongue in the cheek when it comes to dealing with such a matter.

There was probably good cause for issuing the pass in the first place, and now there is better cause for revoking it —and at once.

The Real Test

Reports continue to find their way into print telling of the "reduction" of debenture debt in various municipalities. Waterloo, Ont., reports that a debenture debt of $1,052,426 in 1931 has been reduced to $473,674, and that forms the basis for the town's splendid financial position.

Actually there is nothing unusual about the reduction of a debenture debt. When the debt is incurred it is known definitely that it becomes an annual obligation until the time of its maturity. If the payments were not made regularly then the municipality would face the uncomfortable fact that it was in default. Members of the council who are there during the time of these payments have nothing to do with the matter apart from seeing that the payments of interest and sinking fund are included in the estimates.

The real value of such reduction is when councils so manage their affairs that they do not keep adding to the debenture debt, and thus allow the total obligation to decrease. Right there is the real test.

He Saw The Fifth Column

Sam Brewer, an American correspondent, was in Belgrade shortly after it had been bombed by the Germans. He had the experience of being arrested and finding that he was on the list for execution. So Sam has something about which to write.

For the moment though there is something informative in the narrative, because he was able to see the terror in the people of Yugoslavia, the suspicion that had gripped them and the amount of confusion and hopelessness which grew out of it all.

When he was arrested he had with him a portable typewriter and a few personal belongings in a bag. The soldiers saw the typewriter case and said it was a radio outfit; they came upon the boots and said they were German military make, whereas they came from United States.

On every hand soldiers and police were examining their own people. They were suspicious of every person because the country was filled with rumors that the Germans had landed thousands in the country by parachutes. As near as Mr. Brewer could come to facts he found no one who had seen a German parachutist coming down.

But it was the business of the fifth column movement in Yugoslavia to cause people to believe that this mysterious force was about to strike; it was their duty to bring people to such a point of panic that they would not think accurately or act wisely. They just went into a riot of fear, and that is exactly what the fifth column is for and what it does. It prepares the way for the bringing in of the troops and it is as powerful as any troop movement could possibly be because it breaks resistance before the attack commences.

Zeal Of a Poor Sort

When Germany's good friend in United States, Charles Lindbergh, addressed a meeting in New York, there was a picket line with banners arranged by those who are opposed to him. Also there was a free fight.

Of course we feel a degree of sympathy for those who had sufficient nerve to walk forth into an unfriendly territory and carry along their banners, but we cannot help wondering if they were actually accomplishing anything.

It is always well to try and get at the central idea in any situation. Here it is easily found in the fact that 15,000 people gathered together to hear Lindbergh. So that is something on which to start. That number of people believed Lindbergh to be right in his pro-German outlook.

The sensible idea would be to give these people something better and stronger and bigger to occupy their minds. Merely going out with placards to disturb their meeting means nothing at all. It would not show them why they were wrong, and opposition of that variety would probably confirm the mistaken idea that they were actually on the right track.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Steel production is dropping slightly in United States due to strikes in the coal fields, and that can be chalked up as good news for Germany.

A school boy of 17 years in Toronto has been fined $200 for the illegal possession of liquor. He may be getting an education, but not of the right sort.

A painter in Minneapolis was charged in court with having three wives, and it looks as though he ought to have taken a short course in accounting.

Man of 39 was in court at London, Ont. and for 21 years he has made an appearance in some court. A habit formed at 18 years is liable to stick.

Reports of the Mexican earthquake of several days ago state the death list was 84. As usual the first reports had it running into the hundreds and thousands.

The centre span of the new Rainbow bridge at Niagara will be placed in position early in June, and as we understand it there will be no traffic until that is done.

One new war plant in United States has 5,500 acres, and 10,000 will work there producing smokeless gun powder. And possibly there will be little smoking during the process.

Central fire station in Hamilton is said to have too much waste room and it is suggested part of it might be turned into apartments. When it came to getting tenants preference would be given to good checker players.

London reports that war workers who have been engaged seven days a week are doing more and better work now on a six-day basis. The plan for one day's rest in seven was fixed long ago. Meantime it has been attacked and ignored, but it always retains sufficient force and wisdom to survive as one of the wisest of all arrangements.

NOT SO GOOD

(By A.R.K.)

¶ My dollar watch is growing old, and it's erratic as can be, more so when weather turns to cold at noon it sometimes points to three. And when I go to catch the train it fools me in a nasty way, I run till I have wrenched my frame to find the train has gone that day.

¶ It makes me late on Sunday too and I get rather cross and sore, when I turn at the family pew I blame my dollar watch once more. And so I thought I'd fix the thing like what I'd seen the jeweler do, there might be ailment in the spring or else perhaps a loosened screw.

¶ I got the tools lined like I should, I had a knife, a hammer too, I'd get it running sound and good, 'twould act like what it used to do. I tightened up some gadgets there and put on lots of oil as well, I knew 'twould be a good affair and then the proper time 'twould tell.

¶ And then I wound it up some more expecting it would tick for me, I even thought 'twould thump and roar, but it was quiet as it could be. My dollar watch I did not cure, I thought and figured it all through, and now I know I've done for sure some tinkerin' that I shouldn't do.

In Washington War News Takes Major Position

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON. — Except a little purely local stuff here an there, there's no news now outside the war, defence and aid-the - democracies classification. There's a fine assortment of that, however. It's got plenty of variety, it hits in every direction and some of it's amusing.

Chas. P. Stewart

For instance, word came the other day from Rome that a pardon had been granted to George Ehret and Grace Gunther, two Americans convicted in Italy and sentenced to heavy fines and also to prison terms for violations of the Fascists' wartime currency regulations. The United States embassy pointed out to Duce Mussolini that the pair had offended through ignorance of the emergency rule on the subject; not intentionally. Accordingly, Benito waived the imprisonment item. He collected the fines, though. The Fascist regime sees no particular sense on keeping its jails unnecessary cluttered up with foreigners. It prefers them at large, spending money. But any of their cash that it gets its clutches on, in the form of fines, it hangs on to.

State Secretary Cordell Hull's reaction to the Copenhagen government's repudiation of the bargain he made with Henrik de Kauffmann, Danish minister in Washington, for an American protectorate over Danishly-owned Greenland, also was entertaining.

Of course the repudiation came only nominally from Copenhagen. It came really from Herr Hitler. Still, technically, it had every appearance of being strictly according to international Hoyle. At first it was a bit difficult to see how Secretary Hull could question the validity of the Danish foreign office's representation that Minister de Kauffmann had exceeded his authority in closing the dicker.

Refuses to Return

He didn't exactly question it, either. He merely answered, in effect, "Oh, well, in that case we'll go ahead with the bargain." That's present day diplomacy.

Incidentally Minister de Kauffmann, recalled to Denmark, undoubtedly displayed first-rate judgment in announcing that he isn't going. He thinks he's safer in Washington. He adds that he's here as the Danish people's representative; not as representative of only an alleged government run from Berlin.

For that matter, Washington's half full today of diplomats representing governments that don't exist any longer.

I've had occasion several times lately to refer to gossip to the effect that we're likely soon to have a censorship (probably known as a public information bureau) operating in Washington. Now it seems possible that London, instead, will censor us. The foreign office there complains that American newspapers publish considerable stuff that's liable to be useful to the Axis, concerning British war activities. If we haven't the sense to know what ought to be kept hushed up, London will be glad to tell us. The state department itself is blamed (from London) for havng given out some such information to American reporters. It would be getting right back to the source to have a British censorship slapped on to the state department — and a corking good joke on the department.

In normal times all countries like to have big export volumes. A country with a handsome export balance ordinarily assumes that it has lots of customers for its products—that it's prosperous; scooping in barrelsful of money.

Consequently a recent commerce department report mentions with much satisfaction the fact that our 1940 exports to Britain almost exactly doubled 1939's. What the report doesn't emphasize, though, is the circumstances that 1940's were mainly war supplies, which we never expect to get paid for.

Checking Profiteering

Naturally nearly everybody is interested in the prevention of wartime profiteering, because, if that starts, our living costs will skyhoot—a great deal faster than our incomes are likely to increase. It will pinch us like everything. So President Roosevelt's recent creation of an Office of Price Administration, with Leon Henderson at the head of it, to head off such a tendency, was widely welcomed.

Just how it's going to work I don't see. If a salesman is prohibited from charging market prices for his merchandise, I'd imagine that he'd stop selling it, and thus that there wouldn't be any of it available, which would be just as bad as being overcharged for it, particularly if it happened to be some absolute necessity.

Nevertheless, economists say it can be done and, to prove it, the first thing Leon Henderson did was to crack down on the price of cadmium.

Isn't that wonderful tidings? The next time, dear read, that you have occasion to replenish your stock of cadmium, don't you let the dealer stick you for an excessive figure on it. If you don't know what it is, look it up in the dictionary.

• Enlistment Across Canada

THIS is Canadas war—all of Canada. The Dominion fights Hitler as one country — not as nine provinces or several military districts. Canadian war effort—particularly as related to the all-important matter of recruiting this nation's man-power—will not be stimulated by setting one city's record against another's. This was mistakenly done, however, by some one in the Department of National Defence, in allowing a statement to emanate from Ottawa, contrasting the response of the Dominion's two largest centres to a recent specific recruiting appeal.

The injustice having been done, however, it is desirable that the true picture be sketched upon the records. This was actually done in a return tabled the other day in the House of Commons, notes Stratford Beacon-Herald, covering the period from the beginning of the war in September, 1939, to November, 1940, and showing the total enlistments in the Army, Air Force and Navy to have been as follows:

Ontario	72,504
Quebec	34,593
British Columbia	16,556
Manitoba	16,400
Alberta	13,920
Saskatchewan	10,689
New Brunswick	10,075
Nova Scotia, P.E.I.	18,490
Total	195,227

In fairness, the populations of the provinces should be included, stated in percentages of the Dominion total, and shown along with the enlistments, likewise reduced to percentages. Taking the last Federal census as the basis, the comparative percentages of population are given hereunder, along with the percentage enlistments represented in the figures quoted from the Parliamentary record:

	Population Percent.	Enlist. Percent.
Ontario	33.07	37.2
Quebec	27.70	17.7
British Columbia	6.69	9.5
Manitoba	6.75	8.4
Alberta	6.75	7.1
Saskatchewan	8.88	5.5
N. Scotia, P.E.I.	5.79	9.5

It will be noted that in all provinces except Quebec and Saskatchewan, the percentage of enlistments was higher than the percentage of population.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

By faith Noah, being warned of God of things not seen as yet, moved with fear, prepared an ark to the saving of his house; by the which he condemned the world, and became heir of the righteousness which is by faith.—Heb. xi, 7.

For by grace are ye saved through faith, and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God.—Eph. ii, 8.

A Bit of Nonsense

Go Top

"Johnny, can you tell me the difference between attraction of gravitation and attraction of cohesion?"

"Yes, sir. Attraction of gravitation pulls a drunken man to the ground, and the attraction of cohesion prevents him getting up again."

Tit For Tat

Nurse (suspiciously): "What have you been doing, Joan?"

Joan: "Rover's eaten my dolly's slippers, so I've been punishing him."

"How?"

"I've been to his kennel and drinked his milk."

Move Up

Mr. Meeker had crawled under the bed when he heard the burglar. He held his breath and waited. Then, after a long pause, he felt someone trying to crawl in beside him.

"Is that you, Henrietta, dear?" he whispered.

"No," was the answering whisper. "I've just had a look at her. I'm the burglar. Move up!"

BELGIUM'S GIFT

FREE BELGIUM is crushed, for the time being, yet it lives here in the United States almost as though the disaster had never occurred. Georges Theunis, the Belgian Ambassador, announces that the beautiful Belgian Pavilion from the World's Fair has been given to Virginia Union University, the Negro educational centre at Richmond.

It's a $700,000 structure and the cost of moving and rebuilding will be about $300,000. Virginia Union will divide the space into four parts: library, a gymnasium, a science laboratory and a music tower. The marble, stone, slate and tile in the majestic building cannot be duplicated in this country.

Virginia Union was picked out as the recipient of the gift because it is doing a particularly good educational job, because it badly needed more room and because the university is not too many miles from Flushing Meadows.

We think the Belgian government is to be warmly thanked for its generosity. One form of thanks is to do all we can to remove the oppressor's heel.—New York Post.

SOMETIMES MEN CAN NEVER RETURN

Another business trip over. Away only a week this time but even that is too long. Not very keen about these journeys away from home and those two growing youngsters; but, he had not much choice about this trip. However, he was back once more and would soon see them again. They will have missed him.

When he left, little Janny had been hard at work trying to get that little patch of flowers pushed up to show him what a helper she is. She won't fail to point out how they have grown while he was away.

And at that, how these youngsters do grow! It seems only a few short years ago that Ruth was the entire family. Must be about sixteen now and looks just like her mother.

Come to think of it, only seventeen years since he married: happiest years of his life. Mary had made a real home for him and he had been fortunate in keeping away from her the worries of the world men work in. As long as he could, he would keep it that way, though he knew that some day he might have to leave and never return to them.

Well, he had guarded against that time. No doubt about the sound wisdom of having an experienced executor-trustee named in his Will to look after the investments and property of his estate—they know what to do to make an estate earn the most. But best of all was the certainty that if anything happened to him, Mary and the girls would be under a sensibly business-like yet friendly protection.

SPRING REDINGOTE

By PRUNELLA WOOD

THE redingote remains one of the smartest and most practical of Spring outfits, year in and year out. The ensemble sketched herewith illustrates the redingote at its best, in a coat of cherry red wool over a gay printed frock of white motifs and violet polka dots on a cherry red ground. The full-length, beautifully fitted coat, lined in matching print, employs padded rolls of self-material as trimming on sleeves, pockets and front closing. Soft tailoring distinguishes the slender lines of the wool coat. Gloves of the same print as the dress supply an amusing finishing touch.

Wild Flowers At Their Best During Week-end

These stirring days of spring-time lure many to the woods in search of our Canadian wild flowers. Nature lovers during the week-end found Hepaticas in the last stages of bloom, but the dainty little spring beauty, the Dog-Tooth Violet with its satiny brown-flecked leaves, the Blood Root and Jack-in-the-Pulpit are at their best, even the waxy blossoms of what we, as children, called "Dutchman's Breeches," with their lacy leaves, are to be found in sunny corners, and clumps of violets are beginning to form tiny, tightly-furled buds.

Nodding a shy invitation to kneel and inhale their fragrance, these blossoms are made to be loved, not to be carelessly picked. A cluster of Hepaticas, a scattering of yellow Dog-Tooth Violets at the foot of an old grey stump, or silhouetted against tawny, sun-kissed leaves, are a far, far lovelier sight than drooping blossoms clutched in the hand, or hanging forlorn heads in unnatural surroundings.

If Canada's spring-times are to remain sweet and filled with floral beauty we must learn to admire from a distance, or at least to limit ouselves to a few blossoms of each variety. Combined with plenty of their own leaves, several blossoms make a much more effective arrangement in a simple vase than bloom en masse.

Our woodlands are not showing us the same beauty our parents saw, or that we ourselves revelled in as children, simply because our wild flower heritage has been rifled year by year.

She warned Canadians particularly against complacency and urged them not to waste time, energy or money but do their utmost to help Britain in her time of need.

Port Hope Girl Weds Roger R. Allchin

PORT HOPE, April 28 (ENS) — A charming wedding was held Saturday afternoon in the Baptist church when Alice Elizabeth Hosking, Bruton street, became the bride of Roger Roy Allchin, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Allchin, Bowmanville. The Rev. Dr. N. S. McKechnie officiated. Mrs. J. W. Rice, sister of the bride, sang, and Mr. A. H. N. Snelgrove played the wedding music. The church was prettily decorated with pink and white snapdragons.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white slipper satin with fitted bodice and full flare skirt. Her headdress was a coronet of satin and lily of the valley with floor length tulle veil. Her flowers were pink and white sweet peas. Miss Audrey Thompson, wearing a dress of pink silk net over pink taffeta and a headdress of pink flowers caught up in a shoulder length veil, attended the bride. Her flowers were pink and rose sweet peas. Mr. Orville Sellick, Bowmanville, was the best man. The ushers were Mr. W. J. Rice and Mr. Roy Stacey, Bowmanville.

At the reception held at the home of the bride's parents, the bride's mother received in a gown of powder blue crepe with hat to match. The groom's mother wore rose flowered crepe while both wore corsages of roses and sweet peas.

Work of I.O.D.E. Members Amaze Even Themselves

The stupendous amount of work accomplished by the hundreds of Primary Chapters which compose the Ontario Provincial Chapter, I.O.D.E., amazed even the members themselves, when presented in the admirable report of Mrs. C. D. Hickey, Hamilton, Provincial War Work Convener. As she rolled up totals of 234,834 articles valued at $189,168 for other organizations, and recorded the amount of wool knitted and the books and magazines provided, by tons, all former standards of measurement seemed to become meaningless.

Another highlight of the session was the ready and enthusiastic assent which junior chapters throughout Ontario responded to their first invitation to attend and present reports at the provincial meeting. It was most stimulating and the unlimited possibilities of the many talents of youthful members will be carefully directed in future activities.

Mrs. John Scroggie, distinguished English guest speaker, who worked with Her Majesty the Queen on the Queen Elizabeth Fund, and is now en route to help Lady Halifax organize the American women, seemed to speak with the voice of English women, en masse, when with experience of tragedy and humor she recounted the arduous preparation of English women, long before the war and the spirit of sacrifice in which they met it and are still meeting it.

DOROTHY DIX

CHEERFULNESS IS GREATEST VIRTUE YOU CAN POSSESS.

It Answers Most of the Problems That Vex You, Makes Friends and Holds Them.

Cheerfulness deserves to be rated among the major virtues, yet its importance is almost entirely ignored in our scheme of life. Nobody speaks of it being our duty to be cheerful. No one teaches children to be cheerful. No one seems even to realize how much profit there is in being cheerful. Yet cheerfulness comes nearer than any other one thing to being the answer to all of the problems that vex us. It is, to begin with, the secret of how to make and hold friends. Who are the people you are attracted to at sight? Who are the people you enjoy being with? Are they the beautiful, the intellectual, the witty, the wise? Not at all. It is the cheerful people. It is the men and women who wear the smile that won't come off and who leave you with the feeling that God is in His heaven and all's right with the world. A homely girl whose plain face radiates cheerfulness and good humor can marry all round a peevish, fretful, good-looker. Whether we welcome our friends' visits with shouts of joy or endure them with stoical fortitude depends upon whether they are going to tell us a good story that will make us laugh or weep upon our breasts and tell us their troubles. And when we are old, whether we are regarded as a pest or a benediction on the house depends altogether upon how strong a hold we have kept on our optimism.

If Grandma and Grandpa have still kept their faith in the true, the beautiful and the good, and if they still carry sunshine with them wherever they go, there is always a warm welcome for them in their children's homes. It is the wet-blanket old folks whom nobody wants about them.

No one can compute in dollars and cents the value of cheerfulness in business. When Sunny Jim and Gloomy Gus apply for the same job, Sunny Jim will get it, though Gloomy Gus may really be the better man. A long face kills trade. There is something hypnotic about a gay and smiling countenance that lifts our own spirits and makes us buy a hat ten years too young for us and that costs more than we can afford; whereas a gloomy salesman depresses us and makes us feel that there is no use in purchasing a hat at all when the world is so full of toil and sorrow and trouble, and that we probably won't live to wear it anyway.

Keeps Home Fires Burning.

Furthermore, cheerfulness is the great panacea that we are all seeking for domestic ills. It would do more than any other one thing to stop divorce, discourage philandering and keep adolescent children off the streets at night.

You never hear of a home that is full of laughter and gaiety being broken up. You never hear of husbands and wives who are jolly companions having affairs with other women and gigolos.

You never hear of children leaving home as soon as they are strong enough to stand on their own feet who had parents who entered into their fun and aided and abetted them in having innocent, good times.

No, cheerfulness is the cement that keeps a home intact and holds a family together. A man may slave himself to death to give his wife and children a fine home, fine cars, fine clothes, but they won't love him nor be grateful to him if he is grumpy and fault-finding and if his very presence sends the domestic atmosphere down to below zero.

A woman may spend hours over the gas range preparing a delicious meal for her family, but it will lie heavy on their stomachs if they have to eat it listening to her wails about how tired she is, and how hard she works, and how she never can dress up and go about as other women do.

What Men Desire.

What a man wants in his wife more than beauty, more than brilliance, more than domesticity, is cheerfulness. He wants to come home at night to a smiling woman who shows in her face that she thinks she is lucky to have gotten him for a husband; who will tell him the cute things the children have done and entertain him with a budget of amusing gossip.

He wants a wife whose cheerfulness will back him up when things go wrong and give him fresh courage to fight on, whose hope will kindle new hope in him and whose laughter will save him from suicide.

And above everything else, a woman wants a cheerful husband; a man whose coming home seems to flood the house with light and set all the joy bells ringing; a man who laughs off the inevitable domestic mishaps instead of making tragedies out of them; a man who is jolly and good-natured and easy to get along with and who makes his wife feel that being married to him is a perpetual picnic instead of being a life sentence at hard labor.

So great are the rewards of cheerfulness that it is strange that we do not give more thought to cultivating it. For, after all, cheerfulness is only what Stephenson called the brave attitude toward life—taking what comes to us with a smile instead of a whine.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, April 29

Although the auguries for this day may be read as of eventful and lively import, with the mind and the energies keyed to high purpose and definite objectives, yet there is a possibility of such high pressure being carried to excess and possibly in the wrong direction. Positive or impetuous attitudes may involve complications of a very undesirable if not dangerous or disastrous nature, whereas restraint, deliberations and conservatism might turn the balance against loss and misery. The support and suggestions of superiors, elders or the domestic circle might be worthwhile.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be confronted by a year in which their own restraints, keen insight into threatening involvements, backed up by sound sense, might prove profitable in an important way or in a new direction. But there is a tendency to be carried into brilliant coups by high tension and impetuosity because of overstimulated mental and physical energies. Treacherous and unprofitable entanglements may be averted by giving heed to superiors, elders or the home folks. Be alert to some sort of public danger or calamity.

A child born on this day should have much initiative and ability, with probably a temperament "rarin' to go" but this very pressure of mind and energy may be its undoing unless given early direction.

St. George's W.A. Presents Witty One-Act Comedy

A gay and witty piece is the one-act comedy, "Polly Put the Kettle On, and We'll Have Tea," which the Afternoon Branch, Ladies' Guild of the Women's Association of St. George's Anglican Church presented Friday night under the direction of Mrs. T. F. Floyd. A capacity crowd attended the pot-luck supper preceding the play, and community singing was led by Mrs. R. King at the piano, and Mrs. W. Farr, violinist, before the curtain went up. Rev. T. F. Floyd was chairman.

Taking part in the successful presentation of the comedy were Mrs. C. Crouter, as Polly Lincoln Washing, a colored maid of eighteen; Mrs. W. McIlwain (Julia Martin), a tall, sophisticated 'teen-age maiden; Mrs. W. D. Edwards, Mrs. Jason (Libby), a typical wife and mother; Mrs. C. Wilson, Mrs. Vail (Irene), who is likeable although domineering in manner; Mrs. D. McIntosh (Kay Jason), a charming, beautiful young girl; Mrs. W. Farr (Marie Jason, a girl of fourteen; Mrs. W. Firth (Sylvania Vale), also fourteen, who is portrayed as an alert and vivacious maiden.

Sudbury Incos Defeat Toronto

TORONTO, April 28. — Sudbury Incos defeated Deer Park, 52 to 47, on Saturday night in the first game of a two-game, total-points series for the Intermediate B championship of the Ontario Basketball Association. The second game will be played in Sudbury next Saturday night.

Incos were handicapped by the small playing surface of the Deer Park United Church gymnasium, but adapted themselves after a first half which was dominated by the Deer Parkers. During that first half the Sudbury quintette seemed to have trouble organizing its long-passing attack on the small floor, but changed tactics slightly in the second session to come from behind and take their five-point lead on the series.

Steve Borovitch played an outstanding game for Sudbury, particularly in the second half. He scored 23 of his team's 52 points, with a magnificent run of shooting precision playing a large part in Incos second-half comeback. N. Hann was Sudbury's other standout, with 12 points.

Dollars To Doughnuts

By EDITH ELLINGTON

YESTERDAY: Bee is furious when she learns the merchandise manager has stolen Anthony's idea. Refusing to listen to Anthony's protest, she leads the way to Mr. Fletcher's office, rushes in, demands an explanation. Fletcher is cold. "The idea was good so the store adopted it. There's nothing more to it. Perhaps you'd like to talk to the general superintendent." Bee flares: "We will. Now. In this office."

CHAPTER XXVIII

"WHAT are you going to do, Bee?" Anthony asked oddly, reaching for the telephone. "You can't call Sheldrake! He wouldn't come!"

'.Oh, yes, he will! Take your hand off the phone."

"But, Bee, wait a minute—"

"What's the matter with you " Anthony said evenly, "I'd rather you wouldn't."

"I bet you'd rather!" Mr. Fletcher sneered. "Let her go ahead. Let her call him. Do you think she'd even get to talk to him? His secretary's not that dumb."

Beatrice whirled on him. Suddenly all the arrogance of the days before she became Bee Davis was in her small face, in the lines of her body, in the way her voice cut levelly through the stillness.

"We've had quite enough from you, Mr. Fletcher. You are not only a thief, and a despicable coward who lives by picking the brains of helpless employees who work under you, but you are also an insufferable bore. I dislike being in the same room with you!"

She took Anthony's arm. "Come, we'll go to Mr. Sheldrake's office ourselves. I can't bear this person another moment."

Mr. Fletcher's mouth hung open. Anthony was looking at her in complete bewilderment. But he walked out with her, obediently.

IN the hall, he said admiringly, "Whew- You certainly laid it on the line that time." Then he said, slowly. "But we can't go to Sheldrake's office, of course."

"Why can't we?" She was boiling mad. "If you think Fletcher can hide behind Sheldrake, if you think I'm going to let anyone in this store intimidate me—"

"No, no, that's not it at all!" A curious embarrassment crossed his face. "It's just that I'd rather not see Sheldrake."

"Why not? You saw Fletcher. You can't give up now."

"Yes, but—but . . ." His eyes avoided hers.

"Anthony Bradley, are you afraid of the general superintendent?"

"No, I'm not afraid. But—" his hands balled up into fists, "I'm not afraid, Bee. But darn it, the man knows me!"

"Knows you? What do you mean?"

Anthony looked at the floor. Slow, painful red rose about his collar. He raked his strong fingers through his dark hair. "He—he knows me, that's all. He knows my connections and—and—"

"What connections What are you getting at? Do you mean you knew his son or something like that at school and now you're ashamed for him to find out you've been working here as section manager?"

Anthony gulped. "Well, no. Not exactly. The fact is, —I met him several times in the office of the old man. And he might think—well—"

"You mean you met him in the office of the old man who helped you through school? Your guardian?"

"Yes."

"But what has that to do with this?" She pulled at his sleeve. "Are you coming with me, or aren't you?"

"Bee, I can't. It would—it might reflect on my guardian."

"Reflect on your guardian? Are you out of your mind?"

She thought she understood, a moment later. She asked slowly, "Does your guardian do business with this store? Is that it? You're afraid a quarrel with Sheldrake might result in lost sales?" Anthony had once said he might have pulled strings to manage a promotion here, she remembered. "That's what you meant when you said you hated pull? Your guardian could have spoken to Mr. Sheldrake. You didn't want him to?"

"In a way." Anthony admitted uncomfortably.

THERE was a sound behind them. They turned to see Mr. Fletcher, brick red, running after them and shouting. "I called Mr. Sheldrake myself!" he cried. "He's coming right down. You can't get away with this impudent insubordination, either of you. Now you two come back into my office and see Sheldrake, if that's what you were so hell bent on."

He rubbed his hands together. "A nice state of affairs when a salesgirl from the basement can barge into my office and insult me! I'll show you."

Behind Mr. Fletcher, his secretary stared with round, almost frightened eyes. Doors all along the corridor—the doors of department managers and head buyers and merchandise men—were flung open.

Beatrice saw Anthony's chin come up. He straightened his shoulders, took a long, deep breath. The muscles at his jaw bunched. But his hand on her arm was steady.

For the first time since Anthony told her about Mr. Fletcher's having stolen his idea, she remembered that Anthony didn't know who she really was. She could squelch both Fletcher and Sheldrake. She could blow the whole shabby mess wide open. But what would it do to Anthony?

It was too late to back down. She walked back into Mr. Fletcher's office beside Anthony with a blank face and high-held head. Carefully, and pointedly, she avoided any stray contact with the person of the paunchy, prematurely triumphant Mr. Fletcher.

Anthony drew up a chair for her. He sat down beside her. Mr. Fletcher scrambled around his big desk and stood there behind the protections, breathing hard.

A MOMENT later someone roared angrily outside. A tall, burly man in a dark business suit burst into the room.

"What's the meaning of this rumpus, Fletcher?" he demanded peremptorily. "Have you lost your mind? Can't you handle anything by yourself? Must I be annoyed by every blasted trifle?"

He surveyed the two young people sitting against the wall. "Now what the devil is all this " Then his expression changed. He seemed to be puffing up in a vast and sullen fury. His collar was too tight for his neck. A vein in his forehead bulged.

"Oh, so it's you, is it, You whelp! So old man Weeming has been spying on me!"

"Weeming?" Beatrice bounced to her feet. "Did you say Weeming, Mr. Sheldrake? What connection has Mr. Weeming with Mr. Bradley?"

SPORTS - DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

One of the strange things about baseball is the manner in which players who have been turned loose rise up to haunt the clubs that released them. Yesterday for example, Steve Sundra, set adrift by the New York Yanks, worked against his old teammates in the uniform of the Washington Senators and had the satisfaction of handing them a 6 to 3 trimming. Sundra held the Yanks to five hits, one of which was a homer by Joe DiMaggio coming in the ninth inning when it did no good except to DiMag's batting average. Atley Donald was the losing tosser. Cleveland Indians who had beaten Detroit 6 to 3 on Saturday handing Buck Newsome his third straight loss came back on Sunday to trim the champs again, this time in a tight pitching duel between Bobby Feller for the Indians and Schoolboy Rowe for the Tigers. Feller grabbed off his third win with the assistance of Jeff Heath who cuffed a home run with a mate on the paths in the seventh to drive in Cleveland's only two runs. Feller allowed but one marker and five hits.

* * * * * *

Boston Red Sox and Athletics were rained out yesterday but Saturday they had a peculiar game, finally won by Boston 8 to 7 after the A's had enjoyed a 7 to 0 lead at one stage of the proceedings. The Yanks won Saturday over Washington 8 to 3 with Hudson who looked like one of the best pitching prospects in the loop last season being nicked for this third straight loss. In the National loop over the week-end the Cincinnati Reds continued to show why the experts have picked them to repeat in the senior league this year. Johnny Vandermeer pitched Saturday holding Pittsburg to six hits and the Reds won 10 to 3 and Sunday Bucky Walters came back with another six-hitter as the Cincinnati team triumphed over the Pirates 3 to 2.

* * * * * *

Those Brooklyn Dodgers did all right by themselves too over the week-end, defeating Boston 7 to 0 Saturday with Davis hurling three-hit ball and coming back Sunday to defeat Bill Terry's Giants 7 to 5, Casey doing the tossing for the victorious Dodgers. Dolph Camilli who is setting the home run pace in both major loops came through with his sixth homer of the young campaign to make Casey's task easier. The Cardinals with Cooper pitching defeating the Cubs yesterday with Bill Lee on the mound 8 to 5 and Boston Bees got the verdict over the Phillies 6 to 3. Both loops are beginning to look more normal now as the fancied clubs start to emerge at the top of the heap.

Winnipegers Lead

Winnipeg Rangers took the lead in the Memorial Cup final series Saturday night when they defeated the Montreal Royals 6 to 4 in a close battle and thus went out in front two games to one. The rivals meet again tonight in Montreal and a win for the Peggers will wind up the series and send the Memorial Cup west. On the other hand the Royals can tie up the round tighter than a drum with a victory before their home town customers tonight. That would leave the series at two wins each and necessitate a fifth game in Toronto. Saturday night's battle was one between two tired teams and was not settled until the final two minutes. Montreal took an early lead by scoring the first two goals but the Rangers got one back before the end of the initial period. In the middle stanza the Westerners scored twice to pass the Royals but the latter came back with a counter to make it 3-3 at the close of the period. Once again the Winnipeggers slipped ahead early in the final session but again the fighting Royals sewed it up and it was 4-4 until less than two minutes remained when Winnipeg finally broke the deadlock and then with Royals ganging up to nail the equalizer the Rangers got a clean breakaway and scored again to cinch the argument. Royals may be good enough to tie it up tonight and force another battle but Peterborough fans who saw Saturday night's game say the Montrealers were badly outplayed in that engagement despite the close score.

* * * * * *

The Peterborough Badminton Club climaxed a most successful season Saturday night when the club championships were decided in an evening of spirited and interesting play that was watched by many enthusiasts. Some of the final battles were very keenly fought and the standard of play generally was worthy of championship contests. Particularly interesting was the ladies' doubles finals between Mrs. Bob Baker and Maxine Troke and Mary Cathcart and Ethel Brownlee, won by the former two sets to one. This game was featured by some very long rallies that were greeted with a hearty round of applause from the gallery. The Badminton Club has had a good winter, the membership holding up well and the playing skill of many of the members showing consistent improvement.

Juniors Come Through

The old saying among hockey fans "he's a good junior but not ready for senior competition yet" was knocked into a cocked hat at Regina Saturday night when three nineteen-year-old Regina players sparked the Regina Rangers as the Western representatives grabbed the fourth game of the Allan Cup finals from the Sydney Millionaires. The final score was 5 to 4 and the three kids scored four goals so their value to the Regina cause is not difficult to estimate. The win keeps Regina in the running for the Canadian title, although the Millionaires still need only a tie in the fifth game to give them the cup. They won the first two games and tied the third. The fifth game will be played in Regina Tuesday night and a Ranger win will tie the two clubs for the Dominion championship.

Gerard Cote, Canada's great little long distance runner has been awarded the Norton H. Crow Memorial Trophy as the athlete considered outstanding by the A.A.U. of C in Canada during 1940. No one will dispute the justice of the award. The St. Hyacinthe marathoner by winning both the Boston and the Yonkers marathon, taking the former in record time, certainly was the leading Canadian athlete last year; in fact he had no competition either for the Crow Memorial or in winning the Lou Marsh trophy, for which he was selected by Canadian sport writers in a poll conducted by The Canadian Press. Cote has been a credit to his native land and has richly earned the trophies that have come his way.

Although ten-pin bowling does not flourish very much in Peterborough these days, having been crowded out of the picture by the five-pin brand, there are enough old ten-pinners here to appreciate the feat of the 48-year-old Chicago bowler who succeeded in rolling a perfect game, 300 points, in the A.B.C. tournament at St. Paul Saturday. He was bowling in a double match at the time. The A.B.C. has been in existence for 41 years and during that period, the number of games rolled by thousands of competitors every year must have climbed into very lofty figures. In spite of that fact this Chicago man's feat was only the ninth time in which a perfect game has been rolled in all that time, which tells its own story of how difficult it is to pile up a 300 score, especially under the pressure of tournament competition.

Gerard Cote Is Awarded Crow Memorial Trophy

EDMONTON, April 28 (CP). — Gerard Cote of St. Hyacinthe, Que., regarded as one of the greatest marathon runners in the world, has been awarded the Norton H. Crow Memorial Trophy for 1940. it was announced Saturday by John Leslie, honorary secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada.

The trophy is awarded annually to the athlete considered outstanding in Canada by the A.A.U.

In awarded Cote the trophy consideration was taken of the fact that in 1940 he won both the Boston and Yonkers marathons, setting a record in the former grind. Cote finished fourth in the 1941 Boston run which was held re- present.

Cote also received the Lou E. Marsh Memorial Trophy for 1940, as the year's best Canadian competitor. The presentation of the Marsh Trophy was made only a short time ago. In addition the little French-Canadian was named as Canada's outstanding athlete for 1940 in a poll of sports writers conduced by The Canadian Press.

The Crow Trophy is awarded in memory of the secretary of the A.A.U., who died about eight years ago. The 1940 runner-up was John G. Whalen of Vancouver, a former British Empire wrestling champion who is not active in the sport at

Three Swim Records Fall At Windsor Meet

WINDSOR, April 28 — (CP). — Three Canadian swimming records were churned under in a swimming meet at Kennedy Collegiate here Saturday night. Two of them were lowered by members of the Hamilton Aquatic Club, both in the same race.

When Irene Barr, Bernice Belback and Margie Thompson, the three Hamilton stars, got together to swim the 120-yard medley relay in 1:16.2 record books showed they had lowered the former record time by 3.6 seconds. The old record was set by the Toronto Dolphinets in 1e37.

Bernice Belbeck set a new record for the 40-yard backstroke, while swimming her heat in the relay. Her time was 26.1. as against the old time of 26.5, set by Audrey Pike, Toronto, in 1937.

The other record was broken by the 120-yard medley relay team of Kronk Community Centre, Detroit. The new time is 1:03.8, as compared with 1:04.4, the record set by a team from the same club in 1938. The Hamilton Aquatic Club team placed third in this event.

Lawn Bowling

By HERB MARTIN

Now, more about this joint meeting to be held in our club rooms on Thursday evening, May 1, at 8 o'clock.

Every season about this time the different committees are working hard to complete their end of the organization, and to have everything ready for the opening on Victoria Day.

We can speak for the Games committee and the membership committee — they have worked steady and are now ready to give an account of their work to the members who think it worth while to come out on Thursday night next.

The membership committee will take advantage to fill up any gaps that may still be in any of the rinks, and a full report will be given by the Games committee.

Be sure and keep Thursday an open day. Come out and hear what has been going on, and also show your appreciation to the boys who are doing all they can to make bowling possible for you and me.

The executive of the Central Ontario Lawn Bowling Association will meet in our club rooms tomorrow evening. Very important business is expected to be discussed.

WESTERN CANADA TEAMS WIN BOTH HOCKEY PLAYOFF GAMES

Sydney Outfit Drops Fourth Game 5-4

By LORNE BRUCE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

REGINA, April 28—(CP).—The "Destiny Kids" from Regina, still on the brink of defeat in the Allan Cup finals, figured today that maybe they have a psychological edge after battling to a 5-4 victory over Sydney Millionaires here Saturday night.

Rangers sent a crowd of about 5,000 fans wild by defeating the strong Eastern champions in the fourth game following defeats in the first two games and a tie in the third. The fifth will be played here tomorrow and Millionaires need only a tie to take the best-of-five series decided on points.

Rangers played tight hockey for their first victory and by refusing to be sucked into corners by the clever defencemen for Millionaires, prevented the Eastern champions from getting away on so many sweeping rushes.

In the first period Grant Warwick, midget right winger for Rangers, scored twice, while Millionaires were shorthanded and Frank Mario and Scotty Cameron each counted once while Steve Latoski and Johnny McCreedy fired goals for Sydney.

Jud Snell and Grant Hall got the only goals of the second to tie the score. After three minutes and eight seconds of the third Hermie Gruhn batted in a rebound on a Regina power play for the winning goal.

Indians And Cards Take Lead In The Major Baseball Leagues

By HUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

This is the week the East and West meet for the first frantic showdown of the infant major league campaign. The two circuits cleared their decks for action during the week-end by elevating a pair of new leaders—Cleveland Indians and St. Louis Cardinals.

The intersectional strife is scheduled for a fitting start today at Brooklyn with Cincinnati Reds colliding with the Dodgers.

This will be a sort of signal rocket for the full fireworks that will be set off tomorrow.

Reds Defeat Pittsburg

Both opponents are cruising at full speed after being left at the post. Since losing its first four games, Cincinnati has won seven of its last eight and has mopped up everybody in the west except St. Louis. The Reds completed their divisional dynamiting yesterday with a 3-2 triumph over Pittsburg Pirates as Bucky Walters bested Rip Sewell in a pitching duel.

The Dodgers, after dropping their first three games to New York Giants, have captured 10 of their last 11 contests and bumped the Giants out of the National League lead with a 7-5 decision yesterday. This was Hugh Casey's third straight victory, all at the expense of the Giants. He wasn't around at the finish, giving way to a pinch-hitter in the sixth.

The Cardinals nailed down their fifth triumph in six starts with an 8-5 conquest of Chicago Cubs. The St. Louis sluggers pounded four Chicago chuckers for 13 hits.

In Sunday's other National league encounter Boston Bees snapped out of their losing streak with an 8-3 decision over the pitiful Phillies.

Tigers Nosed Out 2-1

Cleveland gained the American league lead by nosing out Detroit Tigers 2-1, while Wasington Senators ambushed New York Yankees 6-3. Cecil Travis, returning to the Washington lineup after an injury, slapped out two doubles and a triple to lead a 12-hit attack.

Chicago White Sox shaded St. Louis Browns 7-6 by getting 15 hits to the Brownies' 12.

Boston Red Sox and Philaedlphia Athletics were rained out.

Montreal Boys Beaten 6-4 In Third Game

By ROBERT CLARKE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

TORONTO, April 28—(CP)—Winnipeg Rangers were confident today that they could need to feed only one more coin into the Memorial Cup slot machine to hit hockey's junior jack-pot.

The Westerners set the stage for this Saturday night when they defeated Montreal Royals here 6-4 before close to 9,000 customers in the third game of their best-of-five series for the Dominion title. The teams meet in their fourth game tonight in Montreal, while a fifth game, if necessary, will be played here Wednesday night.

Hero of the third game, which was lightning-fast almost from start to finish, was Lou Medynski who fired the winning goal with less than a minute and a half to play. Medynski played the game despite the fact he suffered a head gash in practice some weeks ago that required 18 stitches. Coach Baldy Northcott was forced to use him because of and injury to Hub Macey, who ordinarily holds down the left wing spot on Winnipeg's second line.

Other Scorers

The other Winnipeg goals went to Les Hickey, Babe Hobday, Bob Ballance, who made the play for Medynski's winning goal, and Sammy Fabro, who scored on a breakaway only 22 seconds from the end of the game. Bunny Glover of Royals was the only player to score more than once, marking up two goals, while the other scores were made by Jimmy Peters and Bill Southwick.

Medynski's score came just when it appeared certain that the game would head into overtime. Coach Lorne White of Royals was so sure that the game would go into extra time he had just yanked his defence ace, Southwick, to give the player a much needed rest in preparation for overtime.

The standouts of the game were the two netminders—Ross Ritchie and Hal Thompson—with the Rangers' Thompson being particularly brilliant in the opening period and Ritchie commanding attention throughout the last two sessions.

Toronto Grads Drop Game To Vancouver

VANCOUVER, April 28 — (CP). —University of British Columbia Thunderbirds defeated Toronto Simpson Grads 42-34, here on Saturday night in the first game of a senior Canadian basketball championship. The next game will be played here to-day, with the third game on Wednesday.

Varsity, showing dazzling speed, swept into a 15-6 lead in the opening quarter and were never headed, although Toronto hung on to within six or eight points through the game.

Thunderbirds held a 23-17 lead at the half and only managed to increase their lead by two points in the third quarter to end it on the long end of a 30-22 count.

In the final quarter the Collegians lost two star forwards, Brud Matheson and Pat Flynn on personals, but kept the pace at a fast clip to hang grimly to their lead and end the game eight points ahead.

Art Barton led the Thunderbirds to victory with 12 points, scored in six baskets. Brud Matheson had 10 points. Bill Breadon was the best of the Toronto team, scoring 11 points. Jack Martin and Bill Devitt followed Breadon with seven points each.

Drake Captures Two-Mile Race

DES MOINES, Ia., April 28 — Thrilling performances by Drake, Notre Dame and Michigan relay teams, plus the brilliant individual effort of Ohio State's hurdling sensation, Robert Wright, turned track and field power back to the mid-West Saturday in the finals of the Drake relay carnival after domination by Southwestern athletics the previous day.

Drake won the sensational race of all in defeating Michigan by the thrust of a chest in the two-mile relay in 7:41.1, fastest ever run in this meet. Michigan won the four-mile relay in 17:37, while Notre Dame triumphed in the University one mile in 3:15.9.

Detroit Tigers Have Given Buffalo A Team

(By the Associated Press.)

Bufalo's baseball fans, who hardly knew whether they'd have an entry in the International League this season until Detroit Tigers began sending down unwanted players, probably spend their spare time now pinching themselves with crossed fingers.

The pinching is to reassure themselves about seeing the hastily assembled Herd up in second place, and the fingers are kept crossed lest something happen to the Tigers that might bring about the recall of some of the valuable players farmed out to Buffalo.

The Bisons took second by handing the league-leading Newark Bears their first shutout of the season, 3-0, in the opener of a double-header and then carrying the nightcap to an extra inning before losing 7-6.

Toronto Maple Leafs shoved Jersey City down from a second-place tie by whipping the Little Giants 3-1 while Montreal's Royals moved up a notch with the day's only double-header victory, beating Baltimore 6-4 and 9-5. The remaining twin bill saw Syracuse and Rochester split a pair of 10-inning games, the Chiefs winning the first 2-1 and Rochester's Red Wings the second 6-3.

Virgin (Fire) Trucks, up from Beaumont, was mainly responsible for whitewashing Newark. He gave up only three hits and fanned 10 men to bring his strikeout total to 30 in 28 innnings. It was his third victory of the season. Newark tied up the nightcap in the seventh inning when Pat Mullin, Bison outfielder, dropped a fly that would have ended the game, and won out in the 10th when Ed Levy singled, Tom Padden doubled, and Boze Berger's base-hit scored Levy.

A 22-hit attack, paced by Johnny Hudson, who drove in four runs with five blows, offset Baltimore's home run clouting and gave Montreal its two victories.

Good pitching marked the other games although Toronto's Jimmy Walkup had to have aid from Vallie Eaves in holding the Jersey Giants to six hits. A costly error by Red Davis led to a pair of Maple Leaf runs in the fourth inning that decided the ball game.

VACANT HOUSE ROBBED

Thieves, thought to be boys, broke into a house at 349 Dublin street, over the week-end, carried off a number of articles, and did damage to the property to the extent of $10 or $12. The house, vacant for some time, was to be occupied today by T. D. Pearson. Among the articles stolen were a floor lamp, four or five bulbs, a plant, clothes hooks, and curtains.

FOOD FOR BIRDS AND DEER

The Peterborough Fish and Game Association has arranged with Norman Lean, Apsley; Jack McFadden, Haultain, and F. Hull, Jack's Creek, to plant seeds, sunflower, Indian corn, buckwheat and other seeds in their districts to serve as food for birds and deer. This plan has been found to have had good results in other places, resulting in an increase in game where the practice has been followed.

FINED $20 AND COSTS

Pleading guilty to failing to remain at the scene of an accident George Huffman was fined $20 and costs when he appeared before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning. Magistrate Langley cancelled his driving permit for one month. Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry stated that a truck had been struck in front of the C. P.C. plant and the accused had refused to give his name and address after the accident.

BOY KNOCKED DOWN.

Running across Queen Street shortly before noon today, six-year-old Bobby Boorman, 390 Queen Street, was struck and knocked down by an automobile driven by W. Morrow. The child was shaken up and bruised but no bones were broken. Morrow, who was driving south on Queen Street, told police that the little fellow had run out suddenly between two parked cars and although he slammed on his brakes he had been unable to prevent striking the youngster.

REPORT TO OTTAWA

Two pupils of the commercial department of the Collegiate Institute who have graduated this term and who passed their civil service examinations early this year have left for Ottawa to take positions in the civil service there. They were ordered last week to report. The two are Patricia Cox, daughter of Robert Cox and Jean Duignan, daughter of Sergt. John and Mrs. Duignan.

CAR TURNS TURTLE

Although his car turned turtle after shooting off Highway Highway 7A into the ditch early Sunday night Fred Johnston of North Monaghan and two passengers in the machine escaped without injury. Johnston was driving east on the highway and for some cause his machine got out of control and went into the ditch, turning upside-down. The car was very badly damaged. Constable Bruce Menzies investigated the accident.

LIQUOR CHARGES

One elderly man and a young woman faced liquor charges in police court this morning. The man had been found to be in possession of an opened bottle of liquor, after he had had an altercation with a restaurant proprietor about paying for a meal and this morning he was assessed $10 and costs for illegal possession. The woman paid the same amount on her plea of guilty to a drunk charge.

A HIT-AND-RUN DRIVER

Police today were looking for the driver of a large car, said to have been involved in a hit-and-run accident on Saturday night. Norman Sullivan was travelling north on George street south, and he was about to park his machine, a large automobile going south and according to Sullivan, on the wrong side of the road, collided with Sullivan's car and then sped away. A hub cap from the hit-and-run car was picked up and police believe that the trail leads to Norwood.

Greeks Ships, Planes Given Britain

CAIRO, April 28.—Dmitri Capsalis, Greek Minister to Egypt, asserted last night that Greece would continue to give Britain all the aid within its power, and that "the whole vast Greek merchant marine, running to millions of tons, is at the disposal of the British Government.

"In this difficult hour we Greeks are grateful to President Roosevelt for his assurance that Greece can rely upon American help," the Minister said in an exclusive interview.

"My Government has transferred itself to Crete, where it is functioning normally. The gallant Greek Army of Epirus, which fought so bravely against the Italians, asked an armistice without consent of the Government, but it must be realized they were without food and munitions and were unable to continue the struggle.

"Throughout the war Greco-British relations were most friendly and the Greeks will never forget how the British shed blood in the common cause alongside Greek soldiers. Greece will continue to aid Britain by all means in its power. The whole vast Greek mercantile marine, running to millions of tons, is at the disposal of the British Government. The Greek Air Force also will fight on.

"As another illustration of the Greeks' resolution to continue to resist the enemy, the inhabitants of small Aegean islands are opposing German attempts to land there.

"I can now reveal that Bulgarian troops entered Thrace after the Germans, committing atrocities. They pillaged houses, maltreated Greek civilians and carried out other misdeeds. Our people won't forget these acts nor will they fall a prey to Axis propaganda."

Helping Hands

DANVILLE, Ill., April 28—(AP).—You know it isn't such a bad world after all—and here's a case in point: A half-dozen school boys, learning of the plight of Richard L. Hedge who has been ill for 20 years and bedfast most of that time, came from their school six miles away to spade the most of his garden. They knew his only source of income was from the bulbs and flowers he sells from his small plot.

Takes Banting's Place

Dr. Charles Herbert Best, one of the world's foremost physiologists and collaborator with the late Sir Frederick Banting in the discovery of insulin, has been appointed by the board of governors of the University of Toronto to succeed the late Sir Frederick as director of the Banting-Best Department of Medical Research.

Cats And Pretzels

NEW YORK, April 28—(AP). — The United States postal guide lists among unmailable matter "Live animals, fowls, insects and reptiles.." but twice within a year a cat has been deposited—without a stamp—in a certain parcel box in Mid-Manhattan. Latest instance occurred today, when a postal employee opened the box and out popped a black cat. Further investigation revealed the box also contained a couple of handfuls of pretzels—also unstamped.

FOR COLLECTORS ONLY

WASHINGTON—(CP). — About 100,000,000 United States postage stamps are sold annually not for use in the mails but for collections and dealers' stocks.

Stand By Britain Says Rockefeller

NEW YORK, April 28—(AP). — John D. Rockefeller, Jr., declared yesterday it was his "firm conviction, arrived at in anguish of spirit" that the people of the United States and all the Americas "should stand by the British Empire to the limit, and at any cost."

Calling for the American people to stand solidly behind President Roosevelt and to see that quantities of war munitions sufficient to win victory are "laid down at Britain's door," Rockefeller said the issue being fought is freedom versus slavery, and added:

"I would rather die fighting the brutal, barbarous, inhuman force represented by Hitlerism than live in a world which is dominated by that force."

His views were given in a letter to Arthur Hays Sulzberger, publisher of The New York Times. Rockefeller himself made public the letter.

Munitions "At Britain's Door"

Rockefeller declared that it was not enough merely to fabricate munitions of war and to supply needed foodstuffs — that these were all "valueless unless laid down at Britain's door."

"How that can best be done," the letter continued, "it is the responsibility of the President and his military advisers to determine."

The financier - philanthropist, declaring that "every hour is precious," said a united determination on the part of both labor and capital is necessary to keep industry running at top speed and to eliminate "all strikes, lockouts, labor disputes and stoppages of every character."

He said he was confident that "to some extent at least" recent industrial disputes have been due to "fifth column activities. Nazi or Communist."

I.O.O.F. Lodges Hold Church Parade

Speaking to the members of the Rebekah Lodge and the Peterborough and Otonabee lodges of Oddfellows last night in Park Street Baptist Church, with a splendid representative attendance, Rev. C. C. Boyter built his sermon around the topic, "The Pattern of Friendship."

A service of song, with many familiar hymns, led by Mr. C. Corbett, with Mr. Stan Northrop, organist, at the organ, and Mrs. Corbett at the piano, opened the meeting.

Other special music arranged for the occasion included the anthem, "Fear Thee Not, O Israel," Mr. M. Dunkley taking the solo part. "O Pray for Peace" was the appropriate solo contributed by Mrs. C. Corbett.

The wel-known story of the love covenant between David and Jonathan, as told in 1 Samuel, 18, was the basis for the evening message and the scripture lesson. Special prayer was offered for the British Empire, the King and Queen and all those in power during this critical time.

Rev. Mr. Boyter, as pastor, welcomed the large assemblage of lodge members to his church, referring to one of the words of their famous motto, "Friendship," which he had chosen to idealize in this address.

Friendship Instinct Prevails

Obeying the principle laid down in the Bible, "It is not good for man to be alone," this instinct for friendship seems to prevail throughout nature. Where human friendship is denied, fellowship is sought with the lower animals. God, Himself, is not revealed as a solitary being, but as One of three persons, "Father, Son and Holy Spirit." This doctrine of the Trinity is the logic of the heart.

The spread of Christianity is due to the same social instinct to bring others to Christ in fellowship and friendship.

Our Christian worship is in a sense individualistic, yet, here, too we seek the fellowship of those who are like-minded. This social principle is the mortar holding the whole universe together. Certain essentials for such a friendship as existed between David and Jonathan are necessary. Among these: friends must love and trust one another. Jonathan might well have been jealous of David's popularity, but they had mutual confidence and this is necessary in any friendship or lodge.

Frank and familiar conversation is another requisite. The story indicates that there was nothing hidden between these two.

Familiar Friendship

There should be no need to be on guard with a friend; for the essence of friendship is familiar fellowship.

Friends delight to meet each other's will. "What so ever thy soul desirest, that will I do," said Jonathan. So it is in the time of need that friendship is tested. The speaker commended this Order for their helping hand to those in need and declared none need ever be ashamed of an organization with Friendship as its motto.

Friends love to give gifts to each other. Jonathan was willing to give life itself for his friend. Your friendship should have this same element of unselfishness. God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son. We, too, must give of what we have and are.

Friends stand up for one another and will not lend an ear to gossip, or unfair criticism. A true friend strengthens the hand of his comrade in God, and so friendship may become a force for good.

Possible Even To-day

Such a beautiful friendship as that between David and Jonathan teaches us that it is possible even in our day.

Let us aim as high as this ideal: "Make the 'Friend of Friends' your friend," was the closing challenge to this company of friends.

"His love knows no change, no shadow of turning." This great Friend disrobed Himself of His glory, and offers us the robe of righteousness, sealing His covenant with us in the blood of Calvary. When we fulfil all these conditions of friendship, He will indeed be our Friend.

ChargedWithKeeping Liquor For Sale

As the result of a police raid on a booth on the Warsaw Road early Sunday morning, Leo Fontaine, North Monaghan, appeared before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning to face two liquor charges, one of keeping liquor for sale and the other of illegal possession.

Fontaine pleaded not guilty to both charges and there was a remand until next week.

The raid was carried out by Provincial Constable Price Morris, County Constable Bruce Menzies and Constables Leo Murphy and Harold Mesley of the city police department.

A quantity of beer was seized by the officers.

4,400 Ship Loads

Bowmanville, Ont., April 28 (CP)

NAVY MINISTER Angus L. Macdonald said here Friday night that Canadians fail to realize the gravity of the war to the extent they did in the first Great War when almost every community suffered the loss of some of its members in service.

In an address to the women's meeting of the Bowmanville Canadian Club, Mr. Macdonald said that Canadians must realise that the Dominion was totally unprepared for war and they should, for this reason, moderate their criticism.

"Germany claims to be taking a great sea toll," he said, "but over 4,400 ships have left Canadian ports in convoys, carrying over 26,000,000 tons of goods to war-torn Britain."

Forced Landing Is Made In Wheat Field

Shortage of fuel forced Leading Aircraftsman W. G. Lewis of the Royal Australian Air Force to set his Harvard Training plane down in a field of fall wheat just east of J. T. O'Connell's farm, one mile east of the city this morning at 10.30.

Lewis had been flying alone on a training flight out of Uplands Airport, Ottawa and when his fuel started to peter out, didn't know just where he was. He circled the city, skimming over the tops of the in the downtown section, and citizens feared he was going to crash inside the city limits.

The young flier made a perfect landing, but left a deep imprint of the two landing wheels across the field of fall wheat, which is about two inches above ground. He was uninjured and reported by telephone from O'Connell's home to his base.

A crowd gathered quickly and the flier detailed Bill Martin, former member of the Veterans' Guard of Canada to police the plane until he could make his report, Martin did a thorough job, not allowing a person to even lay a hand on the machine. Later Sgt. Samis of the Provost Staff, Military Camp, Exhibition Grounds, arrived and sent for a military guard to keep the people off the grain and away from the plane. He also made arrangements for accommodating the flier at the Exhibition Grounds camp until he received fuel and instructions.

The flier wouldn't say how long he had been in Canada or in the air force, but remarked that this part of Canada brings back memories of his home in Australia. He wears the blue wings, on his shoulders, the insignia of the Australian Air Force.

In all probability the plane will be refueled and flown right from the field, as it is a low wing monoplane of rather small size and the flier should have little trouble lifting it in the space available.

47 Parcels Sent To Midland Boys

CAMPBELLFORD, April 28 — (ENS)—Forty-seven parcels were sent to local boys who are members of the 1st Battalion Midland Regiment last week, according to a report made at the regular meeting of the I.O.D.E. Bemersyde Chapter by the war convener, Mrs. W. A. Kingston. The parcels prepared for local boys in this Active Service unit included a sweater, two pairs of sox, a flashlight, tobacco, gum and cigarettes, all representing part of the war effort by the busy local chapter. It was pointed out that the shipment was not complete as a number of sweaters were still to be completed.

Members were advised that sufficient material had been donated the group and arrangements were made to begin work on these next week. Speaking of the National War Services drive which the Chapter began three weeks ago, the chairman of this committee, Mrs. J. D. Mills, appealed to those working on the canvass to turn in their collections as soon as possible.

Further details of the tea and home cooking sale planned for May 17th were discussed. Appointed as convener of the home cooking was Mrs. A. D. Bennett and her assistants, Miss Hazel Atkinson, Mrs. Jack Cowell and Miss Dorothy Kingston. Mrs. E. C. Roberts was named convener of the tea and her assistants will be Mrs. V. Rutherford, Mrs. Howard Davidson, Miss Dorothy Henson, Miss Gladys Stephen, Mrs. J. M. Ferris, Miss Grace Irwin. The Junior (Trent Valley) Chapter will be asked to take charge of the candy table. Plans were also made to sell tickets on a silver basket previously donated to the chapter. The draw will be made at the tea. Mrs. J. D. Mills and Mrs. A. J. Armour were placed in charge of this.

A primer on Democracy written for pupils in grades 7, 8 and 9 was displayed to members. This is being printed by National Headquarters of the I.O.D.E. for distribution to the schools.

Two donations of money were acknowledged, one from the Trent Valley Chapter and the other from the Jane Smith Club.

King Sees Camouflaged Soldier

King George VI. seems to be talking to a ghost or a Bedouin chieftain, but actually the shrouded figure he is addressing is a soldier in the front line of Britain's defence. The Tommy is camouflaged to protect him from the prying eyes of Goering's air scouts.

Bailieboro W.A. Aids War Victims

By far the largest contribution appearing in today's list of receipts came in from the United Church W.A. at Bailieboro, when their cheque for $44 came in on Saturday afternoon. Fred Hie of Bailieboro hooked a rug, sold tickets on it and realized $6.50, which he turned over to the W.A., and they in turn included it in the sum acknowledged today. Pearl Jewison is president and Maud Jemison is treasurer of this organization.

The De Laval Social and Athletic Club held a dance last Friday night, and from a raffle held at it, the sum of $9 will be noticed in today's acknowledgments.

Another event held on the same night was the A.Y.P.A. Bowling League banquet, at which a collection was taken for the Fund, and this amounted to $7.75, which was handed in by Miss A. Bowler, the treasurer.

Mr. S. S. Staples of Ida has donated a pony to the Fund, and an announcement of particulars in regard to a draw on it will be made shortly.

Obituaries

STANLEY SHEPHERD.

The funeral took place today from the family residence, 594 Sherbrooke Street, to Little Lake Cemetery, of Stanley Shepherd, formerly electrical superintendent of the O'Brien Mine at Cobalt, Ont., who died here on Friday.

Born in Ottawa, Mr. Shepherd had lived for a long time in Cobalt, before coming to Peterborough to reside two years ago. While here he was a member of All Saints' Anglican Church. Rev. W. A. Filer of All Saints' officiated at the funeral this afternoon. The pall-bearers were: H. G. Fitzgerald, R. G. Bird, James Harkess, B. McClennan, H. Carter and H. Holman.

ARTHUR FRANKS.

BOATES' CORNERS, April 28 — (ENS). — The funeral of the late Arthur Franks, whose death occurred at the family residence, Lot 21, Con. 6, of Emily Township, was held on Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, D.S.T., the service being conducted by Rev. G. H. Johnson, of St. James' Anglican Church, of which deceased was a valued member.

The late Mr. Franks, whose death occurred shortly after he was stricken with a stroke, was born in Emily township, the son of the late Thomas Franks and Mary Hickey, and was in his 90th year. He was one of a family of ten children, all of whom predeceased Mr. Franks.

Although very active for one of his years, the late Mr. Franks was very deaf, so that he was deprived of some of the pleasures of life. Rev. Mr. Johnson spoke of how deeply touched he was to see Mr. Franks in church on Easter Sunday to partake of Communion, though he could not hear one word of the service.

A very large number of friends gathered to pay their tribute on Thursday and to extend a word of sympathy to the bereaved, who include his wife (formerly Margaret Deyell), one son Herman, and two daughters, Mrs. Will Darling of Smith township and Mrs. J. Brooks of Omemee.

Pall-bearers were six nephews: Wilbert Franks, Vincent Franks, Thomas Franks, Harry Deyell, Melville Deyell and Fred Deyell. Flower bearers were six grandsons: Arthur Darling, Gordon Darling, Ronald Darling, Mons Brooks, John Franks and Donald Franks.

Burial was made in Emily Cemetery.

Pupils To Get Trees This Week

Thousands of trees will be available to the pupils of the County on Wednesday of this week, and it is hoped that all will be planted to further reforestation in the county and to mark the 100th anniversary of Peterborough County.

W. A. Anderson, former reeve of Otonabee township and chairman of the Reforestation Committee of the County Council is giving considerable time and effort to push the reforestation scheme through to a successful conclusion, and he has obtained the co-operation of the two school inspectors and the teachers in the county school sto get this job done.

It is Mr. Anderson's hope that 35,000 young trees will be planted by the pupils and on Wednesday of this week, trees will be delivered to about a dozen central and convenient points where they may be picked up by the different school groups. The county truck has been commandeered to bring the trees up from the big nursery at Orono, and Mr. Anderson is on the job personally supervising the work.

Last Wednesday a great number of trees were delivered here for citizens who wished to plant them privately and the demand is so great that another batch of trees will be brought up at a later date.

F. C. Paterson, Department of Agriculture, is also working in close co-operation with Mr. Anderson and the school authorities and so far the scheme seems headed for success.

Judge Smoke Awaits Order

His Honor Judge S. L. Smoke has received no official word from Ottawa in regard to rental adjustment machinery here. "Up to the present time," Judge Smoke told The Examiner this morning "I have received no instructions from the War Prices and Trade Board either with respect to an order being applied to Peterborough in connection with rental adjustments or as to who is to administer the matter here."

"I am advised," continued His Honor "that when these applications are made they must be made by notice of motion supported by an affidavit served upon the opposite party and filed in the office of the county court clerk."

"It will appear therefore that it will be necessary for those applying under the order to consult a solicitor."

Rangers Hold Parade To St. John's

Close to 200 officers and men of the Prince of Wales Rangers' Regiment paraded to St. John's Anglican Church on Sunday in a St. George's Day church service that was impressive and the turnout of soldiers and civilians taxed the big church beyond capacity. Ushers secured quite a number of chairs which were placed in the aisles to take care of the overflow.

At the same time, Roman Catholic members of the regiment paraded to St. Peter's Cathedral for High Mass at 10.30 under command of Major James McGrath, M.M.

Col. J. A. Dewart, M.C., E.D., was on hand along with Lt.-Col. H. A. Morrow, and a good turnout of the 32nd Infantry Reserve Company, which is affiliated with the Rangers was also on hand. The band of the Prince of Wales Rangers, under command of Captain Peryer, headed the parade, to and from the church.

The service was conducted by the Rev. Canon W. P. Robertson, rector of St. John's and the Rev. Canon J. D. Paterson delivered the sermon.

During the course of his sermon, Canon Paterson said that this war with all its horrors is bringing the people of England closer to God and to their church than they have been for years, but he lamented the fact that in Canada today there are still far too many lukewarm Christians who just look on a church as a beautiful building, and not as the House of God where they should worship regularly.

He pointed out that is was a St. George's Day service and was designed also to pay tribute to the gallant people of England who in the last 18 months have been bearing the brunt of air attacks with a courage and steadfastness that has amazed the entire world.

He mentioned too that he a Scotsman was delivering the sermon, and the rector, an Irishman was conducting the service, and he said that Scots and Irish would be very ungrateful if they did not pay tribute to the people of England.

The English, he said rarely speak of their own bravery and gallantry but are ever willing to give praise and honor to the fighting units of the great Commonwealth of Nations.

We in Canada are much too far from the battlefront to realize the great danger that exists, and as a consequence many have not paused to consider whether there is a God or not, said Canon Paterson, and completing the thought he said that as danger comes closer we seek aid and succour from the Almighty God.

The junior officers of the regiment took up the collection.

Born in Peterborough, Miss Macdonald graduated from the nursing school in 1892. She lived in Toronto for a few years after that, then went to Boston and New York, where she spent most of her nursing years. She returned to Canada a few years ago.

There are no relatives. The funeral was held today from the A. E. Cook funeral parlors on Bloor Street. Her body will be cremated.

Arsenal And Preston In English Cup Final

LONDON, April 28.—(CP Cable)—Arsenal and Preston North End qualified Saturday for the final of the Football League's War Cup to be played at Empire Stadium, Wembley, May 10.

Preston retained a two-goal advantage, playing a scoreless match with Newcastle United.

The cup games atracted the season's largest crowds, 29,931 turning out at Newcastle and 26,500 at Leicester, where the gates were closed fifteen minutes before the start of the game.

Another good crowd of 13,016 watched England beat Wales 4-1 at Nottingham. Centre Forward Welsh scored all of England's goals.

St. Paul's Says Farewell To Dr., Mrs. Barr

Another chapter in the 108-year-old history of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church in Peterborough was brought to a close on Sunday when the Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr concluded his ministry of nine years. Large congregations were out both morning and evening with Communion being served at the morning worship to one of the largest gatherings to ever sit down at the Communion table in that church. In the evening many people from the district and from other churches in the city attended along with large numbers of the St. Paul's congregation. At the evening service Dr. Barr took as his subject, "Finally, brethren, farewell."

Immediately following the evening service the congregation adjourned to the Sunday School Hall where James Dutton presided and farewell was said to Dr. and Mrs. Barr and family.

Purse Presented.

On behalf of the congregation Mr. Dutton presented Dr. and Mrs. Barr with a handsome purse of money, while Mrs. E. H. Howson, president of the senior Missionary Society on behalf of the women, presented Mrs. Barr with a beautiful cameo broach.

Mr. Dutton, in his presentation address, reviewed the ministry of Dr. Barr as a man who had been a fearless preacher, a faithful worker, a true servant of Jesus Christ, and one vitally interested in the welfare of St. Paul's.

One hundred and eight years ago, just about this same time of year, Mr. Dutton said, the congregation of St. Paul's as a small band of Presbyterians in Peterborough, was meeting to lay plans to welcome their first minister. In those 108 years the people of St. Paul's have said farewell to five ministers. Dr. Roger, th first minister, had a ministry of some forty years, then Dr. Torrance for some thirty years. Dr. Pogue was there for nearly twenty years, Rev. William Allan for five, and Dr. Barr for nine. And of those five ministers who have occupied the ministry, Dr. Barr is the only one living to-day.

St. Paul's, Mr. Dutton said, is a big congregation, a congregation taking in the Presbyterians in the whole city and a large district surrounding, hence it is a difficult and a heavy pastorate for a minister. On top of that the minister to St. Paul's was often called up to travel to outlying districts, all of which Dr. Barr was always ready and willing to do.

Scholar and Preacher.

Dr. Barr was a scholar and man who preached Jesus Christ, a man who in his sermons sought to give to his people that message which he believed he was called upon to preach, Mr. Dutton said.

Mr. Dutton also paid tribute to Mrs. Barr and family, all of whom had been deeply interested in the work of the congregation, and especially to Ferguson, who enters the Christian ministry as one of the young men of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

Rev. H. L. Roberts of George Street United Church and a close friend and neighbor of Dr. Barr's ever since coming to this city, and also a neighbor of his when they both occupied churches in Brantford, paid tribute to the work of Dr. Barr and his family, and wished them God-speed and much success in the new ministry in St. John's, Newfoundland.

Dr. Barr, in replying, thanked the congregation for their gifts. He said that a man's ministry is never ended in a congregation, and while although he is not there, the ministry and the effects of it are felt for years to come. He told his people he would be always vitally interested in the welfare of St. Paul's, and would pray daily for the congregation's success.

The Dog Came Back

INDIANAPOLIS, April 28—(AP). When William H. Billens had a sandwich shop at 5700 West Washington Street, he lost his dog. Then he moved five miles across town, to 2606 East 10th Street. The dog, missing a year, turned up in the new location scratching at the door.

WE . . . NOTICED

. . . That experience and ability rather than good looks are in demand in office and business establishments nowadays in Britain, according to the head of a large London secretarial agency.

. . . About six months ago employers insisted on attractive girls, preferably blondes, as secretaries, even if they could type with only one finger. Now they want girls who are efficient.

. . . Although glamor girls never made good secretaries they were always in demand, the agency said. Blonds were favorites, but brunettes came into their own and it was a case of a lovely girl—whether fair or dark—always being able to find a job. Now the positions are reversed and the efficient girl is in demand. Some employers specifically ask for girls who discard makeup.

The Paper Bigger Each Minute!

How huge a little sheet of notepaper can look when you've written "We're all well here"—and haven't another idea!

Letters stump some very clever people, so don't be discouraged. But do learn the interesting yet simple ways to write them or friends will lose interest in you.

A friendly letter is really easy. Gossip, talk about the weather, the book you read, the movie you saw! No matter how tiny the tidbit your friend loves to read it because it's from you.

Then ask what he's doing. How does he like his new job, his new town? If he's spoken of at home tell him so! "Mrs. Taylor told us she met you in Boomtown—lucky woman!"

Don't let your letters sound rushed. To sign "In haste, Mary," is really insulting. Write "Sincerely yours" or "Affectionately yours." And, in writing to Mrs. James Burt, take care not to address her wrongly as "Mrs. Ruth Burt"—even if she is a widow.

Thank-you letters?' Sympathy notes? Our 32-page booklet helps you write them, gives sample letters including invitations, job applications, many other types. Tips on grammar, correct form.

Send 15c in coins or stamps for your copy of GOOD LETTER-WRITING MADE EASY to the Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

THE GREATEST WARNING

WHEN EACH of your opponents has bid a side suit in addition to the well-fitting trump suit, you have the greatest of all possible warnings against doubling their high contract with a lot of honors in your hand. Unless those honors are in the trump suit, they are likely to prove of no value at all on defense against the hostile contract. A cross-ruff is indicated by that sort of bidding, and you will find that a trump is usually deposited on any trick on which you play one of your honors. This is especially true if your honors are in second-round cards, such as kings and king-queens, as distinguished from aces.

East rued the day he made that double. Disregarding the conventional meaning of the double in their system—which asks the partner to lead the suit bid on the side by the hand which becomes the dummy—West made really a better lead against this kind of bidding, a trump. He put out the club 2, which South won with the K.

Came then a great cross-ruff. The heart A was scored, the heart 7 ruffed by the club 5, the spade A taken in, the spade 3 ruffed by the club 6, the heart 8 by the club 7, the spade 8 by the club 9, the heart 9 by the club A, the spade 9 by the club 10, the club Q and J collected, the now set-up heart 10 came home, and the diamond J was given up to the A.

East was plenty embarrassed by the fact that the only trick scored by his side was taken by his partner by the diamond A, which would have produced a grand slam if held by the opponents.

North Monaghan Grand Old Man Marks Birthday

Hard work, early to bed and early to rise and simple living are the secrets of health and happiness in the opinion of North Monaghan's grand old man, Richard Moncrief, who today celebrated his 80th birthday. Except for failing eyesight, he enjoys excellent health despite his advanced years.

"Busy people are the most contented and that is the secret of happiness," Mr. Moncrief says. This is the explanation he gives to his opinion that his generation were generally happier than the generation of today despite all the advantages of modern invention. "We didn't have motor cars, radios and other entertainment facilities like they have today," he said, explaining that life was more simple then. "We had to make our own entertainment and for that reason we probably enjoyed it more. Our socials and gatherings were big events and everybody joined in."

Life-Long Resident

A life-long resident of the district south of Springville, Mr. Moncrief was born in Emily township, but moved to North Monaghan when a boy. Having farmed there for years, he is well-known and highly respected throughout the area. He is a member of the United Church.

Mr. Moncrief is celebrating his birthday quietly with Mrs. Moncrief. Besides members of the family, a number of friends called and extended congratulations. He has four sons and four daughters, Walter and Percy of Fraserville, Leonard of Port Hope, Kenneth of North Monaghan, Mrs. Stewart Hogg of North Monaghan, Mrs. William McElroy of Keene, Mrs. John White of Ida and Mrs. Kenneth Syer of Fraserville. Mrs. P. J. Johnston and Mrs. Robert Morrison of Peterborough and Mrs. George Lockie of Kamloops are sisters.

Some Americans, Too

Canadians, New Zealanders, Australians, Britons and a scattering of Americans were included in the air force detail in the convoy.

With the arrival of these vast additions to the Canadian Corps came the announcement that two Canadian Brigadiers had succeeded to posts in the General Staff of the Corps held hitherto by outstanding British officers.

"Establishment of the Canadian Junior War Staff course from which the first graduates have just become available has made it possible to carr yon a steady policy of replacements in staff appointments," Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Commander of the Canadian Corps, explained.

Brig. E. L. M. Burns, Ottawa, becomes Brigadier of the General Staff, while Brig. G. R. Turner, Fredericton, N.B., was named Deputy Adjutant and Quartermaster-General.

When they assume their duties the command of the General Staff will thus be completely Canadian.

Battle Of Atlantic

that that was why he learned with "indescribable relief" of President Roosevelt's patrol division. Which he said would make it possible for Britain to concentrate on ocean routes nearer home.

(The United States naval patrol, extended far into the Atlantic under orders disclosed last Friday by President Roosevelt, is in a position to spot and report enemy submarines or surface raiders, thus warning allied and neutral shipping to avoid the areas in which these vessels are observed operating. It has been reported also that a large number of vessels has been added to the patrol. Their types have not been announced, but it was presumed they included, destroyers, torpedo boats, mine layers, mine sweepers and the larger yachts converted into naval auxiliaries. Wide-ranging naval aircraft also are co-operating in the patrol.)

Only 30,000 On Libyan Drive

The prime minister disclosed for the first time that Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell, in his campaign against the Italians in Africa never was able to bring more than two divisions, about 30,000 men, into battle on the desert front.

Despite the small size of the forces available for the fight in Africa Britain felt obliged in fulfillment of her pledge to send an army to Greece, when that little nation found after her triumph over the Italians that she had to fight Germany as well.

The forces sent to Greece were drawn from the army of the Nile. Half were Australians and New Zealanders, the rest from Britain, the prime minister said.

He added that German propaganda agencies had been attempting to promote bad blood between Britain and the Antipodean dominions by suggesting that the British command had sent troops from the dominions into a fight in which it was unwilling to risk forces from the homeland.

He added he would leave it to Australia to answer that charge.

"While grievous events were taking place in the Balkan peninsula and in Greece," he continued, "our forces in Libya sustained a vexatious and damaging defeat.

"The Germans advanced sooner and in greater strength than we or our generals expected."

Purge It Of Germans

"But," he added, "we cleaned the Italians out of Cirenaica and it now lies with us to purge that province of Germans.

"That will be a harder task and we cannot expect to do it at once...

"There is only one thing certain about war, and that is, it is full of disappointments and mistakes."

However, he added, "it remains to be seen whether it is the Germans who have made a mistake in trampling down the Balkan states and in making a river of blood and hate between themselves and the Greek and Yugoslav peoples."

"It remains to be seen whether they have made a mistake in their attempts to invade Egypt with the forces and means of supply which they have got."

He did not venture a prophesy of the outcome of that campaign, but said that if he were offered the choice he would prefer to be in Gen. Wavell's position than in that of the German African command.

Strong US Action Near To Pep Up Aid To Britain

WASHINGTON, April 28—(AP).—Backed by a policy of strong resistance to the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo axis, an important United States administration decision was believed near today as a means of strengthening the aid-to-Britain program.

Interpreted in most quarters here as a forewarning of such a step, a concerted demand was made by three cabinet members yesterday and last night for decisive action by the U.S. in the present war crisis.

State Secretary Cordell Hull, Navy Secretary Frank Knox, and Agriculture Secretary Claude Wickard spoke in unusually-strong language in addressing widely-different audiences.

"The safety of this hemisphere and of this country calls for resistance will be most effective," Hull said in a major address at Washington before the American Society of International Law. "To wait for actual invasion would be utterly short-sighted and extremely dangerous.

Ways Must Be Found!

The declared policy of the United States, he added, meant that aid-to-Britain and other nations resisting aggression "must reach its destination in the shortest of time and in the maximum quantity."

"So—ways must be found to do this."

Knox, addressing the annual dinner of the American Newspaper Publishers Bureau of Advertising at New York, struck the same note as Hull.

"We cannot allow our goods to be sunk in the Atlantic," he said. "We shall be beaten if they do. We must make our promise good to give aid to Britain. We must see the job through. This is our fight."

Wickard, speaking in New York yesterday to farmers from the northeastern states at a conference that considered increased agricultural production to provision Britain, keynoted his speech with the statement that it was time the American people "got excited" about the trend of world events.

Wickard said that if the United States is "to continue as a great nation, it must act like a great nation." He summarized the chronicle of the war as a "story of 'too little and too late.'"

"Millions of Americans are getting sick of that story," he added.

They Mean Convoys?

Just what type of action might be presaged by the three addresses was a matter of conjecture, with considerable attention paid to the fact that both Hull and Knox laid heavy emphasis on the necessity of seeing that lease-lend supplies reach Britain.

Some capital sources deduced that plans are in readiness to utilize ships of the United States navy to protect shipping lanes, at least in that half of the Atlantic which the administration considers in the western hemisphere.

One opinion heard was that if a major decision did materialize, it probably would have dramatic timing, a psychological impact and perhaps an element of the unexpected.

Hull's speech was regarded by several persons close to the state department as the strongest he has made as secretary.

He called off the names of the 15 European nations that "have lost everything that makes life worth living," and commented:—

"It is high time that the remaining free countries should arm to the fullest extent and in the briefest time humanly possible, and act for their self-preservation."

There was no question as to axis intentions regarding the United States:—

"Evidence has been piling up over several years which makes it perfectly plain that one group of powers actually does have designs both upon the new world....All the military movements and official acts and utterances of those powers have confirmed the knowledge that we too are included in their plans for world domination.

It is the British fleet, he said, that is keeping the Germans from sweeping across the English Channel for an attempted invasion of Britain. Were the control of the seas by the resisting nations lost, "The Atlantic would no longer be an obstacle—rather it would become a broad highway for a conqueror moving westward."

"Our protection would be enormously lessened," he added.

Sees 4-Continent Menace

Knox, too, foresaw a nation imperiled by enemies of four continents. America, he asserted, already is "gradually becoming encircled by military powers, which have openly and repeatedly proclaimed themselves our enemies."

The pressure on the United States is growing, he added.

"How long will we remain bemused and stupified while the Axis powers press their plans for our isolation and ultimate defeat?"

Knox reviewed the stand the United States has taken against the Axis and aggression, the encouragement given to Britain and finally the lease-lend program.

"Having gone thus far," he said, "we cannot back down . . . We can only go on . . . We can no longer occupy the immoral and craven position of asking others to make all the sacrifices . . . Our manhood and our self-respect demand that we shall assume our part of the burden."

Neither Hull, Knox nor Wickard offered detailed recommendations as to what means should be used to realized the objectives they outlined.

As speculation grew in Washington, Senator Gerald Nye, North Dakota Republican, asserted that American prospects for remaining out of the war "are immeasurably better than they have been for some time." He said that "even if we should go all-out, and decide to send an expeditionary force it could not cross the Atlantic in time to have any effect."

Senator Styles Bridges, (Rep.-New Haven), who has supported administration foreign policy, said that since Congress had fixed the program of helping Britain there should be no turning back.

"President Roosevelt has seemed a little hesitant in carrying out the program," he told reporters. "I think he should take active leadership, and that our efforts to aid the British should be re-doubled."

Two Cars With 12 Passengers In Collision West Of City

Although a father and his infant son were tossed out onto the highway and the baby slid along the road for four or five feet, no one was seriously hurt in a traffic accident opposite Lillico's farm on Highway 28 shortly after 9 o'clock Sunday night in which two automobiles containing in all twelve persons shot into the ditch after a collision.

Charles Ashby, 22 Sherbourne street, Port Hope, was driving west in an automobile in which were his wife, their two children, Jane and Freddie, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Boon and their children, Nancy and Bill, also of Port Hope.

Travelling toward Peterborough was another car driven by J. C. Cuthbertson, 186½ Hunter street and having as passengers, Mr. and Mrs. William Riggs, Stewart street, their baby boy, less than a year old.

The two vehicles failed to clear each other as they met, the left front of one car crashing into the left front of the other with the result that Ashby's machine shot across the road and into the ditch on the south side of the highway and the Cuthbertson car also crossed the highway and went into the north ditch.

As the cars met the impact forced open the door of Cuthbertson's car and Riggs who was sitting in the front seat with the baby in his arms was tossed out on to the road. As he hit the surface of the highway the baby slipped out of his arms and slid for some distance.

Fortunately however the infant escaped with a few bruises and Riggs' only injury consisted of several abrasions. The only other persons hurt were Ashby, driver of the other car who received a cut on the forehead, his wife who was bruised and Mrs. Boon who was shaken up and received several bruises.

Neither car turned over after leaving the highway and that minimized the results of the crash. Both vehicles were damaged along the left side. The front wheel was torn off Ashby's car and the tire off the left front wheel of the other machine.

Docks at Ijmuiden and the airport at De Kooy, both in the Netherlands, also were bombed.

German gun positions and a supply train in the Netherlands were attacked, and a German patrol vessel off the northwest coast of France was bombed and left afire.

The Air Ministry said no planes were lost in the daylight operations.

The Air Ministry related that R.A.F. bombers, after a 300-mile flight, "flashed out of the clouds and dropped bombs on buildings" of an industrial plant near Cologne.

A pilot said that a 1,250-ton German patrol vessel was bombed southwest of Pointe de Sainte Mathieu, on the Brittany coast, and that the vessel "put of vigorous defence which continued until a heavy bomb exploded amidships."

One bomber of a Nazi formation attempting a raid on a southeastern coastal town today was winged by ground batteries at 2,000 feet and headed back across the Channel toward the French coast, emitting smoke and losing altitude.

Dragging Lake For 2 Airmen

PEMBROKE, Ont., April 26—(CP)—Dragging continued under military direction in Westmeath Lake today for a Royal Canadian Air Force training plane and the bodies of two R.C.A.F. men officially listed as "believed killed" when their craft plunged into 45 feet of water yesterday.

Cause of the accident thought to have caused the death of Sgt. Pilot H. G. Hydes of Ottawa and LAC. R. Patterson of Toronto is "obscure," R.C.A.F. headquarters in Ottawa said last night, but the plane apparently "dived into the lake."

Percy Moore, Pembroke farmer and apparently the only eyewitness to the accident, told Pembroke police the plane was flying low over the lake—an extension of Ottawa River —when a wing hit the water and "the plane sank within a few seconds."

Approximate position of the submerged plane was believed located fairly accurately by oil patches which have appeared on the lake surface. If dragging failed to bring it to the surface a diver was expected to be brought here to hunt for it.

LAC. Patterson's father lives at 70 Dunraven Drive, Toronto.

R.C.A.F. officers and others from Petawawa military camp were directing the search for the plane and bodies today.

Roll Out The Barrel

COMMANDER Paul B. Cross of Saint John, N.B. looked up from the notebook in which he had scribbled facts of the loss of the British armed merchant cruiser Rajputana and told reporters "there is one thing I'd like to tell as being typical of the way our men took this thing."

"A second torpedo carried away one of our aft guns and a number of barrels started streaming out a hole in our ship. And there stood the gun crew, with the deck practically awash under them, singing "Roll out the barrel" at the top of their lungs.

Cmdr. Cross and 33 other Canadian and Newfoundland officers and men of the Rajputana have reached the Dominion.

Hun Ace's Victor Shot Down Too

LONDON, April 28—(CP).—Germany's air ace, Major Helmuth Wieck, reported shot down over the Isle of Wight last Nov. 28, was said today to have fallen to the guns of 26-year-old Flight Lieut. John Charles Dundas of the Royal Air Force who was himself killed a few minutes afterward.

This was the account the air ministry news service gave of the aerial combat it described as the "last chapter" of the story of Wieck, who commanded the Richtofen squadron and was credited with 56 victories over Spain, Poland, and France:

Dundas was in a squadron of R.A.F. fighter planes which sighted a "large circus" of German Messerschmitt 109's at 25,000 feet.

The squadron leader spoke back over the radio but there was no reply from Dundas. Mates of Dundas later reported a rippled parachute was seen dropping toward the ground.

"Announcement of Wieck's death by the Germans, together with their published details of the action," the news service said, "confirm that Dundas shot down Wieck's Messerschmitt and was, in turn, shot down by its pair (accompanying planes)."

300 MILLION NEW TAXES EXTRA 3 CENTS UPON GAS

OTTAWA, April 29.–(CP)–Imposition of a federal gasoline tax of three cents a gallon and a proposed arrangement for the provinces to vacate the field of Income and Corporation taxes were announced by Finance Minister Isley in the course of his budget address to the Commons today.

Mr. Isley gave notice the latter portion of his speech would detail increased income taxes.

If the provinces agree to co-operate on the taxation plan the arrangement with increases the Minister would propose in tax rates, would net the Federal treasury about $90,000,000, the Minister said. Mr. Ilsley after reviewing the financial situation for the last fiscal year, announced that he would have to raise, by taxation and borrowing, $1,500,000,000 for the current fiscal year which started April 1.

Mr. Isley said he would ask the provinces to abandon the field on Income and Corporation taxation for the duration of the war, with the Government offering two alternate forms of compensation which would prevent loss to the provinces.

He estimated revenue for the current fiscal year at $1,150,000,000 but said the expenditures for war and ordinary costs of government would exceed that amount by at least $618,000,000.

Total war and ordinary expenditures for the current year would be at least $1,768,000,000, the Minister said. In addition the Minister said. In addition the Dominion would have to make up a deficit in Great Britain's account with Canada for purchases here of possibly $900,000,000.

New taxes and heavy increases to those now existing, designed to reach deeply into Canadian pockets to meet unprecedented war costs, were announced.

With the necessity of raising $1,500,000,000 by new taxation and borrowing this year Mr. Ilsley announced drastic increases in the Personal and Corporation Income tax rates, in the National Defence Tax and the Excess Profits Tax.

He imposed a tax of three cents a gallon on gasoline, new succession duties at composite rates modelled after provincial death duties, and an additional one cent Ecise tax on sugar doubling the present rate.

There will be new taxes of 20 per cent on motion picture entertainment and five per cent on wagers made at race tracks.

National Defence tax payers now who pay two per cent wil have to pay five per cent and those paying three per cent will pay seven per cent, beginning July 1. The General Sales tax leevl was left unchanged but building materials were removed from the exempted list. Personal income tax rates will start at 15 per cent for the first taxable $1,000

Small Supreme War Cabinet Vetoed By Churchill; War Debate Set Next Week

Premier Remains Silent On Greek Situation But States Critical Operations "Are Being Successfully Carried Out"

LONDON, April 29—(CP Cable).—Prime Minister Churchill answered a blunt "No, sir," to Edgar Granville's question in the House of Commons today if he would consider establishment of a small supreme war cabinet and inclusion of statesmen of the "calibre of Prime Minister Menzies" of Australia.

Pressed by the Liberal National member in a supplementary question whether he would invite Empire statesmen to join an Imperial war cabinet because the whole Empire is involved in the war, Mr. Churchill said the question was fully discussed in the House some months ago and he had nothing to add.

Questioned further by Mr. Granville if he contemplated summoning an Empire war conference the Prime Minister said "at present there is no such intention."

Meantime Mr. Churchill announced a war debate would be held next week and agreed it could occupy two days if necessary. The Prime Minister said the debate would be on a motion that the House "approves the policy of His Majesty's Government of sending help to Greece and declares its confidence that our operations in the Middle East, as in all other theatres of war, will be pursued by the Government with the utmost vigor."

The reference to the Greek expedition brought loud cheers from the House which did not press for details of the evacuation. In the debate Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden is expected to report on [illegible] diplomatic mission by which he sought to build up an anti-Nazi front.

Room For Dominion Men.

Mr. Granville moved to inject the question of an Empire war cabinet in next week's debate, tabling an addition to the Prime Minister's motion asking, among other things, that the government "appoint a small war cabinet irrespective of party and without interdepartmental responsibility to include Dominion statesmen."

The "addendum" also seeks full mobilization of the nation's resources so the forces may be "adequately equipped," re-organization of propaganda and news services "behind realistic diplomacy," and a

Trainer Crashes, Burns At Tweed; 2 Killed In West

TWEED, Ont, April 29—(CP).—An unidentified pilot from Uplands air field at Ottawa was killed today when his Royal Canadian Air Force plane crashed into the side of a hill in a farm field 1½ miles south of here.

The machine, a Harvard trainer that was in a flight of three, burst into flames after it hit the hill and skidded into a maple tree on the farm of John Lajoie. Tweed is about 35 miles north of Belleville.

The motors of the plane were still running when residents of the district reached the scene and attempted vainly to put out the flames by throwing dirt on the wreckage.

They said the machine went to make a steep bank, then the pilot lost control.

Two Die In Night Crash

MEDICINE HAT, Alta., April 29—(CP).—Flying Officer A. F. M. MacLean and LAC. E. Walton, both of the Royal Air Force, were killed just before midnight last night in the crash of a training plane near the No. 34 Service Flying School just west of here. Officials declined to give home addresses of the men until their parents in England have been notified.

It was reported, unofficially, that the airmen, instructor and student, were engaged in regular night flying operations near the Holsom landing field, seven miles west of the school, at the time of the accident.

It was said that one of the men died instantly and the other while being taken to hospital.

Ralston Puts Finger On Citizens To Add 25,000 Troops

OTTAWA, April 29—(CP).—Assistance of citizens' committees and members of Parliament will be sought in the organization of what Defence Minister Ralston termed yesterday Canada's first recruiting campaign in the present war.

The Minister told the House of Commons a citizens' committee in each province would be asked to help obtain a certain number of men for the army.

The Minister said the objective would be from 25,000 to 30,000 men to fill up present needs for reinforcing units overseas and to bring active army units in Canada, such as the armored formations and units of the 3rd and 4th Divisions up to strength.

Col. Ralston made his statement after Conservative Leader Hanson expressed dissatisfaction with the present recruiting situation and described recent monthly quotas for enlistments as a "failure."

He also alleged method approaching "duress" were being used to induce men in reserve army units to volunteer for active service.

"From time to time quotas were aske[illegible] for to replace wastage and I think up to October or November those quotas were supplied," said Mr. Ralston.

No Ships For Troops.

"But we stopped asking for men and my honorable friend (Mr. Hanson) and some others in this House felt it was a mistake to do so. We stopped because...there were not ships to take men overseas.

"We did not start asking for men again until, I think, February. At that time we sent out a quota to districts, a comparatively small quota to take care of wastage, that is to say men who had been discharged for medical reasons or because they were not regarded as likely to make efficient soldiers."

Parallel with this recruiting for reinforcements went the filling up of new units from the reserve units. Some reserve units found difficulty getting their personnel to volunteer because men who joined the reserve were often those with responsibilities who felt they should not go overseas but could give home guard service.

This made it necessary for the reserve units to go out after new men to enlist directly in the a tive formations.

The establishments of the units overseas were increased following a change in the British army estab-

TORONTO, April 29.—(CP)—The office of C. H. Millard, executive director of the Steel Workes' Organizing Committee, said today that 4,000 steel workers at Sault Ste. Representatives of the employees of both these plants voted at an executive meeting of the S.W.O.C. at Montreal April 20-21 to take "supplementary action" if the National Steel Car employees went on strike.

Mr. Ilsley compared the 1940-41 revenues with those of 1915-16 when the total was $172,000,000, and with 1918-19 when they had grown to $313,000,000.

Gross liabilities of the Dominion at March 31 last were $4,744,067,000, the minister said. Against that figure were active assets of $1,077,741,000, leaving a net national debt at that date of $3,666,316,000, compared with $3,270,980,000 a year before.

The minister estimated an increase of $950,000,000 in national income this year and said there would be appeals for more loans from the public and financial institutions other than banks than hitherto.

No New Ventures.

Mr. Ilsley warned that the budget would not contain any new departures from previous budget principles. Those who expected such departures would be disappointed.

Mr. Ilsley said Canadians would have to forego "some of the less essential of our civilian requirements" in the interests of maximum war production.

Expenditures for improvements to residences, new cars and other conveniences should be postponed until after the war, he said.

Expenditures on war account during the last fiscal year, according to his latest estimate, would be $816,150,000, the minister said.

Ordinary expenditures in that period would be slightly over $393,000,000 of which approximately 70 per cent is accounted for by interest and other charges on the public debt.

Other miscellaneous expenditures, represented chiefly in write-down of assets, would bring total expenditures for the year to $1,266,627,000 which, placed against the revenues, would leave the deficit of $393,056,000.

Channel Gunners Score Hits At Calais Docks

DOVER, England, April 29—(CP)—For nearly six hours today German guns on the French coast shelled the Dover area—the heaviest such cross-Channel action of the war and the sort to be expected with any invasion attempt.

British guns replied, making it a mammoth duel across some 20 miles of water, and the Royal Air Force droned out to blast at the Nazi emplacements.

The Press Association reported at 3.59 p.m. (10.59 a.m. EDT) that the shelling had stopped and added that damage to that southeatsern corner of England—long known as "Hell's Corner"—was negligible, confined to cottages.

Later it was reported that three men were slightly wounded.

After the Germans had fired single shells for three hours they stepped up the barrage, using four-gun and six-gun salvoes at intervals of about three minutes, then narrowed the time to one minute.

Flashes and columns of smoke spiralling upward across the sunlit Channel showed the Germans' Calais batteries were delivering the attack. Calais is about 21 miles across the Channel from Dover.

The shelling continued without let-up after it had been in progress for nearly four hours. The last previous heaviest daylight bombardment of Dover was last Fall.

Visibility was excellent. The French cliffs could be seen from the British Withdrawal Progressing From South Greece

BERLIN, April 29.—(AP)—The Nazis suggested today that Crete, Greece's largest island and now the seat of her government and a base for British forces, is next in line for German attack.

Voelkischer Beobachter, Hitler's newspaper, asserted "Crete no longer is a pleasant anchoring place for English warships."

The newspaper declared that every mile of the Nazi advance across the Peloponneusus brings Crete, with its Suda Bay naval base, into "closer and more effective range" of Greek-based German bombers.

Germans already are talking of "new tasks" for the Nazi forces, although these new tasks have not been specified, a military spokesman predicted yesterday that action in the Mediterranean theatre would continue. He said conquest of Greece was regarded as only a phase of a large plan now unfolding.

German military reports from Greece said German troops, cooperating with naval units, occupied the Island of Thasos, in addition to the Aegean Islands of Samothrace and Lemnos off the mouth of the Dardanelles.

A Test Raid?

Berlin, April 29 (AP)

D.N.B., Nazi news and propaganda agency, claimed today that several British speedboats were damaged early this morning in a clash with similar German craft which undertook an attack along the southeast coast of England.

(The clash has not yet been reported in London and no confirmation of the Nazi claim is available.)

(The two German actions together—speed boat and artillery—might indicate a tentative stab of the sort likely to become general in case of an invasion attempt.)

Huns Try to Finish Plymouth

See It Key Anti-Raider Base With Eire's Ports Barred

LONDON, April 29 (CP) — The Royal Air Force raided the Nazi battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau at Brest last night for the 12th time in a month and a well-informed source said the vessels still were in the French port because they were so badly damaged the Germans couldn't move them.

The air ministry officially has claimed only one hit on one of the 26,000-ton men-o'-war, but this source said their continued presence in such an accessible port was proof there had been more.

The likely thing for the Germans to do, he asserted, would be to move the two powerful surface raiders the minute British airmen showed they knowed where the ships were. He recalled that the German cruiser Hipper "disappeared" from Brest after she was bombed a second time by the R.A.F. on March 2.

Several air ministry communiques have said that British bombs straddled the warships, one of which is in drydock and the other tied up besides a wharf. Military quarters reckoned that a nearby hit on a dock would be almost as effective as a direct hit. Or a hit on a barracks, it was said, might wipe out essential crewmen.

The German air force, in turn, concentrated the weight of its night raiding upon Plymouth with a two-hour attack in which the government said "some fires were started, but casualties are not believed to have been heavy."

The German night activities extended as far north as south Wales and along the east coast over East Anglia.

One inwading bomber was reported destroyed.

Thousands of fire and oil bombs were showered by the Germans on Plymouth. The raid was the fourth on that southwestern naval base in the last seven nights, but it was described as less severe than the preceding ones.

This latest assault came only a

Nazis May By-Pass the Turks

Hint Leap-frog Move Down Greek Isles To Syria To Hit Suez

LONDON, April 29—(CP)—A German attempt to use Greek islands in the Aegean Sea as stepping stones to "bypass" Turkey in a drive aimed at Syria and Suez Canal was suggested today by British observers as a logical sequence to Nazi successes in Greece.

First steps toward such a "leap-frog movement" already have been taken by the Germans, it was pointed out, with occupation of the Islands of Thasos, Samothrace and Lemnos in the Northern Aegean.

From Lemnos, the Fabled isles of Greece extend southward at short intervals for some 200 miles down the coast of Turkey, offering a natural bridge to the Italian-owned Dodecanese Islands. Rhodes, the largest of the latter, is less than 350 miles from Alexandria, Egypt, and about 450 miles from the nearest point in Syria.

British observers expressed belief a German thrust at Suez from this direction would be accompanied by an assault upon Gibraltar and an intensified Axis thrust at Egypt from Libya.

Commenting upon the situation, the News Chronicle saw definite indications of a German attempt to establish a link with the Dodecanese.

A Way Around Turkey

"If the Germans can establish air bases down the west coast of Turkey," the paper said, "and if their agents in Syria have done their work, they may be able to by-pass Turkey."

The Times said Hitler's purpose appeared to be to "seize strategic positions valuable for putting the pressure on, or actually attacking, Turkey to establish a link with the Dodecanese and perhaps to by-pass Turkey on the route to Syria."

Speculation on Germany's plan of action coincided with talk in political circles of a move to streamline Great Britain's war cabinet in the interests of greater efficiency.

An Answer For Lindbergh

U.K. May Be Decadent, But Not Yellow Says Envoy

WASHINGTON, April 29—(CP).—Sir Gerald Campbell, British Minister to the United States, replied last night to Col. Charles A Lindbergh and declared that Britain would not make a "negotiated, false, inclusive peace."

Sir Gerald, speaking before the International Chamber of Commerce, quoted from Lindbergh's address before a mass meeting of the American First Committee in New York last week but did not mention the flier by name. The Minister said a "sneer or a smear" had been levelled at Britain and declared, "We may be despicable, decadent specimens of white trash but at least we are white and not yellow."

King Sees Lease-Lend Boon To Production But Not Lightening Cash Load Canada Assumes In All-Out Effort

OTTAWA, April 29—(CP).—In a battle for freedom which grows wider and more ferocious Canada will spare "neither resources nor manpower," Prime Minister Mackenzie King said yesterday as the House of Commons assembled after the Easter recess.

His declaration, coming on the eve of the presentation of what is expected to be the heaviest taxation budget in Canada's fiscal history was by way of commentary on the German conquest of Yugoslavia and Greece which occurred while the House was adjourned.

Mr. King warned the members to be ready for further reverses but said that as long as Great Britain stood no reverse could be decisive. The possibility of a attack on Singapore at the same time as attempts to seize the Suez Canal and the Straits of Gibral and to invade Great Britain was envisioned by Mr. King as he predicted fighting would spread to wider areas with increased destruction and loss of life.

Apart from Mr. King's opening statement which included both a review of war developments overseas and a commentary on the significance of the Hyde Park declaration made jointly by himself and President Roosevelt on his recent visit to the United States, the first day of the resumed session brought the following developments:

Announcement by Defence Minister Ralston that citizens' committees would be formed in all provinces to aid in securing recruits for the armed forces;

A C.C.F. amendment to the Conservative want of confidence motion on the agriculture situation, condemning the Government's wheat policy and urging adoption of proposals approved by the Saskatchewan Legislature calling for a wheat price at 85 cents plus proceeds of a 50-cent per bushel processing tax on wheat consumed in Canada;

A suggestion from Conservative House Leader Hanson that Mr. King visit the United Kingdom and take the lead in calling a conference of dominion prime ministers.

No Less Financial Load

Mr. King said the Hyde Park declaration under which the United States is to buy war materials which and ask them to help get these men for the armed forces of Canada. I have no doubt that the men will be provided."

There was no occasion for anyone to feel "jittery" about the manpower situation, said the Minister. Members of parliament would be asked to help in putting the situation before the public.

Men were needed more in artillery, ordnance and signal units than in infantry. Col. Ralston said he knew of one infantry battalion which had 600 reinforcements who were not yet required.

lishment and this took up some of the reinforcements sent overseas which were held in holding units against possible battle casualties.

The first quota in February, Col. Ralston said, was completely filled. The second quota was not filled which meant the third was increased In the third quota 50 per cent. more men were obtained than in the first but the larger quota was not filled.

Only Partial Success.

The Department asked the reserve units if they could furnish the men needed. Some said they could but others were not able to do so.

"So we decided the thing to do was to put on a recruiting campaign in the sense of indicating to the people of Canada that men were needed," he said.

It was also decided to ask the public for the men needed to fill up units in Canada as well as for the monthly quotas of overseas reinforcements. The 25,000 to 30,000 men would be required in May, June and possibly July and after that a certain quota would be taken on each month to keep up reinforcements.

"Do not let my honorable friend think that a recruiting campaign has been put on and that it has failed because no such thing has happened at all," said Col. Ralston.

"We will ask, as a matter of fact, for citizens' committees in each province. We shall probably have allotments to each province and ask that citizens' committee be set up

Rumors have been current for some time that an imperial war council of four or five members—similar to the one which guided Britain in the First Great War under David Lloyd George—might replace the present eight-man war cabinet.

Informed sources believe that if such a council were formed, its members probably would include Prime Minister Winston Churchill; Jan Christian Smuts, Prime Minister of the Union of South Africa; Mackenzie King, Prime Minister of Canada; and Robert G. Menzies, Prime Minister of Australia.

Ilsley noted that war expenditure was slightly over $166,000,000, and for the last year of that conflict, 1918-19, $447,000,000.

The Exchange Problem.

Mr. Ilsley devoted much of his review to foreign exchange problems which he said had been solved in some degree by the new arrangement negotiated by Prime Minister Mackenzie King with President Roosevelt and announced in the so-called "Hyde Park declaration."

That arrangement was "a dramatic and magnificent contribution" to the solution of exchange problems with the United States but by no means a complete solution, he said. Restrictions against use of American dollars for Canadian pleasure travel in the United States would have to remain, as much as the Government would desire to remove them.

The Hyde Park agreement was "a magnificent contribution to the success of our common struggle—not to the ease and convenience of the Canadian people," he said.

At the end of the fiscal year there was a probable deficit in Canada's balance of payments on both capital and current accounts with the United States of $478,000,000.

Another aspect of the exchange problem was Great Britain's difficulty in obtaining Canadian dollars. At the end of the fiscal year Britain's deficit in this respect was $795,000,000.

Canada was making Canadian dollars available to Britain for the full amount of her purchases here. These were $186,000,000 for the first quarter of 1941 and were expected to be $1,500,000,000 for the full year.

Financing U.K. Purchases.

It has already been announced that Canada's war costs for the current fiscal year will be about $1,450,000,000. The Minister envisioned the possibility of having to finance the bulk of the United Kingdom purchases in addition.

"The House, however, I am sure will agree with me that it would be unthinkable that Britain should be unable to purchase vitally needed supplies in Canada because of a lack of Canadian dollars," he said.

"For that reason it has been necessary for us to assure Britain that Canada would meet such proportion of that total deficit as Britain herself would not be able to meet by transfer of gold or United States dollars to Canada."

New taxes and increased activity had accounted for the revenue increases, and the prepayment of income taxes had helped, the Minister said.

Excise Income Leads

Total tax revenues were $778,290,000 as compared with $468,000,000 the previous year, the largest single source being the excise taxes which produced $384,000,000 as compared with $166,000,000 the previous year.

Income tax produced $220,000,000 which was more than 50 per cent greater than any previous year. The National Defence Tax produced $28,000,000 and the Excess Profits Tax $24,000,000.

Customs duties produced $131,000,000, compared with $104,000,000—the best figure since 1931 but considerably below pre-depression years.

Returns from Excise Taxes on consumables, mainly tobacco and liquors, were $89,000,000, an increase from $61,000,000 from the previous year; and the 10 per cent War Exchange Tax on imports brought $62,000,000.

Partial Text

This is our third wartime budget.

There will be no disappointment for those who believe that the financial burden of war should be distributed on a basis of equality of sacrifice, having regard to ability to pay. . . .

As explained by my predecessor (Hon. J. L. Ralston), in the budget speech June 24, 1940, the budgetary task of these years of war is that of devising financial policies which will assist in attaining the single object of both the government and parliament, the mobilizing of the maximum war strength of this country. In planning these policies, the government set for itself two objectives:

First, to bring the country as rapidly as possible to the full use of its resources and manpower . . . .

The Government's second objective was to follow "as far as may be practicable a pay-as-you-go policy." . . . .

During the past fiscal year, the Government found it necessary to borrow for the following purposes: First, to finance its deficit; second, in financing the Canadian dollar deficit of the United Kingdom, to provide for the repatriation from the United Kingdom and the cancellation of Dominion and Dominion guaranteed securities held there to the par value of $245,700,000; third, in respect of $325,000,000, to enable the Foreign Exchange Control Board to purchase, under the Foreign Exchange Acquisition Order, the gold and foreign exchange of the Bank of Canada and others; and, fourth, to refund other maturing issues amounting to $200,000,000 and held in Canada.

From the public, $383,000,000 made up of $325,000,000 war loan bonds, $52,000,000 (cash value) of war savings certificate, and $6,000,000 of non-interest-bearing certificates; from the chartered banks, $291,000,000; and from the Bank of Canada, $34,000,000; making a total of $1,023,000,000. . . . .

Many of the tax increases imposed last June did not begin to yield revenue in the past fiscal year. . . . .

An Appeal Bigger Than Ever.

It is, however, clear that, having, in this joint struggle for survival, imposed upon ourselves the greater financial tasks of the current fiscal year, we shall have to appeal to the public and the financial institutions, other than the banks, for very much larger amounts than hitherto. . . . .

Taking the 12 months to the end of March as a basis of comparison, our exports to the United Kingdom increased by 45 per cent in the past year, our exports to the United States have increased by about 21 per cent. To all countries the increase has been 26 per cent.

Exports of gold increased by about eight per cent, but our receipts from tourists declined substantially. Our net receipts were increased only because of the travel restrictions imposed on Canadians.

For the first quarter of this calendar year, our rapidly rising war expenditures were five times the figure of the same quarter of last year and at the rate of more than $1,00,000,000 annually.

In comparison with the same period a year ago, the physical volume of business in Canada in January and February was 15 per cent higher, while the volumne of manufacturing was 11 per cent higher....

It has been estimated that our national income for the calendar year 1940 was $600,000,000 in excess of the figure for 1939. Of that $600,000,000, $348,000,000 was in salaries and wages. The remainder in business, professional, agricultural and investment income...

Something like $300,000,000 went into increased Dominion revenues, without increased rates some provinces and municipalities have experienced large fortuitous gains in revenue...

British Buying To Aid

Under the stimulus of British purchases, it is expected our national income will increase greatly. Against an estimated increase of $800,000,000 from the calendar year 1939 to 1940, it has been estimated that the national income in the fiscal year 1941-42 is likely to rise $950,000,000 above the figure for 1940...

Such an increase in our national income, to a level 35 per cent above that of 1939 will make possible a powerful contribution to the success of the struggle in which we are engaged jointly with the other British countries and the United States...

We can postpone till after the war the purchase of many wholly desirable and convenient products, and thereby give right-of-way to the equipping and maintaining of the forces that stand between us and Hitler.

Up to March 31, Britain's deficit in her balance of payments with Canada was approximately $795,000,000. Of this amount only 31.4 per cent was met by the transfer of gold to Canada. Canada financed the remainder by the repatriation of Canadian securities held in Britain, and by the accumulation of sterling balances in London...

Since early December no gold has been received from the United Kingdom and Canada is presently making Canadian dollars available to the United Kingdom for the full amount of her deficit with us, which Dominion has active assets, including cash on hand, sinking funds, and active loans and investments amounting to $1,077,741,000.

At the close of the fiscal year there was outstanding unmatured direct funded debt (including treasury bills) amounting to $4,371,891,000, of which $5,233,000 were held in sinking funds against certain issues payable in London. Bonds and debenture stocks bearing the guarantee of the Dominion and outstanding in the hands of the public totalled $984,016,379, as at March 31, 1941. These guaranteed securities were decreased by $100,462,853 during the year. There are also outstanding certain other contingent liabilities arising out of guarantees given under relief acts and various other statutes.

In another outspoken portion of his speech, Sir Gerald said it was surely our business to decide whether we are going to abandon the victims of German aggression in Europe whom we are pledged to free or whether we are going to hide our heads in shame and dishonor ever more."

Another speaker at the gathering of Canadian and American businessmen was Harvey MacMillan, president of Wartime Merchant Shipping, Limited, a Canadian Government shipbuilding agency.

MacMillan declared the trade of North America, "the free overseas interchange of products by which we North Americans have exploited our resources, developed our continent and employed our farmers, fishermen, miners, forest and town workers, and thus built up our great wealth and high standard of living, is under totalitarian attack, has partially perished and is wholly threatened."

The people of Canada and the United States, the President of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce declared, together face "the most perilous days in our history." And "there can be no room in the totalitarian world for our ideals or freedoms, our standards of life."

If the Axis Powers are victorious "they will ultimately secure all their requirements from simple peon civilizations and non-industrialized lands outside North America," he added.

Sir Gerald, quoting from the Lindbergh speech, said "A sneer or a smear was levelled at England, 'who promised to all those nations armed assistance that she could not send; we know that she misinformed them'."

"That is untrue," declared Sir Gerald. "The size of the British Expeditionary force sent to France was fixed by the French General staff and in honor bound those troops were sent to defend Belgium as others have since been sent to defend Norway and Greece.

"Military blunders, perhaps, but so was the charge of the Light Brigade at Balaclava, and we all learned at school how proud the British army and the British people were of the Light Brigade."

Tax revenues produced $778,290,000 with excise taxes alone producing $284,000,000, and income taxation $220,000,000, an all-time record.

Net national debt at March 31, 1941, reached $3,696,316,000 as compared with $3,270,980,000 at March 31, 1940.

National income expected to increase by $950,000,000 this year and heavier demands to be made upon public and financial institutions other than banks for loans to the Government.

The Prime Minister gave a negative reply to a question by Mr. Granville whether he woud consider establishment of a ministry of propaganda headed by a minister with a seat in the cabinet.

Mr. Churchill pointed out that the House several times had shown a desire to limit membership of the war cabinet and also that the present minister, Alfred Duff Cooper, is at meetings of the war cabinet to "be fully informed on what is going on."

"I hope the country will always get all possible news on the war situation," Mr. Churchill said, "but I hope, in fact I'm sure, the country would not wish to receive news which would add to the dangers of our troops, whose dangerous and critical operations are being successfully carried out."

The House cheered this reply.

The Prime Minister declined to schedule debate on Geoffrey Mander's motion approving declarations of Viscount Halifax, ambassador to the United States, recently in a New York address on British war and peace aims.

Speeder Is Fined $20 For Doing 70

"I had a new car and you get going faster than you realize in those machines," H. C. Mills, Oshawa, told Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in explanation of why he had been driving at the rate of 70 to 75 miles an hour on the Lakefield road Monday night.

"You should remember that driving at such a speed you might take a life more valuable than your own," remarked Magistrate Langley. "Suppose you were to hit a man of genius like the late Dr. Banting, a man who had given the country the benefits of his scientific knowledge, and kill him."

Mills pleaded guilty to a speeding charge and was fined $20 and $3.75 costs.

In giving evidence in the case Provincial Traffic Officer L. A. McClure said that he had seen Mills leave the intersection of Water street and Park Hill Road at a high rate of speed and had given chase. En route to Lakefield he said Mills was travelling at between 70 and 75 miles an hour.

Officials Seized.

ROME, April 29—(AP).—The newspaper Il Messaggero said today its correspondent in Belgrade had been informed that Sir Ronald Ian Campbell, British Ambassador to Yugoslavia; Colonel C. S. Clark, British military attache, and Ray Brock, war correspondent of the New York Times, had been taken aboard an Italian torpedo boat when they attempted to leave the Dalmation coast in a ship bound for Crete.

The dispatch did not say where the men were now.

LONDON, April 29—(CP). — An authoritative source said today the British Government had asked the United States State Department to make inquiries in Berlin and Rome regarding the whereabouts of Ronald Ian Campbell, British Minister to Yugoslavia.

The British Government has had no definite information on the movements of Mr. Campbell and the Legation and Consular staffs since they left Belgrade after the Nazi invasion, it was said.

There was no official comment on Rome reports that the Minister had been seized by an Italian naval force on the Dalmation coast.

Withdrawal Proceeds.

CAIRO, April 29.—(AP). — Axis detachments which crossed the Egyptian frontier have "remained stationary," while in Greece the British withdrawal "is continuing," British General Headquarters announced to-day.

The German and Italian forces in the Salum area of the Egyptian-Libyan frontier "are being harassed by our patrols," the communique said.

From the Ethiopian front, the British command reported capture of 2,000 Italians and 400 colonial soldiers in connection with the seizure Sunday of Dessie.

Near Last Harbors.

BERLIN, April 29.—(AP).— Nazi spokesmen claimed to-night that German troops were "approaching the last harbors in extreme Southern and Southwestern Greece."

The "mopping up," to-day's communique said, has progressed beyond Tripolis, in the heart of the Peloponnesus.

The High Command claimed its air force sank five ships, aprregating 18,600 tons and damaged a number of smaller vessels in Greek waters yesterday.

(These claims are without confirmation from British sources.)

few hours after the victims of the three other raids had been buried in a communal grave.

The heavy pounding of Plymouth and the naval base at Portsmouth on the south coast recently was seen here as another intensified round in the battle of the Atlantic.

British anti-submarine warships —destroyers, corvettes and motor speedboats—lacking Irish ports used in the last war, are believed to be using these well-equipped bases, situated just 100 miles from German-occupied continental territory.

The Germans apparently are countering Britain's big anti-submarine and anti-raider effort by trying to knock out these bases. Britain's reply has been a dozen raids on the German battleship surface raiders Scharnhorst and Gneisenau, now holed up at Brest.

Informed quarters discounted a suggestion that the German assault on the south coast was aimed at clearing the way for invasion. They said that the R.A.F. had not bombed the Nazi "invasion bases" lately, evidently indicating that no new big concentrations of barges had been seen along the French Netherlands and Belgian coasts.

The ease with which the Germans have been able to fly across the Channel to bomb the south coast emphasizes Britains need for bases in Eire. A destroyer scouting for submarines in the Atlantic from an Eire base, say Cobh on the south coast of Ireland, would be 500 miles nearer its hunting ground than Portsmouth.

Other suitable spots for bases in Eire would be even nearer the submarine infested-area. They include Berehaven, Blacksod Bay and Loch Swilly.

Tobruk Forays Worry Axis Columns

LONDON, April 29 (CP) — Axis forces which have succeeded in advancing into Egypt five or six miles beyond the frontier post of Salum were held in check yesterday by the harassing action of British patrols, authorized sources declared today.

Australian troops garrisoned at the Libyan port of Tobruk, 80 miles west of the Egyptian border, were reported, meanwhile, to have made new sallies against German-Italian forces in that area.

The Axis troops were said to be taking up defensive positions around Tobruk to combat British forays.

On the Ethiopian front, British troops were reported continuing the pursuit of Italian forces retreating into the hills from captured Dessie under heavy bombing. Rounding up the Italian troops in the trackless hill country may take some time.

Ethiopian natives co-operating with Britain are under control, but many native troops have deserted from the Italians and are running wild in guerrilla bands.

British troops entered Dessie Sunday after a few hours of hard fighting at Kombolchia Pass, fourteen miles south of the plateau city, informed military circles said (This supported London reports that the town was taken by forces operating from the British-held ospital Addis Ababa, although Dessie had been attacked from all sides.)

The pass was fortified strongly and fiercely defended. Britons said the Fascists broke under repeated attacks and yielded the summit just as Italian reinforcements were sighted.

The British troops charged down the road and turned the reinforcements' forward march into a precipitate retreat.

On Account Of Gravity

MIAMI, Fla., April 29 (AP) — Harold Schwartz, reporting junior high and playground sports for the Miami Herald, gave this account of a baseball game: At the end of the sixth one team had 31 hits and 25 runs and the other team had 15 errors and no more pitchers so they called the game on account of the gravity of the situation."

School Course Seeks To Be Humane

PORT HOPE, April 29 — (ENS). —"The new course is child centred and seeks to develop personality, there is nothing which will save personality like success," district Public School Inspector W. Carlton told members of the Port Hope Home and School Club last night, speaking on the new course of instruction. "Because of the elasticity of the new course, it should, if handled properly, save the child's personality or set it."

The new course seeks to be at once more humane and realistic, stressing the value of success in children and seeking to minimize failure. No one should leave school with a sense of failure under the new course, but rather that he has a place in society, Inspector Carlton said.

The course, which was introduced after thoroughly considering a report based on eight years' study in England and further study of United States and Canadian education, is based on a sound philosophy of education which can give a practical realization of its aims.

It is founded on the desire to give the child's imagination full scope and to discover and appeal to his practical nature.

New Lighting Is Studied For Cobourg Street

COBOURG, April 29—(ENS). — An item appearing in the local press last week drew the fire of Commissioner Harry McGuire at last night's public utilities meeting.

The commissioner said he had seen an item in the local press which corncerned the proposed lighting of King street. It looked as if the commission had not taken up the matter of new lighting, according to the item.

No Meeting Needed

The Commission did not need a meeting of the Business Men's Association to start them on the project of a new lighting system for King street, he added. As the press was aware, this new lighting system had been under consideration for over two months by the Commission.

The manager of the Utilities had surveyed the distance for the new system over two months ago, Mr. McGuire said, and the Commission had every intention of proceeding with the plan, but it would act inside its financial means. It had gone so far already as to have viewed the several different types of light standards used for this kind of lighting, he added.

He felt that the Business Men's Association, according to the press notice, had put the Commission in a bad light.

Chairman Replies.

Chairman Jack Delanty said that the commission had every intention of erecting the new lighting system on King and Division streets, but it would be done gradually. The chairman said the Commission was determined to have a pay-as-you-go policy. The world, he said, had not been built in a day and the Commission would proceed within limits of its finanacial capacity.

The Commission, the chairman said, had decided to visit other towns to view their new lighting system in view of looking into the different types in order to instal the best here in Cobourg.

The Commission would spend whatever it could with safety this year and next, on this new lighting plan, he added.

It wanted to be able to say this is all paid for when the project was complete.

The council will be asked to attend one of the meetings when the new lighting plans are ready, in order that the councillors might have a chance to express their opinion as a whole, the chairman concluded.

The commission opened several tenders for a new truck from local dealers, but these were laid over until a comparison between the models as to weight, size, carrying capacity ,type of tires, etc., can be made.

The Commission received a letter from the town council regarding a light on Burnham street.

The authority to erect the new light was contained in the letter, but the Commission decided first to get permission from the railway and telegraph companies.

Canadian Double Shooters

This co-operational squadron of the Royal Canadian Air Force must be tops as marksmen shooting with cameras or machine-guns. The camera, however, is the principal weapon; for the duty of the squadron is to photograph enemy movements and ground defences. The machine-guns come in handy in the event that the enemy doesn't take kindly to being photographed.

Rotarians Visit Bale Shoe Plant

CAMPBELLFORD, Aril 29. — (ENS).—Something new by way of entertainment was provided for Rotarians at their luncheon on Monday when members went in a body to visit Gravlin and Bale Shoe Company. The invitation was extended by Rotarian Russel Bale, who was in charge of the program for the day along with Rotarian Harry Fowlds. The club made a tour of the entire plant and had many aspects of the shoe manufacturing explained as they saw complicated machinery in operation.

Rotarians Percy Denyes, Mortimer Sayers, Harold Carr, M.P., and Leslie Diamond were chosen as delegates to attend the Toronto convention. Guests of the luncheon included Mr. C. Marshal and Mr. Bill Brady.

LONDON, April 29—(CP). — The death of Pilot Officer the Rev. W. S. Inge, 25, youngest son of the former dean of St. Paul's, Dr. W. R. Inge, was announced today.

An air ministry source said that Inge, who entered the Royal Air Force as a pilot, was killed "on active service."

Contest In Reforestation Among Hope Township Pupils

PORT HOPE, April 29 (ENS) — A competition among Hope Township public school pupils to foster interest in reforestation is announced. C. G. Mercer, M.P.P., Durham County and the Port Hope Rotary Club will donate the prizes for the contest which is under the direction of the Northumberland and Durham Conservation Service, Inc.

The Conservation officials point out that establishing woodlots is the first step in practical reforestation and that there are hundreds of farms in Durham County at the present time with insufficient woodlots on them. At least ten acres of a woodlot on each farm is necessary to provide fuel, fence posts and lumber for repairs on the average farm. Conservationists claim twenty per cent wooded area is necessary to maintain the normal water table necessary to industry and farming alike, and point out that if each of Durham's 1800 farms had ten acres of woodlot, the problem would be partially solved. The trees for the competition will be forwarded from the forestry station at Orono.

Missionary Gets Call Into Army

LINDSAY, April 29 — (ENS). — Lieut. W. R. Reeds of Lindsay, missionary of the United Church in China and Korea, has reported for service at Hamilton as Regimental M.O. He was gazetted for this rank on his return from Manchukuo a month ago. Dr. Reeds first went to China in 1914 and was stationed many years in Honan Province at Changte. During the past few years in China he had been bombed and escorted by bandit gangs. Poison attempts on his life had also been made by anti-foreign elements. Dr. Reeds is a brother of Fred A. Reeds of Lindsay. Other members of the family live in the Reaboro district.

About May 10 Lindsay will be visited by the Irish Regiment of Canada. This crack infantry unit will come in full strength. The trip will be made on a week-end and there will be a drumhead service at Kawartha Park.

Lindsay's own unit, the 45th Battery, at present at Petawawa, will visit Lindsay on this week-end, complete with trucks, guns and full personnel. The purpose of the visit to town was to seek recruits and the recruiting office will be opened for a number of days. During its stay the battery will likely be seen in action with its eight guns, exactly as is done under war conditions. There will also be a church parade on Sunday.

COBOURG, April 29 (ENS) — Pte. Dutton of Camp Borden was remanded until May 5th for sentence in police court here Monday after he pleaded guilty to a charge of car theft. The incident took place recently and came to light following prompt action by Constable Houghton of the local force after he became suspicious of the soldier's actions. The car had been taken from Brighton the same evening.

Parade Is Held To Knox Church

For the first time since the new four month training period began, the members of C.A.(B)T.C. Number 32 paraded to church outside the bounds of the camp on Sunday. Under Lt.-Col. E. O. Keeler, M.C., E.D., more than 400 men marched on Sunday to Knox United Church for the morning service. Rev. Capt. V. E. R. Zufelt, the Protestant chaplain for the camp conducted the service, and took the solo parts in the anthem.

Advising the men to be good soldiers, the padre chose as his text, words from the 5th chapter of the gospel according to St. Matthew: "Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father in Heaven is perfect."

The word "perfect" as used by Christ and referred to in the scripture, was originally "telaos," the Greek word for perfection. The padre explained that perfection in this sense means more "to fit," and in "a perfect fit"; and he made his thought more clear when he told of the divine plan for each individual. Thus it is possible for each to be a perfect fit, and to perform the job for which they were created. The military theme was again introduced when hymns including Kipling's "God of Our Fathers", were sung. The service closed with the men in uniform rigidly at attention for "The King."

As usual, the Roman Catholic members of the camp paraded to the Church of the Sacred Heart for the service under the direction of the Roman Catholic padre, Rev. Captain Grant. It has been announced that another parade has been arranged for next Sunday, at which the band of the Salvation Army will appear. It will be the first occasion upon which most of the troops have marched to band music, and it is expected that the occasion will be one remembered in Peterborough for some time.

Harwood News

Memorial service in St. John's church, Harwood, for the late Miss Mary Thompson was held on Sunday evening, conducted by Rev. C. A. Johnson, rector of the parish, and the sermon was preached by Rev. T. F. Summerhayes, of Toronto and Harwood.

Miss Thompson was the last surviving member of St. John's church, and was the daughter of Henry Huddleston Thompson, captain of the English army, and one of the several officers given grants of land in the vicinity of Rice Lake.

This homestead is now owned and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Corkery and family.

Miss Mary Thompson's life was an outstanding one for her generosity to all in need, and her spirit of helpfulness and comradeship. A genuine link with the early pioneers in the Rice Lake area is broken, as it is well over 100 years since Captain Thompson settled on the shore of Rice Lake.

What Should We Do?

Premier Hepburn believes that nothing short of an invasion will wake up the people of Canada and cause them to believe there is a war on, and that they are in it. According to Mr. Hepburn we are disposed to measure war in terms of money spent or to be spent, while the dictators talk in terms of objectives attained. In another place we read that "we are satisfied to do too little too late, while Hitler does too much too soon." Very nice phrasing as phrasing goes, but it really does not explain things.

The "objectives attained" by Hitler are not the objectives for which we have been striving. During his early campaign he knocked over Poland, after that he turned on Belgium and Holland and Norway and Denmark. These we suppose would all be included in the "objectives attained" by Hitler. But actually we would do nothing of the sort even if we had the power. We do not want such objectives. In that way it is difficult to compare our war objectives with those of Germany.

Nor are we certain that Mr. Hepburn in his statement made us understand exactly what we should be doing, or how we should be showing a greater awareness of the presence and the growing nearness and seriousness of war. We have been asked to subscribe for war services and we subscribed more than we were asked. We were asked to get behind the sale of War Savings Certificates and again we did it to a greater extent than requested.

Our young men have enlisted to the extent of the demand, and we have equipped and sent thousands of them overseas. It was no fault or decision of theirs or of the Canadian authorities that they have not been in the thick of the fighting. All that is attended to in Britain.

And yet we know there is that feeling on the part of many people that we ought to be doing more. But the actual question is—more of what? Should we change our attitude, and if so how?

We realize that in a general way life goes on pretty much as usual for many of our people. In fact there are many of our folk who are better off today than they were in the days before the war started. The reason is that the war and the business which goes with it has made them busy; they are no longer unemployed or working intermittently. They have money now and they are spending it. Our places of amusement are well patronized; Mr. Hepburn's government reported not long ago that the revenue from beverage rooms and beer warehouses was greater than ever, so our people must be drinking more. The sports pages of the newspapers are filled with news which leads one to believe that in many places the pick of young manhood has decided that the war effort does not need their services.

When it comes to shopping and supplying the home with provisions there is nothing to remind us that the war is on. We can purchase all for which we are able to pay. There are no ration cards which tell us that the war is on and that a shortage threatens.

It may be Mr. Hepburn had all or some of these conditions in mind when he said we lacked a war feeling and charged that we were filled with something which looks like apathy. We believe he would have been more convincing had he been able to go right along from the place where he stopped and tell us plainly what we should be doing. We are quite certain we would be willing to do more; that feeling of greater effort is widespread but it needs to be directed down some useful and practical channel. We recognize Premier Hepburn as being a dynamic sort of person, and we might well hope that he would have something more definite for the people than the claim that we were not yet seized with the seriousness of the situation.

Miss Macphail Wants a Strike

There was a gathering in Toronto on Sunday evening at which speakers were taking inventory of the farm situation in Canada. The speakers, or the stock-takers as they were called, were Miss Agnes Macphail, Rev. W. A. Amos, of Perth county, one of the organizers of the U.F.O., and J. W. Buckley, secretary of the Toronto Trades and Labor Council.

A speaker who undertakes to present the case of the farmer has good material with which to work. In a city like Peterborough we live rather close to the farming community, and in that way know fairly well what is going on, and are well aware that many farmers are not progressing. They are doing well if they hold their own, and some of them are slipping. There are farms where the men on them cannot possibly do the work, and they cannot possibly increase production for cheese and bacon. Many of the younger men have taken jobs in the cities; in this district Oshawa and Peterborough are the main points of attraction. Some who retain their homes on the farm are away to work in early morning and when they return in the evening they tackle the chores and do what they can. But that is not farming as we understand the meaning of the word.

Miss Macphail was certain the farmers would not continue if they had to produce below the cost of production, and then she came to one of those emphatic statements for which she is noted: "The thing I'd like to see the farmer do in wartime is go on strike, and I think something like that will have to come."

If we know our farmers aright—and we believe we do—that is the one thing which will not take place. The farmer knows well enough that his produce is a matter of life or death to the people of Britain, and he is not the one who is going to turn the tables against Britain. He may be up against it; he may be confused in the multiplicity of fixed prices, and he may be confronted with the knowledge that there is too great a spread between the market in which he sells and the one where he goes to do his buying. But he is not going to satisfy Miss Macphail's desire for something spectacular by going on strike.

He knows well enough that he would hurt too many people if he were to go on strike. He would hurt the men on active service in any branch in this country, the people in Britain who are looking to Canada for something to eat while they fight with their backs to the wall. He would hurt the civilian population of Canada, and that would include many families where the family purse is a slim thing at any time. And the farmer would also hurt himself because he is in a business of constant production, where there are no intervals of non-activity.

Possibly we have paid more attention to that remark of Miss Macphail's than it warrants, but it did seem too glaring and too far from the finger-post of solution to be ignored.

German War Reports

Joseph C. Harsch was until recently Berlin correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor, and since his return to the home office of the paper in Boston Mr. Harsch has been engaged answering questions. One came from California and the purpose was to inquire if the German war communiques were reliable.

Mr. Harsch could not possibly answer that question "yes" or "no" because it needed explaining. During the time when the Germans were advancing in the Low Countries and in France the reports given out by the army were correct. They were afterward verified and found to be almost conservative in their claims. The reason for that is obvious—there was no use in concealing anything, and no good purpose was to be served by over-stating the case.

The principle on which the Germans work is that the business of the war department is to win the war and not enlighten the public. When it comes to giving out information about the damage done to British shipping Mr. Harsch says that if the German claims were correct, then "every single battleship, aircraft carrier and cruiser in the British fleet would have been at the bottom of the ocean." People who understand the business know well enough why these reports are issued. It is purely for propaganda purposes and for building up the faith of the people at home.

When it comes to telling the truth about German casualties Mr. Harsch says "I personally doubt that the German reports give the truth when recording casualties." It is bad for the people at home, and the same plan is employed in the air force. The German people are not informed on how many of their machines and pilots are shot down.

Nor is there accuracy in presenting reports of damage which has been done by British raiders. Mr. Marsch recalls one raid when Berlin announced damage had been done to a hospital and an apartment building, but the correspondent in making his rounds had found that two large electrical companies had been blasted out of commission, and no hospital or apartment building had been touched. The reason for that is they do not desire to give out information which might be of use to the enemy. So in a general way the German method is to report progress accurately while progress is to be made, but to use at the same time a tremendous amount of guff in which there is no truth in order to build up the feeling of the people at home that all is well. There has been evidence of this in recent days because the German communiques have made little mention of troop losses in the Balkans, and they must have totalled up toward startling figures.

Wood Becomes Scarce

The Examiner office is at the corner of Hunter and Water Streets, and Water Street is No. 28 Highway from Port Hope to Apsley. The rule is that few days pass at any time of the year when one does not see trucks coming from the North carrying with them loads of wood. One might wonder at times where it had all been going; there was so much of it and it came so steadily.

But it is not coming down today, nor has it been coming for a good many weeks. The result is that the wood piles in the yards of dealers are growing small, and in some places there is going to be trouble enough in trying to build them up. Several are quite candid in stating that the stocks will not be replenished. One dealer told of a man with whom he had dealt for years and who generally supplied him with 800 cords, but this season 100 will be the limit.

The reason is that the men who take out the wood are not in the bush, nor have they been there in recent times. They are working in factories and some of them are in the army. But wherever they are they are not taking out the wood which used to roll down Water Street from the North country. Added to that is the fact that the trucks are for the most part otherwise engaged.

Peterborough is a city which has grown to the habit of burning a good deal of wood probably because there has been plenty of it to be had. Possibly for that reason we have used more wood than the average city, but we will not be doing so this winter because those who are in the business are certain as can be that the previous supply of wood is not going to be available.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Condition of some of the rural roads is reported to be improving. It would have to be that way as some of them could hardly have been getting worse.

When you see furniture out on the lawn do not jump at the conclusion that the bailiff or the instalment man has been operating. You know how they go about housecleaning some places.

Traffic officers in Colorado may now "call out of the window" of their cars to violators of traffic rules. It has been found that getting in and out of the cars has worn out the seat of their trousers too rapidly. The law may have a strong arm, but there is weakness elsewhere.

Member of a union of flour workers in the western States sat on a railway siding to keep goods from being shipping, and the company went to court. The decision was there was no law to prevent a man from sitting on a railway track. And no law of course to prevent the train from keeping on going.

Boston announces a new drink by which one glass will give the steak, bread, eggs and other proteins of a good meal. But that would knock out the delight one has in going to the butcher shop and asking for the birth certificate of the cow from which he was last served.

REMARKABLE

¶ I often stop and read the stuff that tells of pills and ointment too, of folk who felt bowed down as though their travelling days were through. They all get cured, it makes me glad, and so I keep on reading more, for they quit feeling blue and sad, they're better than they be before.

¶ Today I read about one chap who hobbled on a basswood cane, he felt just like a heap of scrap, he hobbled worst when come the rain. He couldn't do his chores no more, he wondered who would keep him then, he'd rap upon the poor house door and live with old and failing men.

¶ He read about some famous pills, his neighbor he had tried them too, they'd cure his aching and his chills and make him feel as good as new. And so he gulped down pills each day and faith began to rise in him, his aches began to go away, new whiskers sprouted on his chin.

¶ No more he hobbles on his cane nor feels wrecked like he used to be, he scampers up and down the lane, can shinny up an apple tree. When I am feeling old and bent I hail with joy that man's new health, I too may be a pill-made gent, knock off some twenty years myself.

CAP and BELLS . .

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

ALL IN ALL, there must have been a good many patriotic concerts given in Ontario last week in celebration of St. George's Day. I read accounts of several of them in various newspapers and I attended one, rather a grand one, in Toronto. It was the "Salute to Britain"" Festival which was held in Massey Hall on April 21.

C & B

Considering everything it was a very good concert indeed and it reflected a great deal of credit on those who organized it. The part of the program which was recorded and rushed to England on a bomber to be re-broadcast there was first-rate, and will give a very good impression in the Old Country, not only of Canada's loyalty and affection, but also of the very high standard of literary and musical achievement in this country. The Mendelssohn Choir sang with all that beauty of tone and precision of attack which has made it one of the great choirs of this continent. The Toronto Symphony Orchestra played better than usual. An admirable poetic tribute to Shakespeare and his England was written for the occasion by Professor E. J. Pratt, undoubtedly the most gifted poet writing in Canada at the moment. A musical composition, a Choral Ode, was specially composed for this concert by Dr. Healey Willan, who is well known as vice-principal of the Toronto Conservatory of Music, and as the choirmaster at St. Mary Magdalene. Although it was clear that the work was of great interest, and a very well-considered setting of Alfred Noyes' poem "The Trumpet Call," it was quite impossible to form any accurate opinion of its merit from the performance which it was given at this affair. Obviously it had not been sufficiently rehearsed, nor did Dr. Fricker, the conductor, give evidence of complete familiarity with it. Indeed it might not be an unwise move if Dr. Fricker, who has had a long and honorable career, were to think of handing the Mendelssohn Choir over to a more vigorous man.

C & B

By this suggestion I mean no sacrilege. The Mendelssohn Choir is a great choir still, but it will not remain so under a conductor whose approach to music is so markedly influenced by advancing years. Nor is there a dearth of men who might succeed Dr. Fricker. Their names may not be familiar to the general public, but it must be borne in mind that men cannot become first-rate conductors until they are given first-rate choirs or orchestras to conduct, and that if a new conductor were chosen for the Mendelssohn Choir he would very soon become well-known.

C & B

THE only disappointing feature of the evening was the "Salute To Britain" spoken by Miss Madeleine Carroll, the celebrated film actress. Miss Carroll is a very beautiful lady, but her voice and personality are not sufficiently large to be impressive in Massey Hall. Nor was it a happy piece of arrangement which caused Dr. Fricker (through no fault of his own) to stand in front of Miss Carroll through half of her speech.

C & B

In spite of these criticisms the broadcast part of the concert was well arranged and was carried through with a pleasing amount of style and dash. But I cannot say so much for what preceded it, nor for what came after it. There was, as seems inevitable at patriotic concerts, a "Pageant of Flags." Now I yield to no one in my patriotism, nor in my esteem for the flags of friendly nations, but pageants of flags leave me cold. This one was better than many I have seen, but failed to rouse me, and the audience was of my opinion. While Mr. Rupert Lucas, who acted as Master of Ceremonies, shouted the names of various European nations which are now under Nazi domination, little girls in fancy dress advanced with the flags of those nations. Only Finland and Greece roused any enthusiasm. The flags, to be frank, were a flop.

C & B

It was not a happy inspiration, either, which prompted Mr. Lucas to recite Rupert Brooke's sonnet, "The Soldier," and to misquote it. Every Canadian child learns that sonnet by heart in school, and when Mr. Lucas made his blob it was duly noted. Nor did it contribute to the cause of good speech when Mr. Lorne Greene, the usually admirable radio announcer, spoke of the "sinoca of war" just after Mr. Lucas had spoken of a "Salroot to Britain." But these were minor matters and, as I have already said, the "Salute To Britain" was highly successful and, insofar as it is given to a patriotic concert to be so, enjoyable.

A GOOD PROPHET

Letter to New York Times

SIR,—It is nearly forty-five years since Winston Churchill began. I remember in the very early days of the Boer War, asking the news editor of the evening paper on which I started, when a despatch from South Africa came in, "Who is Winston Churchill?" "The future Prime Minister of England," he replied. That was in 1899.

S. K. RATCLIFFE.
New York, April 15, 1941.

VOICE FROM THE GUTTER

—Whitelaw in the London Daily Herald.

• The Way to the Future

Senator Claude Pepper of Florida, at Ottawa Canadian Club: I include the people of Canada, of course, when I speak of these American sentiments, because what has now grown up, the principles which are now cherished among us and our neighbors to the south, some geographically remote from us, have been from a time whereof the memory of man runneth not to the contrary, the sentiments between my country and yours.

Have you realized what it means for the people of Canada and the United States to be joined together in friendship, have you realized that through us across this thin boundary line, come together the two greatest political systems in all the world, in peace, understanding, good will, and now in common unshakable resolve?

British and American Strength

What could be so comforting to him who has flashes of fear from all these horrible things that are now going on in the world, as to realize that the mightiest assault of history has not only left these two systems, the British Commonwealth and Pan America, unshaken, but stronger in their unity than they have ever been, both intro-system and inter-system. It does not seem to us that there are insurmountable barriers to the spread of the sentiments which have made up these systems to other nations and other peoples of like mind and heart.

Our first task, of course, is to chain the international culprits to the stocks, to shut them in the prison walls of impotence, to take the dangerous weapons from their hands; then men of good will may lay down their arms and sense the inexpressible satisfactions of peace.

Then will be the time for men to plan their peace. Not only to cherish it, but to nurture it, so that it shall grow from a frail plant to a giant unshakable tree.

You and I know how we have flung away opportunities to save the peace in the past. You will understand me, I know, when I say that I know how culpable my own country has been; that our regret is not what we did in the last war, but what we did not do when the storm of that struggle had passed. We have not committed the only error, either of omission or commission, which has been committed. We are not alone at fault. Some of our leaders have not been the only ones who did not see.

But when the mischief has been undone again the test of the sincerity of our repentance will be what use we make of future opportunities.

What is there to prevent the application of the principles of Pan Americanism to the wide world—to other hemispheres as well as our own? It may or may not be too soon, even when peace is with us again, to set up the superstate or a proven form of world organism, but it will certainly not be too soon for the representatives of all the nations of the earth, great and small, black and white, yellow and brown, to establish the habit of meeting together, of talking about common problems, of setting up the machinery of co-operation, in meeting those things that threaten us all, disease, crime, poor food, poor shelter, poor working conditions, to work out the many non-controversial ways in which we may help one another so that all may help each.

I will not believe that any one of the British Commonwealth or of the Pan American republics would object to such an effort and would withhold its honest co-operation from such an aim.

There has never been such an opportunity as there will be when this outbreak of outlawry shall again be suppressed, there has never been the intimacy among the peoples of the world there now is, physically, intellectually, spiritually. A man now speaks and the world hears him, writes and the world reads him, thinks and the world thinks with him. If there was ever any doubt that any of us was no an integral part of this great world organism, that doubt has passed away. We move in the rapidly flowing stream of life all along together, whether we want it or not, whether we know it or not. If we would guide our own course we must guide the course of it all, for where they go, we go, and where we go, all go.

• The Meaning of "Can Do"

ON the coasts of China the coolies speak what is known as Pidgin English. One phrase used by the Chinese servant is, "Can do." When asked whether some task can be undertaken or errand done, he says after careful thought, "Can do." Then the order is carried out as faithfully and satisfactorily as by any servant of any race. "Can do," remarks a writer in the Montreal Star, means "Can win."

What a motto for this hour in British history. When a man loses his faith in his ability to do, that is faith in himself, he has lost the race before he starts. Worse than any financial loss is the loss of faith. No man has lost out until he gives up. "If you think you can't, you can't." "Can do" to the Chinese servant means immediate, decisive action, no procrastination or putting off for some more convenient season. The tendency to push duty, privilege and even joy into the future is with us all. And one thing is very certain; if we cannot sanctify the present, we cannot count on the future. Today is the future of former years and, having lived through a part of the future, we ought not to be afraid of it. What we can do must be done quickly; we are here today and tomorrow gone. If we are to do any good, we must do it now or never.

As someone once said: "I shall pass through this world but once, any good thing that I can do or any kindness that I can show, let me not defer it or neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again." John Wesley, who lived a long life, a useful life, a self-spending life, in his last Will and Testament left a few books, his faithful horse and saddlebags and money enough to pay for a humble, inexpensive funeral. He wrote: "If I die possessed of more than this you may say John Wesley was not a Christian." Yet, if Wesley had hoarded the income from his writings alone he could have died possessed of immense wealth. "I shall not pass this way again." It is this once-ness of duties and joys that intensifies life's meaning. Every joy gets its glow from the fact that it comes but once. Every opportunity likewise, and unless we see it, seize it, use it, we miss it and it is gone. The fleetingness of time is both its pathos and its glory. It is too short to hate and not long enough to love. "Now is the accepted time."

In his letter to the Philippians (4:13), St. Paul says "can do." "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me." These words are from a man who is master of his fate in a Roman prison. "I know," he says, "both how to be abased and I know how to abound; everywhere and in all things I am instructed both how to be full and to be hungry, both to abound and to suffer need." "I can do." Here is contentment and self-sufficiency. Here is another man unafraid to be poor, who lives his life from within, independent of any enrichment by imports. He could exist independently of the world's fortunes.

A Bit of Nonsense

Wouldn't Be Needed

Hubby had been out of work for some time, but one day he returned home smiling happily.

"Well, had any luck?" asked his wife.

"Yes, Mary, dear," said the husband. "The tide has turned. I've secured a good job as night watchman at last."

His wife shook her head despondently.

"There, I knew something like that would happen," she said. "Here have I been working all the week, making you a couple of new nightshirts, and now you'll be sleeping all the daytime."

Not What He Wanted

A recruit was trying to dodge military service.

"I'm afraid my shortsightedness will prevent me from doing any actual fighting," he said.

The M. O. replied cheerfully: "That's all right, old chap. We've got special trenches for the shortsighted ones. Right close up to the enemy—you just can't miss seeing them."

To The Editor

THIS WAR

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—The government is going to take the census. With this nation at war with Germany we are going to need a lot of men. As we think the war will not be over before 1943 this nation will need to work a lot faster to help England. It is our duty to capture Hitler and his 12 apostles. I think our government is allowing too many exemptions to go through in western Canada among foreigners. If the foreigners do not want to fight their battles here, and we keep on sending men overseas it will mean our men will be going to fight for the foreigners. With the aid of United States this country can enlist 1,000,000 and over from ages 20-60 for war services of some kind. I think we veterans of the last war should form a military war council of some kind. The estimated population of Canada in 1939 was 11,315,000, and the number of square miles is 3,694,863 square miles, so we have plenty at stake in this war.

OLD 1916.

JOYS OF LECTURING

THIS anecdote comes from the Trondheim district:

A Nazi "missionary" arrived at a local public hall to deliver his routine address on the joys of living under Hitler and Quisling. As he entered the hall, two old fellows—Norwegian farmers—were standing just outside the doorway, debating whether to go in or not. In a moment the Nazi speaker reappeared, red-faced and furious. The hall was practically empty.

"Donnerwetter!....It must be that damned Norwegian broadcast from London that everyone is listening to!"

At this one old boy pulled out an ancient silver watch, verified the time and exclaimed: "By Gad! He's right. Come on, Nils, we have just time to get home and hear the news!"

U.S. See Patrols Sidestepping Convoy Move

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP).—Prime Minister Churchill's high appraisal of the role of the United States Navy's extended offshore patrol in the "Battle of the Atlantic" aroused keen interest today in Washington.

Ever since President Roosevelt disclosed on Friday that naval vessels were operating great distances at sea in the interests of Western hemisphere defence many legislators have been frankly uncertain just what significance the widened patrol zone might play in the program of aid to Britain.

Mr. Roosevelt avoided connecting the extension of the patrol with anything except defence considerations, but the words of Mr. Churchill yesterday were interpreted in a number of quarters as proof that the step was calculated—at least incidentally—to furnish the greatest possible help to the Royal Navy in maintaining Britain's North Atlantic life line.

See Premier's Hints

The forcefulness of some of Mr. Churchill's phraseology attracted special notice. The Prime Minister spoke of the patrol extension as representing "tremendous decisions" which brought him "indescribable relief." He also said that the United States was extending Britain "naval support," within the limits of the patrol plan, and voiced the belief that the United States did not intend to be "frustrated" in its policy by permitting lease-lend supplies to be sunk by Nazi action.

One early reaction to Mr. Churchill's comment on patrols was that the Prime Minister's remarks might have the effect of pushing the convoy question into the background, at least for the present. The importance he attached to the assistance expected from the patrol, it was pointed out, would not encourage advocates of a convoy system to press their efforts until the effectiveness of the patrol plan had been tested.

(Ships on patrol would report the presence of any submarine or surface raider sighted, thus enabling shipping to avoid the vicinity.)

As the convoy discussion proceeded, meanwhile, Senators George Norris (Ind.-Nebraska) and Richard Russell (Dem.-Georgia), came out in favor of transferring more United States naval vessel to Britain before instituting convoys.

Give her Battleships

Norris, who fought unsuccessfully to have a prohibition against convoys written into the British-aid Bill, told reporters he favored giving Britain battleships, cruisers or other fleet units needed to protect her Atlantic shipping.

Senator Carter Glass (Dem.-Virginian), strong supporter of administration foreign policy, told reporters he wanted "to deliver the goods Great Britain needs" and added:

"I am in favor of convoying the goods we sell or give and if necessary, carrying them in our own merchant ships. It is time to start convoying now—we should have been doing it long ago."

An informal poll of the Senate, said to have been taken by leaders as a result of White House inquiries, indicated that at leas 45 of the 96 members would oppose any legislation specifically authorizing convoying.

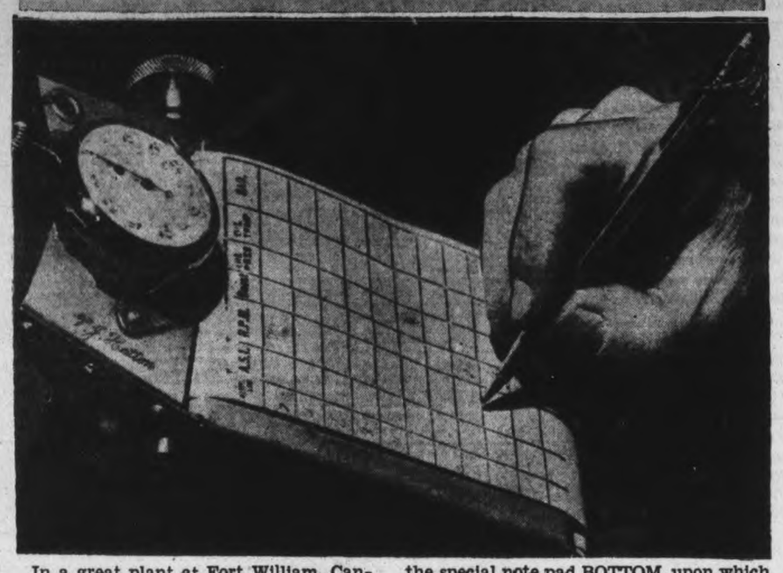
Canadian Built Hurricanes Given Rigorous Tests



In a great plant at Fort William, Canada is turning out Hurricane fighters for the defence of Britain at the rate of fifteen a week. This is the special note pad BOTTOM, upon which every reaction of the new craft is recorded. The pad, fitted with a stop watch, is strapped to Pilot Hatton's knee so it will be handy as he races the machine through its tests.

Cordova Comedy Nets $66 In Havelock Hall

HAVELOCK, April 29—(ENS).—A three-act play entitled, "Look Who's Here," put on by a cast from Cordova Mines, was presented in the Havelock Town Hall on Friday evening to a well filled hall.

The play was brought here by the Havelock Patriotic Association Society, and the proceeds of $66 are in aid of the British War Victims' Fund. Miss Minnie Williams, President of this society, addressed the audience during the evening, and on behalf of the members, thanked all for their attendance, for the co-operation they are receiving, and the many wonderful donations which are being received every week to help along the good work. She spoke of the great work being done at Cordova, which is a branch of the Havelock Society. They have been untiring in their efforts, to help in this great cause, and so this play was repeated.

Miss Williams said that parcels were sent every two months to the boys overseas from Havelock, Belmont and Cordova, and they are being received, as letters are arriving extending their thanks and appreciation. Miss Williams also stated that from November 10, 1939, to March 31, 1941, $1,115.35 has been raised by the Patriotic Association, and that 140 quilts had been quilted besides the many comforts that had been knit and made by the willing workers.

Mr. E. Seeney, Reeve of Havelock acted as chairman of the evening.

Mr. Carol Purdy of Cordova explained the theme of the play, introducing the character parts, and those taking them.

Candy was sold in between acts by a number of school girls. Cast of the play was as follows: Lyman, Herbert Parkins; Jimmie, the grocery boy, James Barrons; Tommy Rotnaah, Lyman's friend, Edward Bowen, Jr.; Mrs. Winchell, Lyman's wife, Estelle, Mrs. Harry Bowen; Aunt Alice Bambridge, Lyman's rich aunt, Annie Myers; Jinny, the maid, Lula Ellis; Irene Andrews, Mrs. Joe Hawes; Rose Stanford, Freda Ellis; Grace Sterling, Ida Ellis.

Another Two Quilts

A goodly number of ladies were present at the regular weekly meeting of the Eastern Star Patriotic Association on Friday afternoon. Two quilts were completed for overseas, one top being donated by Mrs. Clarence Weymark.

Thanks were extended to Mrs. Harry Hubbel for making two tops from material from the work room, and for the lining which she donated for a quilt, and to the Business Men's Association for their donation of $5, to the Ladies' Bridge Club for $5, and to Mrs. Joseph Hoffman for a donation of $1.

Mrs. Walter Nobes resigned her position as secretary on account of being unable to attend the meetings regularly during the summer, Mrs. D. O. Post was appointed to take her place.

The Eastern Star Patriotic Association mail brought letters of thanks from Harry Washburn and Vincent Fitz Patrick. Vincent enclosed pictures of shells which the Huns had dropped in England and of himself and a friend from Trenton. A letter of thanks was also received from two ladies who had received one of the quilts, sent by the Patriotic Association, through the Red Shield.

Harold Hunter of Peterborough spent the week-end with his mother, Mrs. Hunter.

Mr. and Mrs. George Aboud and daughter Darlene of Marmora, spent Sunday with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Jones.

Mrs. J. R. Bedford and son. J. R., of Toronto, spent Sunday visiting former friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hill of Port Hope spent the week-end with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hill.

Thirty ladies of the Eastern Star Patriotic Association motored to Peterborough on Thursday evening to hear Mrs. (Col.) Jane Peacock, head of the Red Shield of Canada speak at a mass meeting of the women, in the Salvation Army Temple.

Miss Marjorie Evans of Peterborough, spent the week-end at her home.

Mrs. Eric Anderson and daughter Louise, left Sunday to spend at few days with Mr. and Mrs. Doug. Jones, Marmora.

Mass Prison Break And Camp Blitzkrieg Plan Of Foiled Germans

WINNIPEG, April 29.—The sound of a boot striking tin in the darkness, and the alert ears of a sentry, alone prevented a mass break from the Lake Superior district prison camp from which twenty-eight Nazi war prisoners escaped temporarily last week.

The Germans planned to capture the camp and launch a miniature blitz through the Northern wilds, according to the story told at Winnipeg on Monday by six soldiers of the 13th Company of the Veterans' Guard of Canada, Calgary, who were detailed to take two of the prisoners, Sergt.-Major Karl Heins Grund and Sergt. Horst Liebeck, recaptured at Medicine Hat, more than 1,100 miles from their escape, back to camp.

The soldiers were Segt. F. Frame, Cpl. W. J. Jones, Pte. J. Hussin, Pte. T. Heap, Pte. W. L. Ellis and Pte. W. Wishart.

On their way back to Calgary, with yellow receipts for the safe delivery of their two prisoners, the men told jointly the story of the break as they had heard it from an authoritative source, also what they had seen in camp and what they learned from the Nazis.

More than twenty-eight, they said, were scheduled to try their luck with the marksmanship of the Canadian guards and the bleakness of the regions. The twenty-eight were only the advance guard of the break. They were caching more food and clothing when one of their members stumbled over a pail in the darkness and aroused the suspicions of the sentry. The prisoners, knowing the jig was up, made a dash for it.

If this had not happened, the guards explained, about 100 Germans would have made an escape. Once free, they would have attempted to cut all communications and seize the camp by force.

This accomplished, they planned to continue to another camp in an endeavor to release their comrades there.

To illustrate something of the craftiness of the German escapees, the guards told of what they had seen when they returned their prisoners.

The Germans, with tools made from old tin cans, had made a 120-foot tunnel. The entrance was hidden by shrubbery. Below the ground at the entrance of the main tunnel, the Nazis had their workshop, safe from the prying eyes of the guards. Supports for the tunnel had been made from floor joists. Dirt had been carefully packed and boarded.

Saws, the guards continued, had been smuggled from the workshop. They saw boats made by the prisoners. One they measured was about fifteen feet long. It was made in two sections with plywood. The covering was oilcloth, which would have acted like canvas on a canoe. This they had stolen from the tables.

Of their own prisoners, the guards paid tribute to their cleverness, and particularly to Grund. When captured, Grund posed as an Austrian, and Liebeck as a Frenchman. Grund, a doctor studying tropical diseases, could speak English fluently, as well as French, Latvian, Latin, Greek and Spanish.

Maps taken from the prisoners, they continued, were so finely drawn they resembled etchings. They even charted the boulders about the camp. They possessed compasses, remarkably accurate, made from razor blades. They had fashioned fish hooks from needles, complete to the barb. For fish lines they had twisted thread into strong waxed lengths that couldn't be broken when the guards themselves tried.

Not one detail had been missed by the prisoners, they recounted. The give-away red patches on the backs of the greatcoats, indicating they were prisoners, had been covered with the bottoms of their coats so cleverly that they looked like a tailor-done job.

Summing their prisoners up, the guards agreed: "They were both gentlemen, but very foxy."

Texas To Get Professional Hockey Next Season

ST. PAUL, April 29—(AP).—The American Hockey Association became an eight-team circuit to-day when applications for franchises from two Texas cities—Dallas and Fort Worth—were accepted at the annual meeting.

George Higgins of St. Paul, league president, called the step the most progressive move the league has ever made because it brought professional hockey into the south for the first time.

Long Train Jumps.

Sam Buron, South St. Paul, Minn., representing Fort Worth, and Clarence E. Ling of Dallas, personally presented applications for franchises and accompanied their bids with certified cheques for $5,000.

The expansion means a distance of 1,000 miles separating the northernmost point in the league, Minneapolis, and the two new Texas members. Other members are St. Paul, Omaha, Kansas City, Tulsa, and St. Louis.

With acceptance of the two new members the league also is on record for no further expansion at this time, Higgins said. Inquiries for membership also have come from Denver, Colorado City, Milwaukee, and Sioux City, Ia.

Use Rogers Coliseum.

Buron said he has obtained an option on a lease for the $3,000,000 Will Rogers Memorial Coliseum at Fort Worth, and planned to start installation of ice manufacturing machinery and additional seats, to cost $65,000, immediately.

Ling is planning on spending $35,000 for ice machinery and remodelling of the lice stock pavilion at the State Fair Park in Dallas.

Medley Swim Won By Jack Mathews

The weekly handicap swim of the Peterborough Junior Aquatic club was held last Friday evening in the pool of the local Y.M.C.A. The event was a 60-yard medley swim in which Jack Mathews gained top honors. Mathews is a comparatively new member to the club and has already earned a rating among the top notchers. It is expected that Mathews may be a valuable asset to the club in the future. Second-place honors were hard fought for between Don Pinch and Reg. Seabrooke, with the latter getting the edge. The other competitor in the final was John Clarke, the newest member of the club. Clarke is already well on his way to earning a top berth.

Complete results of the events are as follows:—

1st Hear—1, B. Young; 2, J. Clarke; 3, A. Plunkett.

2nd Heat—1, J. Mathews; 2, G. Pinch; 3, A. Brown.

C.A.S.A. Title Meet Slated At Verdun

WINNIPEG, April 29.—(CP)—The 1941 Dominion swimming championships, which will include some 20 events, will be held at Verdun, Que., some time in July, Harold W. Daly of Winnipeg, president of the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association, announced last night.

At the annual meeting of the association here Saturday, Mr. Daly was re-elected president and R. E. Collins, also of Winnipeg, secretary.

H. E. Herschorn, Montreal, was elected chairman of affiliations and alliances; Chris H. Goulden, Montreal, chairman of diving; Bert Quinn, Montreal, chairman of water polo, and Pat Earl, Montreal, chairman Olympic and British Empire games committee.

A resolution was adopted which will permit members of the Australian and New Zealand Air Forces now stationed in Canada to participate in open swim meets held under the auspices of Provincial sections.

It was also decided to place ornamental swimming, now becoming popular, under the same rules that govern competitive swimming. Nose clips, formerly disallowed in competition of this type, will be permitted.

SPORTS - DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

There was only one game in the National League Monday but it was a honey and it furnished a springboard from which the Brooklyn Dodgers were able to vault into undisputed possession of first place in the loop race. The Brooklyn opponents were the champion Cincinnati Reds and the Daffyness Boys took the argument 3 runs to 2 in a battle between two fo the National League's finest pitchers, Whit Wyatt for the Dodgers and Paul Derringer for the Reds. Each allowed but six hits but Wyatt won the argument 3 to 2 and won it himself by driving in the winning run with a timely single in the ninth. It was his third victory of the season and incidentally it was Derringer's second loss. Frank McCormick came through with a circuit clout for the Reds but it was more than taken care of by Alex Kampouris who hit for four-bases with a teammate on the runways. Other clubs in the loop were idle yesterday.

* * * * * *

There were two battles in the American loop and in the most important clash of the afternoon the Cleveland Indians strengthened their hold on first place and gained a half game on the idle Yanks and Red Sox by triumphing over the wavering Detroit Tigers 7 to 2. Al Milnar pitched steady ball holding the Bengals to six hits while Newhouser who started for the Tigers was succeeded by Trout and then by White. The first intersectional clash of the season begins today with the eastern teams making their first trip into the western end of the loop and it will soon be possible to get a more accurate line upon the strength of the various clubs. Cleveland has proved too powerful so far for the other western outfits and it remains to be seen what the Indians can do when stacked up against the Yanks and the hard-hitting Boston Red Sox.

* * * * * *

One fact is emerging from the American League race and that is the probability of the Detroit Tigers repeating their feat of last season in capturing the pennant seems to be getting more remote each day. The Bengals have had trouble in getting the old machine clicking and with Greenberg, the No. 1 powerhouse of the outfit, due to leave the Detroit roster to wear the uniform of Uncle Sam in the near future the Tigers are not a good bet to repeat. At present the running seems to be between the Yanks and Cleveland with the Red Sox possible contenders if they can get anything like good pitching. Joe Cronin has just traded Woody Rich up the river which means that the youngster who looked so good two seasons ago and turned up a sore arm last season has been dropped entirely out of the calculations of the Boston pilot. Lefty Grove may be able to help out when warmer weather comes around but up to the present he has been unable to make more than one start.

Have Missed The Boat

Ken Colling thinks that the Lakeshore Baseball League in proposing that the Oshawa and Peterborough clubs should enter the organization as an intermediate loop has missed the boat. There was a proposal a short time ago that the Lakeshore and Central Leagues amalgamate as a senior circuit and the Belleville man thinks that the Lakeshore magnates would have done better to propose a senior league than to ask the Oshawa and Peterborough outfits to drop back to intermediate rating. Ken's idea, and it is sound, is that from the viewpoint of advertising it is better to be in the senior division. "After all," he says "the word 'senior' attracts more attention than intermediate despite the fact there is little difference on the playing field." Mister Colling is undoubtedly right. If it is possible to do anything to save baseball by an amalgamation with the Lakeshore loop then the organization might just as well play senior ball as the lower division.

* * * * * *

Incidentally the Belleville sports sheet tells of an opportunity for fans in this neck of the woods to see a little baseball. Here is what it says: "It seems the American boys, who are training with the R.C.A.F. at both Trenton and St. Thomas, are anxious to play baseball, their national game. However, owing to prevailing conditions the Yankee Airmen-in-training cannot affiliate with any league or the O.B.A. for quite obvious reasons, but still they are anxious to test their diamond ability against that of Canadian ball clubs. S. E. Crymes, an American lad training at the Technical Training School at St. Thomas, was in Belleville recently and informed Jack Yanover, former Belleville and Picton baseball magnate, that the Yankee boys at St. Thomas were anxious to play some baseball. They are willing to come east at their own expense and play a series of games, providing the receipts are turned over to war charities. We have suggested that they play on a Friday in Kingston and Saturday afternoon in Peterborough one week-end and in Belleville Friday and Oshawa on Saturday of another week-end, all of which was most satisfactory with the boys from "south of the border," stationed at St. Thomas."

* * * * * *

"Carl Casey is back in town and would doubtless welcome the opportunity to play the odd few ball games versus the Americans at both the St. Thomas and Trenton air bases," continues the article. "Other veteran pitchers now located locally are Lefty Weeks, who has returned from Northern Ontario, Joe Kelleher and Bert Noakes. "Speedy" St. Louis might like to don the catcher's equipment for a couple of ball games, and then there's "Rip" Collins, Lorne Jarrell, Nick Sero and Johnnie Ronsky to round out an infield. Doc Empson could be persuaded to line up an outfield and maybe a few exhibition ball games could be arranged to fill in the long summer twilight evenings. Kingston is going ahead in the organization of a senior ball club in hopes of entering the St. Lawrence League, while out in Peterborough baseball is at a standstill, but doubtless the Liftlock City diamond sponsors would welcome the chance to see some good American ball players perform against their own home town talent at the minimum cost."

Frank Merriwell Finish

Montreal Royals evened up the Memorial Cup series last night and they did it in a fashion that discounted anything the fanciful writers of sports fiction could dish up in the way of garrison finishes. Montreal won the battle four goals to three and the counters that tied up the game and won it were both scored within the last minute of play. They just don't make them any closer than that. It was a desperate struggle between two evenly matched teams and when Sam Fabro scored for Winnipeg with less than four minutes to go and put the Westerners in front the series looked to be all over. Fabro was the hero—for the moment. Then with the game almost over he drew a penalty and was transformed into the role of a goat. With a one-man advantage Montrealers pressed and Morrison tied it up with 49 seconds left and 29 seconds later Roland Bleau drove home the winning tally. The series will be decided in Toronto tomorrow night and the Rangers are still favorites to take the championship.

Softball will take a long stride forward tonight when two important meetings will be held. The Men's Softball Loop meets at the Duffus Bowling Alleys at 7.30 o'clock for the election of officers and the making of other arrangements for the season. At 8 o'clock the Peterborough and District Ladies' Softball League will also meet at Duffus' and they too will set the stage here all summer with no senior ball in sight and it is possible some of the games may be staged in the ball grounds at Riverside Park where there would not be so many freak home runs as in the Bowl.

Mrs. Whitney's Derby Entry

Eddie Arcaro To Ride Derby Entry

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 29—(AP)—The two old masters were back together again and Whirlaway's stock in the Kentucky Derby market came out of its nose-dive.

The announcement that Eddie Arcaro and Ben Jones, the combination that put Lawrin across three years ago, were hooking up again on Warren Wright's little chestnut in Saturday's sixty-seventh running was the highlight of the first day of Derby week, which also saw such developments as these:

1. A close-to-the-ground guess that a dozen colts, headed by Roy Martin's Our Boots and Charley Howard's Porter's Cap, would face the barrier Saturday.

2. A 2.05 2-5 workout for Rocky Palladina's Little Beans over the full 1¼-mile Derby route.

3. The arrival of Cleveland Putnam's Swain, with Trainer Boots Durnell obviously "gambling on mud" for Derby Day.

4. Nomination of seven horses for the running of the one-mile Derby trial stakes at the Downs today, with Whirlaway and Mrs. Vera Bragg's Blue Pair the only two regarded as likely Derby starters and with a strong possibility that Jones will scratch his hope.

5. Definite word from Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons that the grizzled little sage of Sheepshead Bay won't be here this year. He's shipping his Nos. 1 and 2 hopes, King Cole and Bold Irishman, direct to Pimlico for the Preakness a week later.

Ever since the Bluegrass Stakes at Keeneland last Thursday, there has been some criticism of the way Wendell Eads piloted Whirlaway. Some said he shouldn't have let the colt, noted for his stretch-running ability, go to the front, that this was in some measure responsible for the fact Our Boots won by six lengths.

Jones hasn't said a word against Eads' ride up to now, but it is obvious, with yesterday's announcement, that he'll feel a little safer with Arcaro's experience in the saddle.

There was some similarity between this late selection and the way Edule got the leg up on Lawrin three years ago. He wasn't named until after the Derby trial that year, when Mrs. Payne Whitney, his contract employer, decided not to start her nominee Redbreast.

Field For Trial.

Along with Whirlaway and Blue Pair, the others named for the Derby trial today were Shaun G., Quintilian, Sporting, Burman and Cadmium, with not much chance for any of them but a reward of a Derby starter's spot for the one who can pull something hot out of the hat.

Newark Bears Wallop Bisons By 4-1

(By the Associated Press.)

Newark Bears, who are starting out in the International League race as if to make it the same kind of runaway they had back in 1937, can furnish a lot of backing for the experts who claim that colleges are supplanting the sandlots as reservoirs of baseball material.

In the Newark lineup yesterday as the Bears trimmed Buffalo Bisons 4-1 to run their winning streak to eight victories in nine games, were George Stirnweiss of North Carolina University; Frank Kelleher, who spent two years at St. Mary's of California; Ken Seacs of the University of Alabama; Ed Levy, a Rollins College graduate, and Don Lang of Long Beach Junior College. The pitching was ably handled by Tommie Byrne of Wake Forest College, who turned in a five-hit game for his second victory of the season.

The sandlotters, of course, have done their share, although they're pretty well outnumbered. One of them, Nino Bongiovanni, opened Newark's game-winning three-run rally in the third inning with a single and scored when Earl Cook issued three passes.

In the other contests, Toronto Maple Leafs made it two straight over Jersey City, 2-1 and the champion Rochester Red Wings whipped Syracuse 6-1 in a game that might have been even more lopsided.

Toronto made only five hits off Frank Pearce, while Walter Lanfranconi allowed the Little Giants 10, but the Leafs bunched three in the fifth inning for their winning run after an error, a walk and two outs had given them a first-inning tally.

Gorman, who now is connected with Montreal Canadiens, came to the Maroons after leading Chicago Black Hawks to their first Stanley Cup title in 1934 and he made it two straight when he brought Montreal home in front in 1935.

Grads Lose 51-42 To Thunderbirds

VANCOUVER, April 29—(CP). — University of British Columbia Thunderbirds flashed to within one game of the men's Senior Canadian basketball championship here last night when they beat Toronto Simpson Grads 51-42 in the second game of the best-of-five series. Varsity won the opener 42-34 here Saturday.

Third game is scheduled for Wednesday night, and if fourth and fifth games are necessary they will be played Friday and Saturday.

Grads showed better form in the early stages and held Varsity in check to grab an 11-8 lead at the end of the first quarter. Vancouver then forged into a 23-9 lead at the half, and were up 35-28 at the three-quarter mark.

The Ontario team depended largely on long shots for points but found difficulty in finding the shooting range and the majority of their extended shots fell short.

Jim Scott was Varsity's sharpshooter, turning in total of 17 points, and Matheson was next with a total of 13.

Toronto's top scorer was Jack Martin with 13 points, and Breadon finished with a total of eight.

Ace Goal Scorer Loses Mother

REGINA, April 29—(CP). — On the eve of his team's big bid for the Allan Cup, Herman Gruhn, goal-scoring star of Regina Rangers, was informed of the death of his mother in Winnipeg late last night.

But Gruhn will be in uniform when Rangers meet Sydney Millionaires here tonight.

"She wanted me to win the Allan Cup. I will play and be with the boys," said the grief-stricken youth.

Gruhn scored the winning goal for Rangers on Saturday night.

Club officials have arranged for the player to rush to Winnipeg by plane immediately after game tonight.

Japs To Strike Now?

ROME, April 29 — (AP). — The newspaper Il Popolo Di Roma suggested to-day that Japan might be ready to help Germany and Italy in the effort to prevent United States' war supplies from reaching Britain.

The newspaper said Hitler's warning that any ship carrying supplies to Britain would be sunk was duplicated by Italy "and likewise it stands for Japan, whose spokesman recently declared themselves ready to fulfill their obligations under the tripartite pact."

Dodgers Trounce Reds By 3-2 For Top Spot

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

Cincinnati Reds are the same team they were last year. They were world champions then, and they may be again, but at this early date it must be said that other teams have improved while the Reds have remained stationary.

The champ came east yesterday and the first stab out of the box bumped into Brooklyn Dodgers, one of the improved clubs in the National League.

Their clash was a battle of titans, but the Dodgers emerged with their seventh successive victory, 3-2, and took over first place in the senior circuit while the Reds were left languishing in fourth place.

The Reds received good pitching—a six-hit job by their veteran ace, Paul Derringer. They had their customary fielding—including one of the most spectacular catches of the young season when Ival (Poison Ivy) Goodman stood almost against the rightfield fence, 300 feet from the plate, and jumped as high as he could to spear a liner in the sixth inning. They had as good an offence as the Dodgers—six hits, including a home run by Buck McCormick.

But the Dodgers had that "zing" that challengers sometimes get and champions eventually lose.

Strikes Out Ten

Whitlow Wyatt, bordering on 31, struck out 10 of the champs and held them to six hits, too. When the Reds tied the score through Ernesto Natali Lombardi's triple in the seventh, the Dodgers had what was needed to win in the ninth—a single with two on by old Whit Wyatt himself.

You can bet that the fighting is going to be a lot fiercer this year. St. Louis Cardinals are in the middle of it, also. They were idle along with the rest of the league yesterday.

The American League action has switched to the west. While the eastern teams were travelling yesterday, Cleveland Indians reinforced their grip on first place by drubbing Detroit Tigers 7-2 and Chicago White Sox moved into a tie for third place with a 2-1 edge over St. Louis Browns.

The contest at Cleveland started out as a hurling duel between Al Milnar and young Hal Newhouser, who was a great help to Detroit last year before developing arm trouble.

Newhouser showed he still is a potentially great pitcher by striking out nine men and allowing only four hits in six innings. The 19-year-old southpaw gave nine walks and had to be removed with nobody out in the seventh, when he made a wild pitch with the bases loaded on two passes and an error.

Regina Rangers Get 6 to 5 Odds

REGINA, April 29—(CP).—The Allan Cup finals resume tonight, and the boys who do the betting are offering six for five on Regina Rangers to win, although Sydney Millionaires have won two of the previous four games, lost one, and tied one.

Since the series began in Calgary more than a week ago, the odds have been three to one that the Eastern champions would win each game. Ranger's 5-4 win here Saturday changed that. Millionaires had won the first game 8-6, the second 8-3, and tied the third 1-1.

Tonight the teams meet for the fifth time in the best-of-five series, and Sydney needs only a tie to win the Canadian Senior hockey championship.

If the warm weather continues, to-night's game, one of the latest Allan Cup games in history, if not the latest, will see the fans in their shirt sleeves like they were Saturday night, when the mercury was around the 70-above mark in the Arena.

Pete Reiser, crack rookie outfielder of the Brooklyn Dodgers, falls at the plate after being hit on the head by one of Ike Pearson's pitches. Catcher Livingston of the Phillies stands over him. Reiser was carried off the field on a stretcher suffering from a fractured cheek-bone. The new Brooklyn protection headgear saved him from even more serious injury.

Montreal Juniors Win Fourth Game To Tie Up Memorial Cup Series

MONTREAL, April 29 — (CP). — All the hopes for Dominion Junior hockey supremacy of both Montreal Royals and Winnipeg Rangers, last two ticket-holders in the annual Memorial Cup hockey lottery, balanced today on one last whirl of a fickle wheel of chance.

A 4-3 victory by the Royals here last night put the teams all even for the deciding game of the best-of-five final, scheduled for Toronto tomorrow night.

Royals came through last night with a typical Frank Merriwell finish to level the series. The split-second timing of fiction's hero became fact as Eastern Canada's champions, within 49 seconds of elimination, rallied for a pair of quick goals.

A 2-0 lead wiped out by the Western champions' three-goal spurt in the final frame, Royals seized advantage of a Ranger penalty for both last-ditch tallies. Slim Grant Morrison fired the first at 19:11 to knot the count and Roland Bleau, little utility man, got the winner 25 seconds later.

Bleau's payoff goal last night was the first of the series for the utility winger and also his first point of the game. The other three Montreal tallies were shared by Morrison, Bobby Carragher and Jimmy Peters, with Morrison and Carragher each getting an assist as well and Bill Southwick, husky rearguard, making the play for two tallies.

The Winnipeg counters went to Lou Medynski, Bill Mortimer and Sammy Fabro.

Tokyo Claims US Sea Patrol But Step Off War

TOKYO, April 29 —(AP)—The newspaper Kokumin declared today the United States decision for extended patrol of Atlantic waters of the western hemisphere 'means the United States is but a step from entering the war."

"The United States navy is taking care of this route to England, which should be the work of the British Navy," Kokumin said. "No one can deny this.

"This also means conflict will begin between the United States and Germany."

The Times Advertisers, controlled by the Japanese foreign office, carried a headline "War worry causes general price drop" over a story which said "concern is felt on the market that the United States at last is bracing up to take a catastrophic plunge into the European war, and this caused a wholesale fall in stocks.'

The usually temperate newspaper Asahi described the United States as "going headlong into war" and said: "The grim determination of Roosevelt to take the offensive against the Axis powers means letting loose American patrols on all the seas of the world for convoying United States transports carrying war materials to Britain."

Most of the Tokyo papers ignored the term patrol and described such naval operations as convoying.

An editorial entitled "Roosevelt eye-wash" in the newspaper Yomiuri said "in order to carry out convoying by American warships it would be necessary to revise the neutrality act. Hence, the administration's smoke screen of extension of the patrol area."

Strike In London

LONDON, April 29 — (CP Cable). —Distribution of meat in Greater London was tied up to-day by a strike of 2,500 employees of wholesale depots who protested the dismissal of 60 employees of a depot closed after it was damaged in an air raid.

It was claimed the staff should have been employed at other depots under an agreement between the union and employers.

More Canadians Arrive In England

Safe arrival of another large contingent of Canadian soldiers and airmen in England has been officially announced over the weekend. The ABOVE scenes show the fighting men as they left an East Coast seaport on their perilous voyage across the Atlantic. In the UPPER photo Canucks wave a farewell to Canada as they mount the gang plank. A group of Sergeant Pilots, graduates of the Commonwealth Air Training Plan, are shown BELOW as they eat their first meal aboard ship. INSET, Private R. G. Golden, of Victoria Island, and Private H. T. Douglas of Vancouver do a little last-minute advertising for their home province by displaying a British Columbia apple through the ship's port-hole.

Canada is best fitted to produce and to supply, under the lease-lend act, parts entering into the production in Canada of war materials for Great Britain would make the Canadian war effort more effective but would not ease the burden Canada had assumed voluntarily.

While it would go a long way toward solving the foreign exchange problem it offered little prospect of relaxation in the foreign exchange conservation restrictions the government had been compelled to impose.

"The Hyde Park declaration is more than an extension of the Ogdensburg declaration for hemispheric defence," said Mr. King. "It is a joint agreement between Canada and the United States for aid to Great Britain."

Failure of the Allies to withstand the enemy push in Greece and Yugoslavia was not a total loss as Hitler's plan for a bloodless conquest failed and a large part of the German army which might overwise have been concentrating for an attack on Great Britain was employed.

The defeat of the Italian armies in Africa made less ominous the threat the Germans now were offering to Egypt and the Suez Canal. However, the German forces in North Africa might turn westward to form one arm of a pincer movement directed at Gibraltar.

The long, intermittent debate on agriculture started weeks ago by Mark Senn (Con. Haldimand) with an amendment to the motion to go into committee of supply, asking for parity between farm and other prices, was resumed by John Diefenbaker (Con. Lake Centre) who denounced the government wheat acreage reduction policy.

T. C. Douglas (C.C.F. Weyburn) moved an amendment expressing disapproval of the wheat policy and suggesting the Saskatchewan proposal as an alternative.

KEEP your STEP FULL of PEP!

Help Keep Fit by Keeping THE KIDNEYS in Good Order

Nowadays most people realize that to keep well is usually simpler, safer, more pleasant and less costly than to try to "get well."

A healthy, well-regulated system resists many ailments to which a less sturdy constitution may fall victim. Because of this, more and more men and women are using Dodd's Kidney Pills at regular intervals. By so doing they feel that they are helping to keep their kidneys in good order, so that poisonous waste matter and excess acids may be cleansed from the system, and possible illness avoided.

It is a wise health safeguard to use Dodd's Kidney Pills from time to time. Dodd's Kidney Pills are not habit-forming, safe and easy to use.

Budget To Slash Hard Into Canuck Pockets

OTTAWA, April 29—(CP).—War in terms of money occupies the attention of Parliament today as members wait for Finance Minister Ilsley to answer the questions in the minds of millions of Canadians.

Delivering his budget speech this afternoon Mr. Ilsley will announce how the Government proposes to get the huge sum—about $2,000,000,000—needed to finance Canada's war and other governm-ntal activities in the fiscal year which began with the present month.

It will be the third war budget and like the one in June, 1940, this is expected to bite more deeply into the pockets of Canadian taxpayers.

Along with the announcement of what taxes Canadians will pay, Mr. Isley will indicate what portion of the money needed is to be obtained by borrowing.

Mr. Ilsley is faced with the problem of obtaining about $1,450,000,000 for war purposes, $400,000,000 for the normal non-war activities of government, and a further large sum to finance British purchases of war materials in Canada through the repatriation of Canadian securities held in Great Britain.

All across Canada the budget is awaited with interest, not only by taxpayers, but by provincial and municipal governments. These governments are concerned about the extent to which new taxes may cut into their own sources of revenue.

Mr. Ilsley has already hinted at the possibility of the federal government invading such provincial fields as succession duties and gasoline taxes.

At the British went into action, observers in Folkestone looking over the Strait of Dover could see puffs of black smoke rising from time to time along the French coast between Boulogne and Cap Gris Nez as if from bursts of heavy bombs.

On another occasion, a great column of yellowship smoke billowed up from the direction of Calais harbor, suggesting to observers that an oil supply might have been hit.

The bombardment developed into the most sustained cross-channel shelling so far this year.

All entrances into Dover were marked by yellow notice boards bearing the warning: "Shelling in progress—take cover."

Most of the German shells were of a high explosive type which burst with terrific flashes, scattering heavy metal splinters on a wide area with each burst.

Obituary

REV. WILLIAM H. HIGGS.

MILLBROOK, April 29—(ENS).—The death of the Rev. William H. Higgs, who was formerly a pastor on the Millbrook circuit, from 1915 to 1919, occurred on Monday, April 21, in his 70th year, at Manilla, where he had been the United Church minister for the past three years.

He had suffered from a heart condition for some time previous to his death, but had been in his usual health and good spirits, and during Monday afternoon had made a number of pastoral calls, a feature of his ministerial career in which he was unusually faithful, bringing always cheer and comfort.

Previous to taking over the pastorate at Manilla, Mr. Higgs had served for eleven years on the Beachburg charge, in Renfrew County. He was in Millbrook during the years of the last World War, and members of his congregation here recall that, in company with Captain C. R. Spencer, then assistant to the late Rev. Canon Allen of Cavan parish, he went out daily to assist with the harvest in a season when help on the farms was particularly hard to secure.

It was during his Millbrook pastorate, also, that the mortgage on St. Andrew's Church was paid off in full, and the document burned at the annual congregational meeting on Tuesday, April 8, 1919, the late Mrs. James Evans, whose husband kindled the first fire in the church building when newly built, and the late Mrs. Alexander Ferguson, two of the oldest members, each holding a lighted candle to the paper.

Throughout his pastoral career, Mr. Higgs was prominent in young people's work, and while at Millbrook was made president of the Bay of Quinte Conference Summer School. His pastorates, after leaving Millbrook, included Madoc, Port Perry, Beachburg, and Manilla.

He was three times married and is survived by his widow, three daughters, Mrs. C. A. Richards (Mary) of Tillsonburg, Mrs. H. S. Ramsay (Eileen) of Winnipeg, and Dorothy, Reg. N., o Toronto, and one son Alfred of Bowmanville.

The funeral took place on Thursday at 2 p.m. (S.T.) from the United Church, Manilla, interment being at Pine Grove Cemetery.

Things Taken For Granted

A message from
The Newspaper Publishers Committee
HON. W. A. BUCHANAN, CHAIRMAN

SOMETIMES it's good for a nation, as for an individual, to take stock of itself. To add up the good things it has gained, and how they may be preserved . . .

For many years we in Canada have taken our personal freedom for granted. Perhaps too much for granted.

Now our liberties are once again threatened. Every day we see all too vivid pictures of the suffering which military power and complacency together have brought to men and women very like ourselves.

And just because complacency itself is a danger, I want to make you stop and ask yourself a question. It is this: why was it that back before freedom was taken for granted, people were prepared to fight, and if need be to die, for the freedom of the press?

Why is the very price of liberty bound up in the right and the duty of your newspaper to bring you all the facts about all that happens?

Why is the freedom of the press the first thing a would-be dictatorship challenges in its climb to power? What can YOU do to guard the freedom of the press here in Canada?

It's really very simple . . . no tyrant can long enslave men's bodies unless he first enslaves their minds! History proves it.

As long as the people really know what is happening, they can defend their liberties even against the subtle threat of the sort of tyranny which can grow up inside the nation. For a democracy "no news is bad news." If a people is lulled into accepting only one side of a story, they'll come to believe it! Military conquest is not the only danger!

Think it through, and you'll find facts are the key to both your freedoms:

Freedom to speak your mind; to have your voice heard, to say how you shall be governed and by whom . . .

Freedom to pick the food you prefer, the kind and shape and shade of your clothes, the style of your house, the community in which you live . . .

And as long as you keep them free, newspapers will bring you the facts, all the facts consistent with a strictly military censorship.

How can you help? Just continue to do what you have always done, but do it perhaps a little more thoroughly.

Read your newspaper more carefully, more thoughtfully.

When a political story takes the headlines, go back to the homespun sport your grandfather loved . . . argue with your neighbour about it. Don't ever just say, "I'll let George worry about that one" . . . in a democracy George is you!

Whenever you notice a mis-statement . . . whenever you think you smell a story only half told, squawk about it. Telephone, write a letter to the editor . . . whatever you like. But do something!

Above all, unless you're tired of being about the freest men and women in the world, don't take the freedom of the press for granted!

NOTE: The Newspaper Publishers Committee, speaking through its chairman, will bring you one of these institutional advertisements in this space each week. Clubs, patriotic societies, business firms or individuals who would like reprints may have them by writing to the business office of this newspaper.

DANGEROUS PRACTICES

Provincial Traffic Officer L. A. McClure states that many young folk riding bicycles on the highways these days are guilty of dangerous practices. "They ride two or more abreast and are all over the road," the officer complains." They must ride in single file and as far over to their right side of the road as possible.

SALVATIONISTS COMING

Major Sidney Cox, Atlanta, Georgia, is coming to the Peterborough Salvation Army Temple Monday night next as guest conductor of the music. He will also be chairman of the meeting. Major Cox is one of the foremost composers of Salvation Army songs. Many of his compositions are sung daily by the Army. The local band and songsters will provide the music.

STRICKEN IN PULPIT.

Rev. W. Stanley Owen, pastor of Colborne Street United Church in Brantford, was taken ill when preaching in the pulpit of St. John's United Church in Stratford on Sunday, a church where Mr. Owen had ministered for 14 years before going to Brantford in 1939. Taken to the Stratford General Hospital, Mr. Owen passed away in the afternoon. Several years ago Mr. Owen was a guest preacher at St. Andrew's Church in Peterborough.

"Y" POOL ATTRACTS SOLDIERS.

The coming of these fine summery days makes the Y.M.C.A. pool an attractive spot for the members of the various training units at the Exhibition Camp or the newly arrived group taking training at the Collegiate Institute. Facilities for writing home are greatly appreciated also. Monday night a new arrival from Montreal on completing his letter exclaimed, "There, that's my daily duty performed, a letter to mother." Inquiries of some of the newcomers show a wide variety of centres from which the men come, Sydney, Nova Scotia, Petawawa, Kingston, Montreal, as well as the numerous centres nearer the city. The "Y" pool certainly catches the eye of all the men and they are at once eager to try it out.

Soldiers Try Out New Helmets

An anti-tank gun crew at Fort Benning, Georgia, is shown wearing the new dual purpose helmets which are being tested by the infantry board of the United States army. The headgear is in two sections—a conventional steel shell which comes low over the neck to afford greater protection and an inner liner composed for the most part of fibre.

Merchant Of Venice Is Presented To Most Appreciative Audience

The enterprise of the Immaculate Conception Dramatic Club in attacking a production as difficult as Shakespeare's famous "Merchant of Venice" and carrying it successfully throught cannot be commended too highly in commenting upon Monday night's presentation of the famous play at East City Hall under the experienced and skilful direction of Monsignor O'Sullivan, Domestic Prelate, with R. L. Hale, teacher of English at P.C.I., coaching the players in action and delivery of lines.

An admirable job had been made of shortening the scenes for this production, and although there may have been some who, sentimental and fussy about their Shakespeare, objected to changes being made in the original, the majority of the audience was appreciative of the clever manner in which scenes had beeen linked up by the director, and of the way in which the most striking and beautiful had been retained. An occasional glance about the hall as the play progressed was assurance enough that spectators were thoroughly enjoying themselves, and had not come out merely through a sense of duty.

Vitality In Acting

Each member of the cast seemed to be getting every ounce out of his role, and moods and climaxes were built up with the proper power. There was a great deal of vitality in the acting, and each of the eight scenes was excellently done, with the trial scene seeming to strike feeling better than any of the others. Some very fine acting was noted in the quarrelling scene between Shylock, Bassanio and Gratiano. There was a fine setting for the chorus, and the duet "Santa Lucia" by Jessica and Lorenzo, although probably undreamed of by Shakespeare, fitted into the mood of the scene quite nicely. Mrs. Gus White's prologue was well spoken, and an orchestra provided incidental music. Costumes obtained from Toronto were attractive and colorful, stage settings painted by Mr. E. Armstrong were beautiful, and, Venetian in character, fitted admirably into the atmoshphere of the play.

To repeat, the entire cast was excellent. Shylock got under the skin of the character and made a fine job of his role. The Duke of Venice was excellent in voice, deportment and attitude—indeed, all you'd expect of Shakespeare's Duke—and so also were Bassanio, Gratiano, Portia and Launcelot.

A Tribute To Director

With more intensive training this dramatic group could put on a finished performance, but as it was it is a tribute to the leadership of Monsignor O'Sullivan that the cast of the play proved quite capable of producing it. The production represents three months of intensive work, and is to be presented again tonight. It is the second of its type to be given in Peterborough, "As You Like It" having been produced last year under the same director.

A capacity crowd witnessed the performance.

Pupils Donate Five Afghans To Red Cross

Five large wool afghans made by the boys and girls of the four Separate Schools in the city were turned over to the president of the Peterborough Red Cross, Mrs. Reg. Turner this week, for use among the distressed people of England.

Some weeks ago some of the mothers headed by Mrs. Jack Cameron started the campaign to secure the wool necessary for the manufacture of the afghans. Through the co-operation of the three theatre managers in the city, an appeal was made for bits of wool, and these were deposited in containers at the C.D.S. Store, Woolworths and Zellers, and sufficient was obtained in this manner to complete the work.

The boys and girls worked under the direction of the teachers and all of the afghans made were huge objects, sufficiently large to be used as coverlets for beds. Today Mrs. Turner, as president of the Red Cross voiced her appreciation of this splendid contribution which indicates clearly that the small boys and girls of Canada are eager and willing to do their bit to help their less fortunate colleagues who are sticking to their homes on the battle line in England.

Lakehurst Presbyterian Church, Knox Brotherhood Aid War Fund

Smiths To Buy Fighter Plane

Various organizations have been doing a lot to provide aircraft to help Britain drive the Hun flyers out of the sky but a movement has been launched now that should be formidable enough to make the Nazis tremble.

The call has gone out to the Smiths of Canada to rally around and pool their contributions to buy a fighting plane or a bunch of them to be tossed into the battle against Hitler and his hordes.

Alderman John Smith of St. Catharines is the originator of the idea. He has made application to the Department of National War Services at Ottawa to centralize such funds raised through the "Wings for Britain" organization with headquarters at Montreal.

Every Smith in Canada — and there must be a lot of them—is being asked to contribute.

Peterborough members of the Smith family who want to do their share in this drive on behalf of the Smiths of the country are asked to communicate with Alderman John Smith, St. Catharines, Ont.

Information as to the Smith campaign was received by City Clerk E. A. Outram from the city clerk of St. Catharines who incidentally is Herbert H. Smith.

According to the city directory Peterborough has 88 Smiths and four Smythes. Interestingly enough there are ten John Smiths listed.

War Savings Drive In Hamilton Twp.

GORE'S LANDING, April 29 — (ENS).—A War Savings meeting was held in St. Paul's United Church, Coldsprings, on Monday evening. The speakers were Jack Burnet, the Mayor of Cobourg and Mr. MacLellan, who organized a successful war savings drive in Cobourg recently. In the absence of Reeve Charles Burrison, Wilbur Cole, the Deputy-Reeve of Hamilton township, was chairman. Archie Bowman, the township clerk, acted as secretary for the meeting.

Around 30 people attended the meeting. Mr. Burnet suggested that committees should be named to form an organization to handle the War Savings campaign with each polling division represented by 4 or 5 residents. The Reeve, Charles Burrison, was named chairman and the suggestion was made that the committees of the various polling districts should meet again next Wednesday evening and plan the War Savings drive for the township.

The members of the school orchestra from S.S. No. 16, with their teacher, Miss Ruby Hoskin, contributed several numbers on the program. The meeting closed with singing the National Anthem.

50 Men Sent To Brockville

Fifty men from this district were sent to Brockville last week to work on the training barracks there where new buildings are being erected to enlarge the training centre, Bill Mellis of the Employment Service of Canada office in Peterborough said today. "They were carpenters who worked on Peterborough training centre when it was built and I expect they will have work there for the greater part of the summer," he told the Examiner.

"The only job I have on the books today is for a man to remove storm windows if he has a ladder."

Claims Husband Died In Fire

COBOURG, Ont., April 29 (CP)— Claiming that her husband died as a result of a fire in their home at Bowmanville, and not by inhaling coal gas prior to the fire, Mrs. Doris Ross, widow of Thomas Ross, theatre proprietor, in Supreme Court here is seeking payment of $10,150 under a double indemnity clause in a policy her husband had effected with the Excelsior Life Insurance Company.

Mr. Justice Urquhart is hearing the case. The insurance company contends that Mr. Ross died from coal gas and was dead when burned, thereby relieving the company of payment under the double indemnity clause, which did not include inhalation of gas.

Mr. Ross was found dead, his body badly charred, in the ruins of his home in Bowmanville on March 1 last year.

Dr. Robbins, Toronto University medical lecturer, stated as a defence witness that he was of the opinion that death had been due to carbon monovide poisoning, and supported his theory by the fact that the body was badly burned though apparently no effort had been made by deceased to get up and escape the flames.

Brothers-in-Law Charge Assault

After hearing the story of an altercation between two brothers-in-law Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning registered a conviction against George McConnell who was charged with assaulting Delbert Wagar, George street.

However His Worship said that it was not a case for heavy punishment and added that he had not been impressed with the bearing of the complainant.

He fined McConnell $5 and costs.

Wagar said he was walking on Aylmer street when McConnell came along in his car, stopped the machine, got out and accosted the complainant. Wagar added that after a few words had been exchanged McConnell had struck him on the cheek. He said that he was not sure whether the blow was with the open hand or closed fist.

McConnell admitted hitting the complainant but declared that he had received a threatening letter from him previously and that it was after Wagar had raised his arm as if to strike the defendant that he had struck the blow. "It was not very hard" he said. "It did not knock him down." After Wagar had been hit, McConnell said, the complainant remarked that was what he had wanted McConnell to do.

Magistrate Langley said that there had been an assault but added that he had not been impressed with the conduct of the complainant in the case.

Mrs. George Rowe Is Hostess To Class

Mrs. George Rowe, Chamberlain street, was hostess to the King's Own Bible Class, St. James' Sunday School, on Monday night with a fine attendance of members and friends.

A note of inspiration was introduced in the devotional period, which opened the meeting, under the leadership of Mrs. W. K. Sloane, assisted by Mesdames Doig, Vannest and Rosborough.

The president, Mrs. G. Harris, took the chair for the business session, when it was decided that the class sponsor a Sunday service on May 25th with Rev. Mr. Craik as the speaker. Arrangements were also made to banquet the C.G.I.T. groups of the city on May 2nd in the Sunday School Hall.

Keen interest in the various departments of Class work was evidenced in reports presented. Since April is the class birthday month the class funds were considerably augmented.

A feature of the evening was a presentation to Mrs. A. Vannest, who is soon leaving Peterborough to make her home in St. Catharines. The presentation was made by Mrs. A. Clark and an address of appreciation read by Mrs. A. Rosborough, on behalf of the class, who regrets Mrs. Vannest's departure, as she has been a faithful member of the King's Own Class.

The interesting program, arranged by Mrs. H. F. Doig, included vocal solos by Mary Hanlon, and a clever contest in which Mrs. Craik and Mrs. Rowe were prize winners.

At the conclusion of the program a vote of thanks to the hostess and to those who assisted in any way was voiced by Mrs. E. R. Frost and Mrs. M. Morrison.

"Dorothys" Fund Is To Close Thursday, May 1

The Dorothys of Canada helped the boys of the R.A.F. take the measure of Hitler on April 16 when they turned over another £1,500 sterling, $6,708 in Canadian money, to the Wings for Britain Fund. This contribution brings to £2,000 the sum turned over so far by the Dorothy Fund, the first instalment of £500 having been sent to Lord Beaverbrook at Christmas time. It is stressed that the cheques present were only interim cheques and that the Canadian Dorothy Spitfire Fund will keep its books open until the original date of May 1, by which time they hope to have realized $22,500.

Contributions to the local Dorothy Fund may be made to Miss Dorothy Brisbin of the Peterborough Collegiate teaching staff until Thursday of this week, when the campaign closes.

Indicating the romance that is behind the raising of the money for this fund are the stories of strong individual effort by hundreds of Dorothys all over Canada. The Spitfire fund received two cheques for $100 each, the rest was rolled up by the nickels and dimes of children and adults, and the dollars raised through individual work. Illustrating the spirit of these Dorothys was one woman in the dust bowl of the West who sent in a precious and much needed 25 cents with the wish that it could be more.

One contribution of $75 from a girl represented the amount she would normally have spent on cigarettes. She hasn't smoked since Belgium was invaded and explained in her letter that "Britain needs planes more than I need cigarettes."

Contributions to the fund, started by Mrs. S. N. Barker of Hythe, Southampton, who came to live Canada last July, should be sent immediately to Miss Brisbin if they are to be in by the closing date.

TUBBABLE TAILLEUR

By PRUNELLA WOOD

TRIM, tailored town or travel suits in washable cotton fabrics are important news for summer.

Clothes appropriate for travel are stressed by one outstanding designer this season on the theory that American women will be doing much dashing back and forth by car, train and plane this summer, to visit husbands, brothers and sweethearts in Army camps.

Perfect for summer wear is the suit sketched, made of a washable, colorfast cotton twill in a Glen Urquhart plaid that looks like wool suiting. The fabric is heavy enough to tailor beautifully, porous enough for summer comfort. This plaid is in green, brown and white, and others are shown in gray and in black and white checks.

The jacket is hipbone length, with smoothly tailored shoulders, one-button closing and rounded corners. The skirt achieves fullness without sacrificing its slender line by means of a wide pleat in front.

FASHIONS

Treat yourself to a new spring frock. This smartly flattering style is perfect for the larger figure. The buttoned-front, paneled skirt slims the hips and makes it easy to slip into. Darts at the shoulders add the needed fullness at the bust. Make your dress of printed silk or cotton in the lovely new spring colors that do so much to brighten your wardrobe, and you'll agree that this is the nicest dress you've ever owned. You have a choice of long, three-quarter or short sleeves.

Style No. 2861 is designed for sizes 16, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50. Size 36 requires 3½ yards of 39-inch fabric for three-quarter sleeved dress, and 1 yard of ruffling.

WE . . . NOTICED

. . . .That the wide variety of blossoms offered in the seed catalogues makes it hard to choose annuals. Favorites, however, are: verbena, phlox, portulaca, petunia, poppy, snapdragon, larkspur, zinnia, cornflower, Sweet William, marigold and aster.

. . . .These species may be put in a great many places, in front of shrubbery, against a fence, along walks and wall, beside the house, among perenials and in little unthought of corners. Plant them thickly and thin them later rather than having them come up sparsely.

DO YOU KNOW . . .

A milk stain on artificial silk should be soaked in equal parts of glycerine and water. Rub with your finger tips until it loosens, then wash it out in tepid water.

Use slightly softened beeswax for filling that crack in the woodwork, whether it be your dining table or the front door, smooth the surface level with a knife, stain to match the woodwork, and there you are.

The bride, who was unattended, wore a smart two-piece jacket costume of honey beige silk crepe in street-length. Her hat was a tailored model in beige, and her accessories were in the new heart-beat shade. She wore a shoulder corsage of bouvardia, Briarcliffe roses, and a sprig of heather.

Following the ceremony Major and Mrs. Macnab left by motor for Peterborough for a short visit with the former's parents. Later they will motor through the Province of Quebec to Nova Scotia, where they will take up residence in Truro.

Dear Miss Dix—I am in my early 30s. Have held an office position for a number of years and am financially independent. Now here is my problem. My only ambition is to become a mother some day, but I do not want to stay married. I would like to marry a man on the following terms: That he would give my child a name and that as soon as the child was born that he would agree to a divorce and make no claim on the child whatsoever. I would pay for the divorce. I have met a man who is the type of man that I would like to have as the father of my child and have spoken to him about my plan. He says that marriage is something that is not to be taken in such a casual manner; that marriage is a serious and sacred matter and an until-death-do-us-part affair. The reason I am not willing to marry is because I do not think any man can stay true to his wife. I have various personal reasons to feel that way about it. We are both leaving this question to be answered by you. What do you think?

PERPLEXED MIND.

ANSWER—I think it is a crazy idea and that if you attempt to put the plan in operation you will find yourself involved in an emotional and financial mess that will be hard to get out of. Consider a few of the complications: In the first place, how are you going to settle matters with your soul? Do you thing that this liason into which you are going to enter coldbloodedly with a man for whom you have no affection will be ethically correct just because it is legalized? Will it save your self respect to have a wedding ring that you propose to throw away in a year? Don't you think that you profane a holy institution by making a marriage that you intend to break in a short while?

Things to Think About

Next, have you realized how you will be flayed alive by the tongues of the gossips by doing such an unusual thing as you are contemplating doing? You will be ridiculed, lambasted and written up in the newspapers until you will not have a shred of character left. Possibly it will cause you to lose your job, because employers do not care for their employees to do peculiar things.

And, finally, what sort of a man would marry you under such conditions? It would put him in an even more absurb position than you would be, and no man with any sense of humor or self-respect would do it. And suppose he should by chance not be willing to give up the good home you propose to provide for him, or to part with his child, what then?

These are all matters that you should carefully consider and, believe me, you will be wise if you satisfy your maternal yearning by adopting a child, instead of trying to have one on the installment plan, so to speak.

No-one is immune

Winter or summer—whether you're working or sitting still—you must perspire from 1 to 3 pints daily. Otherwise you would die of hyperpyrexia (heat-stroke)! Often you cannot see or feel this perspiration because the water evaporates. But sweat deposits left on the skin decompose and cause offensive "B.O." (Body Odor)! Only when you use Lifebuoy regularly can you be sure you never offend.

• You may be a delightful hostess with a real talent for parties—but if you're a "B.O." offender guests will stay away. For "B.O." is something everybody notices, but nobody excuses.

Everyone perspires. WINTER OR SUMMER, sweat glands are CONSTANTLY ACTIVE. And sweat deposits on the skin soon turn stale, become offensive. But no-one NEED risk "B.O." LIFEBUOY GIVES CERTAIN PROTECTION. LIFEBUOY IS THE ONE POPULAR SOAP ESPECIALLY MADE TO PREVENT "B.O." It has a special DEODORIZING ingredient no other soap contains. That is why LIFEBUOY protection lasts and lasts.

Bathe regularly with LIFEBUOY—use it for face and hands, too. You'll love the grand feeling of ALL-OVER freshness, you get from its rich, zippy lather! And it makes you SURE you won't offend.

Yesterday: But Anthony doesn't want to face Sheldrake. He tries to argue Bee out of the idea, finally admits that he knows the man, that it might cause trouble. Bee cannot understand. But Fletcher calls Sheldrake. The man bustles in, faces Anthony. "So it's you. Weeming has been spying on me." 'Weeming?" Bee asks. "What has he to do with Mr. Bradley?"

"THAT MAN" AGAIN."

CHAPTER XXIX.

Bruce Sheldrake paid no attention to Beatrice.

'So Mr. Curtis Weeming finds it necessary to plant stool pigeons in my store, does he?" he shouted. "He finds it necessary to provoke insubordination and make me trouble. He is not satisfied with heckling, with criticizing everything I have ever done. He is not content with stirring up hornets' nests at the bank. I've got to have them at the store, too.

"He's sabotaged every piece of real progress I've ever attempted. How many other spies has he spotted throughout this store? How many stool-pigeon reports have been going out to him every week?"

"I have not been a stool pigeon, Sheldrake," Anthony retorted. "I happened to need a job, and I applied at this store and got the job. Mr. Weeming had nothing whatever to do with it! In fact, he didn't want me to work here. But I was fool enough to think I could build a career—I was fool enough to think Huntington's was still the honest, worthwhile organization it used to be."

Beatrice had never seen this Anthony before. "If Mr. Weeming happens to be investigating any angle of your activity, Mr. Sheldrake, I am of the opinion that it's a d—n good thing. But he has not investigated through me!"

"If he's been investigating?" shouted Bruce Sheldrake. He was a goaded bull, seeing red. "You know d—n well he's been investigating! That dried-up old skunk has been gunning for me since the day I became general superintendent.

"I haven't made a single move in this store without bucking Weeming's paid old-timers at every turn. Mr. Huntington didn't do this! Who's running this store now, Mike Huntington or me?

"It's not my methods old man Weeming objects to. I've shown a profit at the end of every single year of my operation, and if he can find a better man for the job, I'd like to know where! I earn my bonus, and the hell with anyone who says I don't.

"Nobody, you hear me, nobody can find a d—n thing wrong with my methods. They're not the sloppy, sentimental, outdated methods that used to run the roost around here, that's all. Old man Weeming's a lawyer, he doesn't know a thing about department store managing, yet he sits there in his office and tries to dictate to me. If I ran this store the way he wants, we'd close up in no time!"

The angry torrent poured out so vehemently that Beatrice knew Mr. Sheldrake had said all this before. Often.

She stepped between the two men. 'Just a minute." Her tone held a dangerous sweetness. "That's all very interesting, Mr. Sheldrake, but I think we've had juite enough of it. I'd like to ask Mr. Bradley a question."

Mr. Sheldrake gaped. "Who are you?"

"I have been working in the Budget Fashions," she told him. "I have just resigned." She turned her back on him.

"Anthony Bradley, look at me. I want you to tell me exactly how it happened that you knew Beatrice Davenport had given her fiancee a string of polo ponies." Her voice was very even, almost gentle.

"I asked you once before, remember? You evaded the question. Please don't evade now. How did you know.

Anthony stared at her as if she had suddenly taken leave of her senses. "For God's sake, Bee, this is no time—"

"Answer me!"

Sheldrake was sputtering, Fletcher was sinking weakly into his chair. Anthony kept right on staring at the small girl with the blazing eyes. "I heard her say she'd bought him polo ponies!" he exploded. "That's how I knew. I happened to be in my guardian's office while she came in, and I got out of the way. But I couldn't help hearing it. Look here, Bee, none of that matters. I didn't want you to—"

"You didn't want me to know you and Beatrice Davenport shared the same guardian, that's what you didn't want me to know!"

"I didn't want anyone in the store to know!"

"So you were spying on me, you worthless—" Mr. Sheldrake was in it now.

Beatrice turned on him. "Be quiet!"

She went back to Anthony. "You didn't want anyone in the store to know. I see." She tried to keep down the sickening rage which filled her.

"I see everything very plainly now. You were that unspeakable man in the back office. It was you—you smug, self-satisfied, stupid brute—it was you who dared—who dared to s-say I—I ought to be qu-quietly and c-competently c-chloroformed!" Her voice broke. She burst into a storm of weeping. "You d-despicable, d-d-detestable, a-a-abominable, ob-obnoxious c-cad!"

He tried to touch her quivering shoulder. Bewilderment was written large all over his face. Beatrice jumped away from him as if he had burned her.

"Bee!" he implored desperately, a man at the end of his tether. "Bee, for heaven's sake, wait a minute. Let me get this straight. What in thunder are you talking about? I never said—I never in my life said you should be chl—"

His voice died. A horrible, gurgling death it was, too.

All at once, his hands were very strong and urgent on her shaking shoulders. "Look up here! How do you know what I said in Mr. Weeming's office? I remember now. I did say she ought to be chloroformed. But I said BEATRICE DAVENPORT—"

"Yes," admitted Beatrice savagely. "You said Beatrice Davenport. Yes, that's what you said. Oh, I hate you. I hate you! Take your hands off me. I'd rather die than have you touch me. You heartless, complacent, righteous, nasty d-brute. You didn't even wait until I got out decently before you dared—you d-dared—"

She pounded frantically against his chest, a fierce and primitive whirlwind. Suddenly, viciously, she pushed him. The attack was so unexpected that Anthony staggered ignominiously back against the wall. His hands flew to his stomach. He doubled up with pain.

Mr. Bruce Sheldrake and Mrs. Morris Fletcher were held speechless and spellbound, in the grip of an unbelieving fascination.

"Am I crazy?" muttered Mr. Fletcher. "Am I crazy, or are they?"

Betatrice Huntington Davenport, running wildly out of the office, had forgotten the existence of either of them. All she knew was that for six long weeks she had been cherishing a love for the man who turned out to be that snake in the grass, that unfeeling, revolting creature in Mr. Weeming's office.

Charging down the corridor, her eyes blinded by tears, she collided head-on with a fat man carrying a mink coat. There was a sudden grunt, a howl, a swift whirling sensation. Beatrice and the fat man hit the floor together.

(To be concluded.)

Wrecked When Earth Tremor Struck Mexico City

This picture showing the wreck of a church gives some indication of the terrific force of the earthquake which shook the Mexican city of Colima, claiming a toll of over 84 lives and virtually levelling the town. Though of heavy masonry and steel construction, the edifice was shaken to a twisted heap of ruins by the shock. The same town was hit by an earth tremor some years ago with similar devastation and many of the buildings now ruined, including this church, were constructed after the previous 'quake.

But I think I see a happy solution to your difficulty in the evidence that you and the man are already falling in love with each other, and that you will settle the matter by marrying for keeps.

Be Sure of Your Feelings

Dear Dorothy Dix—I was engaged to be married to a very fine man who is highly educated, has a most excellent character and who holds a responsible position with a very good salary. He is considerate of other people in every way. Has an unusualy kind disposition and good manners. Unfortunately, an automobile accident has left him with a bad limp and it is necessary for him to use one crutch, but in spite of this he walks upright and very dignified. Now what I want to ask you is this: Do you think it advisable for me to marry a man who has a disability? Would his affliction in any way make for less happiness if we married? Do you think in time I would be ashamed of his limp? We are both 30.

GRACE.

ANSWER—I think it will be a great injustice to the man for you to marry him, for you seem to have so little tenderness and sympathy for him that I am sure that in time you would see only his affliction and not his soul, and that his limp would get on your nerves.

I know a case like that in which a woman insisted on marrying a man whom she knew to be losing his sight. She talked nobly about how she would be his eyes and how his misfortune would make him dearer to her, and how she would consecrate her life to his service, but her fine sentiments petered out when they were put to the test. She couldn't stand being hampered by his limitations. She was ashamed of his not being as other men are. And now she deserves to be shot for the way she treats him.

Fortunately, there are few such women. One of the virtues that redeems a million weaknesses in women is pity. It is a rare thing when a woman turns her back upon her husband when he is in trouble and needs her.

All of us know wives who have spent weary years nursing invalid husbands, without a murmur of complaint coming from their lips. We have seen them throw the mantle of their love around maimed and crippled husbands until they hid their defects even from their own eyes.

And we have watched them at the doors of prisons waiting to take back the husbands who had beaten them and mistreated them and disgraced them.

But it takes a woman with a great heart to do this, and one who even asks the question of whether her husband's affliction will make her care less for him, and if she will be ashamed of him because he limps, should not essay a task that is too great for her.

Opposite Religions

Dear Miss Dix — I am in love with a young man who is all that any girl could desire for a husband, but I was brought up in one religion and he in another, and we know that neither one of us could change. What shall we do?

UNCERTAIN.

ANSWER—If you are both very strict in your religions, you will be courting trouble if you marry. You would be in a perpetual argument over your respective faiths and fight over which church in which you would bring up the children. There are plenty of things for every married couple to fight over without dragging in the church. No wars have ever been so bitter and so cruel as holy wars. Keep out of one.

Of course, this stricture does not apply to people who are broad enough to recognize other peoples' right to worship God according to the dictates of their own consciences, or who are not creed bound. There are many such mixed marriages that are very happy. But for those who are strict in different faiths it is a dangerous experiment to try.

Chores After The Day's Work

Land army boots take a lot of cleaning after a day in mud-covered fields. These two girls are getting on with a job at a Y.W.C.A. hostel, somewhere in England.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, April 30

THE ASTRAL intervention on the affairs of this day man manifest in surprising opportunities for increasing profits or cashing in on bold strokes in a new direction by the decisive application of initiative, force and daring to be original in idea and method, backed up by hard work and sound purpose. There may be opposition or treachery to cope with, but with wariness, sagacity and a normal ability to yield in a tight place there should be much gained. In personal affairs there may be similar tactics successfully applied.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves in a year of large opportunities for growth and expansion in a big way and this arising in unexpected manner or through the development of new, bold and constructive methods of doing old as well as new things in an improved way. This may require initiative and audacity and is likely to provoke opposition or hostility of an open as well as subtle way. But vigilance, well organized plans, sound sense and proper ability to manipulate trickery as well as antagonism, may avert a menace also besetting private associations.

A child born on this day should have great constructive ability, being perhaps bold and original to the point of genius. This may attract antagonism and duplicity, with reactions on its inner life and emotions.

Tub Pool You Can Quickly Make

May Day soon here—and thoughts turn to gardens. Why not start now the enchanting little lily pool you've dreamed of—enjoy blossoming water-lilies throughout the summer?

You need only a small space—and you can make a pool easily in a tub, a half barrel or a metal container sunk in the ground. Just fill to within six inches of the top with good garden loam, add a half-inch of sand and fill with water as the diagram shows.

For a small pool the pigmy water-lily is ideal, one plant yielding as many as 100 blooms a summer. The lovely waxy blossoms come in yellow, white or red.

To make your pool part of the landscape, edge it with natural-looking rocks and plant between the stones woodland beauties such as creeping buttercup, forget-me-not, columbine.

Or, if space permits, have a larger pool that will accommodate the gorgeous tropical water-lily and add a real rock garden gay with little flowering plants.

Complete directions for making lily pools—large or small, cement and container types—are given in our 32-page booklet. Tells how to grow water-lilies; has directions for making fascinating rock gardens; explains planting for sunny and shady spots.

Send 15c in coins or stamps for your copy of HOW TO MAKE ROCK GARDENS AND LILY POOLS to the Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

LOOK FOR A SURE THING

AS YOU study a hand after the opening lead, you may see a likely way to make your contract, a method in which the probabilities favor your success. Finding such a course is not necessarily the signal to begin play according to that plan. Take at least one more look to see if there is some absolutely certain way to your goal, or one which is almost so. If there is, then forget about the one which involved a bit of risk, and go for the sounder method.

Most of the North-South pairs which played this deal in New York's Inter-Club Contract league got into the spade grand slam contract, including those which did not use the Blackwood convention in the way that Clarence L. Mortimer and Henry C. Meyer III did as recorded above. None of them made the slam, however, except Mr. Mortimer.

All other declarers, after the club K was led to the dummy's A, took two rounds of [illegible] and then tried to set up [illegible] by ruffing up the suit, in order to discard the second losing heart. This would have worked if the missing six hearts had been divided with three to each defender, or four in one hand and the doubleton king in the other. When that proved not to be the case, they were set.

Mr. Mortimer, however, guarded himself against the terrible break of the suit which did develop, with five in one hand. To do that, he needed every re-entry the dummy possessed. So he went to work on the diamonds immediately after winning the first trick, on which he parked the heart 2. He laid down the diamond A, ruffed the 3 with the spade 8, led the spade 3 to the K, ruffed the diamond 5 with the spade 9, led the spade 4 to the 7, ruffed the diamond 9 with the spade 10, led to the heart A, ruffed the diamond 10 with the spade J, led to the heart K and then scored the now set-up diamond Q, discarding the heart 10 on it. The spade A and Q accounted for the last two tricks.

Warsaw Cheese Factory BeingRenovated

WARSAW, April 29 — (ENS). — Warsaw cheese and butter factory is being completely renovated. The floor is cement with drains and the walls and ceiling of 2-inch B.C. fir. The tanks in perfect condition and in place, with pipes and other metal fixtures are painted with aluminum.

Electric fixtures are installed, Hydro power running machinery and lights. There is an electric refrigerator. The driveway is being rebuilt. The factory has always maintained a high standard for its cheese and is expected to be operating by the middle of May, perhaps a little before.

Mr. Calder, who has been cheesemaker for the last four years, will officiated again.

Warsaw factory was built by Mr. Alexander Smith about 1880 or 1881. The first cheese-maker was Mr. James Elvich; then Mr. George Brooks, followed by Messrs. Matthews and Peters. Then the Warsaw Butter and Cheese Company was formed and cheese-makers were Mr. Stuart Payne, Mr. Charles Calder for eight years; Mr. Charles Foster, followed by Mr. John Brethour. Then Mr. Charles Calder returned.

The United Church W.A. met in the Sunday School room on Thursday afternoon, with a fair attendance; Mrs. Stewart Clysdale in the chair.

A tea-meeting was spoken of, but left over. Mrs. Weller and Mrs. Arthur Payne sang "Carry Me Back to Calvary's Cross." Mrs. Gordon Sharpe read the report. Mrs. Fred Sharpe read a psalm and Mrs. T. Clements led in prayer. The extra collection of 1941 coppers was taken. Lunch was served by Mrs. George Weller, Mrs. Arthur Payne and Mrs. Harry Digweed.

TO THE EAST IS SUEZ—AND OIL

A.P. Feature Service

Two German armies, one north of the Mediterranean, one south of it, face east today toward two major goals of empire —the Suez Canal and the Near East oil fields.

Of these goals, both defended by the British, the oil fields are more immediately important to the Nazis. Control of Near East oil would give the Germans replenishments for mechanized armies and planes.

The German columns on the Bulgarian-Turkish border are roughly 1,000 miles away from the Iraq-Iran oil fields. The way between is paved with politico-military question marks:

Turkey has an alliance with Britain, has said she will hold to it. If she does, Germany's task is much more difficult than if permission for troop transit were granted. Turkey's peasant soldiery is tough, the terrain tougher.

Russia. Stalin blows hot and cold in the same week, as when he lauded Yugoslavia and signed the Russo-Japanese pact, long desired by Germany. If Russia approves Germany's drive to the east, she could influence Turkey to "play ball" with the Nazis. If Russia grows recalcitrant at the approach of German armies to the Dardanelles, her window of the western world, and to her Caucasus oil fields, she may add to Germany's problem.

French Syria. Germany now has a Mediterranean port in Salonika. If French Syrian forces acquiesced, Salonika-through-Syria offers an alternative route to Iraq oil.

Iraq. Pro-British Regent Abdul Illah recently was ousted by a military junta headed by Rashid Ali al Gailani, who had previously showed pro-Axis bias. His coup d'etat was disquieting to the British. One end of the Kirkuk-Haifa pipeline for British Mediterranean fleet oil is in Iraq. A hostile Iraq would complicate defence of the oil fields, even though Britain has air garrisons near Baghdad.

The German columns that forced British withdrawal from Libya are within 250 miles of Alexandria and Suez. Between lies desert and the only road is on the coast within shelling range of British warships.

Alexandria is the only naval base in the eastern Mediterranean capable of repairing big ships. On its possession hinges British naval supremacy in those seas. That haven lost, the British fleet must needs fall back on Gibraltar or beyond.

Alexandria and the Suez Canal are important to Hitler from the standpoint of long-range world domination. The Suez controls the European-Asian trade route, certainly one of the major commerce avenues of the world.

These are considerations making up the balance and counter-balance of power in the Eastern Mediterranean, as the northern and southern Nazi columns aim at envelopment of the inland ocean in a sea-separated pincers movement.

On the outcome of the Eastern Mediterranean struggle depends domination of one of the world's four greatest oil reservoirs (the U.S., Russia and Venezuela are the others) and the No. 1 peacetime trade route between Europe and Asia.

De Gaulle Units Mass Along Fr. Somaliland

VICHY, France, April 29—(AP).—The Petain Government today claimed receipt of information that Free French forces, supported by British mechanized units, are massed just inside the southern border of French Somaliland, East Africa.

(Allied comment on this Vichy assertion was not immediately available.)

The Vichy announcement asserted necessary instructions had been given the governor of the French possession to prevent its going over to the followers of Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

The de Gaullist troops were said to be concentrated at Daouanleh, just within French Somaliland and a station on the railway which runs from Addis-Ababa, capital of Ethiopia, to Jibuti, French Somaliland port on the Gulf of Aden.

Still other followers of Gen. de Gaulle were said to have disembarked at Zeila in adjoining British Somaliland.

The Vichy Government claimed the de Gaullists tried to make contact with French advance posts in order to persuade them to swing over to the Allied side.

A de Gaullist airplane it further claimed, dropped pamphlets on all French posts, urging the soldiers to go over with their arms and transport. It said the pamphlets were signed by Gen. le Gentil Omme, formed Allied commander in French and British Somaliland, whose headquarters now are at Aden, British protectorate across the Gulf of Aden.

Navy Plant Burns

INDIANHEAD, Md., April 29. — (AP).—Fire destroyed a building early today at the United States Navy's big Indianhead powder plant. Captain M. L. Hersey, in command of the plant, said only three men were working in the building and that none was injured. Cause of the blaze was undetermined, he said, "but there is absolutely no question of sabotage."

At Washington the Navy Department said the fire was confined to to the ether house and estimated the loss at about $150,000. It was emphasized there was no explosion though there were reports at Indianhead that ether tanks blew up.

Canadians Farmers Forgotten By War Leaders, Smaller Acreage Is Now Under Cultivation

TORONTO, April 29 — An unofficial inventory of Canada's farm resources, authored by a small group of independent experts, last night reported agriculture almost in bankruptcy, its problems overlooked by the nation's war leaders and its probable productive capacity in 1941 the lowest in several years.

The stock-takers were Agnes Macphail, Globe and Mail columnist and noted agricultural authority; Rev. W. A. Amos, one of the organizers of the U.F.O., and J. W. Buckley, secretary of Toronto Trades and Labor Council. They took part in a "town forum" discussion at the Forestens Hall, College Street.

Miss Macphail, the first speaker, said she had never seen Canadian farmers "as uniformly angry as they are now and with as little respect for constitutional authority." Federal authorities, she said, had done much to make things difficult for the farmer. They had fixed selling prices on his products at low levels in the face of rising living costs, she said, and had forced "the cream of labor" out of agriculture by making it impossible for the farmer to pay high enough wages.

Farmer "Not Going On"

"The Federal authorities won't know it until the fall," she said, "but the farmer is not going to go on. There's going to be less acreage sown this year than for many years. The farmer says, and I think quite rightly so, that the cards are fixed against him."

The average earnings of the Canadian farmer throughout the last ten years were placed by Miss Macphail at about $473 a year. In 1937, "the best year since the depression until this one," she said, only 9 per cent of the national income went to farmers who represented one third of the population. She said she had recently learned that the Canadian farmer's average income over a ten-year period had exceeded by only $43 a year that of the sharecropper in Southern United States. She observed: "And sharecroppers are a running sore on the body politic."

"If you want to increase the production of cheese, bacon or any other commodity," she asserted, "there's only one way to do it—pay for it. We farmers want to give Britain all she needs, but we can't, and I tell you tonight we will not produce below the cost of production. The thing I'd like to see the farmer do in wartime is to go on strike, and I think something like that will have to come."

Should Be Subsidized.

If the Government's policy in wartime was to produce cheap foods at below cost, she said, farmers would have to be subsidized. Miss Macphail urged city people not to press the Government to reduce fixed prices on any commodity until they were certain that the farmer was getting enough to meet production costs.

Mr. Buckley, speaking for trade unionists, said the interests of farmers and industrial workers were identical. He advocated "closer collaboration" between the two groups; "wider consolidation in the co-operative movement between producer and consumer, and the elimination of the middle man."

It was in the farmer's interests, said Mr. Buckley, that those who bought his products should receive higher wages. He could only produce so long as there existed a market for his goods. And if the price paid the farmer represented only 30 per cent of the retail cost, how could city workers afford to buy those products? he asked.

"I know of the grief of farmers to-day," declared Mr. Amos, the last speaker, "and Miss Macphail hasn't told you the half of it. Agriculture now is practically bankrupt. The morale of farmers is slipping, and there are hundreds of acres that will not be in cultivation this year that otherwise would be."

Students No Solution.

Allowing High School students to leave their classrooms early, said Mr. Amos, would not solve the problem. Most of the men and women left on farms to-day, he said, were over 50 and unfit physically to carry on with such amateur support.

"Some of the best farmers in our county—the County of Perth—men who ordinarily were putting away nest eggs each year, are now digging into that reserve," he said. "This year they're going to seed down the new crop and put it all into hay so they won't be confronted with this terrible labor situation. I'm going to do it myself, and I hope I won't be interned for it.

"We have got to get out and build some better system of democracy," Mr. Amos said. "If this war ends without any such change there will just be another repetition before we know what it's all about."

Relieved Pains In Limbs And Back For This Grateful Man

Has High Praise For Syntona After Year of Suffering. Could Hardly Stand Erect, Joints Were So Stiff and Sore. Now Walks Four Miles to Town. Often Due to Faulty Action of Stomach, Liver, Kidneys or Bowels.

MR. HENRY W. THOMAS

"I am certainly pleased with the results I got by taking a treatment of Syntona," said Mr. Henry W. Thomas, West 17th Street, Barton Township, in a recent interview:

"About three years ago I began to suffer with acid stomach, indigestion, belching, heartburn, and constipation. I would get blinding headaches and dizzy, bilious spells. Later, the pains set into my back and they spread all through my legs and feet. No matter what I tried I just seemed to be getting steadily worse until my joints were so sore and stiff that I could hardly stand erect.

"I had read and heard about how Syntona had helped others who suffered similarly, so I began taking it, too. After taking the first bottle I felt decidedly better, so I got some more, and it has given me grand relief. I am able to walk the four miles downtown now without any trouble. I am free of those headaches and dizzy spells and my stomach doesn't trouble me like it used to."

The reason such good results are produced by a medicine that is compounded to act on the stomach, liver, kidneys, and bowels at the same time is simply this: The organs of assimilation and elimination are so closely related in their functions that when one becomes ailing, it so often affects one or more of the others. Food that should supply energy and resistance, only ferments in the stomach. Soured particles and poisonous waste matter are absorbed into the bloodstream and soon the whole system is rundown.

Huns Move Troops to Finland

MOSCOW, APRIL 30 — (AP). — Pravda, Communist Party organ, reported to-day that four German transports had landed about 12,000 German troops equipped with tanks and artillery at the port of Turku (Abo), in south-west Finland, on April 26.

The troops proceeded north-east to Tampere on April 28, Pravda declared in a despatch from Tallinn, Estonia.

"According to reliable reports on April 26 there arrived at the Finnish port of Abo four German transport ships from which about 12,000 German troops landed with arms, tanks, artillery, etc., on April 28 the troops began to move to Tampere."

Germans here asserted the Nazi troop arrival was merely part of the regular movement of troops through Finland to Norway which has been going on for some time under agreement with the Finnish Government.

It was the first time, however, that notice of such movements had appeared in the Soviet press.

Pravda, in a separate article "The Great Force of Stalin's Friendship of Peoples," referred to the Karelian Republic created after the Soviet-Finnish War last year.

"The toilers of the Karelian Finnish Republic are living in in friendship," it said. "Beyond the border in capitalistic countries now as never before are being developed national hatred, beastly chauvinism, and the ideology of looting war."

Nazi Chain on Russia?

The continued presence of German troops in Finland might forge a new link in the Nazi chain around parts of Russia, following Germany's occupation of Rumania and Bulgaria, and her advance through Yugoslavia and Greece to the islands off the Dardanelles.

German Ambassador Count Friederich von der Schulenburg is flying back to Moscow from Berlin. Diplomatic quarters awaited his return to learn whether there would be any new developments in Soviet-German relations.

V. G. Dekanozov, Soviet Ambassador to Germany, arrived in Moscow yesterday.

Comsomol Pravda, organ of the Young Communists' League, said: "As a result of last week's battle the British have entirely lost their position in Greece, but their position in the Eastern Mediterranean remains firm."

3000 Casualties At Olympus, Thermopylae 12,000 Of 60,000 Sent In, Unlisted But Withdrawal Continuing Says Churchill

R.A.F. Convoy Patrols Beat Off Huns In Mediterranean

CAIRO, April 30—(AP).—Axis air attacks have been "repeatedly repulsed" by Royal Air Force planes flying "constant convoy patrols" over certain areas of the Mediterranean, the Royal Air Force Middle East communique said today.

There was no further indication whether the war bulletin referred to the R.A.F. screening ships carrying Empire forces from Greece.

A communique from Middle East Army headquarters said the withdrawal from Greece is "continuing Satisfactorily."

Sudanese forces, its war bulletin said, captured the Ethiopian town of Socota last Sunday, inflicting many casualties and taking 515 prisoners—of whom 400 colonial troops volunteered to join the British forces.

In North Africa, the situation at Tobruk, Libyan port where a British garrison is holding out against Axis forces which have driven eastward beyond it, it was said to be unchanged.

The only word on Salum, Egyptian outpost just across the frontier which Axis vanguards have reached, was that "patrol activities are continuing."

Claim Retreat Cut

BERLIN, April 30—(AP).—The German High Command asserted today that Nazi motorized forces in "sharp pursuit" of Allied forces in Greece have advanced to the southern ports of Peloponnesus, cutting the British retreat to sea."

"In this action up to date," the communique said, "5,000 Britons, including one general, as well as numerous Serbs, among who were four Generals and an addition 300 officers, were taken prisoner."

The Nazi Commentary Dienst aus Deutschland claimed today that a new Greek Government had been formed and asserted this is viewed in Berlin as "the actual end of the war in Greece."

Athens Satisfied.

LONDON, April 30—(CP).—The Greek Government advised Britain on April 21 to withdraw her expeditionary force from Greece because "further sacrifice" would be in vain, it was disclosed today.

The Foreign Office news department issued this translation of the Greek message to the British Government:

"The Greek Government, while expressing to the British Government and to the gallant Imperial troops their gratitude for the aid which they have extended to Greece in her defence against the unjust aggressor, are obliged to make the

Raiding The Nests

LONDON, April 30—(CP).—Havoc planes carried out successful attacks last night on three airdromes in Northern France from which German raiders fly against Britain, the Air Ministry news service said today.

One Nazi fighter was shot down when it attempted to engage a Havoc, United States-built craft.

The Ministry said a stick of high explosive and incendiary bombs dropped from a low level was seen to burst on an airdrome just as three German aircraft were about to land and two others were taxiing across the field.

Bombed Day After Day Facing Odds 5-1 Men Never Once Broke

LONDON, April 30.—(CP).—Forty-five thousand British and Empire soldiers have been evacuated from Greece, Prime Minister Churchill announced in the House of Commons to-day.

Mr. Churchill said 60,000 troops, including one New Zealand and one Australian division, comprised the expeditionary force sent to aid Greece.

These had sustained about 3,000 casualties in killed and wounded, he added.

This would leave 12,000 troops still unaccounted for.

The Prime Minister held out hope that stilu more troops would be removed from Greece. Replying to one question he said:

"I believe I said at least 45,000."

He said he believed the troops taken off the Hellas Peninsula had safely reached their bases without mishap.

"Considering our air force was through superiority of the enemy force compelled to leave the airfields from which it could alone effectively cover the retreat of the troops and that only a small portion could be used to cover points of embarkation, this must be considered remarkable, said the premier.

Heroes Every One

"The conduct of the troops and especially of the rearguard in fighting their way so many miles to the sea merits the highest praise.

"It is the first instance where air bombing, prolonged day after day, has failed to break the discipline and order of marching columns who, besides being thus assailed from the air, were pursued by no less than three German armored divisions as well as the whole strength of German mechanized forces which could be brought to bear.

US Warships, Plane Carriers Already In Vital Role Patrolling Into War Zones

Roosevelt Emphasizes "No Mileage Limits" —May Make Convoys Dead Issue; Berlin Says U.S. Must Take Consequences

WASHINGTON, April 30—(AP).—Warships of the United States Navy, patrol bombers, and in all probability carrier-based aircraft, informed sources reported today, are already playing a vital role in patrolling ocean stretches which figure in Britain's "battle of the Atlantic."

This assertion was made after President Roosevelt's flat statement that United States naval vessels were not prohibited from entering combat zones by an executive order and that they would operate anywhere deemed necessary for Western Hemisphere defence.

In Berlin a Nazi spokesman asserted today that "whether Mr. Roosevelt declares the war zone or not it does not change our declaration nor its consequences."

The pokesman referred to a "categorical declaration months ago that whoever goes into the war zone (with aid for Britain), regardless of what flag his ship is flying, will be torpedoed."

Mr. Roosevelt, in telling this to his press conference yesterday, said that it did not mean that navy units are going into the European combat zone or that they would go in.

In Zone Already.

Nevertheless, apparently informed sources said it would be no surprise to them if the navy's patrol aircraft has been covering at least portions of area included in Germany's recent extension of her counter-blockade zone westward. They mentioned specifically that part of the counter-blockade zone which stretches from Iceland almost to the coastal waters of Greenland, where the United States has acquired defence base privileges. This has been a danger area for British shipping.

The potential effectiveness of the whole farflung surface and air patrol is so great, in the opinion of those sources, that it may make the convoy question a dead issue.

Mr. Roosevelt, in discussing the patrol yesterday, repeated time and again that there were no mileage limits for its activities. A little earlier Admiral Harold Stark, chief of naval operations, had disclosed that at some points ships of the fleet were cruising as far as 2,000 miles offshore, but Mr. Roosevelt declined

They Still Fight

NEW YORK, April 30 — (CP).—The B.B.C. said last night that the Oslo-Berge railway in German-occupied Norway "has been out of action since Saturday when a train was derailed" and that sabotage is suspected.

In a broadcast heard here by C.B.S., the B.B.C. said that there was clear evidence of continued resistance to Nazi rule in Norway.

Fires broke out in a big theatre in Oslo and in a cellulose factory in Drammen Tuesday, the B.B.C. said.

The Minister for Ecclesiastical Affairs was quoted as saying "members of Quisling's (fifth column) party are being frozen out of religious associations and church services and are being denied holy communion."

7 Raiders Down Battering Plymouth Anew

PLYMOUTH, England, April 30—(CP)—German raiders blasted at still-standing sections of this heavily bombed city during the night in an attack which watchers said equalled in severity previous poundings of the port.

The four-hour assault was the fifth on the city in eight nights.

Poor visibility hampered the Nazi bomb aimers in finding particular targets and, as a result, many bombs fell in areas already wrecked in earlier raids. Among buildings badly damaged was a home for the aged.

The government expressed fear that "a large number of persons" may have been killed.

Seven of the raiders were shot down, however, in the overnight attacks on Britain—at least five of them over Plymouth.

Authoritative reports listed three of the raiders as bagged by Royal Air Force night fighters and three by the anti-aircraft barrage.

A British communique said flights of Nazi bombers also dropped explosives at scattered points in southwest and southern England, East Anglia and South Wales. In South Wales, there were a number of casualties, and some persons were killed.

Drastic Changes Proposed On Quebec Liquor

QUEBEC, April 30 —(CP)—A bill that would make far-reaching changes in the present Quebec liquor law received first reading without debate in the legislative assembly last night.

The bill proposes a division of the province into two regions and, generally speaking, the restrictions against sale of liquor would be less severe in region A than in region B.

The counties coming within region A are listed in the bill, and include the island of Montreal and the region westward to the Ontario border, the Laurentian district to the north, part of the eastern townships, and extend northeast along the St. Lawrence as far as Three Rivers.

Region B is described as "the territory of the province not included in region A."

The bill allows liquor to continue to be sold in cafes, with a meal costing at least 40 cents, and beer and wine may still be sold in restaurants with such a meal, but its definition of cafes and restaurants includes the phrase "situated in cities or towns of over 20,000 souls."

It provides that "hotels, steamboats, dining cars and clubs" may serve liquor under a license from the Quebec Liquor Commission, but specifies that such a license will not be granted to hotels situated outside cities and towns or hotels in region B unless "it is established that such a hotel is needed for tourist-travel."

N) Liquor On Sunday.

The status of taverns where beer is now sold without a meal would remain unchanged. The bill would, however, ban the sale of liquor on Sundays and holidays, and would prevent the cashing of pay-cheques in taverns, hotels, inns, cafes and restaurants.

The measure would raise from 18 to 20 years the minimum age of persons to whom liquor may be sold, and would prohibit sales "to persons who are obviously under the influence of alcoholic liquor."

Advertising would be restricted by two clauses in the bill. One provides that it be forbidden "to represent that an alcoholic liquor is beneficial to health, or that it possesses nutritive or curative value," and the other prohibits advertising "of any alcoholic liquor by means of signs or posters, unless they are placed within a building so as not to be visible from outside."

Red Transit Ban On War Goods Blow To Berlin?

MOSCOW, April 30 (AP)—Transit of war materials through Soviet Russia has been forbidden by the government, the magazine Foreign Trade, organ of the foreign trade commissariat, announced today.

A notice published in the magazine said transit of such materials had been forbidden since March 18.

An order signed by Foreign Trade Commissar Anastas I. Mikoyan on that date made licenses necessary for shipment of goods across Soviet territory and ruled that permission would not be given for the transit of armaments, munitions, planes, explosives, poison and other materials, including machinery for making planes and munitions.

Slap On Berlin's Face

LONDON, April 30 (CP)—British circles expressed hope today a Russian ban on transit of war materials across the U.S.S.R. would result in the closing of one of German's vital supply routes.

Some quarters interpreted the Russian action—reported in a Reuters-news agency dispatch from Moscow last night—as an expression of Moscow's disapproval of German expansion in southeastern Europe.

Less optimistic observers, how-

Pilot Dies In Crash

Cookstown, Ont., April 30 (CP)

A Royal Canadian Air Force training plane from Camp Borden plunged into a farm field 1½ miles northeast of this Innisfil township village today, killing the pilot whose identity could not be learned immediately.

The plane struck the ground with terrific force, opening a crater five feet deep and 20 feet wide. It fell on the farm of Eldred Ley who tried in vain with Sandy Sutherland, a neighbor, to raise the plane and release the pilot's body.

TORONTO, April 30 — (CP). — Canadians generally today appraised the third war budget brought down in the House of Commons and began calculating the effect of heavily increased taxes.

Premiers of Canada's provinces had little first-reaction comment to make on Finance Minister Ilsley's proposal that the provinces leave the field of corporation and personal income taxes to the Dominion, with stipulated compensation, but cabinet meetings were planned.

Meanwhile, the man in the street —his own budget to consider— could reflect that more of his

Ships For Britain

Washington, April 30 (AP)

BRITAIN and the 21 American republics were reported near a compromise agreement today that would make possible the mutually advantageous use of some 160 foreign flag vessels, now idle refugees in western hemisphere ports.

In brief, it would enable Britain to acquire any "surplus" shipping that remained after Pan-American needs were met.

Forecasts that acceptance of such a working formula was imminent followed two conferences between Viscount Halifax, British Ambassador, and State Undersecretary Sumner Welles.

Last Minute News

TORONTO—(CP).—All fire reels in the west end of the city were called out this afternoon to fight a fire which had razed five houses and a factory at Osler and Pelham streets shortly after it started.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, by a vote of 13-10 refused today to report out a resolution which would have prohibited the use of convoys without sanction of the United States Congress.

A member of the committee who left his colleagues shortly after the vote was taken disclosed the action.

WASHINGTON — (AP). — Navy Secretary Frank Knox said to-day the United States navy expected to build substantial numbers of high speed "mosquito boats" for Britain, but stressed that there are no larger warships available for transfer.

LONDON — (CP). — Greece, except only the Island of Crete, was officially declared "enemy-occupied territory" to-day by the Board of Trade and Ministry of Economic Warfare. Envoy Left Stranded On Dock

Italian Troop Arrival At Albanian Port Foils Sub Rescue

DURAZZO, Albania, April 28 — (Delayed) — (AP). — Ronald Ian Campbell, British Minister to Yugoslavia, is stranded in this Albanian port with his staff after failing in a daring plan to escape the invading Axis armies by submarine.

The British officials with their families and a sprinklink of Greek, Belgian and Polish diplomats from Belgrade—about 40 persons in all—were found in a Durrazo hotel by foreign correspondents who arrived here from Rome on their way to the former Italian-Greek war front.

The party had been at the hotel for three days, not exactly refugees or prisoners, but a bit of both.

They were brought here by bus from the Yugoslav port of Dubrovnik, where they were found waiting on the dock for a British submarine when Mussolini's soldiers marched into the city.

While they were on the dock, the submarine spent to spirit them away poked its conning tower above the surface of the harbor, but the crew spotted the Italian soldiers on the dock, and the craft immediately submerged. That was the last seen of it.

That is the story told by the Italians.

The British themselves refused to talk to three American correspondents who, with a dozen Germans and five other Europeans, met them in the lobby of the Hotel Dei Dogi.

It was only by accident that the correspondents met the diplomats.

The Americans, particularly, were surprised to hear English spoken by clusters of men and women playing bridge in the hotel lobby.

Some of the women seemed rather disconsolate, but the men appeared cheerful enough. However, from the clerks up the scale to the minister, to whom the correspondents sent their cards with requests for an interview, all refused to talk.

The correspondents, on their conducted tour, crossed to Durazzo in a ship that threaded British minefields in the Adriatic in a hazardous night cross from a southern Italian port.

3 Doctors, 40 Nurses Also Killed In London Raids

LONDON, April 30(—(CP)—Health Minister Ernest Brown announced today 235 hospital patients had been killed and 195 injured in air raids in the greater London district up to April 17.

The figures, which covered 400 hospitals of all kinds in London, were issued, Mr. Brown said, to dispel public fears concerning risks incurred by hospital patients during air attacks. He said they run no more risk than other buildings.

Of more than 100 casualty receiving wards included in London's emergency scheme, only three have been put out of action completely, he declared.

The Minister recalled that total

Ottawa Ends Hamilton Strike

Puts Controller In Steel Plant—Sydney Holds Defiant

HAMILTON, April 30.—(CP)—Employees of the National Steel Car Corporation plant here went back to work today to end a strike which started Sunday night when members of the Hamilton local of the Steel Workers Organizing Committee protested what they said was failure of the corporation to implement recommendations of a conciliation board.

The strike ended early today with receipt of a message from the Department of Labor that E. J. Brunning had been appointed as controller of the plant to ensure its maximum effort in war production. The workers who crowded the roadway in front of the plant's main gate were told over a loudspeaker system by C. H. Millard, executive director of the S.W.O.C., that their demands would be recognized.

The men were told that George Tanner, president of the Hamilton local of S.W.O.C., would be reinstated immediately, as the Board had recommended, and that a vote would be taken in the plant to determine whether a majority of the 2,700 employees supported the S.W.O.C.

Tanner was among the workers who poured through the gates of the plant in the seven o'clock shift this morning and company officials said "full speed ahead" was the watchword as the big plant began to catch up.

Announcement of Mr. Brunning's appointment "to direct the operations of the plant in the interests of maximum war production" was made at Ottawa last night by Munitions Minister Howe.

Tanner's re-instatement was among the recommendations of an interim report of a Board of Conciliation which inquired into differences between the company and he union. Mr. Brunning's appointment resulted, Mr. Howe said, "from the policy of the owners in refusing to carry out" the Board's interim findings.

Red Jokes Lean Pro-British

Latest Sees Churchill Victor—Laugh At Duce

MOSCOW, April 30 — (AP). — The Russians, despite their worries about the war around them and the cares of their life at home, still find time to tell jokes.

The stories they tell give an insight into what they are thinking, which you won't find recorded in the political columns of Pravda or the military commentaries of the Red Star, but which is an important part of the Soviet viewpoint.

The policy of their government has been one of neutrality, and of economic aid to Germany, while pressing forward with a campaign of internal reconstruction. The leanings of the people are not all in that direction.

Income, Defence Levies Soar Gas Up 3 Cents, Movies, Travel, Wine And Sugar Hit

Exemption On Building Materials Dropped
New Federal Death Duty Added
As Ilsley Strikes Out To Pay For War

OTTAWA, April 30—(CP).—The highest Federal taxes in Canadian history were in effect today.

The 1941 budget speech, delivered in the House of Commons by Finance Minister Ilsley yesterday, announced new and increased imposts designed to draw money from private citizens in all activities of life into the treasury to finance the war for freedom.

If a Canadian earns more than $660 a year, if single, or $1,200 if married, he will pay more in his National Defence tax.

If he earns more than $750 a year if single or $1,500 if married with an allowance of $400 for each child he will pay more in income tax

If he goes to the movies he will pay 20 per cent. on the value of his tickets.

If he drinks wine, beer or soft drinks he will pay additional imposts.

If he travels he will pay a tax on his railway, bus or airline fare; or an extra three cents a gallon on gasoline if he drives his own car, plus an additional Excise tax if he has to buy a new car.

If he uses the long distance telephone the tax on his toll will be higher.

Tax On Building Material.

If he builds a house he will pay sales tax on his building materials, hitherto exempt from that tax.

If he dies and leaves an estate his heirs will pay Dominion as well as Provincial succession duty taxes.

(A one-cent a pound increase in the excise sugar tax also was announced but this will not affect the consumer since the price increase was ordered March 30 to forestall speculative pre-budget buying).

After hearing the budget address the House turned to consideration of the want of confidence motion on the government's agriculture policy which has been before the Commons since the Easter recess.

Victor Quelch (N.D. Acadia) suggested if the government could not pay prairie farmers more than 70 cents a bushel for wheat it should give them war savings certificates to bring the price up to a fair level.

But it was the budget rather than the regular debate which held main attention.

The Minister's statement warned that "unnecessary interruptions of munitions production "cannot be tolerated."

"Under present conditions the findings of a Board of Conciliation must be supported by drastic action if such action seems warranted."

The settlement of the strike here, involving about 2,500 workers, brought conflicting reports on what effect it would have on a 24-hour "sympathy" walkout planned by other thousands of steel workers at Sydney, N.S., and Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

At Montreal, Silby Barrett, regional director of the S.W.O.C., said he had been informed the employees of the Dominion Steel and Coal Company's huge plant at Sydney had decided to stage the walkout Friday in support of 300 strikers at the Peck Rolling Mills in Montreal.

Ivan J. Campbell, S.W.O.C. representative here, said the walkout there in support of the National Steel Car employees had been cancelled with the settlement of the strike.

"I think the government did a fine thing there," Barrett said in commenting on the Hamilton developments. The tie-up would never have come off if the management had accepted the recommendations of the Conciliation Board."

Surprise To Official.

Word of the Government's action in appointing a controller "of the business, undertaking, affairs and operations" of the plant — in the words of the order-in-council on Mr. Brunning's appointment—came as a surprise to R. S. Hart, vice-president of the company and general manager of the Hamilton plant.

"I did not know about that, but you can be sure of this: We are not going to relax our efforts as long as effort is required of us."

The order-in-council said neither the company's board of directors nor shareholders of the company would be entitled to "manage, operate or carry on or control or supervise the management, operation or carrying on of the business, undertaking, affairs and operations of the plant" while the controller is in charge.

It provides for a penalty of a fine of not more than $5,000 or imprisonment for five years or both to anyone convicted of interfering with the controller.

Japan Takes Notice.

Evidence of Axis interest in the wide patrol system was not slow in forthcoming. Several hours after Mr. Roosevelt spoke, Koh Ishii, director of the official board of information at Tokyo, spoke of the Atlantic patrols as "but one step from war."

Prime Minister Churchill Sunday hailed the extended patrols as "tremendous decisions," representing "naval support" for Britain, within the limitations of the patrol plan. Mr. Churchill spoke of American patrols and British convoy warships as if they were complementary units, one serving in a reconnaissance capacity along part of Britain's Atlantic lifeline, and the other as the combat force that could do duty in the intensified danger zone nearer British ports.

On another phase of maritime developments, Mr Roosevelt told reporters yesterday that an announcement might be forthcoming soon concerning transfer of coast-guard vessels to the navy. Such a step usually is taken only in time of war.

Red Transit Ban

ever, discounting talk of cooling German-Russian relations, said they interpreted the ban as "more window dressing than anything else."

Despite this disagreement on the true significance, most economic experts agreed the development was loaded with potential importance.

There have been repeated assertions here that large quantities of machine tools and other vital commodities purchased by Russia from the United States were finding their way into Germany, this circumventing the British blockade.

Also last Jan. 28 Hugh Dalton, minister of economic warfare told the House of Commons that Russia was buying cotton, copper, machinery and wheat from the United States to replace huge consignments being sent from the Soviet to Germany.

Mr. Dalton said at that time he hoped conversations then under way with the United States might result in a reduction of American traffic with Russia.

He declared Russian imports of United States cotton during the last quarter of 1940 were 32,000 tons above normal. The United States also sent 57,000 tons of brass and copper and 100,000 tons of wheat to Russia in 1940, compared with only negligible amounts in previous years, he said.

Amounts Very Small

There have been reports of Japanese goods entering Germany through Russia, but most observers believe the quantities were insignificant.

The Reuters dispatch from Moscow said munitions, aircraft parts and accessories, machine tools, explosives and certain chemicals were covered by the Soviet ban.

Special authorization, the news agency said, would be required for transit of other goods.

Trade relations between Moscow and the United States have been the object of attention in Washington for several months, and United States authorities recently were reported taking a more favorable view of Russian buying as a result of growing indications of Soviet opposition to German moves in the Balkans.

Russia also was said to have given repeated assurances that goods purchased in the United States were intended exclusively for domestic consumption.

The United States attitude has been complicated, however, by British pressure for cooperation with the British blockade by a "control at source" strategy.

At the end of March Russia was reported to have about $50,000,000 worth of orders pending for goods in the United States and $50,000,000 more projected. Most of these purchases, however, were dependent upon the granting of export licenses.

Their jokes often are sympathetic to Britain.

There is, for example, the one about Hitler, Musolini, and Prime Minister Churchill going to ask a fortune-teller who would win the war.

The soothsayer produced two fish-bowls, one full of water and fish, the other empty, and said:

"The one who captures the fish first will win the war."

Hitler immediately plunged into the full bowl, splashing water around and grabbing for the fish, but got nothing. Mussolini danced around the edge, afraid to get his hands wet, but hoping for Hitler to throw the fish his way.

Mr. Churchill produced a teaspoon, patiently dipped the water from the full bowl into the empty one, picked the fish out of the bottom and was proclaimed eventual winner of the war.

"But didn't it take a long time?" comes the tag-line.

"Sure," is the answer, "but Churchill's in no hurry."

The jokes often take the Italians as their butt.

There is the one about the "British communique":

"Ten thousand Italians and 2,000 mules have been made prisoners in East Africa. The mules offered fierce resistance."

Perhaps these stories are old stuff elsewhere, but it is significant that they are being told now in Russia.

Only three doctors were killed and eight injured as a result of bomb damage to London hospitals, while of 5,000 nurses, 40 have been killed and 124 injured, he added. Fifteen hospital porters or attendants were reported killed and 76 injured.

Mr. Brown said much the same situation in regard to hospital casualties existed elsewhere in England. In one area, where two ports have been repeatedly bombed, six hospitals have been hit, but only one is still out of commission, he said.

Mr. Brown said about half of air raid casualties required operations.

On the night of London's heaviest raid, he said, a system of switching patients prevented any hospital from being overwhelmed. All the patients were "satisfactorily dealt with" within 12 hours and by late afternoon of the next day 75 per cent had been removed to the country, he declared.

A Time Squabble

STEUENVILLE, O., April 30 — (AP). — Steubenville's 37,586 residents are in a squirrely-whirl over the time. Most merchants have adopted daylight saving time. The residential section is sticking to eastern standard figures. The factories have moved clocks ahead an hour, but schools, theatres and small business houses have refused to tinker with their timepieces.

Charge Cowgirl With Slaying Rodeo Official

HOUSTON, Texas, April 30 (CP) A dark-eyed cowgirl, pretty Lucyle Richards, appears before a Grand Jury here today in connection with the fatal shooting of Frank Y. Dew, 48-year-old ranchman and rodeo official.

Dew, Fort Bend County cattleman, and director of the Rodeo Association of America, was shot in his suburban apartment late Sunday night. Miss Richards yesterday was charged with murder and held in $10,000 bond pending appearance before the Grand Jury.

Dew had been married, but was divorced several years ago. Miss Richards, 31-year-old aviatrix and trick rider, whose feats have thrilled rodeo audiences throughout the United States, is the widow of T. J. Richards, wealthy West Texas cattleman killed two years ago in an airplane crash.

(In Toronto Tuesday, Don Taft, a Texan training as an instructor with the Royal Canadian Air Force, said he is the husband of Miss Richards. He said he had talked to her by telephone Saturday and learned that at that time she was ready to fly to Toronto to take a position as instructor at the Toronto Island Airport).

Mrs. Grace Collins, a divorcee, was in Dew's apartment at the time of the shooting.

Miss Richards gave this account of the affair in a statement to Detective-Captain George Peyton and newspapermen:

She called Dew twice and he asked her not to visit him, saying he was busy on a cattle deal.

Get Into Argument

"I went to the kitchen door, which generally was unlocked. Frank had the night latch on. He came into the hall, pulling the door closed.

"...We got into an argument. He kept trying to get me to go back to my apartment. Then he shoved me.

"I tripped, and when I got back on my feet and got my balance, I heard a noise like an explosion. Then Frank slapped me, knocking me down the stairs. I jerged the door open and ran toward the garage.

"While I was running, I realized I had my gun in my hand, and I dropped it in the vicinity of the apartment. Then I got in my car and drove to my apartment..."

Officers could not find the weapon.

Mrs. Collins told Captain Peyton and reporters she was in the kitchen when Dew came in, said he expected trouble and would return within a few minutes.

Later she heard a shot, she said, and found Dew lying against the apartment door.

"Knocked Flat" by News

Taft received first word of his wife's arrest through a news broadcast over a Dallas station late Monday night. He and a fellow Texan, Jack (Tex) Garner, were reclining in their bunks listening to a Texas dance band, when the announcer interrupted with a report stating that Lycyle Richards had been arrested on a murder charge.

The American flier was "knocked flat" by this announcement, and immediately got one of his friends to drive him downtown to see if he could get details. All day Tuesday he tried unsuccessfully to reach his wife by telephone, and despatched four telegrams to his family and friends in Houston.

"I feel so helpless up here, and yet there is nothing I can do until I hear from my parents," he said last night. When he first heard his wife's name mentioned over the radio he thought she had been killed in a plane crash, but then he said the announcer mentioned "something about a charge of murder and $10,000 bond." Miss Richards was Taft's second wife. His first died.

following statements:

"After having conducted for more than six months a victorious struggle against strongly superior enemy forces, the Greek army has now reached a state of exhaustion and moreover finds itself completely deprived of certain resources indispensible for the pursuit of war, such as munitions, motorized vehicles and airplanes—resources with which it was in any case inadequately supplied from the outbreak of hostilities.

"This state of things makes it impossible for the Greeks to continue the struggle with any chance of success and deprives them of all hope of being able to lend some assistance to their valiant allies

"At the same time, in view of the importance of preserving the British contingents in view of the limited aviation at their disposal and in view of the extent of the front heroically defended by them, the Imperial forces have an absolute need for the assistance of the Greek army without which they could not prolong their own resistance for more than a few days.

"In these conditions the continuation of the struggle, while incapable of producing any useful effect, would have no other result than to bring about the collapse of the Greek army and bloodshed useless to the Allied forces.

"Consequently the royal government is obliged to state that further sacrifice of the British expeditionary force would be in vain and that its withdrawal in time seems to be rendered necessary by circumstances and by interests common to the struggle."

Bombed Day

"In actual fighting, principally on Mount Olympus and round Grevena and Thermopylae, about 3,000 casualties killed and wounded are reported to have been suffered by our troops.

"This was a very small part of the losses inflicted on the Germans who on several occasions, sometimes for two days at a time, were brought to a standstill by forces one fifth their number.

"Nor does it take any account of German losses incurred in assaults upon the Greek and Yugoslav armies.

"I dare say it will be possible to give a fuller account in debate next week but I think I have said enough to show the house that, painful as are our losses, we have much to be thankful for and the empire forces have much to be proud of."

At New Bases Now.

Asked if he meant that the 45,000 had reached their bases successfully, the Prime Minister replied:

"I believe that is so. Indeed, I think I am well within the figure. As I say, I give the information in terms in which it was given to me." Questioned whether 45,000 men was the maximum number which could be expected to be withdrawn, he answered: "I think I said at least 45,000. Supposing anything else were going forward, I naturally would not refer to it."

Concerning heavy equipment, Mr. Churchill told another questioner, "heavy equipment could not, of course, be removed but the Germans are not short of heavy equipment."

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden refused to answer a question on what had become of Greece's navy, but the House cheered when he agree to convey to Greek Premier Emmanuel Tsouderos, "on behalf of the House and nation, our deep gratitude for the magnificent courage and endurance which the Greek army has shown and for their loyalty as Allies."

No Tribute Too High.

"I believe the whole House feels no tribute can be too high for what they achieved," Mr. Eden declared.

He agreed to a request for full publicity to advice from the Greek Government on April 21 that Britain withdrew her expeditionary force because the Greek Army was exhausted, Greece's arsenals bare of supplies, and no useful purpose could be served by further sacrifices.

The Foreign Secretary told the House that the Government had been alive for some time 'to the dangers of German infiltration in North Africa" and had tried "to open the eyes of the French Government to the danger this presents to them."

He did not answer when one member asked if the Government were aware that "one place where a definite counter-balance was possible was Tangier, but there, unfortunately, we have abdicated and surrendered."

Although he said his latest information showed the number of Germans on the Armistice Commission in French Morocco had been increased to about 200, he said there were no authoritative figures about the Spanish zone and refused to be drawn into a discussion about German intentions in Spanish Morocco.

RAF RainsBombs By Thousand Upon Mannheim

LONDON, April 30 (CP)—Thousands of fire bombs and a large number of explosive missiles, including new super-bombs, were dropped on the German Rhineland city of Mannheim last night by the Royal Air Force, the air ministry announced today.

The ministry described the new bombs simply as "some of the latest and most powerful type," saying that they and the showering incendiaries started large fires in the town and its river docks.

Mannheim is one of the principal industrial and commercial cities of southwestern Germany.

Attacks also were reported on oil stores at Rotterdam.

Loss of one bomber during these night forays was announced.

42,000 Tons In Week.

LONDON, April 30—(CP).—Royal Air Force bombers operating in daylight sank or damaged 42,000 tons of Axis shipping off the German, Netherlands, French and Norwegian coasts during the week April 17-23, the Air Ministry news service said today.

Most of the shipping, it said, was guarded by destroyers or other small warships.

It cited as an example an incident on the morning of March 31 when one of these offensive patrols sighted two German oil tankers, each about 3,000 tons, moving westward off Le Havre.

The news service said the tankers might have been taking oil to refuel German submarines, and the British bombers, ignoring the guns

7 Raiders Down

R.A.F. night fighters were credited with destroying three German bombers during the night. Two of the raiders were shot down over England, and the third was sent crashing as it was about to land at its base in Northern France, the air ministry said.

Viscountess Astor sent this message to Lord Woolton, minister of food:

"Speaking as Lord Mayor of Plymouth, the worst blitzed town in England, I want to thank you for the help your ministry has given. It has been magnificent and I am most grateful to you."

The food ministry has sent "flying food convoys" to feed people in the hardest hit areas.

British Raiders Active

British bombers, in some cases escorted by swift fighters, made attacks on shipping at low levels off the coasts of France, Belgium and Norway.

Two bombers and one fighter were lost in the daylight operations; one bomber at night.

The bulletin said British planes swooped on a German convoy near Ostend, Belgium, sinking a 2,000-ton ship, setting another afire and machine-gunning the decks.

Several Messerschmitt 109s entered the engagement and "at least one of the enemy was damaged by one of our bombers," the ministry said.

Near the Isle of Brehat, southwest of the channel islands, a 1,000-ton supply ship was successfully attacked by other aircraft from a very low level, the bulletin said.

Off the coast of Norway two British bombers dived to less than 200 feet to bomb an unescorted convoy, scoring a hit on a large ship of between 4,000 and 5,000 tons.

"Immediately after the bombs exploded the ship was well alight and may be considered a total loss," the report said.

A ship of about 1,500 tons, hit on the stern, the ministry said, "made a quick turn toward land and it is believed she was severely damaged, perhaps beyond repair."

OTTAWA CITIZENS GIVE WARM FAREWELL TO MIDLAND REGIMENT

Crack Unit Is Moved To Maritimes

OTTAWA, April 30—Quietly and with little ceremony, the Midland Regiment left Ottawa Monday night, aboard two special trains, for active service duty in the Maritime Command.

Fighting men of a proud Canadian regiment, they were recruited in the counties of Durham, Victoria, Northumberland, Peterborough and Haliburton, but they did not leave Ottawa without the warm farewell and blessing of hundreds of the Capital's citizens.

A Fine Send-off

The crowd wasn't as tremendous as that which gave the Foot Guards such a rousing send-off some months ago—for that kind of farewell is reserved for the Capital's own units—but it was of such a size that small boys had to climb telephone poles and perch atop shed roofs to glimpse the tanned and trim fighting men as the Midlands swung up alongside the train.

Packing full equipment, the Midlands, 900 officers and men, left Lansdowne Park headed by Lieut. Colonel J. C. Gamey, their officer commanding, shortly after 9.30 p.m. and marched to the Isabella street siding by way of Bank street.

In front of the regiment was the drum and bugle band of the District Depot which trailed the usual squad of boys on bicycles and afoot behind it.

People stood along the edge of the Bank street sidewalk from Carling avenue down to Isabella, and by the track-side they shouldered together eight and ten deep.

Many of the Midlands were single young men, and a few of them added to the drag of the packed equipment by trailing their girls on their arms.

For a few minutes each company stood at ease beside the car to which it was assigned, and in those last precious seconds, mothers, fathers, wives and sweethearts who had come up from the county towns along Lake Ontario to cheer their men, said their good-byes.

There were few tears — only quick, fierce hugs, hurried kisses, warm handshakes—and then the men were aboard the train.

They entrained in darkness, the gloom relieved only by the dull glow of lights through the train car windows.

There to see the Midlands go were Colonel L. P. Sherwood, Ottawa Area Commandant, and his staff.

The Midlands left the city in two groups, headquarters company and two others boarding the first train at 10 p.m. and the balance of the unit a second string of cars an hour later.

A Long Wait

A large section of the crowd waited the hour to watch the full regiment go and give the men the Capital's best wishes.

At Lansdowne Park Sunday and Monday relatives and friends visited the men, hundreds coming up to the Capital on the week-end to be with the soldiers for a few minutes. Many of the regiment had enjoyed leave in the week before the departure.

Monday afternoon, scores of girls stood behind the fence bordering Lansdowne along Bank street, chatting with the unattached men in khaki.

No man left without at least one friend or relative to wish him well.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

Dancing and cards were enjoyed and refreshments served.

Mrs. George Walker of Guelph stopped over in Port Hope to visit Mr. and Mrs. Wilkinson. Mrs. Walker is en route to Ottawa.

Mrs. Russell was cut about the head and suffered back injuries as well as lacerations of her neck and lower limbs.

Mrs. Russell was removed to her home by Dr. Robertson of Cobourg, who was called to attend the injured woman.

A little talk with myself on Income Tax Day

"Among the problems presented by the war, the change brought about in my financial plans by increased taxes caused me real concern. Now, however, I figure it this way:

1. "The increase in my income tax is, after all, a part of my contribution to help win the war, and I should be glad to make it, to live in Canada under the Union Jack.

2. "While it is clear that I am not going to have much margin for savings and investment, it is still possible for me to provide financial security. I can pay the premium on sufficient life insurance so that my wife and family need never be in want."

Example:

$10,000 Life Insurance, Earning Power 15 Year Term plan, can be secured for $96.50 at age 30. The annual dividend allotted in 1941 to a policy of this kind, which was issued in 1940, reduces the amount payable this year from $96.50 to $71.30.

Preferable To Bombs

It was interesting to find that Minister of Finance Ilsley stated in his budget speech that our net national debt was on the 31st of March $3,666,316,000, compared with $3,270,980,000 in the year before.

But that was mild to the figures which followed in rapid succession. The war in the last fiscal year had cost us $816,000,000, and ordinary expenditure in the same period had been $393,000,000, and of that amount 70 per cent. had gone for the payment of interest on debt. In ordinary times that might well suggest the writing of a blistering editorial about how much debt we owe. But not this year.

The last war cost us $116,000,000 in 1915-16, which can be compared with this year, and in the last year of the first war the cost had grown to $447,000,000. Whether Mr. Ilsley used those figures to prepare the public mind for future costs is something we do not know.

The income tax this year brought in $220,000,000 and that was a 50 per cent. increase, and the National Defence Tax on wages returned $28,000,000, and that ought to be regarded as income taxation, making a total of $248,000,000 from income revenue.

People who paid income tax in 1941 are well aware of the increased contribution they made. They paid the highest amount on record. In 1942, according to present plans they will be paying virtually twice what they were taxed in 1941. The tax on wages is definite. It is to be 7 per cent. for single people and 5 per cent. for married, as against the present rate of 3 and 2 per cent. A married man making $40 per week is now paying 80 cents, while after July 1 he will be charged $2 per week, and that is an increase of 150 per cent. The single man who has been paying $1.20 on a similar earning will pay $2.80, and that means an increase of 133 1-3 per cent., so the single man on this score has a slight advantage in the degree of increase.

If under the existing rate of wage taxes $28,000,000 was realized, then under the new levies the total should be about $65,000,000.

If it was desired to secure revenue from beverages, then the taxing of wines is not striking at the spot where the big revenue is to be had. The big field is beer and spirits. We know taxation is heavy there now and revenue is large, but it is not yet carrying all the traffic will bear, otherwise there would be a dropping off in consumption. When it becomes necessary to place additional taxation on sugar, a household necessity, then there is no good reason for beer and spirits being allowed to run free of their share of this new war taxation.

The entrance of the Federal Government into the field of gasoline taxation, and a levy on amusements of 20 per cent. of the admission price was rather abrupt, and we are certain these fields would not have been touched had it not been for the incessant and imperative demand for more revenue for war purposes.

The public who will pay the taxes can have their share of grumbling. That remains one of the rights of democracy, but after doing the grumbling the people will proceed with the serious business of paying. A good many people have been saying they wanted to feel that they were actually doing something about the war. Well there it is right in front of us—a still bill to settle. But stiff as it is the bill is preferable to bombs.

Advising Mr. King

Conservative Leader R. B. Hanson is certain Prime Minister King should go to London. And at once. Nor is Mr. Hanson alone in offering that advice. We have read the same thing in a number of newspapers. It seems that much is known about the holding of some sort of war council in London and Mr. King ought to be there.

But Mr. King says there has been no call for such a gathering. For the moment he sees his greatest opportunity in staying right where he is and working closely with United States for the development of "aid to Britain" plans on this side of the Atlantic. Admittedly Mr. King's conference with President Roosevelt produced results which should hasten the entire movement of sending aid to Britain, and it is difficult to see where our Prime Minister could perform greater or more needed service.

Then it is a fact that Mr. King is closely in touch with London; more closely than any other individual in the Dominion. When he says there is no call for his presence in London he is undoubtedly stating the case as it exists. If the call came to attend any gathering in London he would go.

Taking a fair look at the entire situation leads to the belief that Prime Minister King is doing what he believes he should do, and he is doing it in the possession of all possible information. We have reason to believe he knows more about it than those who are seeking to advise him. That being the case it is better to get along with the next order of business.

Keep The Record Straight

A gentleman bearing a French name has been arrested in Montreal, and he was former Divisional Registrar under National War Services. The reports indicate there has been a conspiracy under way by which young men of military age have been making attempts to secure exemption from military service. It is claimed money had been made in this way. A few names have found their way into print, but they do not appear to be those generally associated with people of French origin.

No doubt the case will be followed through by the authorities. In fact no other course could be tolerated, and at the moment we are quite content to leave it there.

From such evidence as one can gather, though, it would be unfair to people to hasten to the conclusion that French-Canadians had been making plans by which they could purchase exemption from their turn at military training. There is virtually nothing at all to indicate that this has been the case. We regard it as essential in these days to keep the record straight even to the point of making some slight comment on a situation which has yet to be aired in court. There is nothing in sight which warrants the belief that the French-Canadians were entering into a scheme to evade their responsibility.

It Means Feeding Germany

Mrs. J. Borden Harriman was United States Minister to Norway when the Nazi invasion came. She was not afforded any preferred treatment when leaving that country. Now she is in her own land, and one of her most recent activities has been the issuing of an open letter to the women of United States, in which project she has been joined by 28 others.

The object in mind is to have the point established that no food should be shipped from United States to go through the British blockade. Mrs. Harriman knows the situation quite accurately, much better in fact than those who form their opinions by staying at home and relying on sentiment to guide them.

Mrs. Harriman says American food for the conquered nations would only mean the feeding of the common enemy who has plundered Europe's food bins.

Such food, according to the letter these women have prepared, would provide energy for workers, and these workers are now forced to turn out such material as Germany needs for carrying on the war. We are assured the feeding of hungry children would not be accomplished, because so far there is not a thing on record to show that hungry children count in the mind of the Nazi commanders. The only thing that matters is more materials, more supplies, more munitions for the war machine.

He Decided To Quit

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh wrote a letter to President Roosevelt, and it was so pieced together that it was evident the writer intended to place the President on the defensive. He had questioned the loyalty of Mr. Lindbergh, who claimed he thought he had the right to free speech in time of peace "without giving up the privilege of serving my country as an air corps officer in the event of war."

We read exactly what President Roosevelt had said about Lindbergh, and we recall nothing at all that had to do with the mans' loyalty. Mr. Roosevelt did not like his outlook; he was inclined to believe he was a defeatist and was intentionally stressing that point to keep United States from entering fully into the business of assisting Britain. Nor was there anything to admire in the company the man was keeping; he was with the McCormicks of the Chicago Tribune; he was with Wheeler of the isolationists, and back of it all there was the feeling on the part of many people in United States and Canada that he desired Germany to win the war.

In so many ways he had placed himself in opposition to the known policy of the United States government that it was not possible he should have been given free course to run about without coming under the Presidential rebuke.

Some way or other we feel United States will be able to get along now that Mr. Lindbergh has passed in his commission as a colonel in the reserve forces. His letter was very much beside the point at issue, and the attempt to take the position of one who had been wounded in the house of a friend falls as flat as any well-made pancake.

Probably a Vain Hope

We have always felt like jumping when an auto horn toots behind or in front. It has always seemed the safest thing to do. If one could manage to bring his jumping possibilities into one grand effort he might clear many feet and reach safety.

We have read through the Highway Traffic Act and found that pedestrians have certain rights when on the streets, but it has never seemed exactly clear how one should go about it to claim and establish them.

But we have been reading; this time statistics about cars and their ownership. And the reading was right up to date. We found that 4,000 new cars went on the road last month in Canada with an average of $830 owing on the deal. What's more, nearly 12,000 used cars went to new owners and the average balance due there was $349.

We learned also that fully 70 per cent. of the cars on our roads are not fully paid for, and yet so many of them are driven about as though the driver not only had his car paid for but owned the road on which it is being driven. Particularly those people who give you the horn and cause you to leap much farther than is good for the system.

Fortified by the weight of these new statistics we may yet find a new and a greater outlook in which personal bravery will play a leading part. Why hop when the man who honks has not yet got a clear title to the horn he honks? That is the general idea, but for the moment we admit it is going to take a little time working it out. It would probably be just as injurious to be flattened out by a car which has yet to be cleared financially as it would by one which was paid for in cash before it rolled from the assembly line.

NOTE AND COMMENT

In thirteen states across the line there will be daylight time in sections, so they have decided on the same system of muddling which we employ.

German prisoners in Canada who escaped from internment had in their possession British £1 notes. These were furnished to them months ago in case they were shot down alive over England. May surprise them to know that the same money is still good in Britain and elsewhere.

A man of 78 years in Galt has been drawing Old Age pension for seven years but now has a job and wishes to get off the pension list. He can be sure of one thing—there will be others ready to take his place.

Richard Pritchard has been for 57 years an employe of the city of Chatham and 54 of those years were spent in the fire department. Now he is issuer of licenses and sergeant-at-arms in council meetings. Neither position calls for undue expenditure of energy, and the work is much easier than rescuing fair ladies from Chatham's burning skyscrapers.

COUSIN EZRA

(By A.R.K.)

¶ My Cousin Ezra has a plan, he works it now for all he can, takes all his loafing hours; he wants his garden filled with stuff, and he can never get enough, for he just dotes on flowers.

¶ So Ezra visits here and there, and sniffs the early evening air, and at each plot he bends; he knows the folk along the street, who keep their places fine and neat, and he calls on his friends.

¶ He praises and admires the yard, and tells them that they work too hard, there's wonder in his eyes; best citizens in town he'll say, who keep their premises that way, they ought to have a prize.

¶ Then Ezra gets down to his stuff, he has a wheedling way with bluff, he finds some growth that's rare; he's tried for years to get a root, or else a tiny shoot, has looked most everywhere.

¶ Then comes the spade to split the thing, he knows 'twill grow this time in Spring, his thanks are most profound; then Ezra wheels to run for home, he tinkers with the yielding loam, and plants it in the ground.

¶ He works that wrinkle every year, pours honey in the neighbors' ear, and sweetness they should spurn; but Ezra never travels back, to carry roots unto their shack—gives nothing in return.

How Religion Would Rid World Of Dictators

WASHINGTON.—Father Fulton J. Sheen, professor of fundamental theology at Catholic university in Washington, makes the interesting point that wicked dictators are only a symptom; not the underlying disease. He recognizes that they are a mean symptom which has to be doctored. Nevertheless, as he sees it, the elimination of some particular dictator affords only temporary relief. The patient has to be completely cured or he's liable to break out into a fresh evil dictatorship at any time.

Chas. P. Stewart

Societies are the patients, according to Father Sheen, and they've got to be spiritualized to cure 'em, he holds.

Economists, politicians and militarists aren't the specialists who can do it permanently, he says. Germany has 'em, but it also has the dictatorship rash. Italy doesn't seem to be very strong on militarists, but it has economists and politicians aplenty, and it has the dictatorship symptom, too. Democratic military and economic massage may get that symptom under control for awhile, but it can't be depended on not to manifest itself again, if Germany, Italy and Japan remain infected under the skin.

Well, what kind of specialists are needed? Father Sheen recommends "saints."

The fact is that the fundamental theology professor didn't employ the medical allegory that I have. I've rather interpreted his remarks. He delivered a series of Lenten sermons and religion was the antidote he prescribed for the dictatorial malady.

RELIGION—ON THE SIDE

FOR generations, he reminds us, the world's been trying to create a new and better order with economic, educational, political and social dope, without stirring any religion in. That's been classified as something separate—as a good thing, but only "on the side," so to speak.

Now, I'm not very orthodoxly religious myself. Probably I'd be listed as an agnostic. Where I came from and where I'm going I don't profess to know.

All the same, it seemed to me, listening to Father Sheen's remarks, that his argument made a lot of sense. He didn't advocate any union of church and state. He referred to religion in a purely general way, as an essential ingredient in the world's "new order" mixture, if it's to be a mixture with any chance to "take."

"It won't," he said, "be a political, economic, military or social leader who'll save the world. It'll only be saved by saints.

"Let's not believe that we'll have a better world, once we drive out the evil dictators. All the evil isn't in these men. It's in society; in every person."

Take Germany, for instance.

The democracies don't hate the Germans. It's Hitler that they want to exterminate. But it's hard to get away from the consideration that the Germans (except a few of them whom Adolf has been persecuting) stand for him. As Father Sheen says, it doesn't seem as if they'd do so if there weren't something wrong in their whole organization. Is it a lack of true religion in their midst? Apparently that's the professor's conclusion.

AND IN ITALY

DITTO Italy. Why do the Italians put up with Muasolini? Is there something basically the matter with their psychology, too? Maybe they're getting sick of Benito at present, but it isn't because he's what Father Sheen calls an "evil dictator." It is that he's a clumsy one.

Father Sheen's thesis is that what's lacking in both countries is true religion; that if Hitler and Mussolini are licked by the democracies, their respective countries presently will accept a couple of others of the same sort unless they get a big injection of real religion pumped into 'em.

Denominalization isn't what he specifies; it's religion.

And, of course, it might be desirable for the democracies also.

Father Sheen doesn't urge governmentalization of it. He wants it in people's hearts.

He makes a first-class new order talk.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

Be ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers: for what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness? and what communion hath light with darkness? And what concord hath Christ with Belial? or what part hath he that believeth with an infidel?

And what agreement hath the temple of the living God; as God hath said, I will dwell in them, and walk in them; and I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty.—II Cor. vi, 14-18.

Letter To The Editor

WELL, HERE IT IS

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—Regarding the latter half of the enclosed paragraph, clipped from tonight's Examiner, let me assure you that Belfast is doing a whole lot more than just grieving; and if you read a little more than what you write yourself, you would not need to have this fact pointed out to you.

There isn't a spot in the Empire doing more to help than is Belfast, capital of Ulster, Northern Ireland, where every man, woman and child, is proud to give everything they have, that the British Empire might live. I know what I am talking about, because I was born and brought up in Belfast.

When our hearts are torn with anxiety for the folks at home, it does not ease the burden to have them insulted. I do think that the editor of a paper like the Peterborough Examiner ought to know better than the enclosed clipping seems to suggest.

But as my father would say, (he by the way is a veteran of the Boer War, of the last World War, and is serving with His Majesty's forces now):

"You'll get over it, daughter, an insect bite is often painful but seldom dangerous."

Disgustedly,
BELFAST.

Ed. Note: The article referred to in this letter was an error, and a correction had been written when the above letter had been received. We willingly publish the letter with its strictures, feeling they are quite in order.—Ed. Examiner.

THOSE TARIFFS

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—That was a characterful letter by Cuthbert Bailey (Stoke-on-Trent, England) which appeared in the Examiner of April 23rd. To me, also, said letter typified the deathless spirit of the Motherland. No wonder "Britain Delivers the Goods."

It seems to this reader, however, that the Canadian government should assist this movement by taking the forthright advice of the organized farmers on the prairies last fall, recommending "that all existing tariffs, either direct or indirect, now imposed on British goods entering Canada should be removed."

I observe that Mr. Bailey makes reference to the 1917 menace of the submarine, and states how the Navy and its new convoy system finally handled the situation. It may interest the average reader to be reminded that total sinkings during the last war reached 12,768,099 tons of Allied shipping—of which almost half the total occurred in 1917. In view of the British government's recent decision to quit publishing weekly sinkings, and give the monthly figures hereafter (a very wise decision, I think—permitting the Nazi "lie department" full scope to make a fool of itself!) perhaps the following official figures on the monthly sinkings in the single year of 1917 may be considered newsworthy, enabling readers to keep present figures in proper focus: Jan., 351,491 tons; Feb., 540,344; Mar., 585,253; Apl., 874,576; May, 591,318; June, 695,444; July, 550,874; August, 506,695; Sept., 351,105; Oct., 455,096; Nov., 288,558; Dec., 396,946 tons.

Another point in Mr. Bailey's letter which attracted me was this: "It is just three years since I expressed my conviction to you that the Golden Age was coming, but that we should, deservedly, have to go through hell to secure it. It is coming."

As a wheat-grower, whose business has been steadily strangled by the tariffs, quotas, barriers, etc., thrown up at national boundaries all around the world, I certainly think that a clear-cut victory for the forces of freedom in the present struggle will, in due season, bring back onto the horizon the kind of conditions—freed from the fear of war and tyranny—which gave Jack Canuck his "golden age," and built the cereal spring-board which applies the ignition spark to urban business.

ON THE FOOD FRONT.

ABOUT RENTS

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—Will you kindly allow me to have the following letter in your paper.

I saw in your paper one night this last week about Peterborough being in the Rent Control Zone and so it should be. But don't put all the blame of rents going up sky high on the landlords. And I think the rent control should cover people who sublet. They advertise rooms for rent, and when you phone and ask the price (they do not state the rent in the ad) the price is ridiculous.

There was one of 4 rooms for $40, and one of 3 rooms for $20, plus half the water and light bill and the rent of this house is $25 to the tenant. So I think this side of the rent business should be looked into also.

The wages are not going up and the price of food and fuel and rents are mounting. We expect food prices to raise owing to the state of the whole world. I phoned to a number of ads but they were as much as the rent of a whole house. It does not give the young people who are trying to make a start in life a chance.

INTERESTED.

"It's true. The Rev. Fourth and his two parson sons!"

The Coup de Grace

A suburban chemist had been advertising his patent insect powder far and wide. One day a man dashed into the shop and said excitedly:

"Give me another half a pound of your powder, quick, please?"

"Oh," remarked the chemist, as he proceeded to execute the order, "I'm glad you like the powder. Good, isn't it?"

"Yes," replied the customer, "I have one cockroach very ill; if I give him another half a pound I think he'll die."

BROOKLYN DODGERS LAMBASTE THE CHAMPION REDS BY 13 TO 2

Jersey Wallops Toronto In 9-3 Tangle

(By the Associated Press.)

The International League clubs start the second phase of the campaign tomorrow strung out like clothes on a line.

After two weeks on the road, Rochester, Buffalo, Toronto and Montreal will celebrate their home comings and dig in for a like stand against the other half of the league.

Newark's Bears are leading the parade today, 2½ games ahead of the second place Montreal Royals, with Jersey City, Buffalo and Rochester trailing in that order separated by half a game. Toronto, in sixth place, is a game and a half behind the Red Wings and a half game ahead of Syracuse Chiefs, who hold the same margin over Baltimore Orioles.

The Bears topped off a successful home stand yesterday with a 9-7 victory over Buffalo Bisons to take the series three games to one.

The resurgent Rochester Red Wings took their third straight games from the Chiefs, 4-2, on the strength of First Baseman Harry Davis' home run, with two men on.

Hal Feldman, 21-year-old right-hander, chalked up his third victory as the Jersey Giants trounced Toronto, 9-3. He yielded only eight hits and had a shutout until the ninth, when the Leafs rapped him for all their runs.

Montreal Royals swept their series with Baltimore, taking a 7-5 decision with the help of some brilliant relief pitching by young Chet Kehn.

Meet Mr. Dean

JIMMY DEAN

James Harry (Dizzy) Dean, rookie hurler with the Washington Nats, is another of the many products of the Charlotte farm.

Dean, a righthander, six feet four inches tall, was a teammate of Sid Hudson's at the Sanford club in the Florida State league in 1939. Hudson was a rookie with the Nats last season.

With Charlotte, Dean won 12 games and lost 13.

Royals, Rangers In Deciding Battle Tonight

TORONTO, April 30 — (CP). — The deadline in a great hockey series will come for Montreal Royals and Winnipeg Rangers here tonight, when they meet in the fifth and deciding game of a best-of-five joust for the Canadian Junior hockey championship and Memorial Cup.

The odds are even for tonight's game, with both camps reporting little change in conditions which prevailed through the first four games, of which each club won two. Baldy Northcott, the Winnipeg coach, said he would use Allan Hay as his extra forward, and that Hub Macey would be sidelined because of a back injury which has bothered him for several weeks. Babe Hobday, who suffered concussion in the third game, will not play.

Bud Farmer, red-headed fireball on the Montreal attacking forces, will be back in the lineup tonight after a layoff of several games because of a fractured cheekbone. His return will reunite a potent scoring trio in which Farmer played pivot between Bobby Carragher and Bruce Morrison.

If tonight's game end in a tie, 10 minutes overtime will be played, according to an announcement by George Dudley, President of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, last night. A sixth game will be played here Saturday night if the overtime ends with the teams still tied.

SPORTS — DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

National League clubs have undoubtedly arrived at the conclusion that something will have to be done about those Brooklyn Dodgers who have gone out in front of the loop race and show every indication of staying there. The Dodgers kicked the Cincinnati Reds all over the ball park yesterday to win 13 runs to 4 and that, neighbors, was the eighth straight win for the Daffyness Boys and their twelfth win in 13 starts. That's a pretty fair winning streak and it includes triumphs over the Dodgers' keenest rivals for pennant honors. Yesterday Luke Hamlin hung up his third win by holding the champions to four hits. One of them was Frank McCormick's fourth circuit clout of the season. Neither Turner who started or Junior Thompson who led the rescue expedition was any great mystery to the Dodgers who are apparently going places and want the world to know it.

The St. Louis Cards, in spite of the winning streak of the Brooklyn gang, are right at their heels and yesterday they held on to the pace by nosing out the third-place Giants 5 to 4 in a game in which the St. Louis club had to come from behind to win out. Bob Crouch who came into the National League from the Montreal International League club staged himself quite a debut yesterday by allowing the Pittsburg Pirates only four hits as the Smoky City gang fell before the Phillies 6 to 2. The other National League game on the card Tuesday was won in storybook fashion by the Boston Bees who turned loose a three-run rally to grab off the decision over the Chicago Cubs 6 to 3 after the battle had gone eleven innings. Yesterday's National League results left the first division standing about the same although the third-place New Yorkers and the fourth-slot Reds both slipped back a little.

* * * * * *

The Western invasion by the Eastern clubs of the American loop was a complete washout yesterday. All four Eastern clubs took it on the chin in the season's first inter-section clash. Boston selected Lefty Grove for the Detroit assignment because the veteran southpaw had beaten the Tigers so often that they naturally expected him to do it from memory yesterday. However he was unequal to the task, failing to finish the game and the Bengals won 5 to 3. Cleveland Indians with Al Smith the thrower had little trouble in beating the A's 8 to 3, the Tribe getting fifteen hits. The Chicago White Sox, getting steady heaving from Thornton Lee nosed out the Washington Senators 3 to 2 and to make it a clean sweep for the West the St. Louis Brownies took the Yanks into camp 3 to 2 and handed Lefty Gomez his first loss. The Yanks came from behind to tie it up at 2-2 in the seventh but the Brownies pulled the winning run out of the bag later.

The Men's Softball League has flatly refused to let President Fred Scates and Secretary Max Glover adhere to their decision to retire this season. At last night's meeting the two were commandeered for office once again. Prexy Scates has been prominently hooked up with softball activities for the past nineteen seasons, most of the time in the capacity of president and delegates last night refused to hear of him getting out of the harness. They also declined to have Max Glover, who has done a fine job as secretary and treasurer of the loop, get a few evenings to himself and he too was put back on the job. We don't know whether to congratulate the two executives upon the confidence the teams have placed in them or to commiserate with them on the fact that they are still carrying the responsibilities of office upon their shoulders. Anyway their re-election along with that of Vice-President Norman Lewis and a strong executive assures the Men's loop of active leadership during the season that is just about to open.

* * * * * *

As to the teams it looks like a real battle this season with five clubs already considered certain and a possibility that Omemee will as usual be represented. The Military Training Centre is a new club in the circuit and the lads in khaki should add a lot of color to the race. They have about 800 to pick from and a little bird whispers that there are a number of real players at the camp, including a few handy lads from Ottawa. Other teams in line are Westclox, Hastings, Immaculate Conception and the Motorists, the latter with J. K. Hughes as angel. Others clubs who wish to enter the loop have another week to complete their plans. Entries must be in on or before next Tuesday night, May 6, when the executive will meet again to complete arrangements for the season.

* * * * * *

The Ladies' Softball League also had a meeting last night to discuss prospects for the season and to make plans for the annual campaign. Gladys Mortimer, Frank Wood, Mike O'Brien, Ab Delahaye and other enthusiasts were on hand and two teams were represented at the gathering, the old rivals the Westclox and C.G.E. outfits. Other clubs expected to line up with the loop this season include the Lindsay girls who made a good showing last season and at least another Peterborough club. There will be another meeting of the League a week from Thursday night and by that time it is hoped to have the setup complete and everything set for what it is hoped will be a banner season. The girls' loop has always been a favorite with the fans and there is every reason to expect a lot of interesting competition again this season.

* * * * * *

The Sydney Millionaries who had the Allan Cup almost in the bag when they won the first two games of the series with Regina Rangers and tied the third now find themselves with their backs to the wall. The Rangers, coming back with a heroic stand after they had apparently been chased nearly out of the final round have won the last two games and now the series is all tied up. The Westerners playing at home last night managed to nose out the Maritime representatives 3 goals to 2 in a tensely fought battle. The Rangers scored the only goal in the first period and added two more early in the second before the Millionaires got on the score sheet with a pair of quick goals. The Easterners tried hard to get the equalizer in the last period but the Regina club held them off. Now the question is whether or not the good luck charm of Kowcinak and McCreedy is finally going to lose its potency.

* * * * * *

The news that Bud Farmer, the big centre ice star of the Montreal Royals who has been out of action during the final series with a fractured cheek bone is to return to the lineup tonight for the final game in Toronto should make the Eastern representatives favorites to defeat the Winnipeg Rangers and take the Memorial Cup. If the McGill star is in any kind of shape he should just about make the difference between victory and defeat as he has been one of the biggest factors in the success of the Royals this season. The final games have all been close and Farmer should turn the trick for Montreal.

Sporting Chile Con Carne: There should be plenty of khaki-clad rooters at softball games this season with the Military Training Camp in there with a team....Maxie Berger outpointed Pete de Ruzza at Cleveland last night and nearly 5,000 fans saw the bout. Montreal's Maxie is doing all right by himself...Luke Hamlin is 35 years old but he can still hurl that old apple. He held Cincinnati to four hits yesterday... Chicago White Sox are in second place in the American League race. That looks rather odd but in spite of that that's where Jimmy Dykes boys are right now...If Lefty Grove has lost the art of beating Detroit the grand old master is not far from being through. He had the Tigers eating out of his hand for many years.

Cards Ramp East To Whip Giants 5 to 4

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

Last June, Luke (Hot Potato) Hamlin was fined $500 by President Larry MacPhail of Brooklyn Dodgers for throwing a "home run ball."

Specifically the charge was that the veteran righthander was not giving his best efforts when he blew a 4-0 lead against St. Louis Cardinals one humid afternoon at Ebbets Field. Hamlin refused to pay and went into hiding for six days, until mediators patched up the breach and MacPhail revoked the fine.

Yesterday Hamlin fed two home run balls in one game to the world champion Cincinnati Reds and nobody even as much as murmured. The circuit clouts, one by Lonnie Frey in the first inning and the other by Frank McCormick in the last frame, were nothing more than marks of identification to prove that it was Hamlin out there on the mound doing a super job of hurling his third straight victory.

In between the widely separated swats he allowed only two harmless singles and the Dodgers whooped their way to their eight consecutive triumph 13-2.

The victory, second in a four-game series, enabled the Dodgers to hold a half share in first place in the National League. St. Louis Cardinals, who opened their eastern invasion by judging out New York Giants 5-4, came out with the same percentage because they have played fewer games.

Bees Win 6-3.

Boston Bees, experts at prolonging games into extra innings, conquered Chicago Cubs 6-3 when Sebby Sisti socked a homer in the 11th with two teammates aboard.

Rookie Bill Crouch, who was one of the anchors attached to the bundle of cash Brooklyn gave Philadelphia for Kirby Higbe, pitched four-hit ball as the Phils plastered Pittsburg Pirates 6-2.

Cleveland Indians maintained their firm hold on the American League with their fifth straight victory, swamping Philadelphia Athletics 8-3.

St. Louis Browns beat New York Yankees 3-2 in spite of the three-hit pitching of Lefty Gomez, who previously had won twice without a defeat. El Senor Gomez give eight walks.

The defeat dropped the Yanks into third place, as Chicago White Sox curbed Washington Senators 3-2 on the seven-hit pitching of Lefty Thornton Lee.

Detroit Tigers shattered the 15-year-old jinx of Lefty Grove to beat Boston Red Sox 5-3, scoring all their runs off the veteran southpaw star in the first three innings. Young John Gorsica hurled 8-hit ball for the Tigers and survived late-inning homers by Ted Williams and Jim Tabor.

KEN McCANNAN STEPS UP—NEW ELECTRICAL SALES BRIGHT SPOT

Business Marks Progress In Ten Years

In the premises immediately south of the Centre Theatre Ken McCannan is opening on Thursday, May 1 the McCannan Electrical Sales store, actually a transfer of his business from Simcoe street which represents a long forward step from the modest beginning of his venture in radios and radio service ten years ago when the first severe pinch of the depression was causing retrenchment in all directions.

For his big stock of radios, washing machines, refrigerators, ranges and other lines featured by Westinghouse products, Mr. McCannan has designed an attractive interior in decorative color and lighting scheme enhancing graceful lines which he has incorporated into the plan of his new sales quarters.

From many experimental and trial harmonies in color, Mr. McCannan selected a dominant beige-peach effect with secondary shades of cream and buff. The warmth of this combination acquires even, a softer glow from the indirect ceiling lights, Westinghouse magnalux of a creamy peach tone that gives the atmosphere of the store an exceedingly inviting aspect. Three fluorescent sets are included in the lighting scheme, adding a brighter illumination for the more practical purposes of business.

The interior arrangement follows straight lines toward the rear where they sweep into curves, enclosing several special rooms and offices and lifting above into a graceful arch. These modern touches in the background are taken directly from the ways of modern merchandising, and are bound to create a pleasing impression upon every visitor in these days of the opening of Mr. McCannan's new and enlarged store.

Began in 1931.

Ken McCannan was first attracted to radios when he began working for himself, and has had twelve years of experience in their servicing. In the spring of 1931 he launched out for himself in the small quarters adjoining the office of his father, H. J. McCannan, realtor, at 140 Simcoe street. His interest at that time was confined to the selling and servicing of radios, but gradually he observed from enquiries that they were somehow associated with other electrical goods. His first branching out on a small scale was the acquiring of the Thor washing machine agency in 1932. Two years later he added other lines of radios, and so from one extension to another he finally obtained the Westinghouse franchise for Peterboro and its district in 1937.

In the meantime his narrow space in the Simcoe street store forced him to take to the cellar for servicing and to hire several other places in the city for storage of his enlarging stock of electrical equipment, almost entirely of use in homes. For the last three years the McCannan business has had to depend on this scattered acommodation, and in the end it forced the young business man to look around for more space.

This necessity of making a move from his old premises, at least they were ten years old to him, directed his enterprising spirit to George street, and the opening of the new McCannan store on Thursday is the result of his planning for the future.

A Music Department.

The McCannan emphasis on radios, including Spartans, Stewart-Warners and Westinghouse has led to the introduction of phonographs and phonograph records, and also the Heintzman piano agency. The arrangement of the store provides two special enclosed offices, one of which is sound proof with curved glass fronts looking into the main sales room. This room is intended for demonstration and sales purpcses, especially in connection with the radio and records department.

Th service department is at the rear with a full view of the main body of the store. It provides the latest radio serrvice, and has testing equipment required for the present great increase in service sales. Westinghouse radio tubes are carried in stock.

Mr. McCannan is arranging for window displays not only on George street but also at the rear facing on the market square. He has the assistance of Stuart Heffernan, formerly of Toronto, who came here a year ago from the Westinghouse service department fully informed in the mechanics of their products. With him also is Jack Dinsdale in the general sales. Two model Heintzman pianos will be kept in stock.

The work of remodelling the store has been carried out by William Koster.

Moves To George Street Store

KEN McCANNAN

Ten years ago in the first stage of the depression he opened a radio sales and service business in small quarters adjoining his father's office. In the face of adverse conditions he established himself in the Simcoe Street premises until the volume of his business overflowed their accommodation into several warehouses. Mr. McCannan is now opening a new store south of the Centre Theatre, embodying his ideas of design and display.

From Westinghouse

STUART HEFFERNAN

Expert mechanic in the servicing of Westinghouse electrical products, Mr. Heffernan has established himself in Peterborough with the McCannan Electrical Sales.

On Sales Staff

Employed with Ken McCannan in the electrical sales business which is now transferred from the original site on Simcoe street to attractive new premises on George street, south of the Centre Theatre.

CARDIFF, Wales—(CP).—Danger of a shortage of mine labor has arisen because many miners long unemployed have now found jobs in other industries.

Washing Tests Really Prove The Value Of Westinghouse Machines

An electric washer must be more than a handsome piece of furniture, in the opinion of Westinghouse designers.

Its most important function is washing clothes cleaner, without wear and for the longest number of year. And, while engineers can work out the details of such performance by measurement and blue prints, the final test comes with the actual results.

That is why the Canadian Westinghouse Company has installed testing equipment which approximates the actual conditions in the average home. That, too, is why the most gruelling tests have been conducted over a period of many years, to discover the effects of various washing actions and to arrive at the now famous "Cushioned-Action" principle which is used in the Westinghouse Washer.

Shirt Washing Test.

Hundreds of shirts of a well known Canadian manufacturer, were washed repeatedly in Westinghouse Cushioned-Action washers for as many as 104 times. This is the equivalent of over two years of weekly laundering. The shirts were then returned to the manufacturer for inspection. His report is probably the best testimonial to the efficiency of this type of washing. He says in part: "The shirts have been examined by your textile experts who can detect no signs of wear. We believe that shirts washed in a Westinghouse Washer will last longer than those washed by other methods."

Long Life Test.

To discover just how long a Westinghouse Washer would run under ordinary household conditions, a number of Westinghouse washers were placed on a so-called "breakdown" test. These washers were run continuously, day and night, in an effort to discover how long they would stand up.

They refused to break down or show any sign of wear.

One of these washers has now been running for 30,000 hours, the equivalent of 300 years of normal use. It is still quiet and efficient.

These tests are, of course, entirely in addition to the regular "running" test which every individual washer receives before it leaves the factory.

They are evidence of care which the modern manufacturer must take in order to insure the satisfaction of his customers.

Safety Sentinel Features Ace Of Washers

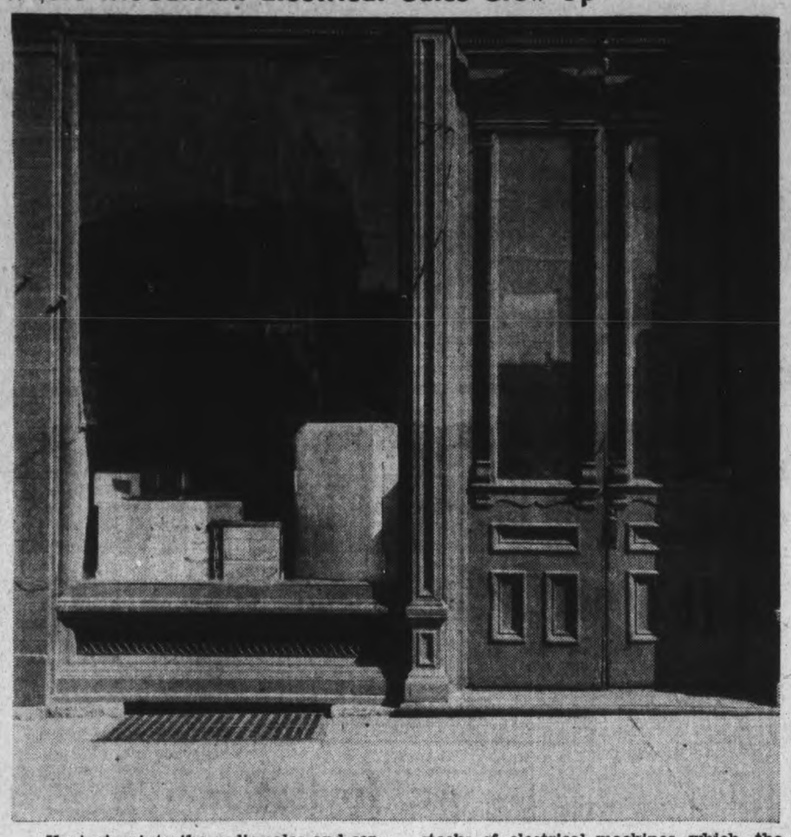
In the new Westinghouse Washer will be seen the outcome of many years of study in the development of new safetty in convenience features.

Most notable of these advancements is the exclusive "Sentinel of Safety." This device is almost uncanny in its operation. It automatically does away with the danger of blown fuses. It protects, automatically the motor and mechanism against damage through overloads, low voltage or other disturbances. The moment such dangerous conditions arise, the Sentinel of Safety automatically stops motor and mechanism. When normal conditions are restored, the machine may be restarted by a simple switch of a switch, without any damage having occurred to the washer and without any blown out fuse plugs or other inconvenience.

Another exclusive advantage will be found in the Cushion-Action Gyrator of special design which artually forces cleansing suds through the clothes without wear on the garments themselves. The efficiency of the Cushioned Action principle has been demonstrated by exhaustive tests under the most exacting conditions. These tests prove that the Cushioned-Action Washer is most effective in the removal of dirt at the same greatly prolonging the life of the clothes.

Other features include a new Lovell Wringer, with adjustable pressure and new feather-touch safety release.

Where McCannan Electrical Sales Grew Up



Venturing into the radio sales and service business in this store on Simcoe Street ten years ago, Ken McCannan gradually realized that radio enquiries were often accompanied by questions about refrigerators and washing machines and other electrical lines. To meet that business he formed connections with manufacturers, put in stocks of electrical machines which the public was asking about, and now has been forced to move to a larger store on George Street south of the Centre Theatre. By his enterprise Mr. McCannan showed "that it could be done," that there was a place for energy and faith in the future even during those bleak years of the depression.

These N.C.O.'s Are Now Commissioned Officers

Those white bands around the caps of these Canadian N.C.O.'s have been discarded now. Since the picture was taken, 42 men have graduated from the officers' training school in England and received commissions from General Odlum.

HELPING GIRLS FIND GOOD HUSBANDS IS MOTHER'S DUTY

Surround Your Daughter with Good Background, Keep the Welcome Mat Clean and Use Tact With Young Men

Conceding, as we do, that the great majority of women are happiest and most prosperous when they follow the ancient and honorable profession of matrimony, why is it not just as much a mother's duty to help her daughters get good husbands as it is a father's duty to help his sons get a start in some good business? Yet this patent fact is generally ignored. Mothers trust to luck to save your girls from spinsterhood, but they do nothing about it themselves, although they know that nowhere else in the world is the old adage about heaven helping those who help themselves so true as in getting a husband. And every girl needs the assistance of her mother in this, for she is young and ignorant and inexperienced and does not know how to bait her traps, still less how to lure men into them. It is not by chance that the Smith girl marries the catch of the season, while the Brown girl is left hanging on the parent tree. Mary's mother lent her a helping hand, while Sally's mother left her to shift alone. Many and varied are the ways by which a mother can secure her daughter's popularity and thereby her chances of making a good marriage. Possibly the most vital one is by giving the girl a good background. Boys like to go to houses where there is welcome on the doormat and where the atmosphere is charged with friendliness and cheerfulness. And they like a girl's people to treat them as if they were honored guests instead of sneak thieves who had come to steal the silver. Whether boys know it or not, they are always subconsciously comparing every girl with her mother, and her home with the kind of a home they would like to have some day.

And if Mother is sweet and gracious and her home the jolliest and most comfortable place they ever go, they are might apt to pop the question to Daughter some night when they are finishing off one of Mother's chocolate cakes. On the other hand, many a girl misses a good husband because Mother has scared all of the eligible men away, and no boy had courage enough to risk having her as a mother-in-law.

Give Girls Seclusion

Mothers can help Sally get a good husband by securing to her some of the privacy in which alone love's young dream can flower into a bona fide proposal. No man is going to feel sentimental with little brother popping out from under the sofa and little sister reciting through her adenoids.

Nor is he going to mention wedding rings with the whole family sitting around listening to every word he says. Many a girl is an old maid because her mother didn't have sense enough to shoo the family back into he kitchen and shut the door on them when Sally's young man called.

And Mother can help along the good work by giving Sally a chance to strut her stuff when men are around, instead of grabbing the centre of the stage for herself. It is perfectly amazing how many mothers there are who simply kill their daughters with their overpowering personalities.

They monopolize the conversation until Sally seems dumb. They answer every question. "Yes, Sally takes sugar in her tea." "No; Sally doesn't care for candy," until it makes Sally seem like a moron who doesn't have an opinion of her own. In Mother's presence Sally never dares use her own pretty little wit or do any of her cute tricks. And so Mother drives off the men who were attracted by Sally's quietness and modesty.

Must Use Tact

In trying to help her daughters get good husbands, however. Mother must use caution and tact. She mustn't be like the supersalesmen who tout their goods so loudly that they make you suspicious of the quality.

If a mother buttonholes every man while she tells him what a marvelous housekeeper Jane is, and how she loves to cook; or what an angelic disposition Mary has; or how sweet and affectionate Sadie is; or how Carrie just dotes on children, and what a wonderful wife and mother she would be, it lowers the girl's dignity and makes every one wonder why she is being hawked about like a piece of poor goods that no one wants, and why her mother is so anxious to get rid of her. Also, when a man sees Mother leading the chase after him, it speeds up his getaway.

Yet, in spite of all the difficulties and drawbacks involved, mothers can do a great deal to help their daughters make good marriages. And wise ones do. When you see a particularly happy marriage it is nearly always the result of Mother having been on her job.

For Thursday, May 1

A day in which the just rewards of labor, the "fruit of works" may be anticipated, judging by the lunar as well as mutual aspects of dominating planets. Superiors, elders, employers, those in high places may be disposed to proffer tokens of preferment, esteem and appreciation for services rendered. Public position, personal prestige and popularity may aid in putting the life and its fortunes in a place of stability.

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of a year in which their careers, fortunes and security for the future will be put upon a solid and enduring basis. This should come as a reward of merit, in recognition of work well done, with steadfastness, fidelity and practical worth receiving acclaim of superiors and the public as well.

A child born on this day should have sterling worth, and sound abilities and trustworthiness, and should secure its due rewards.

Push The Button For London In Westinghouse

To-day the ears of the world are tuned to London.

From the heart of the Empire comes a constant commentary on the greatest battle of all times—a stirring, inspiring drama which is of vital interest to every Canadian.

The British Broadcasting Corporation is doing an heroic work in bringing the voice of Britain directly into our homes, through the medium of overseas shortwave programs.

While many of these British programs are re-broadcast over our Canadian stations, these represent only a few out of the almost continued broadcast activities of the BBC.

To hear fully the voice of Britain—and who to-day would want to miss a single word—the Canadian listener must depend upon the effectiveness of a shortwave receiver.

That is why Westinghouse engineers have been at such pains to simplify overseas tuning, in the 1941 models.

It's actually easier to tune direct to London on a new Westinghouse radio than to bring in a local program.

In fact, it so simple that a child can tune London direct by simply pressing a buton.

On the new 1941 models any station anywhere on the dial may be set up for instant tuning on any of the push-buttons provided.

This "Push-button tuning" of overseas stations is a feature which has revolutionized short-wave reception for thousands of listeners throughout Canada and a development by which Westinghouse engineers have earned the gratitude of the Canadian radio public.

Clear Debris Left In London By War's Worst Raid

Workmen clear debris from the streets and repairmen re-string power and telephone cables overhead as London recovers from what authorities say was the worst air raid of the war on the metropolis. The devastating raid was made by dozens of Hun bombers, many of them flying so low they barely cleared the tops of buildings.

Widow Awarded Judgment For $10,150

COBOURG, April 30 —(ENS)— Judgment in favor of Mrs. Doris Ross of Bowmanville, widow of Thomas Ross, was given Tuesday by Mr. Justice Urquhart in the $10,150 action brought by her. Judgment was for the full amount.

Thomas Ross, Bowmanville theatre manager, died in a fire which occurred at his home in March, 1940. The insurance company contended death had been due to inhalation of poisonous fumes rather than from the actual fire and claimed exemption of liability by reason of a clause covering death from inhalation of gas.

Under the terms of the policy validated by the court's decision, Mrs. Ross is to receive $100 a month for the next eight years and four months.

His Lordship disagreed with the opinion of defense expert witnesses who claimed that carbon monoxide had caused death. The insurance company was accordingly directed to pay the amount of the claim, plus costs, retroactive to the time of death.

Monday Dr. Robbins, University of Toronto lecturer, gave the opinion that the slow burning fire which broke out in the living-room where Ross was later found dead, had generated carbon monoxide, causing Ross' death.

Dr. R. J. Armour of Toronto took the opposite view Tuesday. Carbon monoxide, even if it had been generated, which he doubted, could not have concentrated in sufficient quantities to have killed Ross. In his opinion the materials of the chesterfield were highly inflammable. A sudden blast of heat would cause a spasm in Ross' throat muscles, paralyzing respiratory action and causing death.

In any event the fire had quickly used up the oxygen and the resultant high percentage of carbon dioxide plus smoke would have quickly suffocated Ross, Dr. Armour said.

COBOURG, April 30.—(ENS)—The Canadian Girls in Training were the sponsors of a very fine entertainment put on in St. Andrew's Sunday School here Tuesday night.

The Aloha Serenaders of Peterborough were the feature attraction and they gave a two-hour concert featuring Hawaiian and electric guitars. Their program included concert, classical, religious and popular numbers. Solos were sung by Mrs. Helen Galvin, leader of the group and Mr. James Sands.

Mrs. Galvin took two for her main solo group, "Flow Gently Sweet Afton" and "The Rosary." Mr. Sands delighted in a humorous number entitled "How Long Have You Been Wed?"

A duet was given by two members of the groups, the Misses Velma Scott and Jean McElwain.

The stage was set in flowing palms and south sea decorations and presented a delightful spectacle.

The audience joined in one of the popular numbers. The first half of the program was done in native costume by the Serenaders, the last in formal costume.

Refreshments were served the visitors by th emothers of the C.G. I.T. group.

Faster Cooking With New Westinghouse

Biscuits baked in an oven in twelve minutes—from a cold start.

This is the sensational announcement of the Westinghouse experimental kitchens, where the tests for what is believed to be this all-time high for electric kitchen ranges recently took place.

And the biscuits were cooked evenly, without any peeking or shifting. This speedy cooking is due to the new, speedy elements and the Heat Evener which are features of the new Westinghouse range.

During the past few months, more than eleven hundred actual cooking tests have been made to prove the value of fast and dependable features of electric baking."

So—if housewives are in doubt whether or not hubby would like biscuits—they can get his O.K. when he comes in, put them in the oven and have them done in plenty of time for dinner.

Berger Defeats De Ruzza In 10-Round Tilt

CLEVELAND, April 30 — (CP).—Maxie Berger of Montreal has evened up another outstanding account and now can forget the little matter of the draw verdict Pete de Ruzza obtained the last time the two welters met.

That decision, rendered last December when they met in White Plains, N.Y., over eight rounds, rankled with Berger for it was only by staging a rally that the Mamaroneck slugger drew even.

But Berger definitely showed his superiority over De Ruzza by taking a unanimous decision in a 10-round affair here last night. He did it while spotting his opponent six pounds, 142 to 148, while in their previous meeting De Ruzza had a shade the advantage in the weights.

But while the Montreal fighter managed to settle an old score Billy Marquart, tough Winnipeg lightweight, failed in a return bout with Lenny (Boom Boom) Mancini, Youngstown, Ohio, slugger who gave him a beating in New York last April 1. Mancini again took the decision over the 10-round route although this time the fight was closer.

Fighting on the main event of the card, before a crowd of 4,646, Marquart and Mancini slugged it out throughout the match and wound up with a split verdict.

Millbrook Bake Sale Successful

MILLBROOK, Apiril 30—(ENS)—The afternoon tea and sale of home baking, held in the community waiting room on Saturday from 2.30 until 6 p.m., under the auspices of the Women's Association of St. Andrew's Church, was a pleasant social event, and netted fairly good financial returns, considering the fact that farmers are now on the land, and fewer than usual come into the village on Saturday afternoons; the evenings now see the larger number of people driving in for shopping and other undertakings.

The table of baking was soon greatly reduced, those in charge being Miss Josie Sutton, Mrs. Edmund Ball, and Mrs. H. W. Johnston. The president, Mrs. P. I. Bentley, had a general oversight of the proceedings, and welcomed incoming guests, Mrs. A. L. Siscoe poured tea at the hostess table.

Assisting with the service of the guests, as hostesses of the four smaller tables were Mrs. W. R. Howard, Mrs. H. A. Fallis, Mrs. H. J. Armstrong, Mrs. P. Stinson. Other helper throughout the afternoon were Mr. R. Matchett, and Mrs. H. R. Edmunds. Over twenty dollars was cleared from the sale and tea.

Mrs. A. J Scott, who spent the winter in Toronto, has returned and reopened her home here for the Spring and Summer months. Mrs. Scott's friends will regret to learn that she is not in good health, but is able to be up and around part of each day since coming back here the last of the week.

Mrs. George Hetherington, who was with friends in Toronto, and with Mr. and Mrs. Bolton Price, Orillia, for the Winter, is now home again at her residence, Tupper street.

Miss M. E. Hetherington, who had an apartment with Mrs. Wentworth Gray for the Winter months, is re-opening her home on Tupper street the last of this week.

Miss Elsie Spence of Toronto was home for the week-end with her mother, Mrs. John Spence, Main street.

Mrs. J. N. Eastcott, who was in Toronto with her daughter, Dr. Edna Eastcott, for the past few months, is back again and has reopened her home, Park Roadway, for the Spring and Summer seasons.

Mrs. J. W. Hutchinson met with a painful accident at the week-end, when the ladder on which she was standing, while housecelaning, gave way, giving her a bad fall, and resulting in a fracture of the left arm. This is the second time Mrs. Hutchinson has had a fracture of this arm; the present break being just above the place formerly so injured.

Sports Spice

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, April 30 — (AP). — Tattle tales: In six months as welterweight champ, Fritzie Zivic has collected $63,100 for eight fights, which is nice clicking for the lighter divisions....Bill Terry, who needs infield insurance, is looking longingly toward Chicago and Billy Herman.

To-day's guest star.

John Drohan, Boston Traveller: "The Italian influence on the Yankees is so strong now, what with Joe DiMaggio, Marius Russo, Phil Rizzuto, and Frank Crosetti, it wouldn't be diplomatic to ask any of the Yanks out to eat in a Greek restaurant."

More tattle tales.

Ernie Lombardi's game ankle doesn't require a brace, but he has it taped for each game....Jack Dempsey grossed $2,789 and $1,400 on two consecutive appearances in Los Angeles. Plenty of magic left in that name, boys....When fans saw Leo Durocher presenting a cheque to James A. Farley the other day they thought Macphail was trying to help Jim buy the Yanks. Turned out it was the Dodgers' contribution to a New York charity in which Farley is interested. That was more like it.

Regina Rangers All Square With Sydney

REGINA, April 30 (CP)—An extra large load of the old moxie is the reason Regina Rangers are all square today with Sydney Millionaires in the battle for the Canadian senior hockey championship.

A lot of fighting spirit lifted Rangers to a 3-2 win over the eastern Canada champions here last night and dead-locked the best-of-five series for the Allan Cup at two wins apiece and one tie.

Coach Freddy Metcalfe has welded his castoffs, rookies and junior-age players into a smart hockey machine but the fighting spirit he instilled into the team was the deciding factor last night.

The sixth game will be played in Regina Friday night. The long delay between the fifth and sixth games was made to allow Herman Gruhn of Regina to attend the funeral of his mother in Winnipeg Thursday and return to Regina in time to participate in the deciding game.

Friday's game will be a sudden-death affair for the Allan Cup. If there is a tie at the end of 60 minutes, 10-minute periods will be played until one team is ahead at the finish of one of the extra sessions.

Dates Are Set For Bowling Tournaments

With every club affiliated with the Central Ontario Lawn Bowling Association, represented, the executive met in the club rooms of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club Tuesday evening.

The president, F. H. Dearborn, gave a brief outline of the duties of this organization and expressed the hope that all would feel better for having come to the meeting.

Many useful suggestions were offered and one that went into the records was that as far as prizes for the Central Ontario playoffs are concerned they will be all War Savings Stamps.

The setting of dates for the coming open tournaments occupied a large portion of the evening and everybody seemed to be well satisfied.

The Peterborough representatives were successful in securing the following dates:

Wednesday, June 11—Men's doubles.
Wednesday, July 16 — Men's rinks.
Monday (Civic Holiday) Aug. 4 — Men's rinks.
Wednesday, Aug. 20—Mixed rinks.
Wednesday, Sept. 10—Men's doubles.

Now don't forget our open meeting tomorrow evening. All bowlers and prospective bowlers are invited. Come on out at 8 p.m. and hear what the boys have to say.

Farmers! Save This Way

The Spartan STOCK-AIDE is a successful product made by a highly successful company to meet the pressing needs of farmers for A SAFE ELECTRIC FENCING at lowest possible cost. ONE SINGLE WIRE succeeds the old-fashioned and costly woven wire fencing with expensive posts, gates and labor costs. One man can fence ten acres in a few hours using one strand of wire fastened by stakes placed fifty feet apart. No separate gates are needed—the wire is continued across the gateway and hooked to the opposite post. A wood hook handle with coil spring is available to insulate the wire and give sufficient tension to prevent sagging or becoming unfastened. The fence functions as a safe corral for animals when the lead-in wire from the fence is connected to the Spartan STOCK-AIDE and the switch is turned on. See them at Ken McCannan's.

TEN YEAR RECORD OF PROGRESS

5 Zone Controls Keep New 'Frig Foods Just Right

Five zones of cold and humidity for all types of food. A long felt want in domestic refrigeration is filled this year with the introduction of a new type cold control, coupled with five different zones of cold and humidity, features of the new 1941 refrigerators.

The research engineers of this company have been working for many years on the problem of maintaining automatically the correct degree of cold, constantly maintained in spite of the wide fluctuation which takes place in the average kitchen temperature.

All former types of refrigerator controls operated directly by the temperature of the froster or evaporator, but it was quite obvious that an increase in the outside temperature could cause the food compartment temperature to rise several degrees, in spite of the froster remaining at the low temperature at which it was set.

In True-Temp Control, Westinghouse solves this problem automatically compensating the control for changes in the outside temperature. In other words the actual food itself actuates the True-Temp Control—and the froster is automatically adjusted to the correct degree of cold necessary to maintain the food at the selected temperature regardless of outside conditions.

In addition to this important development and largely made possible by it, Westinghouse also introduces the Tru-Zone method of food storage. This includes five different zones of cold and humidity, each designed to provide correct conditions for the various types of food.

The Meat-Keeper for the storage of 15 lbs. of fresh meat, an ample week's supply for the average family. This maintains the correct temperature slightly above freezing, with high humidity necessary for the preservation of meat.

The Milk Compartment, with correct temperature for the preservation of milk, cream, etc.

The Safety-Zone Food Compartment, for general food storage, includes the Stor-Dor with its convenient rack for small articles.

The Humidrawer, large, glass-topped and providing ample accommodation for the family's stock of fresh fruits, salads and vegetables, maintains high humidity and keeps its contents garden fresh.

New Westinghouse models also include many additional refinements such as the Ejecto-cube ice trays, with automatic release; Hermetically Sealed Economizer Mechanism; Dual-automatic Protection; Thermo-ware left-over dishes; Illuminate interior and many others.

The complete range of new models provide the correct size, style and capacity for every need, from the small home or apartment up to the largest family requirements. All are styled along the most modern lines, beautifully finished in all respects and priced to attract the thrifty buyer.

POLAR DISCOVERY—1941

Dollars To Doughnuts

By EDITH ELLINGTON

YESTERDAY: Sheldrake accuses Weeming of putting Anthony in the store to spy on him. When Bee realizes that Weeming is also Anthony's guardian, she remembers the scene in the office, that hated voice, the man who said she should be chloroformed. She storms at Anthony, then rushes from the office, collides head-on with a man carrying a mink coat.

LOVE IS THE ANSWER

CHAPTER XXX

WHEN she opened her eyes, Anthony Bradley was holding her head. "Go away," she moaned. "Go away. Oh, my stomach . . ."

"Now you know how I felt," Anthony said crisply. "Are you all right?"

She sat up, scowling at him. She saw Bruce Sheldrake and Morris Fletcher. She noted their stupefied pale faces and their slack, trembling mouths.

Sheldrake came to life first.

"Allow me, Miss Davenport." He helped her to her feet. The fat man with the mink coat was murmuring wretchedly, "But I only wanted to show Mr. Sheldrake the coat. The police found it in a parcel locker. It had our label. I—"

"Give me my coat!" She snatched it out of his hands. "Call my car, somebody! I never saw such a bunch of imbeciles in my life! What are you all standing around for? Do something! You, Mr. Fletcher—call my guardian at once! Tell him I fired you! You, Mr. Sheldrake! Get out of my sight!"

"What about me, Bee" Anthony asked meekly. Too meekly. There was a suspicion of mockery in his brown eyes. His lean, handsome face twitched under its composure. "What shall I do, Your Majesty?"

"You—you can go to the devil!"

FOR the second time she turned and fled down the corridor. But now the mink coat was clutched in her hands, and now wide-eyed employees got out of her way with gratifying alacrity. Through the street level selling floor she raced. No car at the main entrance. She lifted her hand. A cab slithered to a halt. She got in.

"Fourteen-forty Park Avenue."

There'd be delirium in Mr. Weeming's office, consternation in Budget Fashions, a crisis in newspaper city rooms. She didn't care.

The doorman at her apartment house goggled.

"Pay this man his fare!"

The elevator boy nearly fainted. "Miss Davenport, ma'am, I thought you were kidnaped!"

She sailed into her own apartment. "Greta! What do you mean by giving information to reporters?"

A dark man rushed out of the drawing room. "Beatrice! My own! They have saved you!" He held out his arms, like an emotional Latin in a movie. "You have been restored to me! My darling!"

BEATRICE stood very still and regarded Clarence distastefully, "How did you get here?"

"Mr. Weeming phoned me five minutes ago. I rushed right over."

"Did he say what I'd been doing? Did he tell you I had never been kidnaped?" Her control snapped. "Oh, Clarence, you fool! You messed everything all up! I was enjoying myself for the first time in my life! I was living, working, amounting to something—feeling something!"

"Aha," said Clarence, blinking his black eyes. "Those emotions you so yearned for!" He pulled thoughtfully at his neat moustache. "What sort of emotions, explain me that. To work—bah! That is not romantic! It was something else. Tell me, Beatrice."

"I'll tell you nothing!" She ran to the white and gold bedroom into a corner of which Toby Masters' whole apartment would have fitted snugly. She pulled out dresser drawers in a frenzy of haste. She found the antique silver jewel case and extracted Clarence's emerald. She ran back to the drawing room. "Here! Here's your ring! I don't want it."

"But cara—my sweet—what has happened I am not angry with you, Beatrice. It was an adventure, a whim! It cannot come between us, beloved. Surely you—"

"Please, Clarence. There's no use talking about it any more." She pressed the ring into his hand. "I—I made a mistake, when I promised to marry you. I didn't love you. I didn't know what love was. But now, I can't go on with it."

"So?" Clarence breathed softly. "So, now, all is changed? Now you know perfectly what love is, eh?" He grabbed her arm. His eyes burned. His mouth was suddenly cruel and ruthless. "Who is the man who has taught you what love is, Beatrice? Who is he? I demand the truth!"

Beatrice jerked away from him. "I won't tell you. It's none of your business. All that matters to you is that I've given you back your ring."

"But that is not all that matters to me! I love you. I shall kill the pig who tries to take you away from me."

Three musical notes chimed. Beatrice looked at Clarence, speculatively. "Here comes your chance," she said. "Because, I'm sure that's Anthony Bradley at the door."

IT was Anthony. He strode into the room, hatless, his expression a curious mixture of belligerency and determination and temper. He stopped short when he saw Clarence.

"This," said Beatrice maliciously, "is your pig, Clarence. And, Mr. Bradley, this is your prince."

Clarence eyed Anthony. Anthony surveyed Clarence. The silence became appalling. Beatrice helped things along by remarking, "Clarence has duelling pistols on his mind. Or sabers at dawn."

"Hmmm," said Clarence, "so you are the man who has bewitched my betrothed. It is because of you she returns my emerald."

Anthony's face cleared. "She returned your ring? Oh. I see."

The relief in his tone was unmistakable. Beatrice's heart began to sing. Maybe he wouldn't hate her too much, after all. Maybe he could bear to marry a girl who owned a department store, especially if he worked in it.

"Queer about Mr. Weeming," she said irrelevantly. "About his investigations, I mean. Because that was my idea, too, you know. That store has been grossly mismanaged."

Anthony approached her, warily. "Mr. Weeming was miles ahead of you. Are you going to sock me in the stomach again?"

"I must prepare a statement for the papers," Beatrice said dreamily. "I must inform them that it was my concern for Grandfather's store which ran away with me."

"Beatrice!" thundered Clarence.

Beatrice looked around, mildly astonished. "Oh, you're still here?" Her eyes dropped. "Clarence, do run along like a good boy. I—I have a lot of things on my mind, and—really, Clarence, you'll be delighted to be rid of me, once you think it over."

The swarthy face of Fernando di Grandezzi, who was not the descendant of a long line of noble Romans for nothing, stiffened. He bowed formally. His heels clicked. "I hope you will be very happy," he said thickly.

BEATRICE and Anthony watched him go. Then Anthony said, morosely, "We probably won't be. On your money."

"If you start that, Anthony Bradley, I'll butt you in the stomach again!"

"I do know of other ways of starting. But you'd have to come a little closer."

Slowly, deliciously, Beatrice moved closer. "Is this better, Anthony?" she inquired meekly.

It was much better. Anthony's arms swooped her up. He kissed her masterfully. Kissed her until the room swam around her and the floor lurched. He kissed her until she was blind and deaf and helpless.

"Our mutual guardian was right," he said happily. "What you needed wasn't chloroform, after all. All you needed was love."

Maintenance Of British Freedom Worth Whatever Taxes Levied

"The maintenance of British freedom for the next one thousand years is worth whatever price we have to pay," Colonel John A. Dewart, M.C., said this morning in a comment on the wartime budget which the Hon. J. L. Ilsley, Minister of Finance, presented to Parliament Tuesday.

"That is the essential significance of the Federal Government's plans and methods of meeting the cost of the war on a pay-as-we-go policy, or as close to it as we can manage by new imposts of duties and taxes.

We have repeatedly heard the statement of awful menace that the freedom of the British people, and that means the freedom of the Anglo-Saxon people and their democracies, is at stake in these days through which we are passing.

The stark reality of the German menace become more apparent to the average citizen with each day's events in Europe and along the south shore of the Mediterranean, and the sacrifices which this generation has to endure are gradually appearing with a clarity which can surely be understood by every one of us."

Plan Of Enslavement

Colonel Dewart said that the German plans of conquest undoubtedly were aimed at the enslavement of the entire world, and that there was no exaggeration in that vision of speakers who had from the outset recognized German victory as the end of British liberty even for the "next one thousand years."

"There is nothing chivalrous about Hitlerism. We have seen that from its very rise, in the treatment of German people before the war broke out, and in the subsequent invasion of those countries which were first in the path of the German campaign.

We know now from the experience of France and Holland and Finland and Denmark, that we have nothing to expect from Hitler but the end of the liberty which we have won and enjoyed for the last thousand years. In that same freedom other countries had their own place in the sun, and were free to develop their own ideals and cultures and ways of life. All that would end if Hitlerism became dominant, and it is this threat which has first disturbed and finally awakened the people of the United States.

How To Consider Budget

We do not need to go into these matters now. We all know them more acutely than we did a year or more ago; and by the man on the street, and the woman, too, this 1941 budget must be considered only in what it means to us of this generation who are getting on in years, to our children, and to the generations who will follow them.

Of course there is more income tax to be paid, and gasoline tax and all the rest of it. These are the details, and they affect every one of us, and there is only one way of reaction to this budget—we are paying for the future freedom of our country, the freedom which we have known, and which, possibly, we have often valued too lightly. We are now having to pay for something that is priceless, and the future of our race and our country is all bound up in these sacrifices which we of today, our own generation, in the greatest crisis of our history, have to go make.

I think that is the way we all feel about the budget—as a means of paying the price of victory. We see the French people in defeat stripped of everything, victims of German tax levies that are astounding. That is the unthinkable alternative to these new taxes which our own Government is imposing on our people, and Hitler leaves no choice but to meet these demands and to meet them with determination and good heart."

New Lighting Tried Out At Collegiate

A temporary lighting system has been installed in a room at the Collegiate and Vocational school for the purpose of studying the lighting possibilities of fluorescent illumination, it was revealed at a meeting of the Board of Education Tuesday night. The firm of Grant and Louckes has placed six units containing four 40-watt fixtures each in the room. It was found there was too much glare with this extreme light and one fixture was removed from each unit which seemed to be satisfactory, D. H. G. Melton said.

In the same room with incandescent lighting, a test showed there were about two foot candles. With the new lighting system and with full use of the fixtures, about 35 foot candles was registered.

The secretary, J. E. Huggins, was empowered to purchase six fluorescent lighting units containing two 40-watt fixtures each to make a total of 480 watts for the room if, by test, it was shown that an average of 20 foot candles could be had. It was pointed out that while 35 foot candles was considered appropriate for lighting under any condition, 20 foot candles should be sufficient where students are studying from books of light color.

"We have found," said Mr. Melton, "that with the new type of lighting under consideration, we can get away from re-wiring most of the circuits and this will mean a great saving."

"It is also interesting to note," he said, "that about five times as many lumens per watt are obtained with fluorescent light than with incandescent illumination."

The firm of Archibald and Richmond was awarded contract for furnishing and installing plumbing fixtures in the new dental office at South Central school at $274. The dental office is on the second floor of the building and is in the process of construction.

At the request of Fred Finnie, a fence will be placed around South Central school by himself at a cost not to exceed $160. He told the Board that a number of slats had been torn off the existing fence at the rear of the building by boys. On the Sherbrooke street side of the building, the fence will be about 90 inches high and at the front, will be constructed to present neat appearance.

Addressing 500 industrialists from the heart of the "arsenal" region last night, the head of Curtis Publishing Company said that industry had absorbed $13,000,000,000 in defence orders in less than a year and placed 99 per cent. of them in production.

She Kills Bulls

Hollywood, April 30 (AP)

SHE looked like a demure high school girl, bright-eyed over her first visit to movieland.

But her manager introduced Conchita Cintron as the one—the only—matadora in the world who fights bulls either afoot or from horseback.

Chic, blonde, blue-eyed and just 18, she didn't look as if she'd have any part of the Latin sport Americans call cruel.

"But it's not cruel," exclaimed Conchita.

"Would a bull who will be killed in the slaughterhouse by a hammer not rather die gallantly? Is it not better to give the bull a chance for his life, a sporting chance?"

States Accepts Lindbergh Resignation

WASHINGTON, April 30—(AP)—The United States War Department announced yesterday that Charles A. Lindbergh's resignation as a reserve Air Corps officer had been accepted. Lindbergh had held the rank of Colonel.

While it has been the War Department's policy not to accept resignations from reserve officers during the emergency period, Secretary Stimson possessed discretionary power to act favorably or unfavorably on it.

Stephen Early, a Presidential secretary, commented that Lindbergh's resignation "leads me to wonder if he is returning his decoration to Mr. Hitler."

Early referred to an honorary award for service to aviation given Lindbergh on a visit to Germany several years ago.

The White House official also was sharp-spoken in saying that Lindbergh had released his resignation letter to President Roosevelt for publication before it was received at the White House. Twice, he said, Lindbergh has followed that procedure.

Hit-Run Driver Is Fined $20

Failure to remain at the scene of an accident cost Francis Barrow $20 and $4.75 costs in police court this morning after he had pleaded guilty to a hit-and-run charge.

Another charge against Barrow of drunken driving was withdrawn by the crown.

"I am informed by the Chief Constable that there is not sufficient evidence in this case," Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C. announced.

Barrow was arrested by Constables C. J. McGillen and John Naples following an accident on Hunter street bridge in which a car driven by the accused and another automobile were badly damaged. The other car was driving east on the bridge when the vehicle driven by Barrow crashed into it from behind. After the impact Barrow, according to the police report did not stop and he was arrested shortly afterward and charges af hit-and-run and drunken driving were laid against him.

Constable McGillen gave evidence in the case this morning, telling of the accident on Hunter street bridge.

Barrow was represented by John A. Bradshaw who made a plea for leniency, pointing out that this was the first time his client had gotten into trouble.

This was the third hit-and-run case heard in the local police court in a week.

Magistrate Langley suspended Barrow's driving license for a period of one month, starting from today.

Britain Needs Huge Quantity Cheese, Bacon

OTTAWA, April 30— Canada has agreed to supply to Britain 112,000,000 pounds of cheese from this season's make and it "may be safely assumed that additional quantities would be welcomed," George R. Paterson, Canadian Animal Products Trade Commissioner in the United Kingdom said today.

Mr. Paterson is a brother of Frank Paterson, Ontario Agriculture representative in Peterborough.

Mr. Paterson has just returned to Ottawa from London, for the purpose of conferring with officials of the Departments of Trade and Commerce and Agriculture on matters pertaining to the movement to the British Isles of the important food products with which he is primarily concerned.

Welcome Canadian Cheese

He said Canadian cheese has met with high favor in Britain. "The maintenance of that high quality and workmanship for which Canadian cheesemakers are noted has been greatly appreciated by the British people during the present difficult conditions of transportation and distribution."

The two animal products which the British Ministry of Food is most vitally interested in obtaining from Canada are cheese and bacon, Mr. Paterson said. Dairy products generally stand very high in the Ministry's food priority list.

Canadian bacon commitments for the 12 months ending October 31, 1941, amount to 425,000,000 pounds. This quantity is considerably more than twice the volume that Canada has ever shipped before. "Canadian bacon is enjoying a very favorable reception in the United Kingdom under the most trying conditions."

Shipments and sales of evaporated milk have been substantial. From the 1940 production, 750,000 cases were shipped. While this season's contracts are not completed, it is expected to be able to duplicate the 1940 effort without impairing maximum cheese production.

Sale of Canadian Eggs

Recently Mr. Paterson arranged for the sale of 250,000 cases of Canadian eggs. While eggs are considered less vital to the war effort than other products, they are very welcome in view of the extreme shortage from home and other pre-war sources of supply.

Last year, Canada shipped 2,000 long tons of honey to the United Kingdom and this proved of great value in supplementing a somewhat restricted jam ration.

Pork by-products, offals and casings are also included in the Ministry's list of Canadian purchases, the quantities being complementary to the bacon export program.

Before returning to London, Mr. Paterson will have an opportunity of discussing with groups of producers, exporters and others the many problems that concern the present position regarding the export of bacon, pig by-products, cheese and other dairy products, eggs and honey.

Mary Ann Fair Passes Away In 93rd Year

The death occurred at her home, 308 Monaghan Road, today, of Miss Mary Ann Fair, in her 93rd year. She resided in Peterborough for more than 20 years and was one of its oldest residents. Death followed a short illness.

Born in Cavan township, the late Miss Fair lived on the 4th Line until she was 73, when she came to Peterborough. She was a daughter of the late John Fair and the late Mary Ann Huston. Her parents were from the stock of old Cavan settlers who came from County Cavan, Ireland. There were a large number of children in the family from which Miss Fair came.

A quiet rural life was enjoyed by the deceased. Of a strong religious nature, she was a member of Christ Anglican Church, Bailieboro, until she moved to Peterborough and All Saints' parish. The farm on which she was brought up was known to the district as "Linden Hill."

Surviving are: a niece, Miss Linden Hall of 17 Fleming Terrace, Peterborough, and one nephew, J. Hubert Fair of Toronto.

The funeral will be held at her late residence, 308 Monaghan road, Friday, May 2, at 2.30 p.m. Rev. W. A. Filer of All Saints' Church will conduct service, assisted by Rev. Archdeacon W. Simpson of Millbrook, and Rev. Canon J. Douglas Paterson, formerly of All Saints' Church. Interment will be made in Little Lake Cemetery.

In France's Steps

WASHINGTON, April 30—(AP)—Declaring that the United States is "next on call" in a spreading world chaos, Representative Hatton Sumners (Dem.-Tex.) told the United States House of Representatives yesterday that "step by step, we are walking in the footsteps of France."

"If men, and factories, realized the danger, they wouldn't interfere with our defence program," Sumners said.

100 Slav Heroes

London, April 30 (CP).

A SMALL band of Yugoslav airmen arriving in Moscow told a "heroic tale" today of the brilliant fight put up by the Yugoslav air force during the German invasion, the British Broadcasting Corporation reported.

Counting only 100 "up-to-date" fighter aircraft in their entire force, the Yugoslavs made a "valiant attempt" to save their country and during the first day of fighting over Belgrade shot down 50 German aircraft, the BBC said. Their guns accounted for another 50 the following day.

"Finally," the BBC said, "the day arrived when only three planes and 30 airmen were left.

"Nevertheless, these fliers took on a formation of 40 Italian bombers and succeeded in shooting down nine of them."

Cadet Drill Is Given Support Of All Students

Although participation in cadet drill is entirely voluntary in the case of fourth and fifth form pupils of the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School there has been a remarkable response this year from such pupils.

The first drill of the cadet unit was held yesterday and the turnout of senior pupils set a new record.

"Every boy in the fourth and fifth forms, with the exception of one who is down in his studies and another who is just recovering from an operation turned out yesterday," H. A. Craig, cadet instructor, stated today.

The new uniforms for the cadets are ready and will be issued at once. Drills will be held regularly from now on in preparation for the annual inspection which will be held on Friday, May 23.

Although war work has taken a number of the senior officers out of school early the cadet unit should be in good shape by inspection day, Instructor Craig says.

Income, Defence

by any precedent, collosal but it is in no sense, impracticable," said Mr. Ilsley in grave tones as he ended this two-hour financial review and forecast.

"It will require strict economy but not deprivation.

"It will require hard work and the foregoing of profits which pass through our treasuries into that of the nation but it will not endanger the soundness of our business structure nor the value of our resources."

Hits At Provinces.

As forecast at the recent unsuccessful Dominion-Provincial conference Mr. Ilsley found it necessary to step into the field of taxation occupied by the provinces. He announced the first Federal inheritance taxes in history. These are in addition to present Provincial levies and he indicated they were not a wartime expedient but might be permanent.

He coupled the increases in income tax with a request that the provinces drop their income taxes both on persons and corporations, and in return offered them grants equivalent to the amount collected last year or to the net service on their debts less succession duty collections.

His three-cent tax on gasoline will come on top of a eight-cent levy imposed in Ontario, Quebec and some other provinces and higher imposts in others.

The budget proposals indicated a four-fold objective, the primary aim being the securing of revenue. They were also directed toward conserving foreign exchange, facilitating the sale of British goods in Canada and encouraging economy so that Canadians could save money and avoid buying things which would cause a drain on industrial capacity.

The gasoline tax and amendments to the War Exchange Conservation Act are designed to check the outlay of foreign exchange on imports.

More Imports Free

To make it easier for Great Britain to sell goods here and so pay part of the bill for enlarged purchases of war materials a list of imports are made free under the British preferential tariff, and discounts of 25 or 50 per cent from duties payable on all other British goods except liquors, tobacco, sugar and silk are provided.

Application of the eight per cent sales tax to building materials hitherto exempt is designed to check building activity. So is an order-in-council announced by the minister which will require persons and firms enlarging, building or installing machinery in commercial or industrial establishments, to obtain a license from Federal authorities.

The additional taxes on non-essentials, such as cosmetics, beer, wine, playing cards, soft drinks and telephone calls, and other things have a similar objective as well as the main one of providing revenue.

"Each of us will be affected by one or more of these taxes," said the minister, "but no one need pay all of them. If people choose to avoid some of these taxes by saving rather than spending, I shall be satisfied."

The Picture Presented

In the last fiscal year, ended March 31, the government spent $1,266,627,000 and collected in revenue $871,000,000, leaving an overall deficit of $395,056,000.

In the present year expenditures will run from $1,768,000,000 to $1,916,000,000 and revenues of $1,400,000,000 are anticipated, leaving a deficit of $365,000,000 to $516,000,000.

The U.S. Trade Balance

In addition the Government will have to find between $800,000,000 and $900,000,000 to met the difference between the excess of the adverse balance of trade with the United States over the balance in favor of Canada on trade with the United Kingdom; interest-free loans plus increases in deposits with the Government on account of annuities, civil service superannuation and unemployment insurance are expected to contribute $200,000,000 to this;

The balance, plus the budgetary deficit must be borrowed—totalling about $1,000,000,000.

Increases in the income tax and the national defence tax are expected to contribute the largest amount to the anticipated $300,000,000 increase in revenue. After deducting proposed payments to the provinces in return for their getting out of the income tax field the increase from income and excess profits tax taxes is placed at $90,000,000, and the increase on national defence tax at $80,000,000.

The new succession duties are expected to yield $20,000,000 and the gasoline tax $20,000,000. Increased taxes on interest and dividends payable abroad are expected to bring in $30,000,000.

The new income tax rates start at 15 per cent on the first $1,000 of taxable income, and rise steeply. Where the national defence tax now is two per cent it is raised to five per cent, and where it is three per cent it is raised to seven per cent.

Almost Doubled.

The result is practically a doubling of the imposts on lower incomes and lesser increases on higher incomes, which bore correspondingly heavier taxes before the change.

Replacing a former surtax on investment income, a new surtax on all investments income over $1,500 is imposed.

To illustrate the effect of the new rates on the very rich Mr. Ilsley said: "The very rich bachelor with a salary of $30,000 and investment income of $470,000 now pays us $362,555 and under the new rates would pay us $411,720. If a single man with a net taxable income of over $500,000 gets an extra dollar of income from his investments he will pay us 96 cents of it."

The new surtax on investment income, he said, would make a greater distinction between earned and unearned income. This was desirable in view of the new high income tax rates because a person earning his income had a right to lay something aside for the future while a person drawing income from investments always had his capital to rely on.

The budget contains an elaborate outline of the proposed Succession Duties Act. Varying rates will apply to states of different sizes and to bequests to individuals of varying relationship to the deceased person.

Taxes on non-residents drawing dividends and interest from Canada are raised from five to 15 per cent to keep them in line with taxes on Canadians.

The principal change affecting corporations is an increase from 12 22 per cent in the minimum rate under the Excess Profits tax. Coupled with the corporation income tax of 18 per cent this means a tax of at least 40 per cent on the incomes of all corporations.

Mr. Ilsley said there would be no exemption from the federal gasoline tax to tourists, farmers or others. Mr. Ilsley said he did not expect it to affect tourist traffic as the United States now was proposing to levy a federal gasoline tax of 2½ cents per American gallon, the equivalent of three cents on a Canadian gallon.

The tax on passenger automobiles valued at less than $900 is increased from 20 to 25 per cent but higher rates on higher-priced cars are left unchanged. The maximum limit of $250 to the five per cent tax on buses is removed. The new tax on railway, steamship and airline fares is 10 per cent and another new levy is a few per cent tax on amounts wagered at horse races.

of the Flak (anti-aircraft) ships astern and ahead of the tankers, dived for the attack.

A few seconds later, the report said, there were two explosions on the first tanker, and three bombs were seen to enter the second.

The Flak ships turned away, but the bombers went after them and "raked their decks with machine-gun fire."

Hepburn Sees

earnings would go for further prosecution of the war.

He will pay much higher income and national defence taxes; gasoline for his car will cost more, and so will movie tickets. He will also contribute more to the Dominion treasury through increased rail, bus and air transportation costs; higher prices for his wife's cosmetics and other tax provisions.

Calls Cabinet Meet

Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario said in announcing a special meeting of the Ontario cabinet next week that the "sharp increase" in income and national defence taxes would "create a tremendous hards ship on the small salaried man with family." He said the new gasoline tax would "hit at the tourist trade."

J. A. Mathewson, Quebec's provincial treasurer, said a cabinet meeting would be held next week to consider the budget. A similar announcement was made by Premier J. B. McNair of New Brunswick. Other premiers promised statements later.

The gasoline tax "undoubtedly and unfortunately" will be used as propaganda by those interested in keeping American tourists out of Canada, W. G. Robertson, general manager of the Ontario Motor League, said. "The higher it goes, naturally the more resistance to its use," he said. "The tax undoubtedly will have the effect of raising the cost of highway transport, affecting many basic and war industries."

J. O. Goodman, manager of the Automotive Transport Association of Ontario, said trucking rates must be increased if the industry "is to survive" the new gasoline tax.

Movie Tax, Surprise

The 20 per cent tax on motion-picture entertainment was said by J. J. Fitzgibbons of Toronto, vice-president of Famous Players Canadian Corporation Ltd., to be "a complete surprise" in that it should be "such a high tax."

J. A. Hirsch of Montreal, president of Consolidated Theatres, said the motion-picture tax would "work a hardship" on movie-goers, but "looking at it in other ways, we are lucky to be open."

D. A. Paterson, secretary-treasurer of the Builders' Exchange, in Montreal, said the removal of building materials from exemption from the 8 per cent. sales tax would retard the building industry.

John E. Clarke of Toronto, president of the Canadian Construction Association, said building likely would continue at the present rate.

H. C. James, general passenger agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, said 10 per cent. tax on railway and airplane passenger tickets would have little effect on travel, basing his belief on the record of a similar tax on rail travel in the First Great War when there was no falling-off of ticket sales.

Tobacco men across Canada seemed little concerned over the increase of tax on cigarette tubes from 5 to 10 cents a hundred. A. Haltrecht, proprietor of the Oriental Tobacco Co., said it was "a fair tax."

E. A. Thomas of Niagara Falls, Ont., said he hoped the increase of the tax on wines would apply equally to imported brands, stating wine-producers in Canada were "primarily interested" in preventing "any reduction" in the normal consumption of Canadian grapes.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Bolton Honored By Neighbors

An enjoyable evening was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Lockington when over forty friends and neighbors gathered together to honor Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bolton, who are moving from the Douro district to take up residence in Lakefield. Having lived on their farm, which they are now leaving to their son, all their married lives, the couple will be greatly missed in the community.

Among pleasant highlights of the evening was the arrival of two of the older residents of the district, Mrs. B. Leahy and Mrs. R. Campbell, both of whom, well passed their four score years, have always been close friends of their departing neighbors.

An address of esteem and good wishes was read by Mr. Walter Garbutt, and the presentation of a floor lamp and electric iron made to Mr. and Mrs. Bolton by Mrs. R. Campbell and Mrs. J. Coughlin.

Delightful Recital Given In Recreation Room of Y.W.

Two charming singers from the studio of Dorothy Allan Park, Isabel Duthie and Isabel Weddell, were heard in a refreshing and delightful recital of songs Tuesday evening, with Gwen Craw at the keyboard. The Recreation Room of the Y.W.C.A. was filled for the occasion, which was planned as a contribution to the British War Victims' Fund, and the audience showed keen appreciation of the quality of the program and the friendly, pleasing personality of the soloists.

Miss Duthie, who opened the program with an interesting group of Italian songs, was in her most excellent form indeed. She is a gifted and sensitive singer, and her beautiful soprano voice seems to have taken on a deeper, richer tone that was especially pronounced in the nego spirituals, H. T. Burleigh's arrangement of "Nobody Knows" and "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," which she sang convincingly, interpreting the faith of an emotional people with sincerity and pathos. As an encore to this group was everybody's favorite, "Annie Laurie." The varying moods of a number of descriptive ballads were intelligently reflected, and three Hebridean songs which reveal so appealingly the simplicity of the people of the islands were presented with charm.

Quite different in type is Miss Weddell's lyric soprano voice, which seemed admirably suited to her group of 18th century Burgerettes, sophisticated French songs typical of the splendor and magnificence of Louis the Fourteenth's reign, when ladies retired to the Castle of Versailles, and dressed as shepherds and shepherdesses, wrote songs to each other to relieve their boredom.

Considerably more simple were her songs of French Canada. The third number in this group, "C'est L'aviron" (arranged by M. Gibbon), presented rhythmically and liltingly the approach and retreat of voyageurs as they kept time to the stroke of their paddles. Her last group included Thomas Arne's "The Lass with the Delicate Air"; William Blake's poem, "Piping Down the Valleys" (Jean Fordell), and Eugene Field's "The Fairy's Lullaby" (Alicia Needham), which she sang charmingly and with noteworthy enunciation.

Blending with the voices of the singers, and providing a delightful background, were the piano accompaniments by Gwen Craw.

Are Evacuated To Australia From Hong-Kong

Friends of Mrs. W. R. Field, 215 Princess street, will be glad to learn of the safe arrival of her sisters in New Zealand after having been evacuated from Hong Kong. Mrs. S. Pulkinghorn and Miss L. Bench have spent over thirty years in China, and to them it seems more like home than any other part of the world. Mrs. Pulkinghorn's husband is a sea pilot, and now is a member of the British Navy stationed at Shanghai.

The following extract from a letter received by Mrs. Field is full of interest, and reveals the feeling of anxious uncertainty prevalent among people of European countries who very often must be separated from their families: "We were given 36 hours' notice to evacuate Hong Kong on July 1, 1940," the letter says. "One board the Empress of Japan were 1,900 women and children, packed like sardines. We were convoyed to Manilla, and the Army, Navy, wives and children were the first to leave, although it took about a month to get them all away. The women who were left have to be employed if they want to stay. It looks now as if they will all have to leave, since things are more serious in southern China.

"When we arrived at Manilla the Navy people were sent to Baguia, where we remained a month, and the Army people to Fort McKinley. Baguio is a summer resort where people go out of the heat to be in mountain coolness, is 7,000 feet above sea level, and very beautiful and expensive. We struck the rainy season, which was a pity, but even then it was beautiful. We were sent to Brent School, "a lovely place where wealthy Americans send their children. We were in the girls' school, about 20 of us, and another 20 were in the boys' school, which is on the same grounds about one-quarter of a mile away. We had to walk through winding paths under pine trees to the boys school where the dining-room was established. On wet days the bus took us. The day came for us to leave on August 2nd at six a.m. We went by bus down the mountains, an awe-inspiring trip that lasted two hours. By train we went to Manilla, a five-hour trip; met by buses we were taken to a Dutch ship, which transported us to Sydney, Australia, a lovely voyage and luxurious travelling.

"We had a wonderful reception at Sydney, the band on the wharf struck up "Pack up your Troubles," and some of the women wept. They had been so brave, looking after their little children when they are used to relying so much on the Chinese Amahs (nurses) in China. They really were wonderful. Now we are in New Zealand, but so sorry to leave China, which after twenty-five years is home to us—we would go back tomorrow if things were normal. However, the Japanese have upset the whole country—everything is three or four times as expensive, and butter is 8 Mexican dollars a pound ($4.00 in Canadian money)."

Trilliums Well Worth Conserving

Added to a plea earlier in the week to those who carelessly pick wild flowers is a word on behalf of the Trillium, Canada's national flower, which is just now beginning to open its heart to the sun and the warm winds of Sprigtime.

Trillium plants, when the bloom is broken off, do not bloom again. The reason given us by authorities is that the three leaves that belong to its three-petalled plant are worn close to the flower head. These leaves are the lungs of the plant, and when they are taken away its breathing apparatus is gone and death results.

Trilliums—the snowy white variety with the large petals; the painted Trillium, with the triangle of crimson penciled near the petal's throat; the nodding Trillium which hangs a head that is smaller than the bloom of the white Trillium, and the dark red, not at all pleasant smelling Trillium, known in some places as the Wake-Robin, are the varieties best known.

Let us remember, then, that plucked, our Trilliums quickly wither and are gone; left to bloom and seed, they will rejoice us and others in the years to come.

Secret of the Rhumba Motion

"If others can rhumba, I can!"

Of course you can! Tired of having to sit out the smartest dances, this clever girl practises at home with diagrams, hits on the truth—that the secret of the captivating rhumba is simple.

When you take a step in the rhumba you do it exactly on the beat, but don't shift your weight to the stepping foot until the next beat. AND, while transferring weight to one foot, you're also stepping out with the other.

That subtle sway of the hips which mystifies you in the rhumba? When you transfer your weight to the stepping foot, your hip sways naturally toward that side.

Meantime you're taking short steps with feet flat on the floor you're avoiding any movement of the upper body and you're keeping your weight forward over the balls of your feet.

You're doing the rhumba well enough to win admiration at any dance! And the steps themselves are easy when you see clear footprint diagrams.

Our 32-page booklet has black and white footprint diagrams to show you every smart dance you've longed to learn—fox trot, Westchester, waltz, tango, Conga, Samba, Lindy, Peabody, shag, rhumba. Explains correct dance posture, how to lead and follow.

Send 15c in coins or stamps for your copy of HOW TO DO THE NEWEST DANCE STEPS AND VARIATIONS to the Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of book-

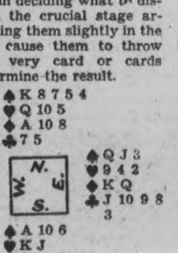
"The Authority on Authorities"

CONCEALING A SUIT

SHOWING the entire distribution of your hand during the bidding—or at least all of your distribution which is biddable according to your standards—is not necessarily wise. This is particularly true if a No Trump contract appears to be the likely ultimate destination. Giving too much information to your opponents may help them in deciding what to discard when the crucial stage arrives. Keeping them slightly in the dark may cause them to throw away the very card or cards which determine the result.



♠ K 8 7 5 4 ♥ Q 10 5 ♦ A 10 8 ♣ 7 5
♠ 9 2 ♥ A 8 7 6 3 ♦ J 5 3 2 ♣ 4 2
♠ Q J 3 ♥ 9 4 2 ♦ K Q ♣ J 10 9 8 3
♠ A 10 6 ♥ K J ♦ 9 7 6 4 ♣ A K Q 6

(Dealer: East. Neither side vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♦	Pass	1 ♠
Pass	2 NT	Pass	3 NT

That bidding won the top score on this deal in a duplicate game, resulting in the declarer taking one more trick than anybody else who played the hand at the same contract. West led his heart 6 to the K. South took two top spades, lost one to the Q, and a heart was won then by the A, last trick that the defenders got. South won the returned heart, with the dummy's Q, then scored two more spades. East discarded clubs on both of them, desiring to retain the diamonds which had been bid, so South then was able to run four club tricks and the diamond A, making 5-odd.

Practically the same play occurred at other tables, down to the play of dummy's two set-up spades. On these the East players discarded only one club, then the diamond Q, holding four cards in the clubs which had been bid. Thus the defenders blocked off a fourth club trick and held the contract to 4-odd.

In one of those cases South bid his clubs first, and after North's spade call bid 2-No Trumps, North the game. In another South opened with diamonds, bid clubs on his next turn, then North 2-No Trumps and South game. Of course, bottom score for North-South came where North rebid his spades and South supported them to game.

Tomorrow's Problem

♠ A Q J 10 9 3 ♥ Q ♦ A K Q J 9 ♣ A

(Dealer: West. Both sides vulnerable.)

If West bids 3-Hearts to open this deal, South nevertheless reaches 6-Spades, West leads the heart A and then switches to the heart J, how would you in the South read his reason for that apparently very bad play?

Million Dollar Housing Scheme To Fill Hamilton's War Needs

HAMILTON, Ont., April 30 (CP). —Plans for a $1,000,000 emergency housing scheme to accommodate workers employed in Hamilton on war industries, including erection of a community centre to house 520 single men and possible building of several hundred two—and four—bedroom homes for men with families were announced today by D. B. McCoy, chairman of the Hamilton War-time Housing Committee which operates under the government-owned company, War-time Housing Limited.

The committee—of which F. C. Ridley, R. P. McBride and Stewart Chambers are the other members—will call for tenders today or tomorrow for construction of the single men's community home, completion of which is scheduled for July 15. The centre is to be built on land loaned to the Crown by the International Harvester Company, and will be situated on Burlington street near the Harvester Company's plant.

"The whole scheme will be self-supporting and based on a reasonable return for investment and a reasonable amortization period," Mrs. McCoy said. "Rentals will be fixed at a figure which will not interfere with the local real estate situation."

No barrack-like type of building is under consideration. The community centre will be of rough clapboard, painted silver gray, with cream window-sashes. Its front will be adorned with an imposing portico.

All kinds of provision for entertainment are being made. In addition to the six large dormitories (men will sleep two in a room) set on either side of the central hall which will house the dining room together with a big lounge and writing room, there will be bowling alleys, billiard rooms and other facilities for recreation. Bedrooms will be equipped with modern fittings. Every effort will be made to provide plenty of community activity to fill up men's spare time.

Buildings to be erected by the committee will be of a temporary nature designed to take care only of the war-time housing shortage.

An administrator will be appointed to direct the entire scheme, and a considerable staff will have to be taken on to operate the committee's enterprises and particularly to administer the community centre. The administrator and his staff will have temporary offices in the old Spectator building on James street south.

Train Slips Tire

TORONTO, April 30 — (CP). — An express car of the Montreal-Windsor train slipped a tire on the Canadian National Railways tracks 1½ miles east of Oakville early today, resulting in the train being five hours late on the run.

The front part of the train proceeded to London after the accident and rear passenger sections were pulled back to Oakville where they were attached to an engine. Both sections of the train were consolidated at London for the remainder of the trip.

There were no injuries and the car that went off the rails remained upright and undamaged.

Five Sons In Army Is The Proud Record Of The Graham Family

BANCROFT, April 30—(ENS).—Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Graham of Toronto, parents of ten boys and three girls are proud of the fact that five of their sons, one of whom is a Bancroft resident, have joined the Canadian Active Service Force and are at present serving in different capacities both in Canada and abroad.

Mr. Graham during the last Great War was employed as a civil servant but at the close gladly gave his position to a returned man and followed his original vocation, that of teaching.

When war clouds were ever increasing in 1939 the Graham brothers came to an agreement that they would refrain from taking up arms as long as possible but this family pact was short lived. The sinking of the Athenia off Ireland and the appeal from our King to all democracies stirred these brothers inwardly and they made every effort to contact the various recruiting centres for admission in the army.

Jack joined the ranks of the 48th Highlanders and was among those lucky enough to escape during the evacuation of British troops from Dunkirk. Prior to his enlistment he was in the British Columbia and came east to be with his brothers.

Donald and James are with the Army Service Corps overseas. Donald was a driver on one of the lorries operating at night in the City of Birmingham when that city was subjected to an intense enemy air attack but came through unscathed.

Robert at present is with the Queen's Own Rifles stationed now at Camp Sussex, New Brunswick, where they have been recently assigned having left their former camp in Newfoundland.

Morton of Bancroft joined with the Argylle and Sutherland Highlanders, active service, at Hamilton staying with that unit about six and a half months training at Niagara-on-the-Lake, later transferring to the Queen's Own Rifles. He was home lately on his last leave prior to being moved to Camp Sussex, bringing that detachment up to drafting strength. Morton followed a short teaching career while in civilian life having taught two years at Fort Stewart and two years at L'Amable, both in the vicinity of Bancroft.

Wilfred and Bruce, two other brothers who are at present attending high school in Trenton, have one motive in mind upon completion of their education and that is to enlist with the R.C.A.F. when eligible.

Prior to Don, James and Robert's enlistment they were employed by the Accurate Distributing Agency of Toronto.

A fire alarm was sounded early Monday morning when the home of Mr. Allen Loney just below the village took fire The local brigade was out immediately and stemmed what might have been a stubborn blaze as the fire was burning quite lively between the first and second story about the pipe which went up from the kitchen.

Miss Vivian Stringer who has been nursing in the Belleville General Hospital is home spending a three weeks' vacation with her parents, prior to her leaving for Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Gordon of Eldorado spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. McGhee of town.

Donald Easton and Clifford Bremnar of the R.C.A.F. stationed in St. Thomas spent a few days at his home in town returning Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Blatherwick returned to his home in Rockwood Thursday, having spent the last two weeks visiting at the home of their son, Reginald, in Bancroft.

Mr. F. Shannick spent several days in Belleville last week returning home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Shickler and family of Harcourt were in town Saturday.

Mr. Inwood, game overseer, was in Bancroft Saturday.

Miss Doris Doyle returned to her school in Pembroke on Sunday having spent the Easter holidays with her parents in town.

Elmer Rutledge, Wallace Price and Harry Plumley, Jr., of the Active Service spent a few days in town this week.

Mr. D. F. Kavanagh of Belleville spent the week-end with his parents in town.

Mr. James Penock of Boulter was home for the week-end.

Bancroft citizens were aroused from their usual long slumber on Sunday morning when an army plane appeared over the southern horizon and stunted over the entire village. Before it made its exit from the town most of the occupants were out on the street and many clad still in night attire could be seen peeking around upper balconies.

This last week-end was a splendid one for the motorist and this was emphasized by the heavy traffic on Highway No. 62. The roads are quite dusty now.

AXIS TROOPS PENETRATE OUTER TOBRUK DEFENCES

U.S. Orders 50 Tankers Aid Britain

First Of 2 Million Tons F.D.R. Will Use 'Bridging' Atlantic

WASHINGTON, May 1 — (AP). — In quick response to President Roosevelt's request for ships for this country's "all-out aid to the democracies," the United States Maritime Commission made plans to-day to place 50 American tankers in the service of Britain within the next few days.

All operators of American tankers of over 5000 gross tons are being called on for aid in the program.

The tentative plan does not call for a transfer of registry of tankers to Britain, but for their use outside the war zone for the direct benefit of Britain.

Under the proposal the tankers would be operated from oil-producing countries along the north coast of South America to United States North Atlantic ports.

At the North Atlantic ports the oil would be transferred to British tankers, not a difficult task, for the remainder of the trip.

President Roosevelt, himself, was reported ready to order the prompt requisitioning of refugee vessels in United States ports as one of the first steps toward the objective.

"Vital war materials are piling up at the ports or delayed at the factories," Mr. Roosevelt declared. "We must supply those ships and at once."

The president emphasized the urgent need for increased shipping facilities last night in instructions to Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the maritime commission.

Land was directed to "secure the service of at least 2,000,000 tons of merchant shipping" and to plan operations so as to "make their cargo space immediately effective in accomplishing our objective of all-out aid to the democracies."

Infantry Strikes At Night Supported By Tanks; Bitter Battle Continues

British Withdrawal From Greece Near End, R.A.F. Strafes 30 Troop Trucks In Libya Berlin Claims 3 Ships Hit In Crete Harbor

CAIRO, Egypt, May 1—(AP).—Axis troops penetrated the outer defences of British-held Tobruk this morning but 'fighting is continuing' at the Libyan port, British headquarters announced.

Its communique said the attack was launched last night by infantry striking at the hold-out British garrison inside the Axis lines "in some strength, supported by numerous tanks."

The British forces have held out under siege at Tobruk for about three weeks despite the Axis reconquest of Ljbya. German and Italian units swept beyond, bypassing the stronghold, and crossed from Libyan to Egyptian soil in the region of Salum, 80 miles eastward.

In that time, the British garrison has been under almost constant air attack and has repelled several mechanized thrusts. Nevertheless, it has taken the initiative several times, officers reporting sorties into the Axis lines and the capture of prisoners.

Troops About Out of Greece

Removal of British forces from Greece is nearing its end, the Royal Air Force Middle East command indicated today in a communique which reported numerous flights by fighter planes to protect "the naval convoys."

On the East Africa front, the headquarters war bulletin said 5,500 Italians and 2,400 colonial troops as well as 93 guns had been counted so far as seized around British-captured Dessie, Ethiopia.

The Royal Air Force said heavy casualties were inflicted on Axis troops and motor transport in Libya, with at least 100 vehicles, 30 of them carrying troops, damaged by machine-gun fire in the Gambut area.

Some damage to the R.A.F. was declared to have been suffered in an attack at Malta. Two of the attacking planes were brought down, the communique said.

British naval units have carried out 'a successful bombardment" of Axis troops and supplies in the Ain El Gazala area of Libya, the Admiralty announced today.

The sector is about 30 miles west of beleaguered Tobruk, where a British garrison has held on for about three weeks despite a German-Italian drive past beyond the Egyptian border. One side of Tobruk's outer defences, reported today to have been penetrated by Axis infantry and motorized forces, reaches almost to Ain El Gazala.

Britain Pours More Troops Into Oil-Wealthy Iraq; Moves Out Women, Children

Stands By Treaty Rights Despite Protests As Axis Threat Draws Nearer To Vital Mechanized Lifeline In East

LONDON, May 1—(CP).—An authoritative source said today the British army had landed a second contingent of troops at Basra despite the assertion of Iraq authorities that Britain was not entitled to do so until troops previously landed has passed through the country.

This source said Britain considered there was no foundation for the Iraq assertion inasmuch as the terms of the British-Iraq alliance provided Iraq should furnish "all facilities and assistance" in its power for the transit of British troops.

"As we are unable to allow clear treaty rights to be altered," the source added, "troop movements proceeded as planned and troops duly arrived at Basra without any incident."

The first British troop landings there took place April 17-18.

The British Ambassador in Baghdad, Sir Kinahan Cornwallis, was said to have told Iraq authorities that Britain considered her action fully covered by terms of their treaty.

London, it was added, instructed Sir Kinahan to take any steps necessary to ensure safety of British women at the time of the overturn of the Iraq Government a month ago.

Baghdad advices reaching Vichy yesterday via Beirut, Lebanon, said Britain had taken measures to remove British women and children from the country).

The original landings in Iraq were to protect Iraq's rich oil fields, in which Britain has large capital, and to preserve communications.

Iraq may be one of the objectives of Germany in any further military moves into the southeast.

Presumably the British movement "through the country" referred to in London as well as in the Baghdad-Vichy dispatches means development of troops in Iraq.

Iraq is bounded by Iran, Saudi Arabia, Trans-Jordan, Syria and Turkey.

MOSCOW, May 1—(AP).—The Red Army showed mammoth new motorized mechanized forces in its traditional May Day parade to-day, with truckborne infantry and masses of motorized artillery filling Red Square.

Two mortars mounted on trucks were among the new machines adapted to modern war.

The display was preceded by a warning by Defence Commissar S. K Timoshenko that Russia is ready "to offer an annihilating rebuff to any encroachment by imperialists."

Timoshenko's warning was issued in a special order of the day. He declared that it is the Soviet Government's intention to adhere to a peaceful policy, but asserted soberly tha "the present inernational situation is pregnant with all kinds of surprises."

Slavery Or War

NEW YORK, May 1 — (CP).—Henry A. Wallace, vice-president of the United States, said last night in an address before the New York Young Democratic Club that "time is running short—much as we hate the choice, the issue of slavery or war may be forced upon us as it has been forced on others."

Therefore, he added, young men "will defend the independence of the United States, if need be, on the field of battle."

Citing records of rapidly-increased defence production, Mr. Wallace said that the U.S. had "just begun to produce."

LONDON, May 1 (CP)—Strong Royal Air Force bomber squadrons centred their attack on the German naval base at Kiel last night, an air ministry communique said, and also hit at targets in the Berlin area, the industrial centre of Hamburg and the port of Emden.

Ottawa Forbids Any New Gas Stations

OTTAWA, May 1 (CP)—No new gasoline stations can be established in Canada, and stations presently closed cannot be reopened without permission, said an order issued by the office of the oil controller, George Cottrelle of Toronto, and published in the Canada Gazette today.

The order, dated April 30, provides that any gasoline station in future cannot be reopened without authorization from the oil controller.

Provisions will not apply to any dealers station which in the usual course is closed during the winter months.

The blanket provision in respect to new stations reads:

"No dealer's station or distributor's station shall hereafter be erected, constituted or established in Canada by any person."

The order forbids a distributor to purchase or lease an existing dealer's station or the land on which it is located, if the station, at time of issuance of the order, is supplied with fuel or lubricants by any other distributor.

Distributors are forbidden to obtain orders by "offering, promising, giving or providing in any manner any money, property loan or money or property, gift, concession or other benefit of any kind, including any special concessions as regards the price of motor fuel and lubricants."

LAC Roland Rennie In England Month

According to information received at Keene by Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Rennie, their son, LAC Roland Rennie, had been in England for a month before a fatal plane accident claimed his life Monday. A cable received by them Monday revealed that he was killed in an accident near Oxford. They received a letter yesterday that he had written since his arrival in England and it was not until then his parents knew how long he had been overseas. It is now believed he may have been piloting the plane in which he died.

2 Electrocuted As Aerial Hits Power Line

QUEBEC, May 1 (CP)—Two persons were electrocuted and two others critically burned today when they touched a broken aerial wire dangling across a high tension cable into a yard behind the home of Joseph Coulombe in St. Sacarment ward.

The dead were Charles Roy, 62, electrician at the Laval Mines school, and Coulombe's 13-year-old daughter, Lucille. Critically injured were Paul Aime, 19, and Mariette, 15, other children of Coulombe.

The accident occurred while Paul Aime was stretching an aerial wire from the roof of his home to a small shed nearby. The wire crossed a high tension line and, badly shocked, the youth dropped it into the yard of his father's home where his sisters were playing.

The girls ran to pick it up and received the full charge of the current. Lucille died on the way to Hospital where her sister's condition was reported dangerous.

Shells In Hells Corner

On the English Southeast Coast, May 1 (CP)

GERMAN cannon renewed the shelling of the Dover area tonight.

Shortly after 6 p.m. (1 pm EDT) salvoes of four shells each thundered across the Dover Strait from the Nazi-occupied French coast.

German long-range guns some 20 miles away across the narrowest neck of the channel pounded this area for seven hours Tuesday, contributing to the theory of some sources that an invasion attempt may be expected in the Nazi military schedule.

The guns roared tonight despite limited visibility and the explosion from each salvo shook the district for miles.

U.S. Patrols in Indian Ocean?

New Rush Of Supplies To Re-equip Wavell's Army Guarded

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP)—The rapidly developing Axis threat to Britain's position astride the strategic Suez Canal caused speculation today in diplomatic quarters on the likelihood of United States navy patrol operations in the Indian Ocean along the lanes travelled by shipment of lease-lend supplies that may be bound for Egypt via the Gulf of Aden-Rea Sea route.

The belief was expressed that such shipments were highly probable in view of the known British losses of equipment suffered by the expeditionary force in the battle of Greece.

Since the elimination three weeks ago of the combat zone which closed the Gulf of Aden and the Red Sea to United States shipping, there has been no official ruling as to whether United States merchantmen would be permitted to carry strictly military cargoes over that route.

At the time, however, President Roosevelt indicated that he saw no reason why such shipments could not be delivered to Egypt, a technical neutral. He made it plain that the administration would not be over-sensitive on the point if war materials delivered to a neutral port in American bottoms ultimately found their way into the hands of a belligerent.

Viscount Halifax, British Ambassador, said then that the removal of the combat area from the Red Sea approaches represented a substantial American contribution to the empire's cause in the Mediterranean theatre of war.

Regardless of the final ruling on the question of transporting military supplies in American ships, diplomatic sources pointed out that at least one United States shipping company already has made application for government permission to operate to Egyptian ports via the Red Sea.

SAPULPA, Okla., May 1.—(AP).—If "Aunt Lizzie" Deevers wasn't in bed with influenza, she'd be celebrating her 110th birthday to-day by walking down a church aisle a bride for the 10th time.

Iraq Oil Nazi Goal in East

Reds May Put Finger On Turks Let Hun Pass, Save Ukraine

By J. F. SANDERSON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

WASHINGTON, May 1—(CP).—Hitler's long-range objective in the Balkans and the Middle East is Iraq oil, not Russian wheat, in the opinion of many military and diplomatic observers here.

They suggest that Hitler has decided that if he can gain control of the eastern basin of the Mediterranean, including Egypt and the Suez Canal, and bring Middle East oil into his European "new order," he will solve his greatest supply problem and go a long way toward wartime self-sufficiency.

Russia, they suggest, plays no part in a grandiose scheme of those dimensions despite rumors for many weeks, reiterated by Prime Minister Churchill and other British leaders, that the Soviet bread basket, the fertile plains of the Ukraine, are next, or at least high up on the list of German objectives.

Taking a realistic and objective view of the aftermaths of the Balkan campaign, military observers here see Britain's position in Egypt seriously threatened. They believe that Turkey, once regarded as almost an ally of Britain's, will be in no position to resist pressure for a German corridor across Asia Minor. They also suggest that Russia, to gain time for defensive plans and also to escape entanglement with Germany over the Ukraine, may agree to exert pressure on the Turks to co-operate with Hitler.

Sir Archibald Wavell's forces in Egypt may be caught, in a pincer movement, it has been suggested here, with force applied by a German-Italian army operating along the North African coastline and a German army moving across Asia Minor in the general direction of the Iraq and Iran oil fields.

Whether the western gateway to the Mediterranean, the fortress of Gibraltar, plays any part in this scheme is, of course, unknown but it was regarded as significant that

I am convinced Britons have whatever is needed in courage, resourcefulness, iron determination and skill to bombard the enemy masses, and perhaps to wipe the Italian navy from the Mediterranean and the Nazi and Italian bomb-

Western MP's Demand Farms Saved

See Mortgage Closure Facing Many; House Debates Wheat

OTTAWA, May 1 (CP)—Alarmed that Prairie farm income may be reduced under the government's 1941-42 wheat policy, two Western members have urged in the House of Commons that action be taken to protect farmers from losing their land through mortgage foreclosures.

Speaking in the long debate on agriculture in the House of Commons yesterday Mrs. Dorise Nielsen (Unity North Battleford) and G. H. Castleden (C.C.F. Yorkton) denounced the government's wheat acreage reduction program as unfair to the Western farmers and dangerous to farmers in other parts of the country.

While most of the discussion turned on wheat Hughes Cleaver (Lib. Halton) charged Conservatives with seeking to make a political issue out of farm conditions.

He said that by bringing the subject up on an amendment to the motion to resolve the House into committee of supply they prevented a fair and impartial discussion. They put Liberal members in the position of voting to throw out a government which was carrying on a war and bring on an election, or voting against agriculture to defeat the opposition amendment.

Speaking from personal experience as a farm operator, Dr. H. A. Bruce (Con. Toronto-Parkdale), eminent surgeon and former lieutenant-governor of Ontario, said wheat could be fed to hogs with results as good as those attained from feeding coarse grains.

Thus, he said, he was unable to see why the government should subsidize western farmers to grow coarse grains instead of wheat.

Dr. Bruce said the wheat acreage reduction program was "illogical, conceived in bewilderment and will be still-born as far as assisting the (Jane's fighting ships list the Nebojsa as a 975-ton craft built in 1927. The vessel, one of four submarines in the Yugoslav navy, has a cruising radius of 5,000 miles and normally carries a complement of 45 men.)

the United States Government decided a few days ago to send a military observer to Tangiers on the North African coast, across from the Rock.

One of the prime reasons for the earlier successes of the army of the Nile and the present control of the Mediterranean by the British fleet has been easy and constant access to the Middle East oil fields. If they fell into German hands, it would prejudice, if not cripple, Britain's whole Middle East operations.

It is not being suggested that Hitler will start immediately on the long, torturous road across Asia Minor. He still has mopping-up operations in Greece, the Greek islands and in Yugoslavia to complete. He still has to try to repair the transport system of Eastern Europe, probably seriously damaged by the short but violent Balkan campaign. He may take time to repair and regiment the agricultural resources of the Balkans upon which Germany relied to a considerable extent before the conquest.

One of the complicating factors in the picture is the internal conditions in Iraq where a British force recently landed as a result of a change in government. The reliance that Britain places in Iraq oil was demonstrated by the haste with which this force entered Iraq when a new government, reported to be pro-German in its sympathies, took power by a coup d'etat.

Man Acquitted Of Delivering Milk In Auto

E. G. Anderson was acquitted on an unusual charge in police court yesterday when Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., dismissed a case in which Anderson was accused of a breach of the milk bylaw. It was alleged that he had delivered milk in a private automobile, contrary to the local measure.

City Solicitor W. F. Huycke, K.C., prosecuted the case and the accused was defended by Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C.

The only evidence was given by Constable Leo Murphy, who said that he had seen Anderson stop his car in front of a local restaurant and carry a wire container holding a number of bottles of milk into the place. When he came out, the officer said, there were still some bottles of milk in the container and he could not say whether there were as many then as when the accused went into the restaurant.

Magistrate Landley dismissed the case without calling upon the defence. The Crown had failed to prove that there had been delivery of milk, he said.

Keep Powder Dry

"In these conditions," Timoshenko said, "the Red army must keep its powder dry and be in constant mobilization and preparedness so that no 'accident' and no tricks of our foreign enemies can catch us unawares."

Timoshenko, who was named defence commissar a year ago and charged with the task of overhauling the army, called upon Soviet workers to labor ceaselessly to help "consolidate the defensive capacity of the country."

Great Day In Moscow

Moscow's great Red Square as usual was the centre of the nation-wide May Day demonstration. Government and party leaders assembled there at the base of Lenin's tomb in front of the red-walled Kremlin to review a gigantic parade of troops and workers.

Stalin watched the spectacle from a special stand atop the red marble mausoleum.

Following the military show more than 1,000,000 civilians swarmed across the vast square chanting patriotic songs, waving banners and raising aloft huge photographs of Soviet leaders.

Moscow's program included evening street dancing, band concerts and outdoor motion picture shows to entertain the public.

In his order of the day Timoshenko credited the "wise Stalinist foreign policy" with enabling Russia to remain at peace in a world at war—"an impregnable rock in the midst of the stormy sea of international events."

He called the neutrality pact with Japan, signed April 13, an achievement of "great political significance," furthering Russia's policy of peaceful relations with her neighbors.

He also said that for the first time "the working people of Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia, Bessarabia and northern Bucovina are celebrating May - freely and joyously in the united family of peoples of the great Soviet Union."

(Bessarabia and northern Bucovina are the provinces annexed from Rumania last summer. The three Baltic countries were absorbed last July.)

"During the past year," Timoshenko said, "those young Soviet republics have achieved notable successes: without landlords and capitalists they are building a new life."

ations, informed sources said, it would come under the protection of which Mr. Roosevelt spoke on April 14. On that occasion he told his press conference that it was the law that the United States government protect its ships wherever they go, so long as they stay out of the combat zones defined in the neutrality act. This statement came four days after the elimination of the zone blocking the way to Egypt.

Naval men said the obvious methods of protection were arming the merchantmen, establishing naval patrols or giving the ships naval escorts. Mr. Roosevelt told reporters, however, that he knew of no discusion for arming the vessels.

This remark of the president's coupled with the known fact of Axis raider operations both in the Pacific and Indian Oceans made it seem probable, in the opinion of informed persons, that some type of naval protection would be afforded.

In the speculation on lease-lend supplies for Gen. Archibald Wavell's army in the Middle East, one belief expressed was that Britain was looking to the United States to provide, on a small scale, the same help she extended after the retreat from Dunkirk. Then, American arms and munitions—hurriedly rushed abroad—helped re-equip British forces which had lost virtually all equipment and stores in the disaster on the continent.

The British Middle East command in a communique today gave some hint of the situation when it announced that although "at least" 80 per cent of the Expeditionary force to Greece had been withdrawn safely, the operation had been "at the cost of heavy losses of vehicles and equipment."

Subsidy On Hogs To Be Paid After May 5th

TORONTO, May 1 —(CP)—The Ontario agricultural department announced today that the Ontario government subsidy of $1 per hog carcass grading "A" and 50 cents for "B1" carcases would apply to all hogs slaughtered in approved plants on and after May 5.

The subsidy will apply on carcasses graded in packing plants where a Dominion Government grader is in charge of grading or in smaller plants which have been approved by the Ontario Government. These plants will work in co-operation with the Dominion graders. Grading will be according to the Dominion standards.

Agriculture Minister Hon. P. M. Dewan cautioned farmers applying for the subsidy to make sure that the purchasing plant has government recognition.

To received the subsidy the farmer must have his hogs identified so that the carcasses can be graded and a grading certificate can be issued in his name. In addition he must secure from the drover, packing plant or shipper, this grading certificate signed by the grader. Next he is to secure an application from his shipper, packing plant or agricultural representative, to be attached to grading certificates and forwarded to the hog subsidy division of the Ontario Department of Agriculture within 60 days from the time the certificates are issued.

ers out of the sky.

This calls for long chances, but the British command is taking them.

They sent warships dashing over the sea at topspeed, hoping and praying to contact the Italian fleet—unaware of the enemy's naval air strength and not caring.

The Battle of Matapan may have permanently extinguished the glimmering hopes of Il Duce for making the remnants of his once proud war fleet a decisive factor in the Mediterranean.

Earlier, I saw Goering's hand-picked dive-bombing pilots try to scare the British fleet out of the Mediterranean by making one of the most punishing attacks of war history on the aircraft carrier Illustrious.

She got hits from 1,000-pound bombs.

That gave me the greatest fright of my life.

But her officers and men brought her into port under her own power after that hell had ended. Their one burning ambition was to "make them pay" for that bombing.

They did.

Nests of German dive-bombers were blasted off their Sicilian bases. I think the Britons are definitely taking the measure of the Nazi bombers.

This was strikingly illustrated by the last trip the fleet made to Tripoli, Italy's strongly fortified base in Northern Africa.

Formations of enemy planes frequently attempted to get close enough to bomb the warships. Not a single bomb was dropped but British fighters shot down seven planes.

Tripoli unquestionably was one of the most daring attacks in naval history.

Every war technician knows that a fleet usually is no match for expertly manned coastal defences.

The fact that Tripoli had a long string of six to 12-inch batteries, that the harbor waters were heavily mined, and that there was great danger from mass Nazi and Italian air attacks on the warships, didn't deter Admiral Cunningham from his resolve to hand the Barbary coast enemy a dose of steel it wouldn't soon forget.

From the Conning tower of the heaviest armed battleship, I watched 1,000 tons of high explosive and armor-piercing shells flung at Tripoli harbor in a thunderous 45-minute barrage so terrific I thought the minimum personal effect would be a bad case of shell-shock. My half-blinded eyes were seared by great flashes from the fire of guns.

This was at the firing end. The tremendous, crushing force of shells exploding in Tripoli can only be imagined.

British gunners shoved shells into the long, grey barrels of the 15-inch guns with machine-like speed and precision.

They love action and thought it great fun even when two enemy shore batteries pumped six-inchers swishing over the turrets.

Tripoli was the biggest fireworks display I have seen in my travels with the battlefleet.

I shall never forget the thousands of white splinters of flame leaping skyward from anti-aircraft batteries, the long, snaky links of multicolored bursting tracer bullets, the "flaming onions" of anti-aircraft fire, and the yellow masses of flame gushing from battleships' guns.

Nor this—12 hours after the last 15-inch shells were fired, I touched the gun barrels. They were still hot.

So was Tripoli.

Back In Burwash

SUDBURY, May 1—(CP)—Burwash's Industrial Farm's first prison break of the year ended late Wednesday just where it started—on farm property.

Comfortably ensconced in an outbuilding near the Burwash station apparently merely awaiting the arrival of a convenient train, George Haug, 21, of Owen Sound, was discovered by searching guards at dusk. He is now back in the cells with his semi-trusty privileges revoked.

Haug, serving a two-year term for arson and theft, was working with a brush-cutting gang on the Sudbury end of the Burwash Broad when he made his break just before noon Wednesday.

Surviving are her husband, two daughters Mrs. Harold Selion and Mrs. A. F. Harris of Peterborough and two sons Harold Follis of Napanee and Rene Follis of St. Catharines; also two sisters, Mrs. F. Ladler of Birmingham and Mrs. C. Cheshire of Northampton, England.

MRS. HANNAH MELINDA COLE.

Daughter of an old United Empire Loyalist family settling in Prince Edward county about a century and a half ago, Mrs. Hannah Melinda Cole died Wednesday at the home of her son, W. W. Cole, 587 Reid Street.

Mrs. Cole was born in Athol township, the youngest daughter of William Reid and his wife, Jane Maybee, and was eighty-three years old. She was the youngest of a family of eleven children, and was also its last survivor. On both sides of her family, their attachment to the British Crown directed them to Canada when the New England States rebelled against the Motherland. The Reids and Coles crossed the lake toward Canada, and chose Prince Edward county for their home under the Union Jack.

Mrs. Cole resided at Deseronto for twenty-five or thirty years until the death of her husband, Edgar Ryerson Cole, in 1927. Since then she had lived here with her son, W. W. Cole. She was taken ill about six weeks ago. Of a retiring disposition, she was much loved by all those who knew her. She worshipped with the Christian community at the Assembly Hall, Brock Street, and is survived by her only son, W. W. Cole, and three grandchildren: Mrs. Reg. Perks and Mrs. Andrew Rutter of Peterborough and Howard R. Cole of Brandon, Manitoba.

The funeral service will be held at 8 o'clock this evening at Nisbett's Funeral Home, Charlotte Street, with Rev. J. H. Blackwood officiating. Interment will be at Cherry Valley Cemetery, Picton. The funeral will leave here about 7 o'clock Friday morning for Prince Edward county.

DAVID OLIVER.

Resident of Peterborough for seventy years, David Oliver died this morning at his home, 726 Elcome Crescent, in his eightieth year.

Mr. Oliver was born in Brantford but came to Peterborough when only nine years old, and had lived here ever since. He was at one time employed in the old Heaps brickyard and afterward with Curtis Brothers, brick manufacturers. Later he was employed with the Water Company before the municipality took over the water system and afterward at the gas plant until he retired seventeen years ago.

He was a member of Park Street Baptist Church and of Lansdowne Lodge, Sons of England, and the Ancient Order of Foresters. A large circle of friends will mourn his passing.

Surviving relatives are one daughter, Mrs. Bruce Livingstone, Peterborough, and two sisters, Mrs. Annie Evans of Peterborough and Mrs. E. Trotter of Buffalo. His wife, formerly Elizabeth Irvine, died on September 9, 1940.

The funeral will take place on Saturday afternoon at 8 o'clock from the residence of his sister, Mrs. Evans, 726 Elcome Crescent, to Little Lake Cemetery. Rev. C. C. Boyter will officiate.

Mention of war in Europe makes Aunt Lizzie's eyes blaze.

Lizzie doesn't believe in divorces. She outlived all her husbands and expects to live longer than her father, who died at 116.

British Auxiliary Cruiser Seizes 4 German Fliers Off U.S. Liner

HONOLULU, May 1—(CP). — A British auxiliary cruiser stopped the liner President Garfield in the Pacific on Tuesday and removed four German aviators, American President Line agents report.

They said the four Germans, who formerly operated in a commercial air service in South America, had been detained by the United States Immigration Service since last August but had been released on Apri 23 at San Francisco.

They boarded the President Garfield there. Their names were given as Ewald Flesch, Werner Naumur, Hans Sandkamm, and Guenther Katzke.

When they arrived in the United States from Colombia they were taken into custody because the Japanese steamship line Nippon Yusen Kaisha refused to carry them across the Pacific They were detained under the authority of the American State Department.

Japanese steamship lines have refused to carry German nationals of military age because a British warship stopped the liner Asaam Maru 15 months ago to take off a group of young Germans.

HONOLULU, May 1— (A P). — Capt. F. W. Richardson of the United States Bureau of Marine Inspection and Navigation, said here to-day a British boarding party which removed four German aviators from the American liner President Garfield conducted itself with the utmost courtesy

Some distance from Honolulu, the President Garfield was halted by a British auxiliary cruiser on Wednesday. The Germans were formerly employed in the commercial air service in South America. "The cruiser came dashing over the horizon at about 22 knots," said Richardson. "Everything was done in the smoothest manner and with no confusion."

"The cruiser signalled us with its blinker to stop. When it came closer a voice was heard by loudspeaker telling us to put down a ladder.

"A cutter was lowered from the cruiser and rowed toward the Garfield. A three-striper (commander) came aboard alone. Just after that came another cutter with two officers and men, all with sidearms. The passengers were quite excited.

"One of the Germans took quite a

A return tabled Wednesday in the Commons for G. K. Fraser, Conservative, Peterborough West, said the Yukon contributed $35,192—or $8.80 a head based on population estimated for 1939—to the $39,642,000 total collected during that period.

Next to the Yukon was British Columbia with $5.12 per capital, totalling $3,962,640.

German High Command claimed today that the German Air Force has bombed ships in Suda Bay, Crete, seriously damaging a tanker and two merchant ships.

A dive bombing of Tobruk, British-held harbor in North Africa, following "local successes" in reconnaissance operations by German and Italian troops in the area, resulted in the sinking of a 5,000-ton merchant ship and extensive destruction by fires in the Tobruk fortifications, the High Command claimed. Fort Palastrion was especially mentioned as the objective of these air attacks.

(British headquarters at Cairo announced the outer defences of Tobruk were pierced by Axis forces this morning.)

The German propaganda and news agency reported the Athens radio today broadcast an order "by War Minister Bakos for demobilization of the entire Greek army."

(Apparently Bakos is a member of the new German dominated "government" for occupied Greece. The real Greek government has moved to the Island of Crete.)

ROME, May 1—(AP).—The Italian High Command claimed today that Italian parachutists have occupied the Greek Islands of Cephalonia and Zante and that the nearby island of San Maura has been taken over by Fascist land forces.

All three islands are off the Greek West coast.

The High Command also claimed that Italian torpedo boats had attacked a convoy in the Aegean, torpedoing a cruiser and a large destroyer.

(These claims lack confirmation from Allied sources.)

Trent Town Is Seeking New Industry

CAMPBELLFORD, May 1—(ENS)—Council as a body including the Water and Light Commission are meeting Mr. W. A. Fraser, M.P., in Ottawa on Thursday, May 1, to endeavor to secure an industry for Campbellford. This was announced by Mayor F. F. Long at a special meeting on Monday night in the Clerk's office. This meeting was held to consider the improving of the town roads. Mr. G. E. Putnam, Imperial Oil engineer, addressed the council, and on his suggestion members decided to surface treat approximately three miles of town streets, including Mill, Market, Rear, Booth, Garry, Canrobert, Alma, Simpson, and Pellisher. The other streets will all be patched and what cannot be patched will be scarified, rolled and a dust layer applied. Still trying to meet the request for sewers, Town Solicitor N. A. MacColl was called to explain the proper procedure to follow regarding these requests. After much discussion it was decided to appoint a special committee including Deputy-Reeve P. H. MacMillan, Councillors Grant Anderson and John O'Sullivan to interview the interested parties, Mrs. Kenny, Mr. C. A. O'Connor and Mr. E. Wilmimk to see what understanding could be reached. They are to report back at the next regular council meeting Monday, May 5. The council also planned a clean-up week commencing May 5. Special arrangements were made with the garbage collector for the removal of additional refuse in the afternoon of the regular collection days: Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, May 5, 6, 7.

Do You Suffer From Headaches?

It is hard to struggle along with a head that aches and pains all the time.

A headache need not be an illness in itself, but it may be a warning symptom that there is intestinal sluggishness within.

To help overcome the cause of headache it is necessary to eliminate the waste matter from the system. Burdock Blood Bitters helps to remove the cause of headaches by regulating the digestive and biliary organs, neutralising acidity, regulating the constipated bowels and toning up the sluggish liver, and when this has been accomplished the headaches should disappear.

Port Hope School Plans Field Day

PORT HOPE, May 1—(ENS). — On May 14, weather permitting, the High School will hold its annual field day. This event is usually held in the fall, but owing to the school not opening until late in September, the date was changed to the Spring.

Students are practising daily for the numerous events which make up the program for the day.

As a prelude the boys are having a four-mile cross-country run on the coming Friday. The boys will be divided into age groups, Junior and Senior, and will leave the school around 3 o'clock. About seventy-five boys are expected to participate in this run.

Last Nazis Caught

Pictured here is the end of a week's freedom for the last four of 30 German war prisoners who escaped from a Northern Ontario camp. They are shown as they came back under guard. The capless Nazi smiling in the front is Sgt. Helmuth Ackenhaurser, who told newsmen: "I want to get to America, then back to Germany, fly over England, drop bombs."

COBOURG

Young Athletes Join Air Force

COBOURG, May 1.—Two more of the youngest athletes in town went to the greatest team in history this week. The team is, of course, the C.A.S.F. The boys were Edgar Benson and Dave Bennett. During the last three years these two boys have made athletic history at C.C.I. Benson played last fall on the school football team and he is a runner of note. He was among the boys who made the trip to the Ontario athletic camp last year. A soft spoken quiet athlete Benson entered into the lists last week with a surveying regiment.

Dave Bennett has had a fine school career in athletics. Football, track and field, basketball all have known Bennett's name at high school here. He too visited the camp for the Ontario athletes last year and to be asked there, is an athletic highlight in itself. Dave also was a fine hockey player and is the youngest member of the old juvenile championship days, when the Church League was producing greater teams than the district O.H.A. clubs. Dave, like Benson, passed his school exams at Easter and decided to don another uniform, the one so many men and boys wear so proudly. He too is in a surveying regiment. Both boys made the week-end leave time here in town the past week.

Game Warden Is Kept Busy

COBOURG, May 1 — (ENS). — Game Warden A. Minaker reports a busy season here in watching the game and fishing violations.

As a result of recent raids F. Bailey is in the local jail under the Act. His car, a boat and fishing tackle have been seized. He will appear in Campbellford police court on Friday of this week.

Several other residents of Campbellford and vicinity will appear with him.

The game warden stated this has been the busiest season of the last three in regard to the breaking of game and fishing laws.

Several others will appear in Cobourg police court when the evidence will consist, it is said, of a large fish seized in the raids staged by the game warden.

Thief Loots Home; Owner At Church

CAMPBELLFORD, May 1—(ENS)—Thief or thieves walked off with $20.00 in cash and a valuable watch while owners were attending church. Mr. and Mrs. J. Forde, 10 Concession, Seymour, on returning home after attending church at Petherick Corners found their house ransacked from top to bottom. Entrance was gained through kitchen door which had been forced open by the thief, making his way through all the rooms and opening all drawers he finally succeeded in finding the hidden money. Not satisfied with this loot he took a fancy to a watch which was also in the drawer. Provincial D. M. Carruthers was called to investigate the break-in.

Teachers Meet

PORT HOPE, May 1—(ENS). — Teachers from Port Hope, Cobourg and Millbrook public schools met here Wednesday evening in an informal discussion group for the purpose of discussing their work and exchanging ideas. More than thirty-five teachers from the three centres were present at the meeting in the Central Public School, over which W. Carlton presided. The valuable experience gained through the exchange of ideas is expected to lead to the establishment of regular meetings in the autumn.

The Government Steps In

An Order-in-Council was passed at Ottawa and by its terms full control was taken of the National Steel Car Corporation in Hamilton, and a Controller was named who will run the plant on behalf of the Government. In fact that change has already been made.

There had been trouble at the plant because the president of a union had been discharged. The usual steps were taken and a Board of Conciliation had been formed. Its findings were that the worker in question should be reinstated, but the answer of the company was that the man would not be reinstated under any circumstances. It was then that the strike was called, and the 2,700 men employed in the plant walked out.

The method taken to settle the strike is unusual. At least we refer to it as being unusual because such things have not been attended to that way before. The usual way would have been for the strike to have been carried on while the company made what efforts it could to do the same thing. There might possibly have been some disorders when men were trying to enter or leave the plant.

There are two salient features in this situation: (1) The statement of Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Munitions, that the company had refused to carry out the findings of a Conciliation Board, and (2) that the plant is an essential war industry and the idea of 2,700 workers there remaining idle was out of the question.

Our belief is that the action of the Government was right. The statement of the Minister of Finance in his budget speech indicated there is an all-out war effort in the making, and it is not possible to regard a strike in a munitions plant where 2,700 workers would be idle as having any part in that effort. We are arriving at a state of action now which should have been ours months ago. The Government has power and it is beginning to demonstrate it will not hesitate to make use of it.

Figures Become Too Great

We'll have to start all over again. That is on our knowledge and understanding of money. The old questions we used to work in the one-room schoolhouse about a farmer selling a load of hay and then buying tea and calico and a pair of boots—we find them useless. They used to be tethered down to a few dollars and cents. It was the way of a humble people doing humble sums about humble financing.

When we read the statement of Finance Minister Ilsley that the war cost for the year would be at least $1,450,000,000, and on top of that he would need sufficient to pay the usual cost of government, we realized we had not been educated sufficiently. The financial standards by which we had previously done our measuring were too short, too weak and too limited.

Often enough we have looked at the bank building across the street and on one window we have seen painted: "Paid up capital and reserve $50,000,000," and admittedly that has seemed like a deal of money. Looking over the statistics of banks generally we find the capital and reserve to be:

Bank of Commerce	$50,000,000
Banque Canadienne National	12,000,000
Dominion Bank	14,000,000
Imerial Bank	15,000,000
Bank of Montreal	75,000,000
Royal Bank	58,000,000
Bank of Nova Scotia	36,000,000
Bank of Toronto	15,000,000
Total	$275,000,000

Always have we been impressed by the financial strength of these financial institutions; even more so since they have passed out of the stage where the weaker ones used to fall. And yet the money needed for capital to start the existing chartered banks of the Dominion, and the amount of reserves they have in hand is less than one-fifth of what it is going to cost to carry on the war this year.

The gross value of agricultural and forestry production in Canada for the year 1938 is given as $1,487,000,000, and our war bill for this year will be within $37,000,000 of that total.

Surely we will have to revise our standards, but it is going to be difficult. We have asked several people, among them bankers, if they have any adequate idea of what a billion dollars really is, and the answer has always been the same. No. In a general way we understand that after leaving the field of millions we enter the billion enclosure, but right there our sense of exact and definite appreciation and understanding does not function well. Possibly it was a waste of time when we did those simple sums in dollars and cents in the one-room school house.

The Complaint Of Turkey

Newspapers in Turkey are indulging in plain talk about the unsuccessful campaign in the Balkans. The tone is not what can be called unfriendly, and there is not any place the suggestion that Turkey is not still the friend of Britain and confident of the ultimate victory for British arms.

But the questions are (1) Why was the aid sent to Greece so small? (2) Why was Germany permitted to ship such an amount of equipment and men to North Africa when Britain controls the seas? (3) Why does the British navy not stop the German occupation of the Aegean Islands? (4) Why are there so many men being wept in the British Isles when they could be used elsewhere?

The Turkish press sees there is danger in the present movement of German troops. Danger for Turkey because the forces gathered there may start an attack.

There may be much information we do not possess on this subject. Admittedly there is. But in a general way we believe it is a fact that Turkey has delayed action too long. Prime Minister Churchill sought repeatedly to show the Balkan nations the dangerous position they were occupying; urged them to stand together and resist the approach and entry of the Nazi army. But instead of doing that they fell in line one at a time or did their fighting separately and with little effect. That does not refer to Greece, because the action of that nation was magnificent.

Turkey has had plenty of time to make known her position, but the policy was one of neutral friendship, and of a nation which hoped to avoid entrance into the war. Had Turkey lined up with the Balkan nations and placed her strength openly against the advance of the Germans there might have been quite another story to be told today about operations in that quarter.

More Of Those Children

Wrigley's school in North Dumfries, not far from Galt, has another of those experiences with children who come to school but who refuse to sing the National Anthem. There are eleven in the group and they turn up at school each morning only to be turned away.

Julius Kubassek, head of the colony of Hutterites from which the children come, in discussing the situation, said refusal to sing the National Anthem was not a matter of loyalty, but of religion. He paid tribute to the King and Queen, and added "We pray for them daily, but we do believe that an even nigher reverence should be paid God."

The Hutterites are much like the Mennonites; they do not shoot, fight or vote.

The difficulty is in understanding the objection they have to their children singing the National Anthem. Their view that "an even higher reverence should be paid to God" than to our sovereign is nothing unusual because that is the same view which is held by Christian people generally. It is also the view which is held by Their Majesties.

The trouble is we do not seem to be getting any place with these cases of children who come from those homes and who will not sing the National Anthem, and we are not certain how much ahead we would be if we forced them to sing it. It would then be lip loyalty, the price to be paid for admission to the school, and in actual value it would be worth less than nothing at all.

If the parents of such children entertain the idea that we place devotion to our sovereign on a level which is above the devotion and reverence paid to Almighty God they are entertaining a view which they should drop quickly. The real cause is that they are against war and if they were only sensible they would find that our people generally detest war. They hate it, but when it is forced on them they have enough backbone in them to fight their way through to victory and to freedom.

Yes—It Costs Money

Writing in Maclean's Magazine, Bruce Hutchison seeks to give some adequate idea of where money goes in a mechanical war such as the present. The cost of maintaining a Canadian soldier overseas today is $7.11, including supplies of every sort. The cost in the last war was $6.58. But soldiers cost money, and it may afford a little relief to learn that even in peace time it costs United States $12.32 to maintain a soldier.

When one considers the battle of the air the figures begin to soar. They really appear to go higher than the plahes themselves. In the last war airplanes were in their infancy, but one then cost $8,000. For a Spitfire today it is necessary to have $25,000, and if a number of people club together and purchase a Hurricane then it is a bill for $50,000. Every time we lose a first-class fighter plane we know we have lost as much as an average working man is likely to earn in forty years.

Bombers come higher, says Mr. Hutchison. A Bolingbroke, such as Canada is building now, will cost from $125,000 to $150,000. If you saved your maximum in War Savings Certificates, $480 per year, it would take over three centuries to pay for the loss of one such plane.

But those figures are fairly simple when one compares them to the cost of outfitting an armored division with tanks. Here it is going to be necessary to spend perhaps about $200,000,000 before that unit is ready for battle and that is about one-third the total amount which our Canadian Government used to spend prior to the war. We do not know exactly what the tanks will cost, but the larger ones may well come at from $70,000 to $80,000.

When this armored division starts to roll it will represent an investment equal to about ten Ottawa Parliament buildings. To raise the money it would need 350,000 Canadians saving $40 per month for a year. So it is seen that the application of mechanical inventions to war has driven the cost to new heights, to totals which in the last war would have been considered impossible. And yet, is there any other way out? None whatever. Canadians will not see their men going toward the front with anything less than the best money can provide. Otherwise it would be a case of fighting steel with bare hands.

NOTE AND COMMENT

If your income is $500,000 in 1941 the Government will require 85 per cent. of it.

Possibly a full-grown man would not want to go out in the road and kick a tin can, but just the same he would like to feel that he would.

Three national welfare organizations are billed to hold their annual conventions in Ottawa. If a crowded city is the place they desire to invade then they have picked the right spot.

Those who have been claiming the war would drift toward the East have at least had whatever satisfaction may come from seeing the prediction come true.

The Vichy government of France now has to deal with strikes. The cost of living has gone up 35 per cent., and wage increases of 10 per cent. are not welcome and larger ones are not possible.

It is stated that suckers are selling for 14 to 20 cents a pound for the New York market, while previously a sucker was worth from two to five cents for the entire fish, a price which seems about right.

If you want to feel that you are actually doing something, keep right on week after week buying War Savings Certificates. There may appear to be nothing heroic about it, but fighting dollars go a long way in winning wars.

¶ My Speckled Hen struts out these days, and leads her chicks in pleasant ways, her clucking job is done; and every egg she had she'd hatch, that's how she got her present batch, she never missed a one.

¶ Of course thats' not the newest way, nor how they hatch out chicks today, the present method's later; the clucking hen is out to stay, in other years she had her day, they use an incubator.

¶ They hatch out thousands at a time, they seem to get on rather fine, the pride of chicken men; it never seemed to me quite fair, these chicks being shipped off everywhere, without a mother hen.

¶ When it comes night my speckled hen, calls to her brood and gathers them, it's old as anything; she squats and tucks them for the night, and seems to do the thing just right, they cuddle 'neath her wing.

¶ When daylight comes she takes a turn, and shows them how to search a worm, and teaches them to scratch; she leads them where the ground is soft, and at my warnings she has scoffed, goes to the garden patch.

CAP and BELLS . .

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

IT IS hard to know what to say about May Day in this year of grace 1941. If I were a really up-and-coming columnist I should hinge my essay on the fact that the first of May was chosen as the international Labor holiday in 1889 and that it is now the chief festival in the calendar of Red Russia. Doubtless that will be the chief significance of this day for future generations—or so all my advanced friends tell me. Somehow I have my doubts. May Day began as a celebration of the final and undeniable arrival of spring and it will always be so. Without wishing to offer any insult to Labor, it is remarkably uninteresting when compared with the annual miracle of spring. Perhaps I may be excused, therefore, if I look backward upon this May Day, rather than forward to the rather dreary future which the communists predict for us.

C & B

Perhaps I assume too much in imagining that the majority of my readers have pleasant associations with May Day. It has been a favorite subject for many years with versifiers of all kinds, and they have produced reams of poetry and near-poetry about it. And for some inexplicable reason poetry about May and May Day has always been in high favor with that curious, and now fast disappearing race, the elocutionists. It is one of the few things which posterity will remember about that truly great but too prolific poet Alfred Tennyson that he once wrote a poem called "The May Queen" which began:

You must wake and call me early, call me early, mother dear;
To-morrow 'ill be the happiest time of all the glad New-year;
Of all the glad New-year, mother, the saddest merriest day;
For I'm to be Queen o' the May, mother, I'm to be Queen o' the May.

C & B

The poem goes on for several verses in the same vein. The speaker tells her mother boastfully that no eye in the district is so bright as her own, and refers to herself as "little Alice," a thoroughly detestable habit. Elocutionists loved it. They recited the poem with a wild abandon which suggested that some of the madness attributed to May Day had taken hold of them. It was enough to put anybody off May celebrations for life.

C & B

BUT not all May Queens can have been so irritating as the one Tennyson chose for his model. It was customary in the English countryside for each parish to choose its own May Queen and to do her honor on this day, and they must have had a good deal of innocent fun out of it. The custom, of course, derives from the ancient one of worshipping a virgin as a symbol of potential fertility; the same pagan rite was continued in the custom of dancing round the Maypole, which was a symbol of fertility. For some reasons which I cannot fathom a great many people seem to think that the association of May Day celebrations with ancient fertility rites should be hushed up. After all, fertility is as important now as at any other period in the world's history, and I do not see why we should pretend that it is not.

C & B

Certainly the Puritans hated the Maypole and all it symbolized, and during the period of the Commonwealth May celebrations were rigorously discouraged. It is interesting to notice in some of the old May songs verses which were inserted to please Puritan taste. Thus in one old song which begins:

I've been wandering all the night
And the best part of the day;
And now I am returning home again
To bring you a sprig of May.

there has been introduced a lugubrious verse which continues:

When I am dead and in my grave
All covered with cold clay—which is not in the spirit of May Day at all.

C & B

Here in Canada we do nothing very much to celebrate May Day, which is surprising, for we are even more glad to see the winter go and the spring come than most people. Apparently our ancestors dropped the custom when they came out here, and as many of them were of Puritan or Calvinist stock it is not altogether impossible that they repressed any May Day joy which may have shown itself among settlers who were, by their standards, godless.

OUT OF THE PAST

TURNING out old junk a day or two ago, I came on the admirable booklet, authorized by the French War Office, describing, and demonstrating the impregnability of, the Maginot Line. It was published in December, 1939, and I well remember the impression it made.

Its chance re-emergence tempts to no cynical reflections — but it may provoke some salutary ones. No more can we be lulled into a sense of security by defensive works, or the certainty of American help, or even the present predominance of our Air Force and our Navy.

For all these we may be thankful, but if we have not realized we are fighting an enemy against whom no effort can ever be remitted and no vigilance for a moment relaxed, our fate will inevitably be the fate of the men whom M. Maginot's incalculably costly structure was designed to protect.—London Spectator.

• Loophole In Rent Peg

Kingston Whig-Standard

AS THINGS stand now, where rent control is in effect, unless a landlord secures the consent of the rentals administrator or the local rentals committee, he is not permitted to raise rents. Neither is a landlord permitted to evict a tenant who is complying with the conditions of his lease. There are two or three exceptions to these general regulations. The landlord can give the tenant notice to vacate if the property is wanted for the use of the landlord's own family or dependents; if the landlord has sold the property under a condition whereby he guarantees to the purchaser vacant possession; and if the landlord wants the property vacant for the purpose of remodelling it or making extensive structural changes in it. The latter is the loophole which some landlords are currently using to defeat the entire spirit of the regulations, it is alleged.

Under the regulations as they now exist a local rentals tribunal has no alternative but to issue an eviction order if the landlord decides to remodel his property. If an eviction for the purpose of remodelling occurs, the rentals authority has the power to make sure that the proposed remodelling is actually undertaken and completed but thereupon apparently all control over the rent is lost. For the remodelled housing accommodation the landlord can charge all the traffic will bear. For example, a house renting for fifty or sixty a month could be converted into three or four apartments for each of which the landlord might ask more than the original rental of the entire building.

Meanwhile the tenant who had been evicted might or might not have found a place in which to house his family, but if he wanted to rent one of the apartments he would have to take his chance with all other prospective tenants in securing it.

It can be argued that this section of the regulations as it now stands leads to an increase in the number of housing units, and that this is a good thing when there is a housing shortage. On the other hand, it can, however, permit the very profiteering on a housing shortage which rent control was instituted to prevent and it deprives the tenant of the feeling of security which was another objective of the rent peg.

The obvious way to plug the loophole would be to make the original tenant a preferred applicant when remodelling is complete. If he still had not found suitable housing for himself, he should be given first chance to rent the remodelled property, (or part of it if the result were several apartments) and the rent he should pay could be determined by the local housing tribunal taking into consideration the rental he previously paid along with the new capital expenditure made by the landlord. As a matter of fact, the housing authority could still retain complete control of all rents when alterations occur if the Wartime Prices and Trade Board issued an order that rentals after alterations shall consist of the original pegged rental plus a reasonable percentage return on the new capital investment, the latter to be determined by the local tribunal taking all factors into consideration.

• A Fortune From A Flop

FOR 60 years Walter Reynolds wrote plays for the English stage. Nearly all of them were "mellerdramas," or "tear jerkers." There was always the innocent maid pursued by a villain who wore a silk hat and frock coat, twirled his mustache and said: "Ha, ha, tonight she shall be mine." And there was always a poor but honest hero who foiled the rich villain and won the maid. But that sort of thing, says St. Thomas Times-Journal, went out of fashion, and six years ago, when he was 83 years old, Walter Reynolds sought to retrieve his dwindling resources by writing a serious play called "Young England." At least he thought it was serious. But the audiences thought otherwise. It had them rolling in the aisles the first night. Critics predicted that "Young England" might have a run of not more than two or three nights. But, audiences laughed so loudly at the old melodrama cliches and in the wrong places that it literally became a "howling" success. The play ran in London for nine months, went on tour and was revived later in London.

When the villain said: "Where shall I put the money?" the audience yelled back: "In the safe, fathead." And so the game began. Crowds flocked to the playhouse not so much to see the play as to hear the rest of the audience. A "Young England" club was formed. All the members knew the dialogue and used to chant it—a few lines ahead of the actors. Sometimes carrots showered on to the stage. Sometimes pennies. The leading lady was struck by flying coins and had to have her face stitched when it was cut open. At Daly's the show had to be abandoned one night because the artists could not make themselves heard above the din.

The Lord Chamberlain's office complained about rowdyism and lessees at another theatre refused to allow the play to be transferred there.

Mr. Reynolds died the other day in comfortable circumstances but a disappointed man. He made $15,000 out of his only "serious" drama—and the audience laughed him into affluence. He might have preferred to preserve his dignity as a dramatist and die poor.

A Bit of Nonsense

Herself Only

She: "Do you love me for myself alone?"

He: "Yes and when we're married I don't want any of the family thrown in."

Seeing To The World

He was a new recruit to the Navy and he joined it in the hope of fulfilling his youth's ambitions of adventure on the high seas and travel to distant lands. But at first he was sent to a training school, and at the end of two weeks he had spent most of his time digging ditches, chopping trees, and filling up holes. Finally he sought his superior officer.

"You see, sir," he complained, "when I joined the Navy they told me I should see the world, and here for two solid weeks I've done nothing but rearrange it!"

GLORIOUS GREECE

HOW the Battle of Greece will come out, we don't know. But we do know that a little land has grown great again. Win or lose, her sacrifice kindles new courage, her heroism raises new hope for all who love liberty everywhere.

Perhaps this is poor balm for the wounded, whose homes are sacked, whose families stumble among the shell holes of the dead.

But maybe not. It was their grim choice. Deliberately they chose suffering as better than willing surrender to the conqueror. And thereby they still find honor.

Such a people cannot be insensitive to the world's regard. It must help them to know that the prayers of multitudes in the enslaved lands, as in the democracies are with with them.

Glorious is the word for Greece.—New York World-Telegram.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

Then the soldiers, when they had crucified Jesus, took his garments, and made four parts, to every soldier a part: and also his coat: now the coat was without seam, woven from the top throughout. They said therefore among themselves, Let us not rend it, but cast lots for it, whose it shall be: that the scripture might be fulfilled, which saith, They parted my raiment among them, and for my vesture they did cast lots. These things therefore the soldiers did.—John xix, 23, 24.

Capt. Widdows Inspects Norwood Cadets

NORWOOD, May 1 (ENS)—The annual inspection of the Norwood High School Cadet Corps was held in the Exhibition Grounds Tuesday afternoon. A good attendance of interested spectators was present to show their interest in the boys' work. A warm sun and cooling breeze provided excellent weather conditions. Captain Widdows of Headquarters Company, Midland Regiment, Millbrook, was the Inspecting Officer.

The Norwood Cadets appeared on the parade grounds sharply at one-thirty, uniformed in the customary kakhi, under the command of Commanding Officer Carl Stevenson and Second-in-Command Gerald Buck. The corps consisted of two platoons, the Junior Platoon under the command of Platoon Commander James Petticrew with Morley Nelson as the Platoon Sergeant, while the Senior Platoon was under the command of Platoon Commander Walter Cole with Lloyd Fife as the Platoon Sergeant. Drum accompaniment was provided for marching by Drummer Donald Richardson.

The inspection began with the general salute followed by the march past the reviewing stand in column of line and column of platoon. Captain Widdows taking the salute.

Captain Widdows then proceeded with the inspection of the ranks accompanied by O.C. Carl Stevenson and Principal S. S. Breckon. The corps then fell out for physical training under the supervision of Physical Training Instructor Gordon S. Fennell of the Norwood High School staff. This consisted of an exhibition of physical exercises, followed by three games. After the P.T. section of the inspection, the cadets paraded before the reviewing stand to hear a short report on the inspection from Captain Widdows, during which he complimented the cadets on their fine showing and presented Cadet Paul Petticrew with a special prize donated by Colonel R. E. Birdsall of Birdsall, Ont., for the best cadet in the Junior Platoon, while the Senior Platoon was awarded the prize for the best disciplined platoon.

This was followed by an address from Principal S. S. Breckon during which he thanked Captain Widdows for his fine report on the inspection. After Principal Breckon's address, the girls of the High School under the leadership of Music Instructor Miss Irene Chapman, sang the National Anthem. After the inspection the cadets marched through downtown Norwood to the Cenotaph for the salute to the fallen, followed by dismissal.

85,000 Aged And Ill Slain By Germans—"Useless In War"

NEW YORK, May 1 (CP)—"The New Republic" carried an article yesterday by Michael Straight, its Washington editor, asserting that in September, October and November of 1940 the Nazis put to death 85,000 blind, aged or incurably ill persons in Germany because they were unable to contribute to the German war effort.

"They were put to death as casually as the S.P.C.A. (Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals) chloroforms old and helpless dogs," the article says. "They were killed because they could no longer manufacture guns in return for the food which they consumed; because the German hospitals were needed for wounded soldiers; because their death was the ultimate logic of the National Socialist doctrine of racial superiority and survival of the physically fit."

Straight, 24-year-old son of the late Willard Straight, founder of "The New Republic," says that his information comes from a prelate of the Roman Catholic Church. The Church, in turn, he says, received its information from Catholic priests and bishops in Germany.

The sole clue to the executions, said to have been carried out by poison, gas chambers and injection of air bubbles into the veins, is contained in the December issue of "Acta Apostolicas Sedis," the official monthly publication of the Vatican, Straight says.

According to Straight, on a rear page of that issue, printed in Latin, is an acknowledgment of a question sent to Pope Pius XII by an unnamed German bishop. The acknowledgment says: "It was asked of the Supreme Sacred Congregation: 'Whether, by order of public authority, it is illicit directly to kill those who, although they have committed no crime deserving death, yet, because of mental or physical defects, are no longer able to benefit the nation, and are considered rather to burden the nation and to obstruct its energy and strength.'"

Straight says that the reply, approved by the Pope, said that the question must be answered: "In the negative,' since it is contrary to natural and Divine positive law."

"Systematic Euthanasia."

The story behind the few lines in the Vatican publication, according to Straight, is this:

"There is a big hospital near Urach, in Wuerttemburg. In September the priests of Urach noted that the elderly people in the hospital were dying in increased numbers, and dying on certain days. These priests discovered that systematic euthanasia was being practiced in this hospital. The old and incurably ill were being killed off by the injection of small quantities of poison into their veins.

"Later, according to the accounts of these priests, the Gestapo found that poisoning was unnecessarily expensive. Gas chambers were used, the priests reported, until the Nazis found an even simpler method which involved no cost at all. Air bubbles were injected into the veins of those chosen to die and death was instantaneous when the bubbles reached the heart. Relatives of the victims were never told, of course. They merely received a small box containing the victim's ashes."

Highway Used For Runway

A test pilot from Trenton Airport made a perfect takeoff on Wednesday afternoon with the Harvard trainer plane which made a forced landing in J. T. O'Connell's wheat field on Monday.

A crew of ground men from Trenton had wheeled the plane into position in the field for an attempted takeoff on Tuesday, but the ground was too soft and the plane wouldn't lift. Put in a quandary and not wishing to dismantle the big craft, the crew wheeled it out on to the paved highway, while Sergt. Samis with a company of soldiers from the Military Training Centre policed a half-mile of the highway.

The test pilot lost no time in preliminaries and headed into the wind to leave the paved runway in a few hundred feet and zoomed away into the sky, clearing trees and hydro posts with plenty to spare.

One motorist who witnessed the takeoff remarked that this flier was not the first person who flew close to the ground along No. 7 Highway, meaning, of course, some of the speed demons who travel this route in motor cars.

John M. R. Fairbairn In Naval Service

OTTAWA, May 1 — (CP). — John M. R. Fairbairn, former chief engineer of Canadian Pacific Railways, has been appointed Director of Works and Buildings, Naval Service, it was announced at Naval Headquarters to-day.

A graduate of the University of Toornto, Fairbairn was born at Peterborough, Ontario.

He joined the C.P.R. Engineering Department in 1899, was appointed chief engineer in 1918, and held the post until his retirement in 1938.

Pineapple Season Advanced A Month

Housewives who leave off their purchases of pineapples until a couple of weeks may find themselves having to take smaller than the larger size more preferable for this purpose. It was learned authoritatively to-day that only about two-thirds of last year's crop will be realized by Cuban growers due to weather conditions. Another feature of the pineapple situation is that the season this year is about a month ahead of last year also due to the weather.

It was pointed out that pineapples packed 18 to the case are better for preserving because they have better flavor and there is less waste than in the smaller sizes. But when the 16's expire about mid-May, sizes 24 and 30 will have to be next choice.

LOVE POWER

By OREN ARNOLD

(Science admits the possibility that atomic power may be harnessed to run man's machines. When this is accomplished, by splitting atoms of U-235, found in the element Uranium, a vast source of energy will be released. This serial, "Love Power," anticipates that scientific feat, and while the background is based upon fact, all characters and incidents are entirely fictional. Any resemblance to actual persons, places or events is entirely coincidental.)

CHAPTER I

AWED by what he knew now to be true, Dr. Robert Hale backed slowly away from his observation chair, moving as if under a hypnotic spell. The sheer potency of what had occurred here seemed to have numbed him even though it was expected and planned.

He glanced once at Miss Sormi. She knew! She looked ghostly, her eyes wide as she waited there by the door; gazing back spellbound at the great unit in full realization of what it contained.

Neither spoke until they were outside.

"Robert!" She whispered it tremulously, and repeated, "Robert!"

Faces strained, they were still staring back in.

"Wait here," said he. "I'll go back and—"

"No! No, no!"

"Just to throw the switch, Leana. You know that must be done!"

The switch was a massive bar; Miss Sormi stood transfixed while he put both hands to it and pulled. The weird hum that had dominated their laboratory stopped instantly, as if genuinely glad of its own release, but the silence that followed was almost a tangible thing.

Robert glanced at the windows, verifying for the hundredth time that they were both high and barred. The steel door across the room he knew to be doubly locked. Back near Leana Sormi, he paused only to push a button that controlled the lights, then moved outside and locked the door. They walked a hundred yards toward the offices before either spoke again.

"Don't be uneasy," he labored to say it easily himself. "Go about your personal routine."

"Yes, Robert."

"Say nothing, of course. I—I shall take the precaution of setting an armed guard. A man, several men, with rifles."

"Rifles!" She spoke contemptuously.

Dr. Hale nodded, looking afar off. "I know. Impotent now, Leana. But—only you and I know! You and I! The only two people in the world who do know! The only two people since —since Creation!"

He was literally shaking under the power of his thoughts.

"You and I," murmured Leana. "Two people. You and I."

FOR an eternity they stood there, a dark-haired, hatless young man and a blond woman in white, just thinking, trying to grasp it, striving to be sensible in the face of their achievement. A factual two minutes passed and he turned toward the office door. He inhaled deeply.

"There is no hurry," said he. "No hurry at all, Leana. We absolutely must be calm at this stage. The armed guard will serve as a precaution. It may be several days before we—before we can—well, everything must be recorded first, Leana! The records must be brought absolutely up to date and copies sent to the principal universities and commercial laboratories just as a safeguard. I told you I had advertised for a secretary. Stenographic help which I knew would be needed."

"Yes, Robert."

"They were to call at 4. It is past 3 now."

"They?"

"The applicants. I advertised in the newspapers for applications by mail. A few wrote excellent letters with good references. I will go in now."

His study was down the hall and through an inner glass door with his name lettered on it, and as he approached the door, up four low steps, he gradually became conscious of a girl standing there. He paused and looked owl-eyed at her.

She was an extraordinarily pretty person. That much was instantly clear. She had a stature somewhat shorter than his own, and hair as dark as his. The hair fell to her shoulders and bounded part way up again in an orderly if oddly intricate set of curves and curls. Her eyes—most surprisingly—were as violet as Leana Sormi's, and her skin almost as fair. She wore a springish street costume of simple but highly becoming lines. Dr. Hale's mind, long trained for minute observations, quite automatically catalogued these pleasant details.

"How do you do?" she greeted him. "You must be Dr. Hale. My name is Carolyn Tyler and you wrote me to call."

"Oh." The day's work had been of transcendant import to Dr. Hale anyway, and now violet eyes were trained upon him. He repeated, "Oh."

"Your advertisement said 'specialized secretary willing to face certain exceptional conditions at exceptional pay.' That interests me on both counts, sir, as I wrote you. I'm a bit early, but I am eager to start."

Dr. Hale swallowed. "Oh. Oh yes, Miss—Miss Tyler. I—you—"

CAROLYN smiled at him, in slow amusement. So this was the renowned scientist, Dr. Hale! Not a cold, calculating freak or anything of the sort. Just a man. A youngish man at that, like somebody's brother. Ever so good looking in spite of tired eyes and tousled hair. Sensitive mouth. Slender but oddly powerful hands. And ill at ease with girls!

He didn't invite her in. He just stared and talked there in the hall.

"The pay—any price, any salary you need. I—I rather like you. Very much, in fact. Credentials were sound. And you had initiative enough to get here ahead of the others. But—Miss Tyler, you don't realize—you—what of secrecy—and danger? Danger, Miss Tyler! This is not—I—"

She sought to calm him. "You make me curious. I keep secrets, and I am not afraid of many bugaboos, Dr. Hale."

"But this isn't scary things! Not —not snakes or ghosts or childish doings. I—I can't even phrase it! This is something that will revolutionize civilization itself!"

Carolyn began to sense the intensity of his feeling. Curiosity became tinged with a vague sense of alarm. Her lower lip tucked in and she gazed intently at him, trying to understand.

SPORTS — DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

Those amazing Brooklyn Dodgers simply refuse to be stopped. Yesterday they came from behind to win their ninth game in a row and hang up their thirteenth win in fourteen starts and it was done at the expense of the champion Reds and Johnny Vandermeer who absorbed his first loss of the season. For most of the way it looked as if the Dodgers' winning streak was going to be snapped off for the Reds led 3 to 0 going into the eighth. However the Daffyness Boys came through with three runs in that frame to tie up the argument and manufactured the winning run in the ninth. At that the Dodgers had to win to keep almost even with the St. Louis Cardinals who went in front by toppling the New York Giants 6 to 4. The Boston Braves—and that name is not a misprint for the erstwhile Bees have decided to return to the old title—showed that they could lose just as easily under one as the other and dropped a 9 to 4 decision to the Cubs, Larry French being the winning pitcher and Salvo the losing. The Phillies won the other National League game from the Pittsburg Pirates.

Only the New York Yanks saved the second day of the invasion of the west by the eastern American League clubs from being another complete washout. The New Yorkers with Russo producing another nice pitching effort managed to take a fall out of the St. Louis Browns but they were the only eastern club to come up with a win. Cleveland Indians again defeated the Philadelphia Athletics 6 to 5 but it was a close call, the Tribe staging a ninth inning rally to score three runs and take the ball game after the Mackmen had apparently salted the contest away. Ken Keltner was the hero or the villain according to whether you are a Cleveland or a Philadelphia fan. He knocked the ball out of the park in the ninth with a teammate trotting across the plate in front of him and that was the payoff smash.

The Detroit Tigers who haven't had much luck against anybody else this season seem to find the Boston Red Sox just like cousins. The Bengals were on the top end of a 12 to 8 score yesterday. Buck Newsom, Detroit ace of last season who had been beaten in three previous starts went the route against Joe Cronin's men and with his teammates crashing out a flock of hits and scoring a dozen runs the veteran had an easy task. The Red Sox started off with Wagner and then gave Lefty Judd who once upon a time pitched a Peterborough team out of an intermediate title a chance to show his wares. He was only in a couple of innings when he too had to have help. Jimmy Dykes' surprising White Sox continued their winning ways at the expense of the Washington Senators, defeating them 5 to 1 with Smith dishing out top grade pitching.

A Chance For The Training Centre

The fact that the Lakeshore Baseball League is looking for an intermediate entry from Peterborough this season might be right up the alley for sporting enthusiasts at the local Military Training Camp. Rumors have it that a number of the men at the camp are keenly interested in hard ball and that there are a few really good ball players in uniform down at the big camp. With hundreds to select from and men from all over the country in training here it might be an easy matter to field a club that would give a good account of itself in the Lakeshore loop. With senior ball apparently deader than a last year's bird's nest here the way would be clear for intermediate ball and a soldier team in an organized league would be sure of plenty of support. Anyway we pass the idea along to the boys at the camp.

* * * * * *

Many ball fans here in Canada who declare that softball is knocking the regular brand of baseball out of the picture perhaps do not realize that the same thing is going on in the home of baseball. Across the border last year the softball variety spread like a prairie fire. The American Softball Association included no fewer than 61,750 softball teams last season with a membership of close to a million players and in addition there were thousands of unregistered teams. The game over there differs in a number of respects from the Canadian variety. Ten players are used on a team instead of nine and the distance between bases is 60 feet as against the 55 feet distance adopted in Ontario this season. Another difference is that all the United States players use gloves in the field while here only the catcher and first baseman are so equipped. Again the American game prohibits bunting, always a feature of the Canadian edition of softball.

Says the Belleville Ontario-Intelligencer: "Every town in the Central Ontario zone has been invited to affiliate with some recognized baseball league or other, that is with the exception of Belleville. Provincial baseball heads just pass up the Quinte City with a mere glance of indifference. Oshawa and Peterborough have been asked to affiliate with the Lakeshore League, now embracing Port Hope, Cobourg and Bowmanville, while Kingston has been invited to consider a berth in the newly proposed Interprovincial Baseball League, along with Hull, Ottawa, Smiths Falls and Buckingham, Que. Carleton Place was counted as a sixth member of the new loop, but is unable to field a team, thus leaving the way open for a possibel Kingston entry. The Limestone City baseball heads had considered a berth in the St. Lawrence League with Perth, Brockville, etc., but the new interprovincial loop suggestion holds a much greater financial responsibility, but then they were always willing to gamble in Kingston and with so many new faces the Kingston entry should flourish."

Winnipeg's Memorial Cup

After one of the closest final series on record the Winnipeg Rangers took the Memorial Cup last night when they defeated the Montreal Royals in Toronto 7 goals to 4 in the fifth and final game of the championship round. Montreal youngsters put on a great battle before they finally succumbed and on the territorial play last night had a distinct edge on the Rangers but a great exhibition by Thompson in the nets for the Westerners plus the expert manner in which the Winnipeggers cashed in on their fewer scoring chances spelled defeat for them. Had the Quebec champions faced the Rangers on Montreal ice in the final game the result might quite easily been reversed for the Royals won both the games they played at home. However they are victims of the C.H.A.'s hunger for bigger gates.

The Belleville "Y" ladies' basketball team will play an exhibition game this evening with the Quaker Aces in the Y.W.C.A. gym at 8.45 o'clock. The local Aces finished their season about a month ago when they defeated the Belleville girls in the Quinte town. It was impossible to arrange a return game at the time but the Belleville girls who have just completed their city playoffs this week wanted a return visit and so they will be here tonight. It should be an interesting battle. Both teams play a fast-breaking game and they are very evenly matched so that there should be a lot of action before the final whistle blows.

Skull-Cap Swat Claimed Cure For Slices

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 1—(CP)—If you don't play golf, but can't quit trying, here's your chance to show the other guys in your favorite foursome a thing or two.

Francis (Thomas Edison) Marzolf, professional at the Wyandot members, Roy Kirk, have perfected a gadget guaranteed to make you hit 'em straight as a string, and as far (almost) as Jimmy Thomson or Sam Snead.

It's a simple thing, but Marzolf declares it forces even the worst dub to observe the cardinal principles of keeping the head down, and the head and shoulders in the same plane through the swing.

"I don't see why someone hasn't thought of it before," Marzolf says. "It looks like the answer to all golf trouble between the tee and the Green." The gadget really looks like something from a screwball inventor's nightmare.

It consists of a seven-foot pipe rising from a heavy iron base. Horizontally from that pipe extends another, at the end of which is a leather skullcap, attached to a roller-bearing pivot. The golfer takes his natural stance, the cap is fitted by lowering or elevating the horizontal bar, and the practice swing is on.

If you have a tendency to lift your head, the skull cap stops you. Holding the head in place also forces the shoulders to swing in the correct plane, for you can't lift or lower them too much or you lose contact with the cap.

"After a few swings the golfer, if he has an adaptability at all, begins to realize what he's been doing wrong, and the gadget corrects the faults for him," Marzolf said.

So there you are, you dubs — a chance to slash your usual 100 right down to 70 or thereabouts.

Campbellford Stays Out Of Quinte Group

CAMPBELLFORD, May 1—(ENS)—The Campbellford Tennis Club which has been receiving far less publicity than it deserved during the past year probably in view of its retirement from the Bay of Quinte League, held its annual meeting this week without taking any definite action with regard to league competitions. The same feeling that prevailed a year ago—too many of the club's senior players have retired to permit successful competition. Result is that local tennis big wigs have decided to spend another year in bringing up new material before stepping out with their former company.

At the meeting members decided to curtail expenses as far as possible for the current year, and even planned to do most of the work in repairing and maintaining the courts themselves. The fees were set at three dollars to be paid before the 1st of June.

Following are the officers: President, Don. Meyers; Sec.-Treas., Hector MacMillan; Membership Committee, Misses Viola Couch, Margaret Robertson; Messrs. Donald Bennett. Walter Greenshields and Jack Little; Games Committee, W. A. Kingston; Coaches, Miss Grace Cairns, Don. Meyers; Social Committee, Miss Grace Cairns, convener, Eleanor Ferris, Mrs. George Ralph, Mrs. J. A. C. Allan.

The Sports Round-Up

By EDDIE BRIETZ, AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 1 — (AP). — Paste this feed box special in your derby: Porter's Cap, Dispose, Starter, in that order....Abe Simon, who has insured his hands for $25,000, is the first pug on record to do same. Abraham's taking no chances on his Dukes being put out of commission before the (if and when) Joe Louis encore....Lou Tufano was so tickled when his Market Wise won the Wood Memorial last week, he gave Trainer George Carroll and Jockey Don Meade cheques for $5,000.

First place or last, they're the same old Dodgers....The other day they made a double play to start the fifth and the entire crew, pitcher, infielders and outfielders, came charging into the bench, thinking the inning was over.

WINNIPEG RANGERS WHIP ROYALS TO WIN JUNIOR HOCKEY CROWN

Western Goalie Proves Hero Of 7 to 4 Battle

By ROBERT CLARKE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

TORONTO, May 1 —(CP)—The glory that goes to a champion belonged today to Winnipeg Rangers.

One word — powerhouse — is all that is necessary to describe the Rangers, who won the Memorial Cup and the Canadian junior hockey title here last night before 7,000 fans with a smashing 7-4 victory over Montreal Royals in the fifth game of their best-of-five series.

Big and fast, and able to strike crushing blows, the Rangers succeeded to a title that had been held for the two previous seasons by Oshawa Generals. Their victory in the cup final gave the West a 12-11 edge in the 23 years that the trophy has been up for play.

Hero for the Rangers was Winnipeg's six-foot goaltender, Hal Thompson, who held off Royals with a spectacular display through the first two periods until Rangers gathered their forces for the knock-out blow in the third.

The offensive stars for Rangers were Bill Robinson and Les Hickey, who each scored twice. The other Winnipeg goals went to Bill Mortimer, Hugh Millar and Bob Ballance.

The Royals goals were scored by Grant Morrison, Rollie Bleau, Jimmy Pianche and Bobby Carragher.

Royals were disappointed in defeat but one and all they conceded that the Rangers were a great team. "Whether we think we should have won or not fails to detract from the fact that they're real champions," said Carragher. "We've got a pretty good fighting club ourself and yet they outfought us in the last period when it counted most."

Orioles Invade Toronto Today

TORONTO, May 1 — (CP). — The International League fires the second barrel of opening day ceremonies this afternoon in the four so-called "northern" cities of the circuit.

Providing the Weather Man cooperates, fans of Rochester, Buffalo, Toronto and Montreal will turn out for the usual inaugural day celebrations and welcome home their heroes from a two-week road trip.

The same clubs which started the season in the "south" April 17, will again face each other across the diamond, with Rochester meeting Jersey City, Buffalo entertaining Syracuse, Montreal playing host to Newark, and Toronto welcoming Baltimore.

Probably the outstanding feature of the league to date has been the one-two punch of the Bisons provided by their star hurlers, Freddy Hutchinson and Virgil Trucks.

This pair has been working with the smooth precision of twin motors and have accounted for six of their team's seven triumphs. Each has an unblemished record of three victories and promise to make a combination similar to the Derringer-Walters duo of the Cincinnati Reds.

Hutchinson won seven of 10 games for the Bisons last year before the Detroit Tigers recalled him.

Trucks, nicknamed "Fire Trucks" because of his blazing speed, is playing his first year with the Herd. He is a big righthander up from Beaumont of the Texas League. He had struck out 26 in the three games he pitched.

Interprovincial Junior Hockey

TORONTO, May 1 (CP)—A move is underway to operate an interprovincial junior hockey league next season made up of five Ontario clubs and a team representing the Royals Hockey Club of Montreal, it was revealed here today.

Sponsor of the plan is Gus Ogilvie, manager of the Montreal Royals team which bowed in a five-game final to Winnipeg Rangers for the Memorial Cup and the Canadian junior title. Ogilvie emphasized however, that the plan is merely in the embryo stage at present.

The Royals manager said that the intention would be to have Toronto Marlboros, Toronto Young Rangers, Oshawa Generals, Toronto St. Michael's, and one other Ontario team in the league besides Royals. Ogilvie mentioned Guelph Biltmores as a possible "sixth club."

"I mentioned the idea to Mr. Hewitt (W. A. Hewitt, secretary of the Ontario Hockey Association) and he seemed to like it very much," said Ogilvie. "I'll be back in Toronto in a couple of weeks to talk it over further with him."

Ogilvie said that the idea behind his plan is to increase public interest in junior hockey in Montreal by having a Montreal team in a league which is considered the strongest in eastern Canada.

Aussie Champ Quitting Ring

SYDNEY, N.S.W., May 1—(CP). —Ron Richards, triple boxing champion of Australia, and recognized as British Empire middleweight champion, has announced his retirement from the ring. His Australian titles were middleweight, light heavyweight, and heavyweight.

Efforts were made to match Richards with the British boxers Jock McAvoy and Len Harvey for Empire titles and when these failed Australia decided to stage her own contest for the Empire middleweight crown. In this Richards beat Fred Henneberry, a former middleweight.

Now Favored To Cinch Derby

Dodgers Shade Reds By 4-3; Giants Lose 6-4

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

The National League race is in its typical Spring squeeze.

Brooklyn Dodgers climbed into first place Monday by winning their seventh straight game. Tuesday they won their eighth and slipped into a tie. Wednesday they won their ninth in succession and dropped into second place.

This would seem to be going full speed forward in reverse, and that may be just as clear as trying to explain the actual jam now involving the Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals.

Brooklyn has won 13 games and lost four for a .765 percentage, while St. Louis has a record of 10 and three for .769.

Yesterday's ninth victory at Brooklyn came on the anniversary of their ninth straight last Spring at Cincinnati, the day Tex Carleton pitched his no-hitter.

Johnny Vander Meer put the brakes on Brooklyn for seven innings yesterday, scattering three singles and striking out eight, while his teammates routed Kirby Higbe for a 3-0 lead. But in the eighth inning Dixie Walker and Joe Medwick hit home runs, sandwiched around a walk, to tie the score and in the ninth Mickey Owen and Peewee Reese smacked a pair of doubles for a run to win 4-3.

Cards Clip Giants

The Cardinals hopped on Hal Schumacher for a dozen hits, including homers by Country Slaughter and Johnny Mize, to whip New York Giants again 6-4.

Chicago Cubs clustered four runs in the first and four more in the eighth to blast Boston Braves 9-4 with the help of four Boston errors.

Cy Blanton, a castoff of Pittsburg Pirates, kept 10 hits scattered and struck out six as the Phillies pummeled the Pirates 8-4.

Cleveland Indians extended their winning string to six by overtaking Philadelphia Athletics 6-5 on Ken Keltner's three-run homer with two out in the ninth inning.

Detroit Tigers finally roused from their hitting slump to roar out with 18 hits and subdue Boston Red Sox 12-8. Rudy York hit a home run with two on and also contributed two doubles to the attack.

Chicago White Sox held on to second place in the junior circuit by beating Washington Senators 5-1, and Joe Gordon and Marius Russo led New York Yankees to vengeance against St. Louis Browns, 7-1.

Central Ontario Team Wins

The winning team overcame the lead given 2nd Division by the showing of Vergette and Sharpe.

G. Monkman Is Again Club President

At the annual spring meeting of the Whitaker Cricket Club held at the Company's office the following executive for the coming season was announced:

Hon. Presidents, Messrs. G. Whitaker, J.P., A. P. Whiteley and R. R. Whitaker, all of Bradford, England; president, Mr. Gordon Monkman; vice-presidents, Messrs. C. V. Elliott, C. A. Farnham and J. T. Hornsby; captain, J. Hawthorne; vice-captain, G. Colbran; secretary-treasurer, A. H. Radford; entertainment, F. C. Roberts; ground and equipment, F. Smith and K. Hanbidge; transportation, G. Haig and P. Dyer; auditors, W. A. Brown and J. Bolton; umpire, F. C. Roberts.

There was a full attendance of members, including F Dyer (captain) and B. Boothroyd (secretary) of the Peterborough Club.

There was a full discussion as to the arrangements for the season and routine business. It was felt that the prospects for a good season were bright. They will open against Trinity College School at Port Hope on Saturday, May 3 and a return game will be played here on May 17, and the Grove School, Lakefield will be next on May 31 and other matches are being arranged.

After a long tenure of office J. Wild has resigned from the captaincy. His regular absence from the city on business for the firm during the cricket season induced this step.

The "skippers" services and influence were a great asset to the side and will be greatly missed. J. Hawthorne will captain the side and George Colbran succeeds Archie Hamilton as vice-captain.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, May 2

According to the general trend of the lunar transits this period is one of major expansion and advancement, with strokes of the unexpected and unpredictable characterizing all mundane affairs. Unforseen change as well as outstanding developments of a radical or reformatory nature may be impending, and the individual life prepared to assume large responsibility and leadership in the new order may be greatly benefited. In a routine way this day will bring due recognition and reward for service well-rendered, with private satisfactions.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are on the threshold of a year of major importance in the march of human destiny. There may be crises and high adventures and romance to which the prepared life will respond with much expansion, advancement and personal gratification. There may be unpredictable and spectacular visitations plunging the life into new walks and fresh ventures, of a creative and dramatic scope beyond the power to analyse. Minor anxieties should melt away.

A child born on this day should have fine sterling qualities for a successful and happy life, its real worth finding proper rewards and personal gratifications.

Mouth Organs Are Requested For Highlanders Harmonica Band

A second appeal has been made for mouth organs for the Harmonica band of the Stormont, Dundas and Glehgarry Highlanders at Debert, Nova Scotia. Last week, an appeal was sent out to Peterborough residents to assist the boys in this regard but there was no response.

The harmonica band was organized by Lieut. Harry Willis of Peterborough and more than half the fifty members are from this city. They practice about ten hours a week and are called upon many times to play at camp concerts. Their store of numbers has reached more than a hundred songs and they can play for more than an hour without stopping.

With so much use, the reeds of the first mouth organs obtained for the band are worn out. And, in order to increase the number of members in the band, additional mouth organs are needed.

Four bass organs are required along with 10 chromatics and 14 single reed instruments to make a total of 32. Each month, an additional $10 worth of instruments will be needed to replace the ones being worn out.

35,000 Tons Sunk

BERLIN, May 1 — (AP). — The German high command today claimed the sinking of 35,265 tons of British merchant shipping from "strongly-protected convoys" and one of the convoying vessels by U-boat attack.

It was further claimed that speedboats thrusting against the British southeast coast yesterday attacked another "strongly protected" convoy and sank three merchantmen totalling 9,500 tons.

"Any Hun Threats At Crete Seen As Bluff

(By KIRKE L. SIMPSON,)

WASHINGTON, May 1—(AP). — Anglo-Greek success in holding even the Greek Island of Crete, which the Nazis say is their next "mopping-up" objective in the Mediterranean, must turn upon the extent to which the Allies have managed to fortify and garrison it since Britain took it over at the outset of the Greek-Italian war.

Adequately manned and gunned, Crete could offer formidable resistance to any invader. Presumably substantial forces of Greek and British troops are rallying there following evacuation of the Greek mainland. Their chances of repelling invasion attempts, even of withstanding Nazi-Fascist bombing attack, behind the seventy miles or so of sea between the island and the nearest point on the Peloponnesus, would seem reasonably good.

Yet any realistic appraisal of those chances must be keyed to the actualities of the Allied retreat to the island. Much may depend upon the fighting equipment that British and Greek forces falling back into Crete for a last stand managed to carry with them under constant Nazi air attack.

British silence guards details of the evacuation. If the escape from Greece is being made on the same terms as the withdrawal from Dunkirk, the troops being ferried to Crete do not constitute an army. At Dunkirk the British and French troops left behind them everything they could not carry away in their hands. At third of a million men were put out of action until they could be reorganized and re-equipped.

Island Is Important.

Crete is so important to British strength in the Eastern Mediterranean, however, that its preparation for defence must have been a first consideration. Not even the exigencies of the Balkan campaign could have induced the London authorities or the British Middle East Command to overlook the strategic values of Crete. There have been eyewitness accounts of British efforts to turn the island into an Eastern equivalent of Gibraltar.

As for the battle on the Greek mainland, Nazi forces are reported to be nearing the southern coast of the Peloponnesus, and so the end of the Allied retreat is at hand. There are intimations from both London and Australia that heavy as British losses may be, the valiant and prolonged rear-guard stand of the Allies has permitted escape to Crete of enough fighting men and armament to warrant hope of holding it indefinitely. Spokesmen of the Greek Government in refuge there have declared that to be their intention and Britain can no more abandon them now than she could have refused to embark on the disastrous Balkan campaign in the first place under pledges given Greece.

A Nazi attempt to take Crete by invasion might be staged as a dress rehearsal for a similar attack on the United Kingdom. Yet the risk of repulse would be serious. It seems more likely that for the present Nazi threats in the direction of Crete may be designed to screen new blows elsewhere, possibly in the Sicilian Straits to reinforce the stalled Axis drive on the Libyan-Egyptian border.

5 Ships Said Sunk In Atlantic Since April 20

NEW YORK, May 1 — (AP). — Marine circles said yesterday that Axis submarines, prowling in the Atlantic from Iceland in the north as far south as Freetown, West Africa, have recently torpedoed at least five ships totalling 37,361 tons. They said that:

The North German Lloyd liner Alster, 8,514 tons, captured by Britain during the Norwegian campaign and renamed the Empire Endurance was torpedoed 600 miles west of Ireland, April 20.

The 10,305-ton British passenger liner Calchas was torpedoed 500 miles off the African coast and about 350 miles southwest of the Canary Islands. The 20-year-old liner had been recently trading between Australia and England.

The new British freighter Shillong, 5,529 tons, ran into a submarine refuelling from a tanker about 1,000 miles off Morocco and 300 miles south of the Azores and was presumed to be lost because she failed to report after sending out an alarm.

The British passenger liner Nerissa, 5,583 tons, reported sighting a U-boat 700 miles southeast of Greenland and about 800 miles east of Newfoundland then her radio went silent. The liner formerly traded between New York, Halifax and the West Indies and recently ran between Boston and England.

The Belgian liner Ville de Liege, 7,430 tons, torpedoed April 13, sank about 500 miles east of the tip of Greenland.

and Sault Ste. Marie—planned to stay away from work for 24 hours Friday to discuss the strike of 300 employees of the Peck Rolling Mills at Montreal.

But early today, shortly after his arrival here, Mr. Barrett told The Canadian Press:—

"Nothing whatever will happen on Friday. My instructions virtually amount to orders that there must be no staying off work and that no meetings are to be held."

Today Mr. Barrett was to confer with Federal Labor Department officials in an effort to end the week-old strike at the Peck Mills.

"I hope that we can arrange a settlement and nothing must be done to jeopardize our success," he said, adding that he would keep union locals advised of developments.

New Break In Montreal?

Meantime, the possibility of another strike arose in Montreal. The Ornamental and Iron Workers' Union there voted last night to go out on strike unless demands for a wage increase of 10 cents an hour are granted.

Members of the union are engaged both in the building industry and manufacturing. The Builders' Exchange—an association of Montreal building contractors — yesterday offered a five-cent pay increase but this was rejected.

Alan Wright, field representative of the S.W.O.C., was to take the men's decision to the Builders' Exchange today. Present wage rates range from 50 to 70 cents an hour.

Yesterday, Munitions Minister Howe and Labor Minister McLarty told the House of Commons a controller was appointed at Hamilton because National Steel Car had failed to accept a conciliation board recommendation for immediate reinstatement of an employee against whom it was alleged the company had shown discrimination.

Mr. Howe said it was felt the management of the company "took an unreasonable attitude."

"The result was," he said, "we were losing production of shells for British orders and labor trouble threatened at other plants where loss of production would have been even more serious."

The Company's Stand

Last night the Company issued a statement in regard to the now-ended strike. It said the Conciliation Board decided to defer final decision on cases of alleged wrongful dismissal or discrimination but "solely on the ground that one (George) Tanner was president of the local union and an applicant for the Board, recommended his immediate reinstatement, though he had been dismissed for non-attendance during working hours and for late arrival . . .

"As the Board of Conciliation had not decided on the merits of his case and it appeared that to reinstate him would be resented by the great body of our highly-competent production and supervisory staff, we decided not to do so."

The statement said the strike was "foredoomed to failure but by its precipitate intervention when production was rapidly coming back to normal through the voluntary return of our regular employees, the government saved the C.I.O.—S.W.O.C. from the consequences of their defeat and thus gave them practical encouragement which can only be detrimental to Canada's war effort."

farmers is concerned."

Store Up Supplies

Instead of growing less wheat Canada should join with other nations of the Empire and the United States in offering good supplies to the nations of Europe the moment the aggressors are overthrown, he suggested. Such an offer, he said, would have an important effect on the length of the war.

He also condemned the Government for not offering wheat to Great Britain as a gift. He said if this had been done earlier rationing of food might not have been necessary in Great Britain.

"The question of payment is of secondary importance to the stakes at issue," he said.

This was not the time to restrict wheat production.

"Let us produce and continue to produce," he continued.

"The withholding of wheat from Great Britain except on a cash basis can hardly be reconciled with a total war effort."

Dr. Bruce said the Canadian Government made a mistake in holding back wheat in 192 9and 1930.

The Agriculture Minister, Hon. J. G. Gardiner, interrupted to say the Government held no wheat at that time.

"I thought those dates were correct," said Dr. Bruce. "If they are not I will correct them tomorrow."

Mr. Castleden saw Western farmers being "regimented into a dictatorship" by the system of checkers and investigators which would be set up to administer the acreage reduction program. He was alarmed at the prospect of this work coming under the control of the "political machine" in Saskatchewan.

Mrs. Nielsen contended the only farmers to benefit from the government's aid to agriculture were the large-scale operators. The government apparently planned to do nothing for the small-scale farmer. Under the present sytsem it seemed likely small farmers would revert to a "peasant economy."

little time to find because he was on the upper deck. I don't think he was hiding.

"The Germans went to their cabins and packed, with armed guards watching, while other baggage was taken out of the baggage rooms. Then the Germans were taken to a cutter and rowed to the cruiser."

Other passengers said Captain Murphy of the Garfield was ordered not to take photographs of the cruiser or the removal of the Germans, but that the order was not obeyed by crew members and passengers.

Captain Murphy said the auxiliary cruiser appeared on the President Garfield's starboard bow at 2:22 p.m. flying signal flags notifying the President Garfield to heave to for boarding and that he immediately rang the stop signal to the engine room. He said a British officer asked for the passenger list and that he referred the officer to the purser. He said the President Garfield resumed its course at 3:42 p.m., one hour and ten minutes after the first notice to halt.

Foreign Ships

Into Combat Zones

Admiral Land's task, as outlined by the President:

1. To arrange for foreign ships or ships which are to be transferred to foreign registry (presumably British to be placed in service along routes to combat zones, including Great Britain.

2. Reallocation of American-flag ships, including those soon to be completed, on routes outside combat zones, in order that every cargo they carry would be directly or indirectly useful in national defence efforts and the "winning by the democracies of the battle now being waged in the Atlantic."

Vessels of all types must be taken from existing proposed trade routes, the President declared, to haul vitally needed defence and war supplies across the high seas, and the United States merchant marine to be expanded with increased speed "so that ships and more ships will be available to carry the food and munitions of war to the democracies of the world."

H. Harris Robson, formerly vice-president of the United States Fruit Company, was immediately placed in charge of the tonnage-finding task, and indications were that the Maritime Commission expected to round up the necessary shipping in three ways:

1. By diverting some of the 7,000,000 tons of ocean-going vessels now comprising the Merchant Marine; by transferring some of the 2,500,000 tons of Great Lakes shipping to inter-coastal trade, thus releasing inter-coastal vessels for the "Bridge to Britain," and by commissioning army and navy auxiliaries, laid-up last-war ships, lake and coastal route vessels.

2. By placing the one-ship-a-week now being built into immediate commission. Under its building program the Maritime Commission expects to finish 71 ships aggregating 700,000 tons this year; 2,500,000 tons next year; and between 3,500,000 and 4,000,000 tons in 1943.

3. By acquiring some of the approximately 10 foreign-flag ships now in United States ports by speeding legislation empowering the President to take them over for the "common good," by purchase, requisition or charter.

Requisition Danish Craft

Since there are two Danish agents in this country, each claiming power-of-attorney to control the 39 Danish ships now held in "protective custody," informed sources said the President would probably requisition the vessels, sidestepping any possible legal complications which might follow their purchase or charter.

The President may requisition the ships, it was said, by exercising the right of "eminent domain," leaving the question of "just compensation" to be settled at some future time when the legality of the agents' conflicting claims may be decided.

The President has indicated that the 28 Italian and two German vessels held might be declared forfeited to the United States because sabotage by their crews had placed them in a different category from the Danish ships.

No official announcement has been made of the manner in which the Axis vessels may be taken over, however, and as a matter of policy they might be purchased or requisitioned under the terms of the bill now before congress.

The 28 Italian ships, most of which were severely damaged by their crews and must be repaired before they can be placed in service, aggregate 178,030 tons, approximately five per cent of pre-war Italian tonnage.

In sending instructions to Admiral Land the president said he realized that diversion of cargo and refrigerated ships and tankers from existing to new routes would cause inconvenience, loss of trade and sacrifices by the public, which would have to forego "non-essential" imports by various kinds.

The president asked that all existing shipyards be kept in continuous operation, that new means be explored to increase the number of shipbuilding workers, and that the construction of additional shipways already authorized be speeded up.

America To Feel The Pinch.

WASHINGTON, May 1—(AP).—President Roosevelt's call for ships for the movement of vital war materials means the end of shipments of "non-essentials," maritime experts said last night, and every American citizen eventually may feel the pinch.

As a result, women who prefer hair nets made in China, may have to do without.

India prints, which have many admirers, won't be coming in, perhaps

These are typical examples of hundreds of items which may have to make way for the movement of strategic materials.

The United States has approximately 7,000,000 tons of ocean-going ships, with an additional 2,500,000 tons operating on the Great Lakes.

Remains Of Nazi Bomber In England

A twisted propeller, a cogwheel and a tire from the landing gear are all that remains of one German bombing plane that took part in the blitz raid on London on the night of April 16. Although wrecks of German planes are old stuff now in Britain, a sentry is on duty to keep souvenir hunters away.

FIRST C.G.E. OPENING

A report this morning that the Canadian General Electric Company opened its first buildings in Peterborough fifty years ago missed the exact mark by ten days. The date as verified by C. H. Ireson was April 20, 1891, and was the occasion of a grand ball attended by more than 4,000 people. At that time the company was known as the Edison Electric Company, and its decision to locate in Peterborough was undoubtedly the beginning of the industrial expansions which has made this city one of the outstanding communities of its size in Canada. The C.G.E. Company under the management of Ian McRae is now beginning its fifty-first year with a national significance which was undreamed of only a few yesterdays ago.

Students Using Rest Rooms Loitering Place

"It was a small piece of business, and certainly beneath the dignity of this city," said Mayor Hamilton last night in reference to a recent decision of the council requiring the operators of district bus lines to contribute to the upkeep of the public rest rooms on Charlotte street.

When that building was undertaken it was largely intended by the late Roland Denne, then mayor, to be used as a bus terminal, and some accommodation was included for persons waiting for buses to leave. The location was central, it was close to the leading hotel, and it was Mr. Denne's idea that in helping transportation lines to bring people into the city the council was encouraging a utility that might become a considerable asset.

Alderman Swanston, chairman of the property committee, suggested last night that the building should not be a loitering place for school girls.

He explained that girls from the Keene area, who come to the city every day to attend the Collegiate Institute, make "a hang out" of the rest room for women until the bus comes to take them home.

"They loiter around there, write on the walls, dig holes in the plaster, and that sort of thing, and it is no place for them," Alderman Swanston said.

"And they are getting their education here at half what it costs us," Mayor Hamilton observed.

Remove Benches

Alderman Bradburn suggested that if the place was to be permitted to be a common loitering place then the benches be removed.

As the new chairman of the property committee, Alderman Swanston was plainly declaring his own dissatisfaction with present supervision of the public rooms.

"I think we have the wrong man down there," he said.

"Tell him if he doesn't do any better, we are going to get rid of him," Mayor Hamilton advised.

A Stocker Echo

"Echoes and shades of Alderman Stocker," Alderman Dutton commented in reference to the deceased alderman's persistent campaign against the caretaker of the public building at the market.

Alderman Swanston said he believed the council could engage a man who would be able to take charge of the market and the public building, without being overworked.

It transpired last night that one of the bus companies had "sent in $10" as a contribution for the accommodation of the rest room "terminal." The property committee, however, decided in a resolution by Alderman Dutton to have that resolution rescinded.

Air to City

Just as an incidental recollection, it may be pointed out that as a promoter of the rest room for the market site, the late Mr. Denne believed that bus lines were doing at least as much unbuilding of Peterborough as the city was helping them; and that if people of the district were coming here to buy, or consult professional men, and so on, at least the advantage of a bench or two might be provided for them, if they wished to use them. However, it was always Mr. Denne's thought that the building should not be "a loitering place," and he assumed that some strict supervision would be applied to the proper conduct of the public. It was never imagined to be an assembly place for young teenage Collegiate students from Otonabee, or any other township.

One Of The Government's Pre-Fabricated Houses

The suggestion has already been made that the Federal Government is prepared to place prefabricated houses in Peterborough in case men working in war industries cannot find accommodation elsewhere. There appeared to be a feeling in some quarters that such houses would not be desirable in Peterboro and that they would conflict with the normal developments of home building. Knowing that one of these houses had been erected in Ottawa, the Examiner appealed to Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., to see if he could secure a picture, and it is produced ABOVE. Mr. Fraser explains the house is situated at the corner of Wellington and Bayswater Streets, and was erected so that Government officials and others interested could inspect it. It was erected during the winter, and now with the front walk in and the side finished it looks much better. Mr. Fraser assures us it looks very nice from the outside, and it is reported to be very comfortable inside.

Third Armored Regiment From Toronto Visits City

On a convoy exercise to Peterborough by way of Oshawa and Port Hope, the 3rd Armored Regiment of Toronto, under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel R. P. Locke, E.D., A.D.C., arrived in the city by motor transport at noon today for dinner at the Armouries, and left shortly after two o'clock on the return trip to their headquarters at the Canadian National Exhibition Park.

The regiment was formerly the Governor-General's Horse Guards, but is now mechanized as a unit of the new Canadian armored division. They left the C.N.E. this morning at 7 o'clock, and at Port Hope were greeted by the staff and students of Trinity College School and its principal P. A. C. Ketcham.

Organized about ten months ago, the regiment is at full strength with 601 officers and men. For their outing to Peterborough this morning approximately 465 officers and men were detailed, leaving a company guard in charge of headquarters at the C.N.E.

Carried Cooked Dinner

The regiment was preceded here by an advance party in command of Regimental Quartermaster Captain K. V. Stratton, a flying officer in the last war, who was in charge of the dinner arrangements at the Armouries. Long tables were set for the men in the main parade hall at the Armouries. The non-commissioned officers were assigned to the sergeants' mess, and the officers were served in the officers' mess.

Dinner was prepared and cooked before the regiment set out for Peterborough. It consisted of Irish stew, potatoes, bread and butter, cheese, jam and apples, and tea. The stew and potatoes were carried in special portable containers, handy insulated and ingeniously simple affairs that kept the food steaming hot. The only additionad detail of the meal was the brewing of tea on gasoline stoves that were included in the equipment.

The officers of the regiment under Lieut.-Col. Locke were Major H. M. Sharp, second in command; Squadron Commanders, Major I. H. Cumberland, Captain J. W. Eaton, Major A. K. Jordan, and Major G. D. Wotherspoon.

Marched Through City

As a mechanized regiment, the former C.G.H.G., travelled by motor transport of 64 vehicles, trucks and motor cycles.

Entering the city from the west, they dismounted at Charlotte and Bethune street, and preceded by their regimental band, marched to the Armouries in full battle order by way of George and Murray streets. This visit of the 3rd Armored Regiment, unannounced until this morning, brought to Peterborough its first martial footbeats and music in months. In their precision and smartness of movement the men gave evidence of their winter's training.

At the Armouries Lieut.-Col. Locke was welcomed by Mayor Hamilton and Major G. R. E. Melton of the Prince of Wales Rangers.

Ruth Draper And Percy Grainger To Give Concerts

Members of the Peterborough Canadian Concert Association who met in the Chamber of Commerce offices Wednesday night were enthusiastic over the announcement that Ruth Draper and Percy Grainger will be two of the world famous artists to appear here next season. Present plans call for two other concerts, and every effort will be made to secure the celebrated Orchestra of the New Friends of Music under the dynamic direction of Fritz Stiedry.

Representatives were present from Lakefield, and it was decided to appoint other representatives in other centres within easy driving distance of this city. Organization work was undertaken and committees named who will proceed, starting May 9, to accept applications from those who want to make sure of membership.

Dr. J. J. Craig presided and announced that some 200 renewal applications were already in hand, and in view of the fact that the capacity of the auditorium is limited, he urged everyone to make it known now among their friends that early application for membership is advisable.

From present indications it would appear that the full quota of members will soon be reached, as the enthusiasm for concerts, and especially the artists who were announced, was greater than it has ever been before. Next season will be the fifth consecutive season of concerts presenting top-ranking artists since the local Association was formed.

One thousand dollars of the $2,240.00 required to send the 7th donation of £500 to England is now in hand, the second donation from the Churchill Club made this a fact, when $45.00 was turned in to the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund today. A group of ladies, headed by Mrs. T. F. McArthur, made their 5th donation in the sum of $20.50, and their efforts are worth special mention, for they had worked steadily and consistently to help the distressed people of England through this fund. Jap Flier Sprays Three Priests With Bullets, Killing Two

Father Lawrence McAuliffe of Omemee has been in China for the past four years and has written to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick McAuliffe of Omemee telling them of some hair raising experiences he had been through since he left for China four years ago. Although he is only 28 years of age, Father McAuliffe has been through probably more than the average clergyman.

"Recently," wrote the priest, "two priests and myself from the mission had to flee into the nearby cornfields to hide from Japanese airplanes armed with machine guns. They came lower and lower and as they came, they strafed the fleeing Chinese in open country with fire killing a large number of them."

The two priests and myself lay flat on the ground but one airman saw us and sprayed the ground nearby with a hail of bullets. When the attack was over, I arose to my feet to find both priests dead on either side of me. They were mortally wounded.

Times were very difficult upon my arrival in China, the letter continued. A typhoid fever epidemic kept the priests and sisters working day and night to save the lives of some of the patients. We were always in danger of air attack. When the raid alarm sounded, many Chinese would flee into open fields to be shot down by machine-gun fire. The planes, without any resistance, would strafe the area sometimes for two hours and keep everyone in suspense.

In one city where I was stationed, an unmerciful bombing took place that just about destroyed all the buildings, Father McAuliffe wrote. He expressed confidence in a British victory over Germany and Italy. "God will remain with those countries where righteousness prevails," he said.

Although the Japanese - Chinese war has been overshadowed by the present European conflict, the situation in China has remained just as serious, he pointed out in the letter.

Judgment Given In Tolton Case

The Hon. Mr. Justice Greene in Osgoode Hall yesterday gave judgment in the Mable Ellen P. Tolton vs. Elgin Anderson case which was heard here last week in a special sitting of the High Court. The action by Mrs. Tolton was for a declaration that she is an equal partner with the defendant in a business carried on here under the name of the Ideal Dairy. W. J. Arthur Fair acted for the plaintiff and Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., for the defendant.

The Judgment is: I accept the evidence of the plaintiff and her husband in preference to that of the defendant and find that the plaintiff is and has been entitled to a half interest in the Ideal Dairy, since the purchase in the name of the defendant. Pursuant to section 35 of ThePartnership Act there will be judgment dissolving the partnership as of this date by reason of the conduct of the defendant. There will be a reference to the local Master to take all necessary accounts, and all proceedings necessary to dispose of the partnership assets and distribute the proceeds among those entitled. The reference shall include an inquiry as to what loss, if any, was occasioned to the partnership by the action of the defendant of Feb. 20, 1941, and an allowance to the plaintiff of the appropriate amount to compensate her. By reason of the finding that the plaintiff is a partner, the counterclaim fails and must be dismissed with costs. The plaintiff is also entitled to her costs of action."

84 Night Raiders

William Spittal Engaged As 'Pro'

Directors of the Peterborough Golf and Country Club have engaged William Spittal of Toronto as professional for this season, T. A. Mackay informed the Examiner today.

Mr. Spittal comes to the Auburn club highly recommended as a first class golfer and instructor, and has had broad experience in the maintenance of golf courses. While employed as professional at the Oakdale Golf Club, Toronto, he was solely responsible for converting their nine hole course into a fine eighteen hole course, and the nine greens he built are considered to be the finest to be found anywhere.

The record of Mr. Spittal as a player is well known to followers of the game in this province. Mr. Spittal holds the record for the qualifying rounds in the Ontario Golf Association, a score of 136 at the Rosedale course in Toronto. He has been runner-up and semi-finalist twice in the same tournament, and represented Ontario professionals against the last British Ryder Cup team to visit Canada.

Alternatives Are Offered To City Council To Pre-fabricated House Proposals

Alternatives to the federal government's proposal to allot several hundred temporary houses to Peterborough included not one note of disturbance of the local "even tenor of our way" or of community tranquilty in the recommendations of the finance committee of the council last night, following a report from representatives of the building trades, real estate interests and building supply houses.

One of the ideas projected as helpful to the cause of getting more than temporary roofs erected in Peterborough was a recommendation that the Dominion Government be requested to rescind the clause in the 1941 budget applying 8 per cent sales tax to building materials because it was likely to discourage building.

That was one idea. Another one appealed to the Dominion Government to amend the Dominion Housing Act in providing more liberal scope of its assistance, specifically that it increase the minimum for 90 per cent loans from $2,500 to $3,500. They also want the rent control order clarified in regard to houses to be erected this year.

Herb J. McCannan asserted that Peterborough needs at least two hundred and ffity houses "right now if each family was to have a home for itself." With him were Oliver Hayward, H. R. Scott, F. J. Overend, John A. Gibbs and C. H. Huffman. They proposed exemption of new houses from taxation for three years, 100 per cent the first year, 50 per cent the second, and 25 per cent the third; also that city lots be sold $1 "down," the city taking a note for the rest.

Heating System Problem Starts Argument

CAMPBELLFORD, May 1. — (ENS). — Estimates on the cost of installing a new heating system in Public Schools to be procured by the Property Committee of the School Board was the final decision of the Board of Education at their regular meeting held in the Council Chamber on Monday. The question of providing a new heating system resulted in several arguments between the members, since the Property Committee had failed to call a special meeting as promised at the last meeting. J. A. Irwin, chief instigator, stated: 'I want to see a definite move made at this meeting. Even the inspector's report states that the increasing sickness in the school during the winter months is the result of poor heating. If I had small children going to school, I'd rebel."

To this the chairman, Dr. H. O. Richardson, countered, "We have first to get the Council's permission, then that of the Municipal Board. Since that was turned down two years ago, it is going to receive less consideration at the present war-time conditions."

"I'd hate to be an instigator at such a time," replied W. R. Loucks, chairman of the Property Committee. "The metal used now might make the children greater tragedies. I can't fight for it now."

After continued voting by members, Mr. Irwin succeeded in having his motion carried, with a report to be made at the next regular meeting.

Encouraging reports of all departments were heard when Inspector A. H. Martin addressed the Board. 'I feel sure the Board will do what is best in improving the heating system and the playgrounds in this time of war."

Wants Manual Training.

It was his suggestion that manual training be carried on in the school. "Mr. Dunk," he stated, "had done effective work in his own class room and since he is a qualified teacher a scheme should be worked out to have it on the time table in the school." He also announced the coming Music Festival of Northumberland County to be held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Campbellford, on May 21, 22 and 23. The matter of auxiliary class work was brought to the attention of the Board by Principal C. S. Haig, declaring that the $25.00 granted to go ahead with this work was not sufficient, and that an additional $25.00 would be necessary to purchase supplies. 'Since the Department is reimbursing us it is our duty to grant this request," stated Dr. H. O. Richardson. The Board also left the question of school during the three days of the festival with Mr. Haig. Since Cobourg schools had closed last year during the festival, it was felt that Mr. Haig could use his own judgment in the matter of his school. The Board also granted entry fees of school pupils taking part, it was reported by Miss Dorothy Henson, to be some 40 entrants for the school this year. Property Committee chairman W. Roy Loucks enumerated purchases to be made in the High School, including a new anvil and work bench, on motion it was left with the Property Committee with power to act.

F. C. Bonnycastle, in questioning High School Principal E. H. Greig as to the number of students leaving for work on farms and factories, explained that the greatest loss was mostly in Upper School classes. The chairman also instructed secretary W. Stephens to purchase two copies of "Blood, Sweat and Tears" to be places in the school libraries, and the report of Inspector A. A. Martin to be turned over to the Internal Committee for further observation.

Farewell Given Young Family

LILY LAKE, May 1— (ENS). — A very pleasant event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Young on Friday evening when about one hundred and fifty friends and neighbors fathered to honor them prior to their departure for their new home in Otonabee.

Mr. and Mrs. Young and family, who have always taken a keen interest in the activities of the community and in the Sunday School, and whose hospitality has so often been enjoyed, will be greatly missed.

During the evening Mrs. William Steinkrauss read an address and Mrs. Gordon Hancock presented Mrs. Young with a silver-encased pyrex casserole from ladies of the W.A of which Mrs. Young has been a valued member. Afterwards Arthur Hancock read an appropriate address, and on behalf of the community Mrs. Clarence Ferguson presented Mr. and Mrs. Young with a chest of Community silverware. Misses Evelyn, Isabel, and Lulu Young were presented with crystal necklaces by three of the girls, Audrey Hatherley, Sheila Wilson and Ruth Steinkrauss.

In a few words Mr. and Mrs. Young thanked their friends for the gifts.

Dancing and cards were enjoyed, and dainty refreshments served at midnight.

Previous to this occasion the Girls' Class of Lily Lake Sunday School met at the home of their teacher, Mrs. D. R. Wilson, when Miss Gladys Young was presented with a compact and Jean with a necklace, the presentations being made by Jean Hancock and Margaret Ackison.

Escape Of British Army In Greece Proves Tonic To Great Britain And The Empire

(By KIRKE L. SIMPSON.)

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP) — The disclosure of astonishingly light British casualties in Greece, and the escape of at least three-fourths of the 60,000 Imperial troops who had seemed to be in a Nazi trap, should prove a tonic to the British people.

Whatever may be the fate of 12,000 men unaccounted for and presumably still fighting as valiant a rearguard action as history records, a British military disaster that could have shaken Empire Cabinets and even the Churchill War Ministry in London has been averted. Britons around the world were braced for far worse news from Greece.

It goes without saying that an immediate result will be formal renewal by Parliament of Prime Minister's Churchill's war leadership commission next week.

British nerves were in need of such a tonic. Whether as a prelude to an all-out Nazi attack on the citadel of the British Empire itself, or to mask new thrusts elsewhere at British lifelines, the German nightly air attack on Britain is mounting in a new crescendo.

Coupled with the most sustained big-gun bombardment of the Dover area, the Nazi aerial attack is taking on a definite new pattern. It might mean either invasion, or a German plan to shift additional air forces from east to west to batter such essential entry ports as Plymouth and forestall arrival of United States help.

Yet the British escape from Greece, on Greek suggestion, has very definite significance as affecting other battle fronts. Whether the evacuated Empire troops rally with Greek comrades for a new stand on the strategic island of Crete or rejoin the British Army of the Nile in Egypt, they represent an important and tested fighting unit supplementing General Wavell's Middle East Command.

The fact that only 60,000 men composed the British force in Greece is another asset item. It confirms previous estimates that Britain had been able to send less than 100,000 men to aid the Greeks; but it also means that the British forces in East and North Africa available to block the Axis road through Egypt to Alexandria and the Suez Canal are greater than they appeared to be during the British retreat in Libya.

Much of the Nile army must have been transferred to East Africa, since only about four divisions, some of them drawn from other sources than Africa, were landed in Greece. With virtual completion of the East African campaign, it cannot be doubted that General Wavell's army in North Africa is rapidly expanding again to cope with the Axis threat from Libya.

Mr. Churchill's announcement that British battle casualties in Greece totalled only 3,000 men is surprising. During their successive withdrawals down the Greek peninsula, the British forces were exposed to Nazi bombers. German claims that heavily laden British transports had been blasted in Greek waters added to fears of a horrifying loss ratio.

A story of British staff skill in effecting the retreat and evacuation must lie behind the cold figures. Another military miracle, almost equivalent to the escape from Dunkirk, has been wrought to prove that the technical skill of British army leaders is rising steadily to meet the supreme peril in which Britain and the Empire stand.

Dr. Reddick Addresses Young People's Group

CAMPBELLFORD, May 1—(ENS)—An address by Dr. C. S. Reddick featured the weekly meeting of the St. John Y.P.U. The speaker chose as his subject, "What is God Like?" He emphasized to the young people that God was willing to be a friend of all those who so desired such friendship.

Miss Helen Palliser led in the call to worship and the opening prayer of the meeting, while Miss Lelia Mitchell gave the scripture reading. Other items on the program included readings by Mrs. Frank Potts and Miss Edna Slumskie, and vocal solos by Mr. Harvey Donald. During the business portion of the meeting Len Smith announced that a special meeting would be held May 12 in the church.

He Must Be Noisy

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., May. 1. — (AP)—Florida's Senate passed unanimously a bill to make an intoxicated person immune from arrest unless he creates some disorder. Senator Fred P. Parker, who died Sunday, sponsored the measure, explaining that he favored it because he once had a farmer friend who was arrested for intoxication while peacefully sleeping in his automobile and had to sell his 40-acre farm to pay his fine.

A picnic for sightless folk of the counties of Peterborough and Victoria is to be held this summer. Although similar affairs are held frequently in Western Ontario, the picnic will be the first venture of its kind here. A tentative date of July third was set at the annual meeting of the Local Advisory Board to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

The dancing season opened Wednesday night at the Summer Gardens in a gay mood, with over 1200 attending. Rhythmic music played by Ossie Williams and his band, with charming Miss Sally Hayden as vocalist. An unusual decorative effect, striking in its simplicity, is achieved by white and blue streamers and a smartly designed black and white orchestra stand. The dance floor, new this season, is adapted to roller skating, which is to be introduced later in the season.

Tells of Four Doors Open To Blind Since Great War

Four doors being opened to blind persons since the first Great War were discussed by Miss Norma Hughes under the topics of "Social Contacts," in connection with sightless persons getting into the social world with their seeing companions, "Economic Independence," "Social Welfare" and "Education," in which she told of the Braille system used at the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, and the service of home teachers, which enables the blind to learn reading, typing, knitting or (a very important factor in the lives of middle-aged people whose sight fails them) how to carry on many of the household tasks to which they have been accustomed. The Institute has two main objects, to assist blind people in every possible way, and to prevent blindness.

Miss Hughes spoke Wednesday afternoon at a meeting of the W.C.T.U. in the Green Room of the Y.W.C.A., Mrs. R. T. Rehill, president, in the chair.

Of the $1,500 given by the community fund, Miss Hughes explained, some will be spent on Institute w rk in the city, some on library service, field secretary, home teaching and relief work.

A condensation of the report given by Mrs. R. Whalon, welfare convener, at the annual meeting of the Local Advisory Board of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, was given by Miss Hughes to illustrate what the Institute is doing in Peterborough. The report reveals that at the present time in the city and county of Peterborough there are forty-two registered blind persons, with three awaiting registration pending investigation. During the period from March, 1940, to March, 1941, over one hundred visits have been made by the convener to blind persons residing in the city and county. Those in the city are visited on an average of at least once a quarter, and those outside the city, numbering eleven, at least once or twice a year.

Twelve eye examinations have been made, two persons having been supplied with glasses as a preventative measure, and one application for an artificial eye has been received. One person has received the pension for the blind.

$25.00 was spent to bring Christmas cheer to the sightless people in this district; $135.00 was spent on subsidiary allowances granted to people not eligible for the pension, and $92.89 was spent on relief, making a total of $252.89 spent by the welfare convener. The Institute supplied two radios to needy persons who are shut in.

Clip sheets were read in connection with the liquor traffic, and the statement made that only one-quarter of the money spent in liquor is returned for taxes. Prayer was led by Mrs. A. J. Throop, and the Bible reading given by Mrs. J. A. Spencer.

J. T. Braund. After having been in charge of war work in the Province of Quebec, Brigadier and Mrs. McIlhiney are now retiring from active service. Brigadier McIlhiney had the privilege of entertaining the Governor-General and Prime Minister Mackenzie King during their recent tour of Quebec.

Layette Shower Held By Group

A layette shower was held at the April meeting of George Street Baby Band, which took place at the home of Mrs. A. Brotherstone, Waterford Street, with Mrs. W. H. Frise presiding. Following a Bible reading given by Mrs. D. O. Lavis, little Dona and Arlie Brotherstone were heard in a vocal duet, and a summary of the convention at Brockville was presented by Mrs. Frise.

A talk on "Mary, the Mother of Jesus," was given by Mrs. (Rev.) Brown, and an outline of conditions in China presented by Mrs. W. H. Morton, honorary president. Mrs. E. E. Ingall read a chapter from the study book. Plans were discussed for a tea to be held in the tea room of George Street Church on May 15.

Auxiliary Tea At Armouries Is Largely Attended

Many guests attended the spring tea held Wednesday afternoon at the Prince of Wales Rangers' Mess in the Armouries by the Women's Auxiliary to the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders, and were welcomed by the president, Mrs. R. T. E. Hicks-Lyne, and the first vice-president, Mrs. James Turnbull.

In the tea room Mrs. J. M. Gemmell and Mrs. S. J. Burnham presided at the handsome silver urns. Patriotic in theme and very effective was the decorative cellophane table centre of red, white and blue, with graduated matching tapers in silver candelabra.

Mrs. Herbert Mason was general convener, the tea convener was Mrs. Ken Kingston and tea room hostesses were Mrs. R. T. F. Brain and Miss Claire Mason. Assisting to serve were Mrs. B. Merrett, Mrs. F. Lockhart, Mrs. C. W. Boorman, Miss Margaret Hamilton, Mrs. James Matthews, Mrs. Jack Green, Mrs. George Leeming, Mrs. H. Willis, Mrs. W. Westran, Mrs. F. Gant, Mrs. S. Cowan, Mrs. J. H. Campbell, Mrs. Herbert Cardwell. Mrs. J. H. Moore was convener of a homecooking table, assisted by Mrs. S. J. Watson, Mrs. J. Jebson, Mrs. H. K. Clifton.

A Dresden plate quilt made by Auxiliary members, was drawn for by Mrs Hicks-Lyne, and won by H. T. Allison, 593 Bethune street, with Mrs. J. Collis and Mrs. J. Post in charge of tickets. Tea cup reading was done by Miss Anne Heideman and Miss Claire Mason, and Mrs. W. R. Philip was treasurer.

ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

Question—I have been wanting to write asking you several things, but won't bother you with all of them this time because most of them are about canning. I would like a recipe for making soap, and please don't send me the one on the —— can. It does not mix well. If you have one you could recommend I would certainly like it—if it could be cut in half so that I could make a small amount of it at a time would you be kind enough to say so? Thanking you. I'll write again when canning season is near.—Mrs. Ben. Harris.

Answer.—I have a good recipe for Cold Soap that a friend of mine uses to conserve all her drippings. It may be halved.

Cynthia's Cold Soap

Two quarts melted grease (or drippings of any kind that have been strained through double cheesecloth), 3 pints cold water, 1 can lye, 2 tablespoons boxed borax, ½ cup ammonia. Carefully empty lye into cold water, let stand until lukewarm. Pour slowly into lukewarm fat. Stir until thick like heavy cream. Add borax dissolved in a little water and the ammonia. Stir very well; let stand until it sets. Cut into bar sand let stand a couple a months before using. Always use granite utensils for soap making.

Question.—I saw Mrs. Cooper's letter in the paper and thought her cake very good. Would you like to print my recipe for Spanish Bun? I send it because it is such a favorite with everyone who tastes it.

Spanish Bun (contributed by Mrs. A. More)

One-half cup butter, 1 cup sugar, 2 eggs, 2 cups sifted flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 2 teaspoons cinnamon, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, ½ cup milk. Mix and sift together the flour, baking powder and spices. Cream the butter very well and sift in the sugar, creaming. Add the yolks to the butter mixture and beat the whites separately until very foamy but not stiff. Sift the flour mixture into the butter mixture alternately with the milk—about a third of each at a time. Then fold in the beaten whites. Bake in buttered sheet cake pan at 345 deg. Fahr. When done, cover with Brown Sugar Boiled Frosting: One cup brown sugar, 1/3 cup boiling water, 1 white of egg (this may be held out of the cake if you wish without making much change in its texture), ½ teaspoon vanilla or ¼ teaspoon coffee powder or essence. Stir together sugar, water over low heat until sugar melts. Boil without stirring until soft ball will form when tried in cold water—238 deg. Fahr. Cool syrup gradually, add slowly to white of egg beaten until stiff, and continue beating until it thickens. Add flavoring and spread over cake.

Answer.—Thank you ever so much for this delicious sounding recipe—I had forgotten that Spanish Bun existed and will try it promptly. If any other readers have recipes they can recommend to us, would they be kind enough to send them in?

Dance Recital Of Interest Is Presented

An interesting dance recital by pupils from the studio of Leone Comstock with guests entertained afterward at a delightful tea, was held Wednesday afternoon in the Business and Professional Women's Club rooms.

Dancing to such nursery rhymes as "Humpty-Dumpty"; "PussyCat"; "Goosey-Goosey Gander" and "Little Miss Muffet," a group of babies ranging in age from not quite three to five years were very sweet, taking part with evident enjoyment, graceful in their curtsies, and presenting an adorable picture in brief-skirted frocks of pastel shades. In this group were Barbara Smith, Christine Monk, Sheila Jones, Flynda Simmons, Donna Minnicola, Marilyn Smith.

A clown dance was well presented by a seven-year-old group, Catherine Canning, Barbara Walker, Joanne Curtis, Joanne Currie, Margaret Donnelly. A descriptive Mazurka, a Russian peasant dance, was done with considerable skill by Mary Walker, Ruth Regan and Mary Strickland, and a ballet dance, "Pas de Trois" (Dance of the Three People), was a graceful presentation by Miss Comstock, Iris Forbes and Marion Hollingsworth.

A solo number to Chopin's Waltz in B Minor, danced by Miss Comstock in a pink chiffon ballet costume, was expressive and effective. A nosegay was presented to their teacher on behalf of pupils by small Joanne Curtis at the conclusion of the recital. Gwen Craw was at the piano throughout the program.

Mrs. T. Regan presided afterward at the lace-covered tea table. Twin vases of navy glass filled with pink, yellow and white snapdragons were attractive table arrangements, and the tea assistants were Miss Margaret Walker and Miss Ruth Regan.

Milady Pays And Pays To Keep Up Her "Face"

To the cost of keeping up her "face"—and the average Peterborough woman spends between $20 and $40 a year on it—Tuesday was added another $3 to $7 as a result of the jump from 10 to 25 per cent in the excise tax on cosmetics.

Under the general heading of cosmetics come a multitude of beauty aids from the common-place lipstick, powder and rouge to the fancier "mask" and "night-pack."

Because the profit on cosmetics is wider than on many products, the 10 per cent excise tax previously imposed was absorbed by the manufacturer.

To Pay For Beauty

This time, believe those in the beauty business, the rising cost of beauty will be carried by milady. The experts claimed the woman who patronizes the "salons" pays $40 or $60 yearly for her cosmetics, and the stenographer who gets much of her creams and powders at the dime store, spends between $20 and $25.

Dime store beauty clerk and exclusive "salon" managers agree the higher cost of "face" will make milady none-the-less lovely to look at.

Summing it up, they say "she will sacrifice just about everything before her face—why these days you feel positively naked even without nail polish."

Julia DeCarlonis Weds John Henry

The marriage took place at St. Peter's rectory Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock of Julia Mary De Carlonis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter De Carlonis, to John Leslie Henry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Henry. Father J. A. Greenan performed the ceremony.

The bride, who wore an afternoon dress of baby blue chiffon with Bishop sleeves, a cartwheel hat of matching straw, and corsage of pink roses and sweet peas, was attended by her sister, Mrs. R. Ouimet, wearing a beige frock with black accessories and corsage of red roses. Mr. Ludvic was groomsman.

A reception was held afterward at 186 Aylmer Street, the home of the bride's parents, for immediate members of the family. Mrs. De Carlonis, mother of the bride, was in a sequin-trimmed gown of black crepe with corsage of Talisman roses, and the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Henry, wore heaven blue crepe and a corsage of sweetpeas.

After a short motor trip, Mr. and Mrs. Henry will live at 523 Aylmer Street. The bride travelled in a frock of printed silk with brown fox jacket, brown accessories and corsage of gardenias.

Cooking Highlights Found In A Trip To United States

By MARY MOORE

....And how did I get across the border on a mere visit Do you really want to know? Because I want to tell you!

First—I didn't take any American money with me but one thin dime filched from Peter's bank. He's been saving it for years and I have yet to break the news of my treachery to him—(I didn't use it and it is back in the bank now so he may never know unless he bothers to read this).

But since I bought my fare in Canada (which incidentally don't YOU do, for I had to ask my friends in the U.S. to GIVE me the amount it cost to travel on American soil to return to our Foreign Exchange board), I thought I didn't need any. Then I stayed with dear friends who called me the Duchess because I went about without a purse most of the time (however being careful to be within speaking distance of my host—the source of supply—at all times One has to have such things as hair-dos and stamps and kleenex you know).

Garny's cooking stunts (my hostess you know) with home grown vegetables during this Spring are unusually good. They were so welcome in our house; and from the type of buying I observed on the market this week other housewives are trying to make our root vegtables stretch as far as possible. These suggestions will give your vegetable cooking a lift until asparagus time is in full swing.

Turnip and Potato Scallop

(Garny's purpose in inventing this dish was to reduce her family's consumption of starches—she says no matter how substantial the meal her family expects and eats bread.)

Slice either equal amounts of turnips and potatoes, both pared—or 2/3 turnips and 1/3 potatoes—into hot milk in casserole—3 cups thinly sliced turnip and 1½ cups sliced potatoes make a fairly large casserole—and add either 2 tablespoons grated or ¼ cup finely sliced onion, and salt and black pepper. You will need between 2 to 2½ cups milk—depending on depth of casserole. Bake at least 1½ hours at not more than 300 deg. Fahr. Garny served flat broiled ground beef cakes with this and plenty of brown gravy and I thought it was a delicious family dinner—cheap too.

Carrots

These are too good for us raw, Garny says—(and I say ditto) to cook—so she invariably serves them in the role of a salad:—carrot strips, iced and curly; shredded with cabbage and boiledd ressing; she even put a whole scrubbed carrot on each dinner plate in place of a hot cooked vegetable one day and it looked very nice. It is YOUR business to educate your family to these changes. Carrots, being a bright colored vegetable—can take the place of other imported salad ingredients until our own come in—IF you serve them raw.

Garny's Imitation French Fried Onions

It is best to use local Spanish type onions for this, but local cooking onions are good too when they are not sprouted.

Peel and slice about one-quarter inch thick 6 or 8 medim sized Spanish type onions. Dip them in flour and shake off all excess flour. Lay in buttered casserole and sprinkle with salt and pepper (about 1 teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper) and brush lightly with 1 tablespoon melted butter. Add just enough hot water to cover bottom of dish to depth of ¼ inch—just enough to prevent burning. Bake at about 350 deg. Fahr. and watch, adding water if necessary but letting it cook away toward the end. If they do not brown enough, raise up toward top oven to give crisp effect to top layer just before serving. I think you will want to add this to your vegetable file after you have tried it once. Tops with beef in any form—and the onion small throughout the house is practically nil.

Italian Spinach

Rub the inside of your small preserving kettle with a clove of garlic,—and if you like garlic very much stick a toothpick in it and drop it in the pot. To pot add 1/3 cup cooking oil and warm it and add spinach—2 lbs. before it was washed and trimmed. The Spinach MUST BE WELL DRAINED or too much liquid collects and has to be discarded and some of the oil goes with it. Have over rather hot fire and constantly lift and turn the spinach to mix it with the oil and make it wilt. As soon as it is wilted be ready to serve your meal; if it is held over heat it will lose its bright green color. Just before serving chop spinach a little and add salt and pepper to taste.

The toothpick in the clove of garlic helps you to fish it out just before serving. You might like to add ½ cup oil instead of just 1/3 cup.

Hopping John

This is a delicious discovery for me—of course I have heard of it, but certainly have never tasted it before.

Two cups cooked dried peas (soak ¾ cup dried green peas overnight and cook until tender), 2 cups liquor in which peas were cooked, 3 slices salt pork diced, ½ to 1 teaspoon salt, dash of pepper. ½ cup rice — preferably brown. Cooked canned peas could be used, but this would be a makeshift. Panfry the salt pork brown (about 5 minutes), add other ingredients except rice, bring to boiling point, add rice, cook slowly until rice is soft—about 25 minutes. A ham bone and its fat is a good substitute for the salt pork.

Savory Limas

To 2 tablespoons bacon fat add 1 tablespoon each chopped green pepper and grated onion and saute for about 5 minutes, then add 1 cup tomato juice, 1 teaspoon horseradish, 2 teaspoon salt, a few shakes of black pepper and 4 cups cooked lima beans which have been soaked overnight before cooking. Simmer about 10 minutes to reduce amount of liquid before serving. A delicious substitute for potatoes on a vegetable plate.

Bean Roll (from can of Pork and Beans)

Through the meat chopper put 1 No. 2 can Pork and Beans, ¼ lb. cheese, and 1 pimiento, mix well and add about 1 cup stale crumbs—just enough to make the loaf into a roll—before rolling add salt if it is needed. Form into roll and roll in crumbs, and place on buttered shallow pan, and bake at 350 for about 45 minutes, basting several times with ¼ cup boiling water to which some butter has been added. This mixture may be shaped into cutlets, crumbled, and panfried. White Sauce or any other preferred savory sauce may be used to serve over this.

FASHIONS

Spring time is suit time even for the school age crowd. This cute bolero suit is smart as well as practical for your little girl's Sunday best. Make several blouses of crisp cotton to keep her looking sparkling fresh all the time. Suspenders hold the flared skirt in place and are a feature she is certain to like. If you choose navy blue taffeta for her suit, white ruffling adds a charming touch to the bolero that she will wear with dresses, too. This same pattern can also be used to make an every day skirt with bright cross bars on the suspenders for color interest.

Style No. 2867 is designed for sizes 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 8 requires 1⅞ yards of 35-inch fabric for bolero and skirt; 1¼ yards for blouse and ruffling; 1⅜ yards for separate skirt.

DOROTHY DIX

DEAR MISS DIX—My mother was father's constant companion and he was greatly dependent upon her. She worked beside him all day and was rarely out of the sound of his voice. She died about two years ago and naturally he is very lonely and he has begun to get moody and feel that he is persecuted. He does not play golf nor go to church. He belongs to several clubs, mostly of people his own age, but when I urge him to become active in them he becomes angry. I have tried to get him to take part in civic and community matters, but he refuses. The only thing he wants to do is go around with very young women. He tries to make dates with them and when they evade him and make excuses and keep him waiting he is very miserable. He is 68 years old. Now I feel that he has as much right to happiness as any one, but where can he find it?—LOIS.

ANSWER—Well, one thing is certain, and that is that he won't find it in pursuing young girls. No young woman is interested in anything about a man of 68 except his pocketbook, and when she has deflated this good and properly she gives him the air. How could it be otherwise? What interest has a rheumatic old man, who wheezes when he walks, for a chit whose idea of pleasure is dancing all night and jumping around all day? What interest has a young girl in the society of an old man whose every idea seems as antiquated to her as if it was something out of a hair trunk in the attic, and whose code of morals and manners and conventions are as different from her as if they belonged to a foreign race?

If your father thinks that he will find happiness in marrying a young girl, he is sadly mistaken. He will find nothing but misery, which will be all the more intense when he contrasts it with the companionship he had with your mother.

I do not think that a man of 68 is too old to marry, provided he marries a woman of his own generation, one who was brought up in the same school of thought that he was and who has the same way of looking at things. Between middle-aged and elderly men and women there can be a beautiful companionship which make the last lap of the journey happy and contented for them both, and that will give them the home without which both are restless and dissatisfied.

For men and women who have been at the heads of their own houses for many years find it impossible to adjust themselves to living in their children's houses, no matter how kind and good their children are to them.

But this problem of making the old happy is a very difficult one to solve, because as people grow older their interest in things fades, their zest in life dies out, and yet they demand of life the thrills and joy that they had when they were young.

They want to be amused, yet few things entertain them. They want companionship, which is hard for them to get, because their old friends and those they loved have died, and they take no interest in new people. They want to indulge in the amusements they did in their youth, but thier feeble old bodies will not permit them.

Hobbies Are Important

That is why we should all cultivate some fad in our youth so that we may have something to fall back upon for entertainment when we are old. An interest in collecting postage stamps or prints or autographs, or in reforming something or other, or in playing golf. This is a staff that carries man an old person safely over the latter end of life.

But we have to let people find their own amusements. They invariably reject the one we offer them. But pray heaven that your father doesn't find his in marrying a gold-digger young enough to be his granddaughter.

REAL FRIENDS A RARITY

Dear Miss Dix—I am a young man but I am already becoming cynical about friendship. Try as I do, I can find only two real friends. To me a real friend is one who can understand and sympathize with you, not merely an individual with whom you can have a good time. I have loved, but the girl does not understand me. Until she does, she cannot be a real true friend, let alone being a lover. I want more real friends. How can I get them?

JACK T.

ANSWER—If you have two friends who really understand you and sympathize with you, you are lucky and rich beyond the dreams of avarice. Most people go through life without finding even one real friend.

We all have many acquaintances whom we like, and who like us; people whom we enjoy knowing and who add to the pleasure and gayety of life, but the feeling between us is all on the surface. It does not go deep. We call these people friends, but they could not stand your test. They do not even try to understand us. They take us at our face value.

They never know what is in our real souls. They don't want to know, and as for your sympathizing with us—pouf! Try talking to your friends about your own affairs and see how quickly they yawn in your face.

And if it is hard to make a man friend, Jack, believe me, the task of finding a girl friend is harder still. Indeed, it is virtually impossible, because there is the barrier of sex between you. A girl may be a sweetheart, but only once in a blue moon will you find a girl friend.

Port Hope Driver Fined In Court

As an aftermath of the accident on Highway 28 on Sunday night in which two cars went into the ditch after a collision, Charles Ashby of Port Hope was fined $5 and $2.50 costs in police court this morning after he had pleaded guilty on a charge of reckless driving, laid by Traffic Officer L. A. McClure.
Officer McClure told the court that there was no suspicion of liquor whatever and that it was merely a case of the driver getting over on the wrong side of the road when approaching another vehicle and as a result there was an accident. Both cars involved had been damaged, the officer said.

Budget—and Stay Happy

Back from the honeymoon . . . to face money worries, lose their new-won happiness? Not the Smiths. They're on a budget, know how to stretch their modest income to get what they want.

Entertaining, good clothes are important to Jim's career—and Sue divides their money to make these things possible.

In renting a home she wisely considered the carfare question, chose a charming spot within walking distance of Jim's job, the shopping district—saving many dollars each month.

The food bill Sue will watch carefully, have healthful, tasty meals, too. If oranges are high, tomato juice gives Vitamin C. Cheese dishes as well as meat have valuable proteins.

Other items Sue plans as cleverly—easy then for the Smiths to dress well, to give nice parties, especially as they'll make major purchases such as coats at sales, fix up a game room themselves for inexpensive fun.

Let budgeting solve your own money worries, help you get the most out of life! Our 32-page booklet has a simple budget plan to suit your income. Tells how to buy wisely, keep expenses down, gives ruled pages for a year's accounts.

Send 15c in coins or stamps for your copy of HOW TO BUDGET AND BUY FOR BETTER LIVING to the Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

"The Authority on Authorities"

REFUSING TO BITE

DID YOU ever see an opponent make what seemed like a palpably bad play, so very bad that you could not consider it possible unless he was doing it intentionally? In a case like that, what would you do? If he was a good player, wouldn't you consider that he had some very good reason for the play? Indeed you would, and a bit of thought might enable you to figure out just what was the big idea.

After that weird bidding, West laid down his heart A and then stopped to study the dummy. He didn't wait more than just a few moments, however, but led his heart J quickly enough to make it look at first like a careless play. At least that is the way it appeared to South.

Mr. South then put on his thinking cap. There was no chance that West would be leading carelessly, when a slam contract was at stake, he decided. West had, of course, seen the drop of the Q, and was sure to have so many hearts himself that South was bound to be blank in the suit. Why, then, should West put the dummy in the lead and at the same time enable South to get a discard on the heart K?

South decided that West was making it easy for him to finesse trumps, because he held the singleton spade K. Consequently South played to his spade A on the third trick, dropped the K and so made his contract.

After the hand was over, a kibitzer remarked that it would have been still more brilliant work by West if he had held a small singleton trump and was trying to create the illusion that he had a singleton K or Q. In that case, South's effort to drop it with the A would have set up an otherwise impossible trick for East.

Springville YPS Banquet Is Jolly Affair

SPAINGVILLE, May 1 — (ENS) The annual banquet of the Springville Young People's Society was held in the basement on Friday evening. The decorations, which were aranged by Laura Neals and Flora Dunford, were carried out in spring colors and were mist attractive.

It was regretted that a number were unable to attend, as a splendid program had been arranged.

Clifford Johnston, Y.P.U. president, was toastmaster for the following program: The Country, proposed by Clarence Johnston; The Church, proposed by Rev. J. F. Everson; The Ladies, by Clairmont Morgan, with response by Zetta Wilson; The Gentlemen, by Janet McIntosh, responded to by Jim Hunter; The Guests, by Velma Staples, with the response by Bill Edgerton of Fairmount Y.P.U. Ormond Benson of Peterborough led in community singing.

Rev. Morgan Rowland of Fraserville was guest speaker and gave a most inspiring talk to young people, stressing the fact that we must believe that good will come as a result of trials that are sent to our lives. He said that personal suffering helps one in dealing with the sorrows of Others assisting with arrangements for the evening were Mary Staples, Viola Neals, Dorothy and Mamie Cathcart, Edna Dunford, Harvey Cliford and Cecil Neals.

Five More Quilts.

At the April quilting held in the basement five quilts were completed and forwarded to the Red Cross. Two of these had been pieced at Mrs. Dunford's home where the ladies gathered with their patches for an afternoon of sewing. At the quilting a pot-luck dinner was served, and a silver collection taken. The proceeds will be used for quilt supplies.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rowan, with Ivan and Mervin, spent Tuesday at Bethany, when Mr. Rowan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Rowan, celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary. The members of the family were all with their parents to celebrate the happy occasion, and a radio was presented their parents by them. Mr. and Mrs. Rowan's many Springville friends join in wishing them many more years of happiness together.

Clairmont Morgan of Tweed spent the past week at his home here.

Friends of Manson Cathcart regret that he has been confined to bed, but are glad to know that he is much improved.

Miss Mary Staples of Bailieboro spent the week-end at her home here.

Miss Ruth Hunter, who is attending Queen's University, is confined to the Isolation Hospital with an attack of measles, and is having to write her examinations while there.

Convicts Caused Own Injuries, Warden Declares

"They did it themselves," explained the warden of a Georgia prison known as "Little Alcatraz," after an Atlanta paper published this picture of three convicts with their legs in cases, breaking rocks in the prison yard. To stop self-inflicted leg fractures, the warden said he made them do some work after a doctor pronounced them fit.

Millbrook Couple Celebrate Silver Wedding Anniversary

MILLBROOK, May 1 — (ENS). — Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Kerr, well-known and popular residents of the community, the former being manager of the local branch of the Bank of Toronto, celebrated their silver wedding anniversary on Friday, April 25, by an "At Home" to their friends from 7.30 to 10.30 p.m., over one hundred callers being received during the course of the evening.

On April 25, 1916, the marriage of Kathryn Patterson and Herbert A. Kerr was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Patterson, Collingwood, the ceremony being performed by the late Rev. Mr. Urquhart, minister of the Presbyterian Church of that town. The groom's youngest sister, Margaret Kerr, was flower girl; her own marriage has since taken place, and on the twenty-fifth anniversary of her brother's wedding day, she became the proud mother of a baby boy.

In the quarter of a century which has followed their marriage, Mr. Kerr's various moves as manager of Bank of Toronto branches have included London, Kerwood, Wyoming, Stayner, and Millbrook, where they have lived for the past nine years, the longest stay at any one point in his business career. During residence here the hospitality of their home, on Centre Street, has become widely known, and evidence of their popularity was seen in the many gifts of flowers and silver from personal friends. Included with these was a silver entree dish with matching gravy boat, in Sheffield reproduction, for the presentation of which over twenty of their friends combined.

A matching entree dish in the Sheffield reproduction was the anniversary gift of the elder son of the home, Sergt. William Kerr, now enlisted in the S. D. and G. Highlanders, and at present stationed at Debert, Nova Scotia.

As the many guests entered the hall on Friday evening they were asked to sign their names in a registry book, this duty being in charge of John McCaw of Barrie, a nephew of the bride and groom of twenty-five years' standing. Donald Kerr, younger son of the homestead, attended the door, and Mr. and Mrs. Kerr, the latter wearing a becoming floor-length dress of floral-patterned chiffon on blue ground, made on princess lines, and with corsage of roses, received in the living-room. Mrs. T. A. Campbell assisted with the reception of the guests, and also invited them to the tea room.

During the reception, Miss Jessie Claxton of Toronto, an intimate friend of the "bride," sang a number of times, playing her own accompaniments. Miss Claxton and Miss M. E. Needham poured tea at a table lovely with lace cloth, a cut crystal bowl of pink sweet peas on the central reflector, and tall pink candles burning in silver holders. The handsome two-storey wedding cake was the gift of the groom's mother, Mrs. Kerr Senior, of Elmvale, who was unable to be present for the anniversary occasion, but who, with her husband, sent as their special gift, the beautiful mirror of British plate-glass with carved gilt frame, hanging over the library table at the end of the living-room.

Assisting in the tea room were Mrs. R. A. Ford, Miss Muriel Smith, Miss Betty Montgomery, and Miss Dorothy Sisco. Mr. and Mrs. J. McCaw of Barrie, the latter a sister of Mr. Kerr's, were guests at the homestead for the silver wedding anniversary.

Havelock Pastor Moving To Mission Post

HAVELOCK, May 1—(ENS). — Mr. Gordon Whidden, B.A., of Toronto, who has been acting as supply pastor of the United Church during the illnes of the pastor, Rev. A. McLauchlin, has left for Cockburn Island, near Sault Ste. Marie, where he will be engaged in Mission work during the summer vacation.

Mr. Whidden and Mr. Robert McLauchlin have both been successful in their examinations at Emanuel College, Toronto. Mr. Robert McLauchlin, son of Rev. and Mrs. A. McLauchlin of town, has secured a position in the office of the Dominion Industries at Nobell, north of Parry Sound, for the vacation months.

Good attendance was on hand this week at the regular meeting of the Havelock-Belmont Red Cross Society, held on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, in the Council Chamber, with the president, Mrs. A. McLauchlin, in charge. Many finished articles for bombed areas were brought in and another quilt was completed. Two quilt tops were received from Mrs. Easterbrook and Mrs. Hunter, and a donation of $5 was also handed in by the Young People's Bridge Club. These donations are gratefully acknowledged by the Red Cross Society.

The salvage collection will be made this Friday, May 2, and it is hoped that all citizens will co-operate, by having things all tied up or in bags ready for the collectors. The town will be divided into three parts and drivers with trucks will call at each house.

Work was stopped during the afternoon for the usual war time prayer. Special business of the day was the planning for a Fashion Show and Aafternoon Tea, with a musical program, to be held on Monday, May 19, in the auditorium of the Havelock Town Hall. Little children will be chosen to model the little dresses and suits that are being made for the little folk in the bombed areas, and an exhibit of all work of various kinds will be on display. All further plans and arrangements will be completed at the next meeting, which will be held on Tuesday of next week; this will be an all-day meeting, to finish and get ready little frocks for the Fashion Show. A pot luck dinner will be served at noon.

Fairmount Y.P.S. Holds Banquet

A mixed program followed, including a splendid address by Rev. Mr. Rowland of Fraserville. The toast to the King was proposed by the toastmaster, replied to with the National Anthem; toast to the church by Roger Hanbidge, reply by Rev. J. F. Everson; solo, Jean Dainard, accompanied by Mrs. McIndoo; toast to Our Country, Allan Downes, reply "O Canada"; toast to Guests, Mrs. C. Sidney Farmer Has Barn Burned

TWEED, May 1 — (ENS). — Fire, believed to have originated from a spark from a bonfire, totally destroyed the large barn and outbuildings of William McMullen, well-known Second Concession of Sidney Township farmer, on Monday afternoon.

Several young calves, a horse, and a number of chickens and a pig that was to have been killed on Tuesday, were lost in the flames. Two haystacks, a strawstack, farm equipment stored in the barn, a large drive shed with its contents, also fell prey to the fire. A nearby pigpen was seriously damaged, but the house was saved due to the efforts of neighbors who put out minor blazes and saturated the roof with water.

The flames, in the van of a fickle wind, rapidly swept through the buildings and engulfed a lumber pile reducing it to ashes. The driveshed contained much other farm equipment, one thousand feet of lumber. Hay and grain were lost in the barn blaze.

As the flames got rapidly out of control, alarms were sent to nearby centres, but their appeal was futile, as permission could not be granted for the fire fighting equipment to be moved outside the village limits.

Neighbors rushed to the scene of the blaze and removed household effects to safety. Bucket brigades turned their attention to the house.

Ronald Stewart, age nine, of Milltown, had a narrow escape from serious injury when an ice house on which he had climbed collapsed. When Ronald heard the tumbling of the walls, he jumped 18 feet to the ground escaping without injury.

Felt Tired, Nervous, Rundown; Back Ached; Stomach Rebelled

This Lady Is Delighted With Improvement in Health and Recommends Syntona to All Who Suffer Similarly. Says Stomach Felt Better From First Few Doses. Then Nerves Relaxed and Pains Went Away.

MRS. WESLEY HARRISON

"There has been such a definite improvement in my health since I've been taking Syntona that I will be only too glad to have others know about this medicine," said Mrs. Wesley Harrison, 151 Tragina Avenue, North, Hamilton, in a recent report:

"In the last year, I was troubled constantly with a dull ache in my back, and, no matter what I tried, I couldn't get rid of it. I had become rundown, my nerves were bad and I couldn't sleep, so I felt tired and worn out right from the beginning of each day. My appetite wasn't very good and what little food I did eat just seemed to sour in my stomach and cause gas, bloat and cramps. I was subject to frequent headaches and I often felt light-headed and dizzy.

"My husband was using Syntona and it seemed to be helping him, so I decided to take some, too, and it helped my stomach right from the first few doses. Now, after a few weeks, I am feeling ever so much better. My nerves are relaxed and the pains have gone from my back, so I can get a good night's sleep and I arise mornings feeling rested and ready for the day's work. I am free of those dizzy spells and headaches and I can enjoy my meals without all that gas and indigestion."

Syntona produces these results without the aid of harsh drugs or depressors. It is made only from the pure extracts of herbs, roots, and barks that have long been known for their medicinal value. Make up your mind to take Syntona yourself. See how much better you can be feeling in just a short time.

IRAQ TROOPS OPEN FIRE ON BIG BRITISH AIRPORT

MAX HARRELSON Says:

Editor's Note.—Max Harrelson, Associated Press Staff Writer, was the only foreign correspondent in Zagreb, Yugoslavia, when the German invasion began on April 6, and his story is the first neutral eye-witness account of the creation of the new Croat state. Cut off from the rest of the world for more than three weeks in Zagreb,

Crotia Swings Nazi 'Independent' After 4-Day Sham Fight

ZAGREB WRITER 'BACK FROM THE DEAD' CLAIMS POPULACE HAILED HUNS AS LIBERATORS—START ABUSING JEWS, SERBS—LEFT ONLY HALF LAND THEY EXPECTED.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, May 2—(AP).—The new independent state of Croatia, carved from the ruins of Yugoslavia, is a totalitarian state patterned to fit neatly into the Axis orbit.

It came into being almost at the same instant that German armored cars dashed into Zagreb April 10—four days after the Nazi invasion began—and it promptly took on the familiar aspects of a Fascist state.

Among the evidences of the character of the new state which I saw during my three weeks there were these:

There is one political organization—Ustachi—which has rights and functions correlated with the regular civil administration.

The head of this organization (apparently similar to the one-party system of Fascism) and the head of the government is Dr. Ante Pavelic. The Gagreb press and radio began calling him "Fuehrer of the Croat people" soon after he was named.

It appeared that the new government will be as severe perhaps as any in Europe in dealing with Jews. Stern measures already have been taken in this regard and authoritative sources said further steps could be expected.

Arabs Called To Holy War As Strife Hits Oil Fount For British Campaign In East

Imperials Answer Axis-Inspired Barrage After Rounding Up Women, Children; British Forces Reported Surrounded

NEW YORK, May 2—(AP). — The British Broadcasting Corporation heard in New York today, said hostilities between British troops and the pro-German government of Rashid Ali Al Gailani of Iraq broke out in that oil-rich Middle East kingdom today with Iraq troops opening artillery fire on British forces.

The report said the Iraqis began shelling Habbaniyah airport, 60 miles west of Baghdad, at dawn and that the British forces were fighting back.

British women and children were said to have been taken to the airport for protection before the action began.

The outbreak occurred on the sixth birthday of Iraq's boy king, Feisal II.

The Berlin propaganda radio previously had reported Iraq troop movements and the calling up of reserves, and claimed "demonstrations of loyalty by young organizations in Iraq have taken place outside the residence of the Premier."

"The one important centre in the country not yet occupied by the Iraq army" is the airport, the German radio claimed, "and the British units which were landed have been surrounded by the Iraq troops."

(No official British statement on the Iraq situation has yet been issued in London. Semi-official sources said "a somewhat critical situation" existed).

British forces at the post are taking "counter actions" the broadcast said.

The B.B.C. said that "it is now known" that after Rashid Ali Al Gailani "violently and illegally" seized power in Iraq early in April he appealed to Germany for armed help to oppose Britain.

Shelling With Dawn.

The broadcast indicated the shelling began early this morning.

"It is learned in London that a tense situation has arisen an Iraq at dawn to-day" the broadcaster said. He then went on to say the Iraq forces were using their artillery.

Amid reports of growing trouble in Iraq the Axis propaganda system rushed out to the world, in the hope of embarrassing Britain's position in the Middle East, asserring that Arabs in Iraq had been summoned to a "holy war."

The developments made that corner of the Moslem world a major pivot in the war.

For days Britons have been expecting a German move on Asia Minor, that three-way bridge linking Europe, Africa and Asia.

Iraq's rich oil fields and a road to Suez are the stakes.

Wavell Fast Organizing Tough Eastern Army Around Veterans Of Two Campaigns As Hun Planes Arrive In Groups Of 50-60

WITH THE BRITISH EXPEDITIONARY FORCE JUST ARRIVED FROM GREECE, Cairo, May 2—(AP).—New war material pouring into Africa in recent weeks—much of it American-made—offsets the loss of equipment in Greece, British sources said today.

The commander-in-chief, Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell, is losing no time in reorganization of his armies for any German move in this end of the Mediterranean.

It was pointed out that much of the army which conquered Italian East Africa now is free for new action, alongside the divisions returned from Greece.

(The newly-arriving American supplies may have reached Egypt by way of the Red Sea, which President Roosevelt has opened to American shipping by declaring it out of the war zone).

Thousands of the British, Australian and New Zealand troops withdrawn from Greece already are in the line for defence of the Middle East against the swelling German contingents in Africa.

With the Nazis now more extensively lodged along the Mediterranean shores and in islands off the Turkish coast, Gen. Wavell must keep a sharp eye to the north as well as on direct action along the Salum and Tobruk fronts, near the Egyptian-Libyan fronts.

1 Killed, 9 Hurt In Toronto Trolley Crash

TORONTO, May 2 — (CP). — William J. O'Brien, 76, suffered fatal injuries and nine other persons were hurt when a Toronto street car ran through an open switch early today. A. Barker, operator of the car, was charged with driving negligently and causing grievous bodily injuries.

Police said that a preceding car had turned up Lansdowne Avenue, leaving the switch at the Bloor street intersection open. When the car operated by Barker ran into the switch, passengers were flung to the front end of the car and several persons were thrown out.

Those most seriously hurt were Henry Mohr, Mrs. Evelyn Briggs and her daughter Hilda.

By Smoke Signal

Penetanguishene, Ont., May 2.

THE ancient method of smoke signals summoned Indian recruits from Christian Island in Georgian Bay to local military headquarters, after other means of communication failed.

Early last month a draft was received by Major W. M. Thompson, O.C. of "D" Company, 2nd Battalion, Grey and Simcoe Foresters. As several members of the Indian settlement at Christian Island had signified their desire to be sent on active service, it was decided to notify them.

It was learned that the road was impassable and the ice unsafe so a fire was lighted and smudged so that smoke signals were wafted high above the trees on the point. Three patriotic Indians, received the message and rowed and pulled a heavy rowboat across.

America's Flag In War Zone Bad, Tips Berlin

BERLIN, May 2—(AP).—Semi-official Nazi sources asserted today the American flag in the European war zone would "directly disturb the interests of Greater Germany."

Dienst Aus Deutschland, commentary close to the Wilhelmstrasse, in summarizing German contentions, placed this point first.

"Never has the Reich pursued any other policy in the Western hemisphere than that of legitimate commercial objectives," Dienst asserted. "There are no grounds for trouble between two peoples unless one intentionally seeks them."

Second, the commentary recalled German Government statements on

Beaverbrook Made New Vice-Premier

Dictator Of Industry As Churchill Shakes Up Cabinet

LONDON, May 2 —(CP)—Prime Minister Churchill answered critics of his administration today by shaking up his cabinet and naming dynamic Lord Beaverbrook to the newly-created post of minister of state with the apparent intention of making him virtual dictator of Britain's wartime industries.

In lines with this sweeping move, Mr. Churchill merged the ministries of shipping and transport and entrusted the important new portfolio of wartime communications to a virtual unknown—57-year-old Frederick Thomas Leathers, who simultaneously was made a baron.

J. T. C. Moore-Brabazon, former minister of transport, was named to succeed Lord Beaverbrook as minister of aircraft production. Ronald Cross, relieved of the post of minister of shipping, was appointed high commissioner to Australia.

These changes, generally commended by the press—part of which had been insisting that new blood was necessary for more efficient conduct of the war—came as Mr. Churchill prepared for next week's parliamentary debate on British reverses in Greece and North Africa.

They apparently were designed to answer two outstanding objects of criticism—delay in production of vital war materials and lack of co-operation between land and sea communications.

Means More Guns, Tanks

Lord Beaverbrook, who has speeded up airplane manufacture to meet the German challenge in the air, is expected to have undivided control of the production of guns, tanks and other equipment in his new post.

Concentration of his drive and energy on this problem would relieve Mr. Churchill of many of his cares and permit him to devote his

British, Greeks "Can, Will" Retain Crete

By EDWARD KENNEDY
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

CAIRO, May 2—(AP).—British and Greek forces escaping from Greece who landed on the Island of Crete, where king George II has established his government, will defend it against threatened Axis invasion, officers of the Allied Commands declared today.

A British General told me Crete could and would be held, and the Greeks agreed, pointing out that the rugged island, ribbed by four mountain ranges with scarcely any level ground, lends itself to defence.

The only harbor suitable for large vessels—Suda Bay—was developed as a British naval base months ago. The island, 160 miles long and ranging from seven to 35 miles wide, lies 60 miles off the southernmost tip of Greece and 110 miles from the nearest cape of Turkey.

Since King George, his Premier and the royal household arrived at Crete in a British plane April 23, the island has been the goal of hundreds of Greek soldiers who scorned surrender and crowded aboard ships during the British evacuation of Greece.

The crew of the Greek ship in which I escaped from Greece with many Greek civilians chose to remain in Crete rather than continue to Egypt.

Navy Steps In As Fight Continues

Berlin Reports 8,200 British Captured On Grecian Beaches

CAIRO, May 2—(AP).—A British counter-attack in one sector of Tobruk's outer defences cost Axis attackers 11 tanks and many casualties and fighting still is in progress in other sectors around that Libyan port, the Middle East Command announced today.

"Throughout yesterday the enemy continued to attack the outer defences of Tobruk," the communique said, indicating the tank charge took place a day ago.

Patrol action also continued in the area of Salum, over the frontier in Egypt, about 90 miles from Tobruk, it said.

It was known only that the original attack was made at night, some Axis tanks penetrating the outer perimetre of forts.

While heavier than those attacks which preceded it, it was expected in London, however, that the thrust would be turned back, particularly since the British Navy is taking a hand.

At Salum, just inside the Egyptian border, no further Axis advance has been reported, but British patrols, continuing to circulate, were said to have captured one German gun yesterday.

Although authorities here said some small British units cut off from the main forces in Greece might still get away safely, removal was regarded as virtually finished.

FDR Orders 24-Hr Production In All Defence

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP) — President Roosevelt called today for defence industry to work its machine tools "24 hours a day and seven days a week," relieving them only for overhaul and repair.

He appealed through the office of production management for an expanded and expedited supply of new machine tools and said he believed existing ones could be used hours longer without boosting workers' individual hours.

Mr. Roosevelt made the plea to meet what he called the "ever-increasing demands for munitions, planes and ships, caused by the critical situation which confronts our nation."

In another defence discussion, at his press conference, the President was asked whether plans were being considered to speed up plane production by increased use of automobile plants and replied that efforts have been directed along this line for several months.

He added the idea was to have the auto makers turn out something, and where they could not turn out planes they produce parts for them.

Mr. Roosevelt could not supply any figures, he said, when asked whether the present aim was to have plane and auto factories turn out 500 four-engined bombers a month.

Must Have More Machines

In a letter made public at his press conference, he told William S. Knudsen and Sidney Hillman, O.P.M. directors, it is essential that "industry continue to increase the number of vital machines manufactured and that every single critical machine in the United States be used the maximum number of hours each week."

He said he appreciated the increased number of hours existing

Navy Does 'The Impossible'

Pulls 43,000 From Greece In Conditions Worse Than Dunkirk

By ROBERT ST. JOHN
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

CAIRO, Egypt, May 2—(AP). — The British navy accomplished the "impossible' in rescuing something under 50,000 imperial troops from Greece.

Military and naval experts said it couldn't be done. Veteran officers who had lived through the Dunkirk retreat said the flight from Greece was infinitely more difficult—that the royal navy could be proud of getting a single shipload of men safely away through the rain of sudden death the Nazis were pouring on the ships.

But the impossible was done.

I know, for I walked the deck with soldiers who got away and saw columns of sturdy craft, packed to the rails with imperial troops, steaming safely away to new battlegrounds.

I had reached a teeming port town in the Peloponnesus after fleeing from the ruins of Yugoslavia's capital and down through bomb-wrecked Greece.

Here in Cairo, I am witnessing the final chapter in what may go down in the records as one of the greatest feats of the British Navy.

Ships were lost. Men were lost but the total dead are infinitesimal in comparison with the predictions of experts who sized-up the tremendous obstacles at first hand.

The Germans had numerous air bases close by—on the Greek mainland, in defeated Yugoslavia, in the heel of Italy, on the Italian island of Rhodes, in the Dodecanese islands and in Bulgaria.

Then there was the threat of the Italian fleet. One Greek army had capitulated. German motorized columns were sweeping down from the north, held back only by fiercely resisting rearguard units which were vastly out-numbered.

From what I saw as I came down through Greece and joined the waiting troops on jetties and watched the astonishing mechanics of the Senate Group Fights Giving U.K. Axis Craft

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)— An unexpectedly strong move developed in the Senate today for curbing the proposed authority of the President to turn over seized Axis shipping to Britain.

Projected as an integral part of legislation which would permit the President to requisition and pay for about 80 foreign flag vessels lying idle in United States ports, this provision was said to have aroused protest within the Senate Commerce committee.

Some commitee members asserted that the transfer of one belligerent's ships to another belligerent could only be regarded as "an act of war."

Blitz Night With A Londoner

Giant Dud Drives Writer To Open, With Bombs Everywhere

By DOUGLAS AMARON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

LONDON, May 2.—(CP)—It was noisy in London.

Planes had been going over for hours on end, coming, dropping their bombs, then going again that others might take their place.

Douglas Amaron

"This is a real blitz, they're not fooling tonight," someone said, moving to the centre of the room where everyone seemed to converge. It was safer there, away from the windows.

There was a swish, a heavy crump and the floor shook as in an earthquake. A window banged open. We turned out the lights and adjusted the blackout. That made five times in an hour.

Another swish, nearer this time, and a dull thud which shook us to the toes. There was no explosion. A dud, and not far away.

Outside ARP and police searched for the unexploded bomb. They didn't have far to look—it was almost at the front door. And it was a big fellow, one of the biggest the Germans make.

A winded member of the Home Guard rushed up stairs ordering everyone to leave. We tossed together a few essentials and in five minutes gathered in the front hall.

There, in the dim light, were more home guards, police and ARP workers. They thought the basement at the rear of the building might be safe. As safe anyway as walking through the streets.

But we preferred the streets. Somehow or other bombs from the sky seemed less immediate than a ton of potential death on the doorstep.

We moved gingerly past the high explosive, then raced down a side-

Menzies told a press conference that "American help, if it is to shorten the war effectively, must be on a great scale."

Run Dive-Bombers' Gauntlet Across Mediterranean With Loss Of Some 500 At Sea

Majority Of British Tanks Lost At Olympus Rest Of Fight All By Rearguards Troops Escaping From Beaches At Night

(By EDWARD KENNEDY.)

WITH THE BRITISH FLEET AT ALEXANDRIA, May 1—(Delayed)—(AP)—A squadron of British cruisers and destroyers landed 5,000 Australian troops from Greece today after beating off persistent dive-bombing attacks in which German pilots dropped thousand-pound bombs.

The Australians set up Bren (rapid-fire) guns on the decks of their ships and used their rifles to aid in repelling the bombers.

Some near misses heavily rocked the ships, the troops reported.

MELBOURNE, Australia, May 2—(CP)—Removal of the British Imperial forces from Greece has been completed with a total of 43,000 men rescued, Lt.-Gen. Sir Thomas Blamey said in a message today to Army Minister Percy Spender.

(This figure compares with Prime Minister Churchill's original statement two days ago that at least 45,000 out of a total force of 60,000 men were rescued and a subsequent British Middle East command estimate indicating a total of 48,000 men saved).

Casualties at sea, he said, were not likely to exceed 500.

Gen. Blamey, deputy commander-in-chief in the Middle East, said he was unable to estimate the number of sick and wounded left in Greek hospitals or the total casualties before the withdrawal of the expeditionary forces.

He added there was no doubt of the superiority of the Imperial forces or of the heavy losses inflicted on the Germans.

Gen. Blamey said 3,000 men of the British Expeditionary Force, including a few Australians, had to be left behind on beaches in the Peloponnesus and other places as they were cut off by advancing Germans.

He asserted that increased mechanization of Imperial Forces was the only way to cope with the present German military advantage. Gen. Blamey said Anzac troops proved decisive superiority whenever they met their foe on equal terms.

Heavy Eqipment Loss

With the British Expeditionary Force Arrived at Cairo from Greece, May 2 — (AP). — British Imperial troops who fought the German invaders of Greece have come back to Egypt after the loss of perhaps 8,000 tanks and trucks and many first-line planes, a loss which they believe to be more than balanced by the far heavier German losses of similar equipment.

Most of the British tanks never got away from the Mount Olympus line, where they were wrecked or destroyed after inflicting severe losses on the Germans.

...ate is not clear but it is expected ...o include about 5,000,000 persons, roughly one-third of the population of Yugoslavia. Italy is expected to take the Dalmatian coast, cutting Croatia off from the sea, and other slices—by Hungary and Germany—may reduce it to about half the size visualized by Croat patriots.

Croatia is to have its own army and is to handle its own foreign relations through its own diplomatic corps. There are no signs of German troops withdrawals and the Germans are co-operating in travel regulation and in safeguarding against disorders.

Feeling against the Serbs is strong and the Croats lost no time in eliminating all signs of Serb influence.

Feeling against the United States also is strong. Some newspapers blame President Roosevelt for Yugoslavia's resistance to the Axis. One of the new government's first acts was to prohibit the showing of American-made movies.

Excerpts from the diary I kept during the critical first five days of the war show that on April 6 Zagreb was awakened at 6.45 a.m. by the wail of sirens. Ten minutes later two German Heinkels broke through the clouds and circled leisurely at 10,000 feet while 50 anti-aircraft guns popped. The planes glided back into the clouds.

Then the people started pouring into the streets to find out what it was all about. One policeman said it was only practice but some of us knew that it was war. The news was not announced to the public, theer were no newspapers and the radio gave no information.

Emergency measures by authorities finally convinced the populace it actually was war.

On April 10 Croatia became the newest "independent" state in Europe after being under foreign rule since 1102. The new state came into being almost simultaneously with the entrance of German troops into Zagreb.

German motorized forces streaming through the main streets were given a welcome by the populace far different from the one I witnessed in Holland 11 months ago. Many Croats climbed on the German vehicles and kissed the soldiers.

After nightfall scores of persons were taken to hospitals, victims of mysterious attacks. There were some deaths, including the suicides of a number of Jews.

He is facing perhaps his greatest test with the confidence of his staff and troops unbounded.

When the Balkan expedition was decided upon he understood it and did, in the soldiers' view, everything to make the German victory costly.

Depelopments such as the collapse of the Yugoslav army and the destruction of Piraeus harbor in Greece changed the whole Balkan situation.

Troops Turn Grim

Soldiers who first went into battle at Bardia during Britain's winter offensive singing "We're off to see the Wizard—the wonderful Wizard of Oz" no longer feel in that mood.

They are grim and sobered after the fury that was Greece. But they are unbroken and unshaken in the conviction that man for man they are better soldiers than the Germans and want only an opportunity to prove it.

And now with the British Expeditionary Force once more on Egyptian soil and with German planes flying to Africa in groups of 50 and 60, all indications are that action will not be long in coming.

In the desert the Greek situation is reversed. Here it is the Germans who must cross the sea and the British forces who are fighting closer to their own bases on land they know well.

3,200 British Prisoners

BERLIN, May 2 (AP)—The German high command today claimed completion of the occupation of Greece's Peloponnesian peninsula, asserting "there is no fighting Briton any longer on the Greek mainland."

It claimed 8,200 British prisoners were trapped in southern harbors on the Peloponnesus before they could embark.

(Some 46,000 British and imperial troops removed from Greece have so far reached safety, leaving 12,000 prisoners, casualties or en route from Greek ports.)

Turkey would be in the middle if the Axis started to move into Iraq by land. Seized Greek islands might offer a by-pass, isolating Turkey.

The combinaton of British, Syrian, Italian and German reports on the situation offered the following picture:

1. London had previously announced a "somewhat critical situation" developed when Iraq failed to comply with a request that she withdraw forces around Habbaniyah airport, treaty base of the Royal Air Force. Iraq protested the extent of British troops movements ino Iraq, through Basra at the head of the Persian gulf.

2. The Berlin radio claimed Rashid Ali Al Gailani, pro-Axis Premier of Iraq since a coup of a month ago, has called on his people to take up arms for a "sacred" struggle aginst Britain.

Iraq Guard on Oil.

3. The Syrian radio claimed native forces started moving toward the Iraq bases which Britain holds by treaty and an armed Iraq guard was posted on the largely British-developed Mosul oil fields.

4. Mobilization of the Iraq army beyond its regular 28,000 standing strength was ordered, according to Axis sources.

The German radio said that Iraq had mobilized "all classes of special units and the 1916 class of the regular army.

(These German claims were totally without British confirmation.)

The Berlin broadcaster quoted Stefani, Italian propaganda-news agency, for the reports, in part. The German broadcast was heard here by the Columbia Broadcasting system.

"The Stefani agency reports from Iraq capital that Iraq troops began the occupation of strategic points throughout the country on Wednesday," the German broadcast said.

"British troops landed at Basra, have been encircled by Iraq units. Serious incidents, however, have not occurred yet."

Key Oil Fountain

Iraq is important because it occupies a key position over the oil reserves of the Near East and with Syria affords the only possible line of British communications with Turkey. It flanks the British position in Egypt.

At the same time diplomatic activity was reported in Iran, eastern neighbor of Iraq, by the German radio. This broadcast said the Iran Prime Minister and cabinet attended a May Day reception yesterday at the German Legation in Teheran.

The German radio claimed the Iraq Premier told his nation "the hour of struggle seems to be near."

Technically, a holy war may be declared only by the Caliphate. It has been abolished by Turkey, however, so that any head of a Moslem sect with an influential following might proclaim a holy war and call on Moslems to support it.

One such leader is te Grand Mufti of Jerusalem, now living in Baghdad, Iraq. Britain exiled him from Palestine years ago for his part in Arab terrorism against Jews and Britons.

Britain has invested upward of $1,000,000,000 in developing Iraq and its oil fields; and if Hitler could get them it would be one of his greatest grabs of the war.

Kaiser Wilhelm's dreams of a Bagdad-Berlin railroad to tap these wells constitited one of the contributing factors to the First Great War.

Britain since 1933 has quadrupled Iraq's petroleum output. This supply, upon which the Mediterranean fleet depends, is funnelled by way of Haifa, Trans-Jordan and Palestine to the Mediterranean ports.

A second pipeline which ran to French-governed Syria has been cut off since the fall of France last summer.

Iraq, with an area of 116,000 square miles and a population of 3,500,000, got its present governmental setup after the last war in which it won freedom from Turkish rule and was placed under British protection.

In 1938 the country had an army of 28,000 officers and men, including a small air force and 200-man camel corps. It also had a police force of 10,711, of which 4,043 were mounted.

At that time Britain had three bomber squadrons and one bomber transport squadron, a general reconnaissance squadron and an armored car company.

The first British reinforcements landed at Basra, at the head of the Persian gulf, last month, were said to have numbered 1,200 men, but the strength of the second force announced yesterday has not been disclosed.

It was during the period of the Arabian Nights, which followed the Biblical and Persian areas, that Sinbad the sailor sailed from Basra and Ali Baba caught his forty thieves in Iraq's capital city, Baghdad. Iraq also is reported to have been the locale of the Garden of Eden and the Tower of Babel.

House Endorses Government's Wheat Policy

OTTAWA, May 2 — (CP). — Endorsation of the Government's wheat acreage reduction policy is on the records of the House of Commons to-day, despite the votes of a combined Opposition and a single Liberal member.

The long debate on a Conservative want-of-confidence motion demanding parity between farm and other prices and a C.C.F. amendment attacking the wheat policy particularly ended last night in rejection of both.

To-day the House continues discussion of the wheat policy on an estimate of $35,000,000 to finance the payment of acreage bonuses to Western farmers who reduce wheat street—a hotel a quarter-mile away our objective. There was no blackout here, for the light of many fires was reflected in every window.

Glass, debris and dust, especially dust, were underfoot and our boots left a clear black mark in the grey-yellow silt. We didn't think of dirt, however. Speed was all we had in mind.

Hugging the sides of buildings, we ran and stumbled through the streets. Shrapnel tinkled off roofs and in the roadway. Guns roared, planes droned overhead.

One machine whined down on a blazing target. Four bombs came hurtling to earth. We flung ourselves faces flat against the grimy pavement.

In a minute we were up again, then down. A second plane aimed three more bombs at the target. Great masses of burning debris leaped into the sky, then slowly settled back into the cauldron.

Upright once more, we ran. Someone started to sing—false courage or unconcern only he knows.

"Shut up," a voice called, "we can't hear the bombs."

The singing ceased and we heard the bombs. Four more times we sprawled on our faces, dodging high explosives which seemed to be coming at us but never did.

Even Hotel Damaged.

Then the hotel. Even it had not been spared and there was broken woodwork and mortar at the front door. But it was our haven and we plunged through the swinging doors.

Just in time. Another bomb blew us across the foyer faster than we could have run. We went upstairs to a waiting room and were whisked out again as a second bomb blew in the windows. Corridors were thick with yellow powder dust, suffocating, nauseating. Slowly it settled and the air cleared.

We shook dirt from our hair and clothes, wiped our blackened hands. The guns sounded less frequently, the dawn came and the raiders passed.

We went out into the pink light of the early morning, pink more from the glow of fires than from the rising sun. The air was heavy with smoke, the streets deep in glass and broken stone and plaster.

Already a charwoman was clearing away litter from the front of a store in which there were no windows left for her to wipe. The first buses bumped through the debris. A newsboy shouted headlines.

London's night was over.

Divorce Seldom Brings Freedom That Is Expected. Greater Percentage of Men and Women Who Have Severed Marital Relations Later Regret the Step.

A recent survey was conducted among divorced women in which they were asked: "How do you feel, five years after your divorce, about the wisdom of having got one?" Of the women who answered this question, 50 per cent regretted breaking up their marriages and said that if they were faced with the same problem today they would remain with their husbands. Thirty-four per cent were happy to have got rid of their partners and 16 per cent had returned to their spouses. No doubt if the same question were put to men who had divorced their wives virtually the same response would be made, for one of the surest things about divorce is that it seldom brings to either men or women the happiness they expected from it. It is not the cure-all for what ails marriage that those who take it believe it will be. No denying that there are some marriages for which divorce is as necessary as is the surgeon's knife that cuts away a malignant growth to save a life, but not every twinge of pain denotes cancer, nor are there many men and women who are brutes and viragoes. And if only those who rushed to the divorce court for just cause parted, the world would not be cluttered up with broken homes as it is now. With the right or wrong of divorce we are not concerned now. We are only discussing the fact that nothing else brings such bleak disappointment with it. The man who is fed up with domesticity; who is tired of hearing children cry; who is weary of looking at the same woman every day across the breakfast table and listening to her senseless chatter; who resents having to spend his money on supporting a family instead of his own pleasure and who rebels at having to furnish an alibi for every minute of the time he is away from home, thinks he would be perfectly happy if he could only get rid of the wife who has come to represent nothing but his slavery to him.

But when he gets his freedom he finds that it is dust and ashes in his teeth. Somehow marriage has unfitted him for bachelorhood. He misses a home and home comforts.

There is no kick in staying out nights when nobody knows or cares whether he ever comes back or not. The old gaffers at the club, with their long-winded stories are just as dull company as his wife was. And his heart is sick for the children whom he sacrificed as the price of his liberty.

Or a man marries a woman who does not come up to his ideals of what a wife should be. Perhaps she is untidy and a poor cook and housekeeper. Or extravagant. Or high-tempered. Or nagging. Or she unloads her family on him. Or she bores him to tears.

So he picks a quarrel with her and gets a divorce, but it brings him none of the bliss he expected. For he almost invariably remarries and finds that no woman is perfect and that he has just exchanged one set of faults for another that get equally on his nerves.

For women, who are the petitioners in divorce cases oftener than men, divorce is a still more blighting disappointment, because they expect of it the impossible. They have a naive belief that a decree absolute will work a miracle in themselves and their surroundings.

No matter if a woman is middle-aged and fat and homely and has half a dozen children, she thinks that there is some conjure in a divorce that will turn her into a girl again and give her back her place she had in her parents' home when she was a debutante and make her sought after by men.

So for any frivolous pretext she will divorce her husband, and she gets the shock of her life when she goes back home to Mother and finds a frigid welcome on the mat; that her old friends regard a woman who couldn't get along with her husband as a failure, and that men walk high, wide and handsome around a grass widow with children.

Many a woman who gives up a husband who was a good provider just because she had lost her taste for him, and who finds out that all her liberty has brought her is the liberty to support herself and the children, and that there is quite a difference between having all the money a man makes and a little grudgingly given alimony, wishes she had enough sense to have stayed married when she was married.

Taking it by and large, divorce doesn't pay.

Coast Guard To Navy

WASHINGTON, May 2—(AP). — Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau indicated today that President Roosevelt has made a decision about turning over the seagoing part of the coast guard to the United States Navy.

At a press conference, Morgenthau was asked whether anything had been decided and replied "yes, but I can't talk about it."

Ordinarily, the coast guard joins the navy only in time of war, but recently the navy revealed it was negotiating for immediate transfer of the seagoing vessels. The disclosure followed the transfer of 10 coast guard cutters to Britain.

Charles J. McCabe Dies In Toronto

TORONTO, May 2 —(CP)—Rev. Thomas McCabe, of Brampton, a nephew, officiated at the funeral Thursday of Charles J. McCabe, 87, former principal of Hamilton Normal School and chief clerk of the Surrogate Court, Osgoode Hall, here. Interment was in Toronto.

Close friend of Sir William Mulock, former postmaster-general, Mr. McCabe died Tuesday at the home of his niece, Mrs. Frank Kelly. He was born in Camilla, near Orangeville, and was a school teacher at Peterborough, Durham, Stratford and Hamilton before coming to Toronto half a century ago.

He retired nine years ago after 40 years in the Surrogate Court.

Chairman Emory S. Land of the Maritime Commission disagreed with this view, although Senators Champ Clark (Dem-Missouri), Hiram Johnson (Rep-California) and others took the stand that such a transfer would be a warlike gesture.

Despite reported administration pressure to keep the provision in the Bill, chairman Asiah Bailey (Dem-North Carolina) said he would not be surprised if a majority voted to restrict to American use the German and Italian ships recently taken into "protective custody" by the coast guard. Some other committee members disagreed, however, with Bailey's appraisal of the opposition strength.

Under present plans, all such vessels would be put into the 2,000,000 ton shipping pool the President has instructed Maritime Commission to assemble for transfer to foreign registry. This cargo fleet would carry war supplies to Britain.

the results which prosecution of American plans for convoys or patrols in the war zone would have on the three-power Axis pact.

Third, Dienst said:—

"Clear reminders have been made in Berlin that Roosevelt's policy for Germany is primarily a military problem. Germany has described areas which it considers operations of war zones and the world has been advised thereof. So it makes no difference whether President Roosevelt recognizes the zones or not.

"In any event, under valid usages of war, it makes no difference to Germany whether merchantmen or warships are in these zones."

Fourth, the commentary said it considered it noteworthy that Hitler's newspaper Voelkischer Beobachter also "in the sharpest form took objection to the American plan.

"The newspaper points out the burden of blame would be on America," Dienst added. "Responsibility therefore should fall on North American statesmen who in full knowledge of the consequence started a dangerous game and pushed it still further regardless of what might ensue."

Dienst said the "aggressive character of the Roosevelt policy is clearly recognized in Japan where there is determination to meet it with appropriate defence measures."

Discussing the letter with reporters, the president said he wanted a pool of useful or potentially-useful machine tools gathered from big and little plants, that they should be used where they are or moved to places where they could be operated, and that sufficient men be found to operate them.

He said he believed sufficient labor could be found without increasing existing individual hours of work.

Advocates Dowry System Be Brought Back

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., May 2.—(AP).—Dr. Will Durant, philosopher and historian, says the United States needs a vigorous program of scientific breeding, subtly enforced through economics.

Dr. Durant told 3,000 High School and College physical education directors at a convention last night that "America's first line of defence does not necessarily lie on land or oceans, but in the development of vigorous bodies, disciplined characters, and intelligent minds."

Dr. Durant made these recommendations:

That the old system of dowries for both brides and grooms be revived "to help ambitious and and talented young people marry at least as young as the Morons do."

That the feeble-minded be given a choice of segregation or sterilization, "preferably the latter."

That every woman who can pass a rigid physical examination be offered a "maternity endowment" with a view to "raising the birth rate of the biologically good."

That the income tax exemption for children be doubled, and that the salaries of both Governmental and private industrial employees be doubled "to raise the birth rate among the middle classes."

That every boy and girl be taught a manual trade, "because education now rests too much on the intellect."

That employees be allowed an ownership stake in every industry.

That tenant farmers be helped to acquire ownership of land, "inasmuch as half the United States is tilled by non-owners, and the soundest civilization is that in which property is most widely distributed."

embarkation, I know the navy didn't stop to ask the odds against it—it just went ahead and cleaned up the job.

I talked with many soldiers during the zig-zag crossing and their morale was amazingly high. They're on their way to fight once more. Australians, Canadians, New Zealanders, and Englishmen all said they were eager to get at it again.

(St. John apparently referred to Canadians in the Imperial force, for no troops from the Canadian army have seen action in Greece or Africa.

(Speaking in the House of Commons April 1, Defence Minister Ralston said that since the fall of France there had been no suggestion that Canadian troops serving in England should move to another theatre of war, except for small detachments for special work at Gibraltar.

(There are many Canadians in the Royal Air Force, squadrons of which helped the Greeks against the Axis forces.)

A Laugh From Berlin

There was great hilarity aboard my ship one night when a Berlin radio broadcast announcer boasted that not a single British soldier who had fought in Greece would get away to fight again.

"I guess the old Navy has answered that one," said one tousle-headed Aussie as he swept his hand toward the sea lane dotted with ships packed with tens of thousands of Imperial troops.

The men who strode ashore in Egypt said they are ready to fight again. When they boarded ship in Greece they loaded tons of rifles, food, optical instruments, machine-guns, anti-aircraft guns, ammunition, and any other stores they could carry.

Much heavy equipment was destroyed to prevent its falling into German hands.

I heard engines roaring at top speed without lubricating oil and smelled the odor of their burning and watched the steel glow red hot before the pistons seized, damaging motors beyond repair.

There were hundreds of Greek airmen, infantrymen, and gunners aboard the ships that crept out of the fog-shrouded harbor the night our vessel left. There was easy camaraderie between the Greeks and their British Allies, and they talked of revenge for the loss of Greece.

Still in the Fight.

The Greeks made a point of the fact that now their people could boast that Greeks were still in the fight. Many of them brought their own weapons with them.

They say the swastika now flies over Mount Olympus," one Greek soldier told me with tears in his eyes. "Over Mount Olympus—the home of our ancient gods—and over the Parthenon, too. How can we go home?"

The spirit of the Greek soldiers who chose to leave their families and homeland to go on fighting is shared by the people who stayed in their ruined towns and cities. Before I left Greece I saw owners of little shops busily scraping away the words, "English spoken here."

But one merchant said he was voicing the general sentiment in saying: "Some day—and we hope it will be soon—we are going to put those words back on our windows again, along with the crossed Union Jack and the blue and white flag of Greece."

Plainville Folk Honor Gordon Couple

PLAINVILLE, May 2—(ENS). — Tuesday evening the basement of the church was well filled with members of the congregation uniting with the Young People's Society.

Mr. and Mrs. William Gordon, Sr., were guest of honor. They have retired from their farm home at Plainville and have taken up residence in their new home in the village of Goldsprings. At the time of their moving the roads were in bad condition, so the presentation party was held off until this week, when they were invited back to the church.

The Y.P.S. held their regular meeting under the leadership of Miss Evelyn Carruthers. The topic, "Canada, Through the Eyes of Her Poets," was very capably dealt with by Miss Dorothy Harris. Other numbers included piano solo by Miss Audrey Linton; reading by Jack Buttar, and piano duet by Ronald and Murray Manley.

Mr. Wilburn Cole read an appropriate address to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon and Messrs. M. F. Ames and Allan Dines made the presentation of two very nice chairs.

Mrs. Gordon, on behalf of her husband, graciously replied. Both were very delighted to be remembered by their Plainville friends, among whom they and their family have worked for a good many years.

On Sunday, just before the Communion service in the United Church, the newly appointed elder, Mr. J. Buttar, was inducted to his office by the pastor, Rev. M. Fisher.

Donald Herriott, Port Hope, spent the week-end at his home here.

Friends in the community express much sympathy for the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Jamieson of Camborne, and their family, in the untimely death of their beloved second son, Albert, who was accidentally shot on Monday afternoon. The funeral service on Wednesday afternoon was very largely attended. Many friends from Plainville were present.

Several anglers were early risers Thursday morning as the trout season opened. Fishermen were at Manley's trout stream from Toronto and Port Hope. One fine catch of twelve speckled beauties was brought in by the proprietor.

They Came Up Smiling In Belfast After Nazi Raid

An impromptu concert is enjoyed in a destroyed area of Belfast, Ireland, after German planes rained bombs on the city and almost the whole of Northern Ireland. Hundreds of homes were shattered and at least 500 lives were lost.

Systematic Bombings Of Germany Bring Country To Sue For Peace

PORT HOPE, May 2 — (ENS) — Hitler consolidated Germany internally and then building up an aggressive nation and unmatchable army set out to obtain unlimited sources of raw materials and markets for himself, Dr. M. Bergmann told the Lions Club tonight. A native of Poland, the speaker threw many interesting sidelight on the course of events now shaping in Europe. He expressed the opinion the systematic destruction of German towns and villages would bring the country to sue for peace, despite the success of the army.

Hitler rose to power because he expresses the German nation's ambitions. He acquired the support of every faction by promising them their particular desires. Labor was promised jobs; industrialists, open markets, etc. In this manner the nation united behind him.

He introduced the theory of the pure Nordic race to build up an aggressive nation and then eliminated the Jews to prevent any opportunity of soiling the purity of the Germans.

Hitler's new European economy is working to give him every chance of keeping his promises it was shown. Since the government places the value on money the conquered nations must accept for raw materials whatever value the government decrees and in turn the people must pay similarly for finished products. Protests are dealt with by bullets.

Bicycle Safety Club Is Planning Parade

PORT HOPE, May 2—(ENS). — A Bicycle Safety Club parade with two bands in attendance will be held in Port Hope this evening as the Lions Club project to teach the school age boys and girls safety rules of the highway gets under way. The Citizens' Band and a comedy band of clowns imported for the occasion from Toronto will be in the parade of hundreds of school children. Boy Scout, Sea Scout, Wolf Cubs and Girl Guides will be seen in the parade, which lines up at the Central School and proceeds to the Town Hall headed by two of the new highway patrol cars. At the Town Hall, Harry "Red" Foster and Mayor Sherman Gifford are scheduled to speak.

Big Maskinonge Is Speared

COBOURG, May 2.—(ENS)—A four-foot maskinonge weighing well over 25 pounds was the evidence produced in police court here on Thursday before Magistrate W. A. F. Campbell by Fish and Game Overseer A. Minaker.

E. Grieves of Campbellford was convicted of spearing the fish and was fined $10 and costs while C. McGrayn also of Campbellford was remanded on a charge of possessing.

The court also remanded Theodore Boehemer on charge of failing to produce his national registration card. Boehemer is the man who told of breaking from the internment camp in Northern Ontario.

Fraser, book, for ranking highest in poultry husbandry during two years of the course; $25 scholarship for standing highest in farm management; and the Stewart G. Anderson shield for greatest proficiency in agricultural engineering.

Douglas Deviney of Vernonville was third in the Senior class, and won the A. J. Logsdail Trophy to the student showing most proficiency in horticulture.

Howard Evans of Warkworth was seventh. He won $25 in books, the livestock judging prize.

In the Junior year examinations: Allan Drummond of Otonabee and Braden Mann of Smith advanced to the Senior class, and also W. J. Ogden of Madoc.

RADIONICS

The most priceless thing on earth is good health. Are you endangering your health by not paying sufficient attention to the danger signals that nature is giving you? Headaches, sore throat, bronchial cough, pain over sinus and antrum, constipation, kidney and liver conditions, pain over the appendix area and urinary bladder. These are all warning signals, if you will only heed them.

RADIONIC EXAMINATION will determine the cause of any of these symptoms. If you have infection of the sinus, teeth, tonsils, kidneys, appendix bowel, etc., the Radioclast will find it and trace it to the part affected. Don't neglect your health by not knowing what the cause is.

Millbrook Plans Railway Defence

MILLBROOK, May 2.—(ENS)—A joint meeting of the committees appointed by the Port Hope and Millbrook councils to represent the municipalities in connection with the proposed action of the C.N.R. Board in discontinuing the trains between these two points, was held in the local community waiting-room on Tuesday afternoon.

The conference dealt with the best method of presenting the case for the two places when the hearing comes up before the Railway Board, probably in June. No concrete results were definitely arrived at, but the committees will meet again shortly at the call of the Millbrook representatives.

The committees are: For Port Hope, Mayor Gifford, Messrs. Baxter, Chisholm, Freeman and Garnett; for Millbrook: Councillor H. D. Bigelow, chairman, Messrs. P. I. Bentley, D. R. Fowler, G. E. Burnham and L. H. Gray.

Miss Blanche Clarry left on Tuesday for a week's visit with her sister, Mrs. M. C. Cameron, and Mr. Cameron, at Ottawa. Miss Augusta Clarry, Reg. N., left on Monday to resume her professional duties in New York

COBOURG

Award Plaintiff $1,100 Wages

COBOURG, May 2.—(ENS).—The spring non-jury sittings of the Supreme Court of Ontario held here this week wound up second action on list yesterday.

The action was a claim of Franklin Abbott to recover $1,300 for work and services performed at the request of the defendant, Mrs. Sarah Blaffer of Houston, Texas, and Haldimand township.

Judgment was given after two days' hearing for the plaintiff in the sum of $1,100.

The third action is the claim of E. B. Chesebrough and his wife, Mabel Chesebrough, of Oshawa, for damages of $1,320.80 against the defendants, F. A. Werry and Percy Werry of Darlington because of an automobile accident on the Manvers road on June 9, 1940, in which it is alleged Mrs. Chesebrough was injured and incurred medical and hospital expenses.

Provincial Police Get New Cars

COBOURG, May 2.—(ENS).—Another new car has arrived in Cobourg for the provincial police officers in the district and has been assigned to Constable Dave Adair of the Ontario force.

The car is different from the highway patrol cars, both in color and type. The car is equipped with radio and siren, special lights. One of the signal lights is placed on the right front fender and when illuminated this light throws a red beam across the highway with the words, 'Stop. Police' appearing on the closest object.

The siren is of the railroad type and can be heard for great distances. The radio which the new car carries is a three way type and the police signal can be brought in from many points.

Rochester Man Sells His Cobourg Property

COBOURG, May 2 — (ENS). — Charles Slemon of Rochester, N.Y., and Cobourg, has sold his residence on Albert street to Mrs. Charles Payne of Cobourg.

Mrs. A. L. Heenan C.W.L. President

COBOURG, May 2 — (ENS). — The annual meeting of the Catholic Women's League, Grafton sub-division, was held in St. Mary's School on Wednesday evening. The retiring president, Mrs. J. Cooney, called the meeting to order and prayers were said by Rev. Father Galvin.

The secretary's report by Mrs. Barry and Mrs. Tuft's treasurer's report showed the good work done by the league in the cause of religion, education, social welfare and war work. They have worked with the Red Cross and during the year gave $50.00 to that work; also helped in parish activities, visiting the sick, and have paid all their national and diocesan obligations. There is a membership of 64.

Miss L. Hurley, Diocesan president, was the guest of honor, and in a brief address congratulated the Grafton sub-division on their fine work for the past year, encouraging them to continue this program of service for God and Canada.

The election of officers resulted as follows: Chaplain, Rev. Father Galvin; past president, Mrs. J. Cooney; president, Mrs. A. L. Heenan; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Harold Lawless; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Denis Calnan; 3rd vice-president, Miss Stella Drumm; recording secretary, Mrs. Harry Lawless; corresponding secretary, Miss K. McGuire; treasurer, Mrs. M. Tufts; councillors, Mrs. Fred Lawless, Mrs. T. Calnan, Mrs F. Cooney, Miss Helen Sedack.

A number of the Cobourg members of the C.W.L. were present and after the meeting lunch was served by the committee in charge.

Russia vs. Germany

Of course there may be a fair enough share of speculation in it but despatches coming from Switzerland are paying attention to the attitude of Russia toward Germany, and it appears it is not good.

The manner in which Turkey has been hesitating leads to the belief that the voice of Berlin is becoming more insistent, of that the business of wooing Turkey into non-action is being pressed more diligently. Those who are watching events from Switzerland see the danger for Russia if Turkey decides to close the Dardanelles, and if Germany has any say in the closing. It would shut Russia up in the Black Sea.

Then in the North it is reported that Germany is placing new divisions under the claim that they are landing in Finland on the way to Norway. It is claimed that Finland looks to Germany to help in winning back the territory which Russia took away at the conclusion of the invasion of that land. Russia at that time selected such positions as would give her control of the Baltic, and if anything happens there to change that situation, then Russia is likely to find herself closed in on that side and shut off at the south as well.

That may be why Russia is making such large troop movements at the moment both in the former Polish territory and in the Ukraine, her great wheat belt to the south. It is reported that the movement of bombers was so great there that Germany sent to find the reason, and the report was that the planes were needed to dust the growing crops!

It may be that Prime Minister Churchill knew his Europe and its ways well enough when he recently made the plain statement in the House of Commons that the time would come when Russia would be under attack by Germany. The German controlled press has not been speaking well of Russia in recent weeks, and that is one of the first methods employed by the Nazis to indicate coming action. Admittedly there is nothing official in all this, but the same can be said of many of the other reports which have eventually turned out to be only too true.

Yes, It Is Good News

Is it possible to find good news in adversity? We think so. It was surprising to find the announcement that the British casualty list in the Greek campaign had been but 3,000 because fighting of the most intense variety yet experienced continued for days, and during much of that time the British were engaged in dropping back to new positions, and their retreat was so carefully handled that it at no time became disorganized.

It was surprising too when it was announced that 48,000 men had been evacuated from what looked very much like a well-planned Nazi trap. There is no reason to believe the remaining 12,000 are lost, and they may still be fighting and on their way out. Admittedly it is quite true that wars are not won by retreats, but it is equally true that the skill and daring which brings such numbers of men out to safety where no safety was anticipated is a war asset of sizeable dimension.

Our belief is that the British mind had been steeled for the announcement that the expeditionary force to Greece had met with disaster. It is actually good news and nothing short of it to find so great a number have reached safety.

They Are Skilled Men

C. L. Snyder, K.C., Deputy Attorney-General, has been in attendance during an inquiry regarding the escape of a number of German prisoners of war from an internment camp. It was conducted as a military court of inquiry. Mr. Snider, properly enough, was not discussing evidence submitted, but he did say that the guards at the camp had to deal "with large groups of highly skilled prisoners whose ingenuity and resourcefulness would be beyond the belief of most of our citizens."

One is inclined to agree that Mr. Snyder has not overstated the case. Reports which were coming out after the escape of the 28 men indicated that as they were picked up they had made ample provision for living for some days. The manner in which food had been selected and packed was rather unusual; they had made their own direction finders, and what seems most unusual is that every last one of them could speak English of some sort. The distinguishing mark on the overcoat which indicates they were prisoners of war had been as skilfully hidden as though it had been attended to by a tailor.

Mr. Snyder explained too that these camps cannot be operated the same as a prison. The Swiss Government is empowered to have inspections made of the camps in Canada to forward reports to Germany, and in the same way Canada receives reports of her prisoners in Germany.

There is something back of all this which our folk would do well to recognize, and that is the competence of these German prisoners. They are skilled to a high degree; they know how to care for themselves; they have been instructed in how to escape, and they are linguists to a greater extent than we are. We are not praising them—not for a moment—but merely recognizing the sort of men against whom we are pitted.

A Bushel Of Wheat

A reader asks what it costs to take a bushel of wheat to Liverpool from the West and desires to know who pays for the transportation.

When the Alberta farmer sells his grain he does so at a price delivered at Fort William. The freight charges from a central point are 15.6 cents per bushel. Handling charges at the elevator, including insurance for 15 days, official inspection, weighing and registration fees and selling to an exporter on the Winnipeg market account for 3.5 cents per bushel, or a total of 19.1 cents per bushel to be paid by the grower.

The cost for grain delivered from Regina, Sask., amounts to 15.5 cents per bushel for the same services, or an average cost for Alberta and Saskatchewan of 17.3 cents per bushel.

It is difficult to secure current quotations on shipping to the Old Country as insurance risks and other considerations have to be considered, but prior to the war the situation was this:

Handling charges at the head of the lakes were 1.5 cents per bushel, absorbed by the Wheat Board, as well as the lake freight rate to Montreal of 7.5 cents per bushel. The average charge of shipping a bushel to Liverpool, together with insurance, was 7.65 cents per bushel, making a total of 16.65 cents per bushel after the wheat had been delivered at Fort William. Thus there was a total average cost of 33.95 cents per bushel for taking a bushel of wheat from the Canadian West to the British market.

Why This Exemption?

Word from Ottawa indicates that holders of passes will not have to pay the new Dominion taxes on railway fares and theatre tickets. The explanation is that the new order says the tax must be paid "by every purchaser of transportation," and the individual with a pass does not purchase transportation.

In theatres the tax is collected on the receipts, and those who have passes are not contributing anything to those receipts.

And yet after having read the explanation one is inclined to ask that plain question: "Why are any exceptions made?" We are all in this thing together; we are all paying together, and we doubt if those who possess passes for transportation or anything else would ask to be excused while others are putting up their assessment.

He Expects More Tourists

A gentleman from Cleveland was in Peterborough the other day. He knows this city and district quite well; knows the district better than the city because that is where he spends most of his time when he arrives in the holiday season.

The Examiner considered it right enough to ask him plainly what he thought about people from the States coming to Ontario this season, and his answer was he expected more than ever would be coming. His reasons were rather well put.

"There will be more coming because there are more reasons why they should come. You see, these two countries now have a great deal in common. A year ago we were not as a nation as much interested in your war as we are today, because now we are referring to it as our war, and that makes a great difference. It is only within recent times that we have begun to find out just what Canada has been doing, and how much of your own money you have been spending, and the more we have learned the greater has been our admiration. So with that new oneness in war interest there is going to be an influence at work which was not present before.

"But we would like to see arrangements made by which your people would find it easier to come over the line in our direction. I must say it is a long time since I have noticed an Ontario car around on our streets, and we'd like to see them now and then.

"Then our people are busier now than they have been for a long time. They are working harder and making more money, and when the vacation season comes they will be ready to get away and see things. But that changed feeling which is actually one of intimate sympathy and fellow-feeling with your people in the war is the greatest influence and I think it will result in more tourist business than you have seen for some time."

We do not believe comment is needed regarding that statement. Our visitor stated the case fully and well.

The Ever-Present Fine

Revised regulations are being prepared for the 1941-42 wheat acreage reduction program, and among provisions is one for a fine of $100 for any one who presents a false return.

Unfortunate that in almost anything we touch there has to be that guarding against the chiseler, and it seems difficult to the point of impossible to eliminate him.

There is nothing new about it. When the early Christian church was organized it looked like an ideal arrangement where people were pooling their resources and handing the proceeds out according as the members had need. But into the midst of that honorable company came Ananias and his wife, Sapphira. They had sold out but held back a portion of the price for themselves, but their declaration was that they were turning over the entire proceeds.

Our belief is that it is going to require far too much checking and investigation to certify to the extent to which each farm has curtailed in the acreage of wheat production, and in the end the payment of $4 per acre for allowing land to run fallow, or $2 per acre for growing coarse grains is not much in the way of compensation. It does look like a case of spending $35,000,000 and at the end having nothing to show for it.

NOTE AND COMMENT

It's a sin to play the horses—the way some people do.

If we want to get to the bottom of the thing, we can blame Hitler for our new taxes.

A pilot landed his training plane on a farm near Peterborough, and we believe one of the first questions asked was whether or not he could milk a cow.

When we were trying to find out what a billion dollars really is along comes the announcement that United States intends to raise $3,600,000,000 in new taxes.

Steel mills at Cleveland lost production to the extent of 15,000 tons of pig iron daily due to the coal strike. That may not be disastrous, but it's a long way removed from being comfortable.

Not that it makes any difference now, but perhaps you remember a couple of years ago when people were saying that the newspapers were publishing too much war talk.

Those who are urging Prime Minister King to be off to London should be slightly interested in reading that Mr. Churchill says he has no intention of calling an Empire war conference.

There was such a rush at the last moment in Toronto income tax office that officials said it would take at least a year to find out what mistakes people had made. That is nothing new, as there are cases on record where it has already taken much longer than that to receive a notice to pay something more.

PINK SEDAN

(By A.R.K.)

¶ I think I'll keep my pink sedan, it seems to fit in with my plan, since gas tax has increased; it is no better than it was, I know it carries many flaws, nor has its speed increased.

¶ But now that warmer weather's here, I drive it and I have no fear, I can't go very fast; I buy a quart of gasoline, and note the hours that lie between, to see how long 'twill last.

¶ My Pink Sedan will travel slow, and that way keep expenses low, the experts say that's right; the newer cars just pass me by, I trail them with fast dimming eye, till they get out of sight.

¶ I read some place the other day, of some old car that went its way, and ran nigh thirty years; and when they cranked it it would run, the engine sort of snorted some, but never stripped a gear.

¶ I figure yet there'll come a man, to gaze upon my Pink Sedan, and he will want to trade; he'll drive my Pink Sedan away, and then I know that he will say, the first they ever made.

¶ And then my Pink Sedan will stand, inside a show case large and grand. It will have earned its rest; and with the president I'll dine and get a new car off the line—then travel with the best.

Women Desire To Have Place In Peace Parley

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON—Alice Paul is campaigning for a satisfactory post-war "new world order" from the Washington headquarters of the American National Woman's Party, with which she has long been affiliated. Her interest now, however, is a lot more than merely national. It's International. She's chairman of the World Woman's Party for Equal Rights for Women. Or, rather, she's chairwoman of it. As her sex began to break into public life and a woman occasionally was placed at the head of a committee or other group of some sort, it generally was argued that she was that outfit's chairman, despite the fact that she wasn't a man. Calling her "madam chairman" was a kind of a compromise. But Miss Paul's a 100 per center. Chairwoman is the term that she likes best.

Chas. P. Stewart

She even pre-visions a time when the U.S. will have a woman president, or presidentess.

I once asked her how she thought women will make their White House start. "Well," she said, "I presume we'll have to be satisfied at first with a woman vice-president, and work up." She failed to employ the term "vice-presidentess" but that was an oversight, no doubt.

Miss Paul's recently back from two years in Geneva, which she'd picked as a good point from which to develop her world organization. Due to war conditions, though it's an inconvenient place from which to operate today, so she returned to the United States, but there's to be no let-up in her crusade. She assesses it as more important than ever, in anticipation of globe-wide readjustments after the war.

AT NEXT PEACE TABLE?

WOMEN are to sit at the next peace conference table, if she has her way. There's to be feminine representation, as she expresses it, but my impression is that she contemplates 50-50 representation, at least.

Having studied Geneva's record at short range, she states frankly that anybody might have expected the League of Nations to fizzle, because the men who were trying to run it "couldn't get it through their heads that there are women as well as men on earth."

Men, she adds, were the guys who bungled the Versailles treaty. "It mustn't ever happen again."

So far as legislation goes, Miss Paul is pretty well suited with the status of women's rights in the U.S., but she thinks there ought to be, in actual practice, a great many more gals in high government offices. Maybe, she admits, they've been a trifle derelict in asserting themselves—in getting themselves nominated and elected. They've got to be educated up to that.

It appears that, considering handicaps, the international women's rights movement has been plugging along pretty well in Europe. That is to say, there are organizations in most European countries. The growth of totalitarianism has been a drag on 'em, and naturally the war is raising hades with 'em, as with everything else civilized and enlightened. Still, the spark's alive. What it needs at present is all-out aid from here to keep it fanned up. Then, when peace begins to be negotiated, Miss Paul's depending on the spark to burst into a regular blaze. Otherwise, no "new world order" that'll be worth living in.

Next thing on the program is intensive missionary work throughout Latin America and in Asia, Africa and the Anzac commonwealths.

OTHER BRIGHT SPOTS

THE Australians and New Zealanders aren't considered unsympathetic. There also is a good bit of women's rights sentiment in several of the South American republics—notably Brazil, where President Vargas, dictator as he is, is said to be an exceptionally enthusiastic ladies' man. Women's rightsers there speak extremely well of him. And, oddly enough, China isn't so backward. Madame Chiang Kai-Shek outstandingly is a booster for her sex's political equality with everybody else. And she's a potent influence—about as much so as Generalissimo Chiang himself. They say he eats out of her hand.

The rest of Asia isn't likely to be so plastic. Japan's fairly sure to be outright recalcitrant. India and Malaya will have to be cultivated from zero on up.

As for native Africa? That should be less than a kindergarten for the idea.

Alice Paul's going after the whole line-up, nevertheless.

In the long run, it's a universal women's rights crusade. But, for immediate purposes, a first class post-war "new world order" is what Alice has in sight.

And, as she says, she can't make a worse job of it than the Versailles treaty framers and the League of Nations management did.

PRECAUTION

FOR reasons that have to do with the establishing of a credit balance in this country, an English manufacturing firm recently shipped over here two large boilers. The American consignee, naturally nervous about shipping risks, wrote a letter suggesting that the boilers be sent over in separate vessels. Back came a reply from the English firm: they had not thought it necessary to ship the boilers in separate vessels, but they had painted them different colors.—The New Yorker.

A Farmer and His Income

From Parliamentary Debates

Mr. HANSON (York-Sunbury): If the hon. member will permit a question, would he be good enough to define to this house what is national income, because that question has been bothering me for some months.

Mr. WOOD: I am not an economist—

Mr. HANSON (York - Sunbury): Neither am I; that is my trouble.

Mr. WOOD: —though I think I am perhaps as much of an economist as a good many of the people who say they are. Let me enlarge on that.

Mr. DOUGLAS (Weyburn): What is the national income of the farmers?

Mr. WOOD: I do not think the hon. member or anyone else knows, because only about one per cent of the farmers keep books in order to know what their own income is.

Mr. DOUGLAS (Weyburn): You do not need to go to the farmers' books. All you need to do is to go to the bureau of statistics.

Mr. WOOD: I respect and honor the bureau of statistics, but neither the bureau of statistics nor anyone else knows how much I make on my farm.

Mr. DOUGLAS (Weyburn): They know what you get for what you sell, and that is your income.

Mr. WOOD: Well, I got some of it, anyway, and as long as I get the return from what I sell I am satisfied.

Then Miss Macphail went on to say that the average income of the Canadian farmer during the last ten years was about $473. That is just an estimate, but even if it is true, I believe $473 is just about as good, living on the farm, as the average yearly earnings of people living in the city. That figure comes from the bureau of statistics; it may not be any more accurate than the other, but it is given as $956. Well, Mr. Speaker, if I am going to live in poverty I would rather live on a farm than in the city; and I think $473 on the farm is just as good as $956 in the city.

Mr. DOUGLAS (Weyburn): That is the gross income, is it not?

Mr. WOOD: I did not interrupt the hon. member; and anyway, I cannot hear what he says.

Mr. DOUGLAS (Weyburn): Is that the gross income or the net income?

Mr. WOOD: The hon. member will have to ask Miss Macphail.

Mr. DEPUTY SPEAKER: Order. I should like to remind hon. gentlemen that we are not in committee and that the rules do not allow the speaker to be interrupted, except with the speaker's leave, in order to put questions. The debate will become disorderly unless we adhere to that rule.

Mr. WOOD: I appreciate your kindness in defending me, Mr. Speaker, but if I can make any contribution to the intelligence of hon. gentlemen in the far corner I am only too happy to do so. From what I have heard coming from that side I think they are badly in need of some enlightenment; and if I can help in any way I shall be glad to do so even if I do not follow the rules exactly.

With regard to agriculture I yield to no man in my desire to serve the farmer; but at the same time there are those who make statements that should not be made—and we have had an exhibition of it here tonight—who sometimes defeat the very purpose they set out to accomplish, though they may be sincere. I should like to refer to another statement by Miss Macphail:

The thing I'd like to see the farmer do in war time is go on strike, and I think something like that will have to come.

Much as I respect the author of this article, I wish to say that it is dangerous to make statements like that. I do not suppose Miss Macphail will welcome any guidance or direction from me, but I still have an opinion of my own, and I believe that in the agricultural districts we still have sober, sensible, straight-thinking people who do not take kindly to assertions of this kind.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

And beside this, giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue; and to virtue knowledge; and to knowledge temperance; and to temperance patient, and to patience godliness; and to godliness brotherly kindness; and to brotherly kindness charity. For if these thinks be in you, and abound, they make you that ye shall neither be barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ.

But he that lacketh these things is blind, and cannot see afar off, and hath forgotten that he was purged from his old sins.

Wherefore the rather, brethren, give diligence to make your calling and election sure: for if ye do these things, ye shall never fall: for so an entrance shall be ministered unto you abundantly into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.—II Pet. i, 2-11.

AUSTRALIA finds that it has 100,000 fewer children under fifteen than it had seven years ago. This discovery has alarmed the Government and the people of Australia, and they are resolved to do something about it.

Under legislation now pending, the Government would pay five shillings a week to any family for each of its children in excess of one.—Vancouver Sun.

Saving The Runners

Amsterdam, The Netherlands, (via Berlin), May 2 (AP)

THE Netherlands Sporting Association today banned all running competitions over distances of more than 5,000 metres about three miles) as well as pentathlon contests until further notice.

It was stated the measure was taken to prevent over-exertion of athletes in view of the present food situation.

(Food rationing measures were tightened twice last month.)

Strong Finish Too Much For Visitors

Although they had been without practice for more than a month and took some time to get their bearings the Quaker Aces of the local Ladies' Basketball League managed to uncork enough scoring punch in their exhibition game with the Belleville ladies' team in the Y.W.C.A. gym. last night to defeat the classy visitors 18 to 15.

Belleville led at half time, but the Aces commenced to roll in the second half, when they outscored the visitors 12 to 5 to take a three-point margin of victory.

Play was even at the start of the first half, but the Aces had trouble in locating the basket after their long layoff, and the Belleville girls showed a lot of speed and good passing to take an early lead. The Aces handled the ball well, but their marksmanship was off color, with the result that Belleville led at the half by 10 to 6.

The Quaker team found itself in the second half, forcing the play and carrying the ball in for many shots, of which a good proportion registered. E. Craig and Dorothy Weese did some excellent sniping and E. Kirn played a fine game on defence.

For Belleville, M. Rowbotham was outstanding, leading her team's attack with seven points. E. Craig looped in four field baskets and two free throws for Aces, to give her a total of 10 points. The line-up:

Belleville (15).—M. Rowbotham 7, Mansfield 2, Sherry 1, Corby Miller 2, Stead 1, Oliphant 2, D. Rowbotham.

Quaker Aces (18). — Alexander, Duncan, D. Weese 4, Kirn, Wood, Howden, E. Craig 10, P. Lawless 4.

SPORTS – DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

Mister Buck Walters of the Cincinnati Reds is one lad who knows how to stop those Brooklyn Dodgers. A year ago yesterday the Reds clashed with the Dodgers after the Brooklyn club had won nine straight games and Walters shot them down in their tracks. Yesterday was May 1 again and once more the Dodgers were riding along on the crest of a nine-game winning streak and once again Mister Walters stopped them after a memorable effort 2 to 1. It took eleven innings to do the trick and the Reds' pitcher after holding the Dodgers to one run and seven hits won his own game with a timely double. Davis pitched fine ball for the losers, allowing only seven hits. The Brooklyn loss dropped them further behind the St. Louis Cards who again triumphed over the New York Giants, Lon Warneke pitching shutout ball to hang up his third win of the season. The score was 5 to 0. Carl Hubbell started for the Giants and the loss was hung on the shoulders of the veteran southpaw.

The Pittsburg Pirates really had themselves a battling fest at the expense of the Phillies yesterday. The final score was 15 to to 2 and the Corsairs helped themselves to 23 hits in taking the verdict. Old J. Pluvius got out an injunction to stop the Boston Braves-Chicago Cubs affair. Meanwhile in the American loop the eastern invaders were having a lot of better luck than on the other two days of their western trip. In fact they all won except the Philadelphia Athletics. New York with Bonham pitching had no trouble in taking the measure of the St. Louis Browns, Boston after dropping two games to the Detroit club turned on the Tigers yesterday and won by a city block, the final count being 15 to 9. Tommy Bridges was the victim of the Boston assault and was soon out of there.

Bobby Feller registered another victory yesterday as the Cleveland Indians won a slugfest from the Philadelphia Athletics 15 to 9. Feller didn't have to be very good to win that one and he wasn't for the A's didn't find him much of a mystery and Bob Johnston teed off for a home run with the bases loaded. However the Indians were swinging from the ground too and Feller helped his own cause by cuffing a homer with two men on the sacks. In the other American League game of the day the Washington Senators whitewashed the Chicago White Sox, Leonard registering his first win after three defeats and Dietrich suffering his first loss after winning three in a row. The final count was 7 to 0 for the Senators, each pitcher allowing eight hits. It was one of the highest scoring days of the season in the American loop, three of the winners attaining double figures.

Should Help Golf

In landing Willie Spittal as its pro for this season the Peterborough Golf Club has made a hole in one. Spittal is one of Canada's best known professional golfers and he should be a source of strength to the Peterborough Club this season. In open competition he has always been up among the leaders and as a matter of fact he holds the record for the qualifying rounds in the annual competition of the Ontario Golf Association with a score of 138 over the Rosedale course. He has been runner-up and semi-finalist twice in the Ontario tournament and a further proof of his ability is the fact that he was on the Ontario professional team that met the British Ryder Cup team on its last visit to Canada. Spittal has been professional at the Oakdale Golf Club, Toronto for some time and is widely known not only as a player but as an instructor. He should be a big help here.

That energetic bunch of workers, the Wallace Point Canoe Club, aided and abetted by Gordon Minty, swimming impressairio, are already full of plans for the coming season and next Wednesday night they have arranged a showing of Fred Roy's fine film "Call of the Kawarthas," augmented by the pictures taken by Mr. Roy at last year's Wallace Point regatta. This should make a most attractive program and the Y.M.C.A. gym where the program will be staged should be crowded for the occasion. The proceeds will be used for the purpose of making the annual regatta and swim meet bigger and better than ever. Incidentally it has been decided to hold the affair earlier this summer and the last Wednesday in July has been selected as the most suitable date. It has been felt that the August date usually selected was too late and this year the club is going to try out an earlier competition.

A Montreal hockey promoter is endeavoring to smoke up a strong junior group next season to include the Montreal Royals, Oshawa Generals, Toronto Marlboros, Rangers and St. Michael's and a sixth team possibly the Guelph Biltmores. That arrangement would leave the Quebec Hockey Association to get along without the Royals and would put any other junior A club in Ontario, not wanted in the new loop. However those drawbacks would not bother the promoters and probably not the hockey governing bodies either so long as the latter were satisfied the new group would be a paying proposition. Our suggestion is that if the proposed group is launched it might as well come out in the open and call itself a minor professional loop. Most of the players are already tagged by the pro clubs and most of the clubs named are farm teams for the N.H.L. outfits so why not give the organization its proper name?

Hockey will finally crawl off the stage in Canada tonight when Sydney Millionaires and Regina Rangers will meet in the sixth and final game of the Allan Cup series at Regina. The round is all tied up and the winner tonight takes the marbles. As far as the result is concerned it seems to be a tossup but one thing is certain. The hockey season is being dragged out too long. To have to wait until May to decide the Canadian championship is prolonging the playoffs unnecessarily. Baseball has been going along merrily for several weeks and still the embattled hockeyists are in action, long after the fans generally have lost much of their interest in the outcome. The remedy of course is to speed up group playoffs, cut out the preliminary three-of-five and four-of-seven arrangements and get the amateur setup out of the way at least as early as the pros.

The Quaker Aces are to be congratulated upon their feat in coming back after a month's layoff and defeating the Belleville ladies' basketball team here last night by 18 to 15. The girls from the Quinte town have been playing regularly and are just out of a playoff series but in spite of that fact they were unable to hold off the Aces once the Peterborough lasses got their bearings after the long layoff and located the general direction of the basket. After they had got their sights on the target the Aces staged a rally on which they rode through to a neat win. It was the last basketball game of the season and a rather unexpected one at that, having been arranged at short notice on the request of the Belleville team.

Old Timers Gasp At May Hockey For Regina Final

REGINA, May 2—(CP).—While Old Timers gasped at hockey in May, Sydney Millionaires and Regina Rangers were poised for a fight to the finish here tonight to decide the 1941 Canadian Senior championship.

The veterans who used to lock up their equipment in March were a little uneasy about the precedent, but like everyone else they were braced for what shapes up as a terrific battle between the sectional champions.

The prospect of seeing Rangers and Millionaires, who broke even on points in the five scheduled games for the Allan Cup meet in a game that will be continued until one emerges as the winner, is expected to draw a crowd of more than 7,000 fans which would be largest crowd in the West in several years.

If the score is tied at the end of the regulation 60 minutes, 10-minutes overtime periods will be played until one team finishes one of these in the lead.

The Sports Round-Up

By EDDIE BRIETZ, AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 2 — (AP). — What's this about Johnny Allen throwing that spitter again? (The White Sox swear it)...We're sticking to Porter's Cap tomorrow, rain or shine. But if you've got to have a long shot, how about this colt, Swain—40 to 1 in the last call-over?

Good old Mike Gonzales, who sometimes is tripped by the English language, told St. Louis fans over the radio: "I hope to live long enough to come back here all the time." We're pulling for you, Mike.

113 Planes To 106

LONDON, May 2—(CP)—Increased air offensives by Great Britain and Germany cost the Germans 113 planes over and around Britain and the British 106 planes over the continent or returning home, British authorities said today.

Authorities disclosed that 3,300 German planes have been downed over and around Britain since the beginning of the war and announced the loss of 853 planes over Britain and of 594 which failed to return from raids on the continent.

TORONTO LEAFS BOW TO ORIOLES BY 8-5 ON HOME GROUND OPENER

Crowd Of 10,000 Sees Tilt Go 10 Innings

(By the Associated Press.)

As president of the parent Brooklyn Dodgers, Larry Macphail naturally is interested in seeing his No. 1 farm team, Montreal Royals of the International League, get "ahead." As a matter of fact he sent them one.

Ed Head, 22-year-old pitcher brought up to Brooklyn from Elmira, another Dodger "farm," last July, joined the Royals about a week ago. The youngster originally started as a southpaw but wound up as a right hander after his left arm was broken in an automobile accident.

Head's biggest asset is speed, but like most young pitchers he is inclined to be wild, which is the main reason for his conditioning with Montreal.

There was little evidence of wildness yesterday, however, when making his first start for the Royals, he hurled a six-hitter to beat the league leading Newark Bears, 3-2.

Before a crowd of 6,396 fans who turned out at Montreal for the home-opener, Head worked superbly, striking out seven and walking four.

Bad Day At Toronto

Along with Montreal, Rochester Red Wings and Buffalo Bisons also had successful home openings, but Baltimore spoiled Toronto Leafs day by winning out in the tenth inning, 8-5. Buffalo swamped Syracuse Chiefs 10-5 while Rochester edged out Jersey City 5-4.

Tom Hafey put the Orioles back in the game with a ninth-inning homer that tied the score at 5-all, then the Birds landed on Dick Fowler for two doubles and two singles for three runs in the tenth. Orin Collier went all the way for Baltimore, yielding nine safeties, for his first victory of the year.

Freddy Hutchinson notched his fourth consecutive victory, allowing the Chiefs nine hits, while his mates blasted a trio of Syracuse moundsmen for 17. The victory boosted the Bisons into third place in the standings.

The Leaf Tangle.

The one bad pitch he made in six innings of perfectly pitched ball sent Toronto-born Dick Fowler into the extra inning he couldn't weather, and Toronto Maple Leafs were forced to accept an 8-5 overtime defeat. A crowd of 10,000, including 8,754 paid, turned out for the inaugural.

The cards were stacked against the youthful local sandlot product directly after his mates had presented him with a three-run working margin in the first inning. Fowler had nothing to do with the scoring of those runs, nor did he have any say in the matter as his jittery infield permitted the Birds to get them back in a hurry.

Took Control of Game.

The tall and talented right-hander took control of Toronto's progress, however, after he was burdened with a fourth unearned tally in the third. From that point right down to the ninth, The Kid set back the Birds with a masterful exhibition of pitching.

Tom Hafey's home-run blast over the left field fence erased a 5-4 Toronto lead to start the ninth and when the Leafs couldn't reply in their half, their fate was sealed. Fowler pitched to six hitters in the tenth. Two of them drove out luck-tinged doubles, two more singled, and a fifth walked. Pat McLaughlin came in to retire the last two men.

Four errors, shared equally by Bill Lillard and Bob Latshaw, put Fowler in hot water in the second inning and gave the Birds four unearned runs. During the regulation nine innings, the only earned Baltimore run was Hafey's homer, which was the only hit Fowler allowed in six consecutive innings.

The Leafs disclosed unsuspected clubbing talent in the first inning when three doubles and a single netted three runs. However, Veteran Orlin Collier, making his first start of the season for Baltimore, was pretty tough after that. Two hits in each of the fifth and seventh netted single runs for the Leafs to end their scoring.

Tipton Paces Attack.

Eric Tipton, Bill Lillard and Joe Gantenbein corralled hitting honors for the Leafs. Tipton drove out two singles and a triple to send two runs home. Lillard singled and doubled, while Gantenbein's first-inning two-bagger sent a pair of runners scampering home.

The Toronto team shaped up better offensively than had been expected, but fell down in fielding. Aside from the four actual errors there was some poor throwing. A good throw by Tyler on Corbett's single in the second would have cut down Bob Seeds at least two yards from the plate. Eddie Morgan's throw to Gantenbein in the third, while catching Bob Hamilton, was also off the mark. Latshaw could have nailed Corbett at the plate in the second with a faster recovery after his bad toss to Fowler.

Yesterday's Stars

(By the Associated Press.)

Russ Bauers, Pirates — Pitched five-hitter against Phillies.

Bucky Walters, Reds — Stopped Dodger streak with seven-hit pitching over 11 innings and hit double to set up winning run.

Bob Feller, Indians — Used his bat to help gain fourth victory, batting in four runs, including three on a homer.

Bucky Walters Ends Dodgers Runaway By 2-1

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

One of the most drab, colorless pitchers in big league baseball is William Henry Walters, Jr., of Cincinnati Reds. He is a tallish, slender, sandy-haired righthander who says little off the diamond and nothing at all on it. He has the kind of eyes that never show excitement.

But Bucky Walters, once a mediocre infielder, deserves to be rated right now as the best hurler in the National League and quite possibly the best man in the "clutch" in any league. He also is a good man with his bat, when necessary.

Bucky stopped the nine-game winning streak of Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday, just as he had calmed the Flatbush fury at the same stage a year ago, with the most courageous and effective effort of the season.

The temperature dropped 16 degrees to 51 in Brooklyn during the game, and Walter's fingers got cold just like those of the 18,000 fans. But he was able to turn on the heat at the right moments.

In the 11th, with the score tied and two out, Walters stretched a hit to centrefield into a double with a daring slide and scored on a single by Eddie Joost. When the Dodgers loaded the bases in their half of the inning on two singles and a walk, Walters never wavered. He fanned two lefthanded pinch-hitters, Pete Reiser and Babe Phelps, to end the game.

The defection of the Dodgers gave St. Louis Cardinals an opportunity to increase their first-place margin with a 5-0 triumph over New York Giants. It was the sixth straight victory for the Redbirds.

In the only other National League game Pittsburg Pirates rose up in the wrath that comes from long frustration and overwhelmed the Phillies 16-2.

Cleveland Indians kept their winning string intact at seven games by outslugging Philadelphia Athletics 13-8. Bob Feller held the A's to eight hits and hit a home run himself with two on as part of Cleveland's 18-hit offensive. It was rapid Robert's fourth victory of the season and the second homer in his career.

It was a big-hitting day in the American League with the exception of Washington's 7-0 shutout of Chicago White Sox. Each team got eight safeties in this one.

Boston Red Sox battered Detroit Tigers 15-9 in a spectacular session that included 20 hits by Boston and 13 by Detroit, none of them homers.

New York Yankees, who bombarded St. Louis Browns with 14 hits on Wednesday, increased the shelling to 17 safeties yesterday and won 14-5.

Derby To Handle $2,000,000

LOUISVILLE, May 2 — (AP). — Eleven aristocrats of the turf idled away the time in their closely guarded stalls to-day as politicians, society folk, business men, movie actors and actresses, and just plain Mr. and Mrs. turned this usually tranquil city into a bedlam for tomorrow's renewal of the $75,000 Kentucky Derby.

Following brief speed tests soon after dawn this morning the stars of the American turf's most colorful spectacle returned to their quarters, ready for the word that will send them away in quest of the pot of gold and garland of roses awaiting the winner at the end of Churchill Downs' classic mile and quarter. Post time is scheduled for 5:45 p.m. (Eastern standard time).

Thousands poured into the city by train, automobile, bus and airplane last night and still they came—from every section of the nation, from every walk of life.

Matt Winn, promoter of the extravaganza, predicted the first 100,000 Derby crowd and mutuel handle of $2,000,000 for the day, a mark exceeded only in 1926 when Bubbling Over won.

Our Boots, offspring of Bull Dog from Royce G. Martin's Toledo-owned Woodvale Farm, remained the favorite at 8 to 5. Charles S. Howard's Porter's Cap was quoted at 2 to 1.

Whirlaway from Warren Wright's Calumet Farm was the horse that really had everybody guessing and getting nowhere. He was quoted at 6 to 1.

Other entries were Dispose at 8 to 1, Robert Morris and Blue Pair at 10 to 1, and Market at 12 to 1.

Little Beans, Staretor, Swain and Valdina Paul were rank outsiders.

Syracuse Chiefs Get Krakauskas

SYRACUSE, N.Y., May 2—(AP)—Syracuse Chiefs of the International Baseball League announced last night the acquisition on option from Cleveland Indians of Joe Krakauskas, lefthand fast ball pitcher. He will join the Chiefs immediately.

Krakauskas, from Hamilton, Ont., and a veteran of four seasons in the major leagues, come on a 24-hour option. He went to Cleveland last winter from Washington, but has seen little activity with the Indians this spring. With Washington, Krakauskas won 23 and lost 29 games in four season. He also formerly played with the Albany, Trenton, N.J., and Brockville, Ont.

The Peterborough Examiner

VOL. LXXXV, No. 103 PETERBOROUGH, FRIDAY, MAY 2, 1941 PAGE 9

Hog Bonuses Take Effect Monday, May 5

Peterborough farmers are probably wishing they had hundreds of hogs ready for market next week at the Bacon Board's advance in price augmented by the Hepburn Government's bonus.

The Ontario Government's subsidy, designed to encourage farmers to produce more hogs for British consumers, comes into effect on Monday, May 5, close on the heels of the Bacon Board's order yesterday providing an increase of $1.00 a hundred pounds to packers for Wiltshire sides delivered at the seaboard.

The Provincial bonus is $1.00 for every Grade A carcass and 50 cents for B1 Grade.

Toronto market quoted hogs at $11.75 a hundred this morning, an increase of 75 cents over Thursday's quotation.

Control of Output.

Government control of Canadian consumption of pork products is indicated in information from Gordon S. Matthews, manager of the Peterborough plant of Canada Packers, that the Government is about to issue a further order curtailing domestic sales as a means of increasing the export supply of pork for shipment to Great Britain.

This new order to the packers relating to the proportion of pork for the home and British market apparently signifies that the Dominion Govenment has rather definitely entered the bacon business, and it may result in less pork being available for the Canadian table when the effects of this supervision reach down to the ordinary course of business.

Bacon Board's Order.

The price increase ordered by the Bacon Board advances from $16.10 to $17.10 per hundred pounds the price of Wiltshires at the seaboard.

Wiltshire sides are three-quarters of a dressed hog, and the price to farmers for dressed hogs is prorated on that basis, and amounts to three-quarters of a cent a pound.

Reduce U.S. Buying.

The Examiner recently reported that litters of pigs in this area, including adjoining counties, were smaller than had been expected, but many farmers went ahead in their bacon mangement on the idea that they were going to increase production. They are now in the position of having larger stocks at substantially higher prices.

The order of the Bacon Board, according to the opinion of Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, is directed at discouraging export of pork products to the United States.

For three or four months in the early part of 1940, the hog market across the border was considerably under the Canadian price levels, probably as much as three cents a pound. That condition led to the importing into Canada of a large quantity of pork products, loins and so on. Prices have been steadily improving in the United States since last Christmas. In that time the price has advanced three cents a pound, and for the last six weeks quantities of Canadian pork have been sold in the United States market.

This diversion of even part of the Canadian production in the face of this country's contract to supply Great Britain with 425,000,000 pounds of pork, plus an additional 28,000,000 pounds recently added to the undertaking, has been giving the Bacon Board a great deal of concern. The price adjustment is assumed to be largely intended as an encouragement to the Canadian trade to hold all available pork for delivery to the Old Country.

Control Home Demand

The Federal Government is taking even more drastic action, Mr. Matthews told the Examiner this afternoon in his reference to the latest order which will curtail the amount of bacon permitted to flow into domestic channels. It means that the British contract must come first.

Prospective Tourists Seeking Information

J. J. Dorris, secretary of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce said today that there have been hundreds of enquiries received by him this year from prospective American tourists seeking information as to likely spots to spend their holidays.

An interesting feature of this year's enquiries is that there have not been any "foolish questions" asked regarding fear or suspicion of being able to get in and out of Canada with this country at war, he said. Last year, practically all the enquiries requested information with regard to the safety of their money and automobiles. Some thought there was a possibility their money and cars might be confiscated if they ventured over to this side of the United States' border.

"We ought to have a good tourist season this summer unless something new and unforeseen crops up," he said. "I have received letters this year from as far away as Virginia seeking information about the Kawartha resort district."

MUST DIG OR QUIT

KINGHORN, Scotland—(CP). — Tenants of Council houses here have received a final notice they will be ejected if they fail to cultivate their gardens this season.

Obituary

Crises Bubbling Hot, Fast For U.K. In East

(By KIRKE L. SIMPSON.)

WASHINGTON, May 2—(AP). — New crises for Britain in both North Africa and oil-rich Iraq, 1,000 miles or more eastward, are developing almost before the smoke of the lost Battle of the Balkans has cleared away.

In Iraq there is friction over the landing of additional British troops at Basra. Just how serious this may be is not yet clear. But renewal of the Axis assault on the Tobruk outpost in Libya hints that a decisive battle must come soon on the North African front.

Tobruk in the hands of the British forces has been a potential thorn in the flesh of Axis troops in their drive toward the Suez Canal. As this was written its fate was still uncertain. Its outer defences had been penetrated by Nazi-Fascist attacks, but the fight was still on.

Another British evacuation there seemed possible, even before the all-but-miraculous escape from Greece was completed. Surrounded except by sea, Empire forces at Tobruk have already held out longer than appeared possible.

Tobruk has already largely served its purpose if the British rear-guard stand there has enabled the scattered Army of the Nile to reassemble in force eastward, beyond the Libyan-Egyptian border, for a final stand.

Its retention is not essential to British defence of the Suez Canal or that flank. Its reduction by the held-up Axis Libyan drive is vital, if the push into Egypt is to be driven home effectively.

Prelude to Drive?

That is the probable chief significance of the heavy Axis attack on the besieged Tobruk garrison. The battle there must be intended by the Nazis to be a prelude to renewal in force of the thrust that by-passed Tobruk and has reinvaded Egypt.

Available information on the situtation in Iraq indicates that something of greater consequence for Britain than debate over treaty teams is involved. Britain's right to move troops through Iraq is not challenged by the Axis-minded Gallani regime which has seized power there, but has not yet shown open hostility. What is reported to be the actual basis of the new friction is a British demand that units of the Iraq Army stationed close to the huge British air base at Dhibban (near Lake Habbaniyah) be withdrawn to avoid "incidents."

That British air base at the junction of bus routes spanning vast stretches of desert to Mediterranean outlets and overlooking even more essential oil pipe lines is the key to Britain's hold in the region. It has kept the roads open and oil flowing as Britain willed, despite restless desert tribesmen.

The strength of British forces there has not been revealed, but Iraq is credited with an army of 50,000 men dominated by the military clique which put one of its number, Gallani, in power. The admitted leaning of Gallani and his group toward the Nazi-Fascist Axis due to Axis victories is a grave matter for London.

No Kid-Glove Tactics

There have been direct official hints in Parliament that it would not be handled with kid gloves. That may account for the present uncertain situation in Iraq.

Yet to meet whatever danger there may be of an actual uprising against Britain by the Iraq Army or among the tribesmen of the deserts who could menace British communications and oil resources, a decisive British military victory in North Africa might be more effective than addition troops sent to or through Iraq. The effect of a victorious pitched battle in Egypt to end the most dangerous Axis stab at British prestige and power in the Middle East must be weighed by London and Cairo in reaching a decision as to where and when to stand in North Africa.

They cannot much longer risk a retreat strategy on that front. The Axis attack on Tobruk, whatever its outcome, could be the prelude to the most decisive battle yet fought in the Mediterranean struggle.

Bancroft Road Being Surveyed

Walter Ferguson of the Peterboro-Bancroft bus lines reports surveyors working north of Apsley on the projected continuation of the highway to Bancroft.

The road all the way from Peterboro is in good condition, Mr. Ferguson said, and business is already reflecting the approach of the new tourist season.

"We had six or seven people Wednesday going through to Paudash Lake. They were mostly from Toronto, and I understand they are planning to stay the whole summer.

Connections with the Collacutt buses from Toronto are now a real help to the business we are trying to build up between Peterboro and Bancroft.

Here is a sample of how it operates. We leave Bancroft at 8 a.m. standard time, and passengers for Toronto leave here at 11.45 D.S.T. arriving in Toronto at 3.15 p.m. On the way back they leave Toronto at 6 p.m. D.S.T., arriving here at 9.40 p.m.

There is also the bus leaving Toronto at 1.30 p.m., getting here at 4.50; we leave for Bancroft at 5 p.m. and reach Bancroft at 7.40 p.m.

Sundays we leave Bancroft at 3 p.m. standard time, leave Peterboro at 7.20 D.S.T. and reach Toronto at 11 p.m. Our connections are made at the Empress Hotel."

Rapid Mail Service To New York City

Letters posted in Peterborough for New York delivery are now being whisked to their destination almost as fast as if they were caught up in the magic carpet.

Postmaster Lacheur, in another plug for te postal service, extols the new air mail flight from Toronto to New York. Letters posted in the street boxes for morning or afternoon collection at the local post office up to 5.15 p.m. will be in New York the next morning at 2.30 o'clock. That mail leaves Toronto at 12.30 a.m., D.S.T.

Afternoon delivery is also included in this new service. Mail posted here up to 4 a.m., at the post office, will leave Toronto at 11 a.m., arriving in New York by 1 p.m. in time for delivery that afternoon.

The cost of this air mail service is six cents an ounce.

Wines Go Up

TORONTO, May 2.—(CP).—Price increases on domestic wines ranging from 25 to 30 cents a gallon were effective to-day following a meeting of the Ontario Liquor Control Board with representatives of wineries in the provinces. The effect of the new Dominion budget on the price of wine was discussed.

Prices for 26 ounce bottles are up five cents, 40-ounce bottles up 10 cents, and gallon jugs, up 25 to 50 cents depending on quality.

Unskilled Labor Shortage In City

"There is getting to be a shortage of unskilled labor in this district," declared Bill Mellis of the Ontario Employment office this morning. "I don't know what we are going to do for men in a few weeks."

"There is a great need of mechanics and skilled hands of several trades," he told the Examiner. "I could place about 300 men of this type right away. Carpenters are much in demand."

He said that about 35 per cent of the men who have taken the machine operating course at the vocational school have been placed. Five or six linemen are wanted immediately for out of town work on telephone line construction and maintainance work.

Keene Students Not Loiterers

Ivan Fletcher, Keene bus driver, took exception today to remarks made at a committee meeting of the council one night this week with regard to Keene students defacing the walls of the ladies' rest rooms on Charlotte street while they await the bus to take them home each evening.

"There is the best group of girls coming to Peterborough from Keene we have ever had," he said. He admitted that sometimes they did become a little noisy but added he could hardly credit them with marking up the walls in the manner described.

"I think if the authorities would investigate regarding the loiterers in the rest rooms in the evenings, they would find some of the source of their trouble."

An alderman said this morning, the ladies' section of the building was where the damage had been caused. The men's section is in fairly good shape.

Drunken Driving Charge Withdrawn

A charge of drunken driving laid against R. H. Johnston, Bethany, was withdrawn in police court this morning but Johnston was fined $20 and $2 costs on a charge of having been intoxicated, to which he pleaded guilty.

Johnston was arrested early one morning in a local cafe and was first charged with drunken driving, the case being adjourned until this morning.

When the accused pleaded guilty to an intoxication charge today Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., picked up another information. "Has this present charge anything to do with this other charge he asked and was informed that the two informations dealt with the same occasion.

"Are you going ahead with the other charge?" the court inquired and was informed that the drunken driving charge was being withdrawn.

"In that event I feel that the fine in this case should be more than the usual $10 fine" said Magistrate Langley, naming $20 as his idea of the proper levy to charge under the circumstances.

When the drunken driving charge was withdrawn Chief Newhall stated that while there was a good deal of suspicion in the case, evidence that Johnston had been driving the car was lacking.

T. J. Carley, K.C., appeared for the accused this morning.

Peterboro' Buys 12,000 Copies Vacation Edition

Continuing its support of tourist publicity for this district, the finance committee of the council Wednesday night arranged to purchase 12,000 copies of the Examiner's 1941 special tourist edition and also to take a page advertisement costing $160.

W. J. Garner, advertising manager of the Examiner, told the committee the Ontario government was assisting this local enterprise by assuming the mailing of 16,000 copies. The tourist bureau will supply the names of Americans who are now enquiring for tourist information at the rate of hundreds of letters daily.

Peterborough will pay the postal charge of six cents a copy on 12,000 of the issue, and it is expected that other towns and villages in the district will pay for other thousands. Mr. Garner said that some local business men are proposing to contribute to the cause by paying postal costs on quite a number of papers.

The motion passed by the committee embodying Peterborough's participation in this tourist publicity was proposed by Alderman Gordon and seconded by Alderman Sullivan.

Alderman Dutton said the Examiner's enterprise deserved support, but it was evident that this city was carrying a disproportionate share of the burden. "Towns and villages in this district are sharing in the benefits, but most of them are not willing to bear any part of the cost."

Mr. Garner said that already ten municipalities, including Campbellford, Havelock, Norwood and Lakefield, were combining with the Examiner's efforts to give the Kawartha and Halliburton district the publicity they deserve.

HAMILTON, May 2.—(CP).—Announcement has just been made by McMaster University that Senator Claude Denson Papper of Florida, will attend the special convocation for conferring honorary degrees on May 19, to receieve the degree Doctor of Laws, Honoris Causa, and to deliver the convocation address. In recent weeks Senator Papper has become well known to Canadian audiences and readers, through his tour of Canadian centres.

Dr. Donald Church Balfour, director of the Mayo Foundation, and in 1936 president of the American College of Surgeons, will be present to receive the honorary degree, Doctor of Science.

Police of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, closed a well-known second-hand store when they found that among the things for sale, which included almost everything from rubber boots to racing cars, were firearms, munitions and old police and military uniforms.

Good Catches Of Trout Being Reported

Tom Parker, 273 Rubidge street and Frank Atkinson, Bolivar street led the parade in the first day of fishing for speckled trout as they caught 39 beauties between the two. Parker got his limit 20 fine looking fish ranging in size from 9 inches to 16 inches and his partner came home with a string of 19, just as large.

The two men, both veteran trout fishermen were up early and headed for the Cavan dam near the grist mill, where they lined up with almost one hundred other fishermen in quest of the much coveted speckled trout. On the average the two Peterborough men topped all others, although there was a party of four men from Oshawa who took home some nice fish.

Caught 14

Stanley Shields, superintendent of the Armature and Insulation departments in the C.G.E., slipped away by himself about five o'clock on Thursday morning and was back in the city before ten-thirty with 14 trout, about half of them exceeding 12 inches in length. Where he caught them remains a secret but it is known that he went to the Cavan district. Like Parker and Atkinson he was fishing with worms.

Low water in the streams is responsible for many of the good catches as the fishermen found little trouble in reaching their favorite holes along the streams, and the trout were rising in heart warming fashion.

Down at Havelock Rae Williams brought in eight nice trout, all a fair size and C. Denike also had a string of trout taken out of Plato Creek. There were several fishermen at the Brickley creek near Hastings and catches were reported as satisfactory.

SALVAGE CAMPAIGN IN FULL SWING

CONTINUES THROUGH THE MONTH OF MAY

Already large amounts of salvage have been brought in to the City Yard, mainly from Peterborough. In order that all salvage possible from the district be collected it is suggested that Reeves of the district have the salvage in their district collected through a competent local organization and brought to Peterborough. Each Township will be given credit for their loads and the proceeds will be turned over to the organization in charge of collecting. All salvage except bottles and bones can be turned into ready cash to help win the war. Everyone is urged to get behind the campaign immediately.

Information regarding the campaign may be had by calling Mrs. R. J. Kearns—phone 3024; Mrs. A. Heckman—phone 3748 or Inspector Reid at the Police Station—phone 3535.

Trip To Lindsay By Automobile Real Novelty Back In 1910

Many old timers in Peterborough who remember the days when there were three newspapers here, one of them a morning journal as well as a lot of new citizens who probably never heard of the sheet that made its appearance along with the arrival of the milkman in the morning will perhaps be interested in a copy of The Peterborough Morning Times for October 26, 1910, which W. R. Morris has uncovered and turned over to The Examiner.

This particular copy of a local paper that used to advertise itself as "the only morning daily" between Toronto and Ottawa, happens to have contained some very interesting local as well as general news. In the first category was a story of the death of the late James Stevenson, former member of parliament and Mayor Peterborough on numerous occasions, and a member of the School Board for over half a century. Another local item was the opening of the Fall Assizes, with Mr. Justice Boyd presiding, and a report if a council meeting, crowded out of the issue of the previous day. Motor trips were a bit of a novelty in those days, and one item tells of the fact that Messrs. Montgomery, E. R. Shields, L. Stevens and H. W. Harper, all of this city, motored to Lindsay on Monday in Mr. Montgomery's car."

The foreign news included the announcement that at the Old Bailey Court in London, Ethel Leneve had been acquitted on a charge of having been an accessory after the fact to the murder of Belle Elmore Crippen, wife of the celebrate Dr. Crippen. It was supposed to have been for love of the Leneve girl that Crippen, who was convicted of murder and hanged for the crime, had killed his wife. Another big news story dealt with the death of more than 500 persons in a cloudburst and tidal wave at Ischia, Italy.

Among The Times' advertisements was one telling of the retirement of Adam Hall from the retail field. The morning sheet could not have been described as a "dry" paper, for five different breweries advertised their wares in the four pages of The Times. There were also plenty of mining stock and oil company advertisements. One interesting notice was from the Kingston and Pembroke Railway, vulgarly called in those days the "Kick and Push," which claimed that it offered the best route between Peterborough and Kingston.

YOU BECOME WHAT YOU EAT!

Robt. G. Jackson, M.D. Now in his 84th year

It cannot be doubted that the greatest evil of our civilization is wrong foods and feeding methods; trying to live upon unnatural constipating foods and ignoring the food-gifts of Nature which come from the farm and field.

Our resistance to sickness and debility is maintained and measured by the amount of vitality we possess and vitality can be obtained and maintained by eating foods that have in them a vital or life principle which they can transfer to us.

I positively assert that if you, well or ill, will eat one full meal daily of any one of my natural whole-grain cereals, Dr. Jackson Meal (formerly Roman Meal) Bekus-Puddy, or Lishus; one meal consisting largely of green vegetable salad, or fresh fruit; consume milk and cheese freely, and drink four to six cups daily of my alkaline beverage Kofy Sub, choosing the balance of the food intake from simple, sensible foods, you will realize why I, at 83, am younger in mind and more vigorous in body than 90% of men and women in their early forties.

The Clock Never Quit

DAWSON, Y.T., May 2—(CP).—The ice was going out in Yukon River today but hundreds of persons who had guessed the time of the breakup—and backed their guesses with hard cash tore up their tickets in the big pool without knowing who had come closest to being the winner.

Electric apparatus which stops the official clock at Dawson when the ice goes out failed to work yesterday when breakup came. The pool amounting to $4,000 this year will be carried over until next year, although smaller pools will be decided by public drawings. The breakup came at approximately 10:50 a.m., the second time on record the ice has moved out in April.

Unity attended the wedding, RIGHT, in her first public appearance since she returned from Germany more than a year ago with mysterious bullet wounds in her neck.

Rangers Urged To Maintain High Efficiency

Colonel J. A. Dewart, M.C., E.D., officer commanding, Wednesday night urged the personnel of The Prince of Wales' Rangers (MG) to maintain their present state of efficiency in order to speed the process of mobilization for active service when that time should arrive.

Replying to a toast to "The Regiment" at the annual dinner of Headquarters Company, he expressed a hope that the day is not far distant when the Rangers will mobilize as a unit, and take its place in the battle line in the fight for freedom.

He spoke gravely of the Nazi menace and dwelt on the gigantic task confronting the people's of the British Empire and their allies, which he said would call for the highest type of personal sacrifice. While he did not minimize the strength of the enemy's fighting machine, experience in the last war and in the present, demonstrated the British soldier was more than a match for the German soldier all things being equal, he said.

Pointing with pride to the honored traditions of the Prince of Wales' Rangers, the officer commanding reminded that the Regiment had already made a bigger contribution during the present war than is generally realized.

Ranks Depleted

After the former O.C. received orders last July to mobilize Headquarters Company of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders the Rangers found its roll of officers, warrant officers, and NCO's sadly depleted, so that the unit had to be reorganized, he reminded.

Colonel Dewart pointed to the fact that on that occasion a drive for recruits brought the Regiment up to war establishment within the brief space of three weeks.

In succeeding months he added, members of the Regiment have been and are gradually going on active service, so that at the moment it has its former members represented in all arms of the active service forces as well as a large representation in the RCAF and some in the RCN.

Keep in Readiness

Exhorting all ranks to hold themselves in constant readiness for active service, Colonel Dewart stated, "It is the duty of every member of the Regiment to live up to the traditions of those who have gone before and to shoulder his full responsibility as a member of the British Empire."

The war had only begun in his opinion and he said he believed that a long, bitter struggle lay ahead, the brunt of which would have to be borne by those of Anglo-Saxon stock.

The toast to which the O.C. responded was ably proposed by C.S.M. N. H. Gell, whose promotion from the rank of Sergeant was announced at the dinner.

Lieut. F. R. Pope was toastmaster, while Captain J. H. Morley, second-in-command of the Company, presided, supported by Lieut.-Colonel M. H. Park, V.D.

Another Exodus

BUDAPEST, Hungary, May 2 — (AP). — The military commander of the Hungarian-occupied part of Yugoslavia has ordered "all Serbs, Bosnians, Montenegrins, Gypsies and Jews and their descendants who were not Hungarian citizens before October 31, 1918, to move out within three days, beginning at 8 a.m. May 28."

The announcement today did not say where the deportees are expected to go.

The decree made exceptions of husbands and wives of German and Hungarian Nationals, women within two weeks of childbirth and persons more than 75 years old.

Those forced to leave, it said, may take only the property they can carry with them and enough money to covet their expenses.

DIGESTION IMPROVED Complexion Cleared Up

Happy Woman's Story

Everyone who is subject to any form of indigestion should know of this woman's experiences. Advice from one who has had such severe attacks is advice worth having. She writes:—

"I suffered from indigestion, gastritis and constipation, and was so very ill, I had (on medical advice) to live on soda biscuits and milk for three months. Well, a friend advised me to take Kruschen, and now I am pleased to say I am greatly improved. I can eat and enjoy a good meal without any painful after-effects, my skin is clearer—in fact, quite clear—and there is no sign of constipation. I would advise anyone suffering the same to take Kruschen."

—(Mrs.) M. R. L.

The immediate effect of the several salts in Kruschen is to stimulate your liver and kidneys to normal action and help to free your system of poisonous waste matter. Soon after you start on Kruschen you will find that you are able to enjoy your food without distressing after-effects.

Engineers Span River In Hour

Somewhere in England, May 2.—(CP)—In one hour, 2nd Division Royal Canadian Engineers threw a large bridge over a river during the last Canadian Corps manoeuvre, saving the mimic attack from stalling and enabling the motorized columns to press through to the invasion coast.

Bridging ahead of the fast-moving Canadians calls for skill and speed, and these sappers met the test in big-league style as they carried out this operation for the first time during a corps counter-invasion rehearsal. The bridge was strong enough to carry heavy vehicles.

Twenty-two thousand troops were moving rapidly along two roads to the sea when army umpires, whose job is to try to confuse the corps with obstacles, ruled that a bridge on one of the roads had been blown up.

Orders to bridge the river were flashed to the engineers and in half an hour three six-wheeled trucks, carrying girders and all the standard Canadian equipment for bridging rolled up. This was a field park company under Capt. F. J. Payne of Sarnia, Ont., with Lieut. Jack Clunie of Sarnia as second-in-command.

Anti-aircraft guns for defence during the operation were set up, with live ammunition in the clips ready for any German day raiders, and the company began work.

L.-Cpl. Andy Easton of Exeter, Ont., and Cpl. Tommy Fox of Sarnia gave orders as 25 Western Ontario sappers, including W. C. Gough and Johnny Talbot, both of Windsor, Ont., prepared equipment for the job.

Behind the Field Park Company came Field Company ready to construct the bridge.

Girders were laid in line by sweating sappers and steel arms with heavy wheels on the ends were fixed to them.

Skidding the girders along rollers on the bank, the Engineers shot them over the water until the wheel on the leading arm caught the other side. With a boisterous "heave-ho" the girders were shot into place. Girders were placed over the river, side by side, and planks placed on top, providing a roadway over the water for the heaviest vehicles in the corps.

It was completed just as advance columns of the corps moved up and more than half the division passed over the bridge.

Meanwhile the travelling crane of the Field Park Company, mounted on another six-wheel truck, stood by to help the bridging sappers. When it wasn't needed it was used to haul a two-ton chunk of concrete and brick, knocked off the bridge abutment, out of the river.

By a block and tackle system, the crew—two Windsor, Ont., brothers, Sprs. Ray and Art Marlow, Spr. Wilfred Collins of Windsor, and Spr. Jim Gamble of Guelph, Ont. — heaved it out of the way in a few minutes.

Call More Women

LONDON, May 2—(CP). — The Ministry of Labor and National Service today ordered women born in 1919 to register May 3.

The registration will show how the women are occupied and how many are available for war work. It is part of the plan for listing different age groups at regular intervals.

Navy Casualties

OTTAWA, May 1—(CP).—Three members of the Royal Canadian navy were reported killed on war service and another killed in an air raid on London today in official casualty list.

Two men were listed as missing on active service, raising to 337 the total number of dead and missing reported by naval headquarters since war began.

Music Festival Has Big Entry

PORT HOPE, May 2—(ENS). — J. Campbell-McInnes, adjudicator of the Durham County Music Festival last year has been re-engaged this year, officials of the committee announced Wednesday. The festival is in the United church, Port Hope, May, 13, 14, 15.

Already a large entry list has been received for the festival and competition promises to be keen.

Mr. McInnes is a noted British baritone who needs no introduction to music lovers in this district. His first professional appearance was in Haydn's "Creation" and Handel's "Messiah," before coming to Canada. He was eighteen years of age at the time. Later he appeared in Paris and became known as "our finest Bach singer."

In Canada his activities have been centered in Toronto.

Moving Trucks Are Kept Busy

"We have been turning away business for a week," saaid Mrs. Edward Reid yesterday when she was asked if there was much of a demand for May day moving to-day. "Our four trucks are going steady and there is much more business than we can hope to do with the rush," she told the Examiner. "I had to refuse five people one night this week within fifteen minutes."

Peterborough Fuel and Transfer is also feeling the rush of moving business. On Tuesday night, they moved three families and had to have their men work overtime.

Another carter said one family in an apartment was ordered to move out with but a few hours' notice. A second family moved in and the first family had to store the furniture when no house was available for them.

Practically all city moving firms agreed there would be much more moving done if there were homes or apartments for rent.

Rents Hubby Out For $10,000; He Wants Half

LOS ANGELES, May 2.—(AP)—How a woman allegedly loaned her husband to another woman for $10,000 and promised him half came to light today as he asked for his share in a suit for divorce.

Samuel Brummel, insurance salesman, sued Mrs. Lillian Brummel on grounds of desertion. She has filed a cross-complaint alleging cruelty and desertion on his part.

Identified in the divorce case as the woman who assertedly paid $10,000 for the loan of Brummel was Mrs. Norma Brummel, who married him in 1938 after Mrs. Lillian Brummel obtained a Mexican divorce. Last year, however, Mrs. Norma Brummel obtained an annulment on the ground the first Mrs. Brummel's divorce was not legal and that Brummel had been married all along to his first wife.

Brummel asks $5,000 from his first wife as his part of the community property.

Brummel detailed how his wife promised to give him half the money after he divorced the second Mrs. Brummel, and continued: "My wife told me at least one hundred times that I was only loaned for a year. She would say: 'Remember, I expect you back after one year. I am just loaning you out'."

Brummel said he married Mrs. Norma Brummel a month after the divorce, but that he lived "under Norma's roof" only four weeks.

Asked if he continued to see his first wife while he was married to the second, Brummel said: "Oh, yes, we saw each other right along."

Always Pro-German

LONDON, May 2—(CP).—R. A. Butler, Under-Secretary of Foreign Affairs, answered "Yes" in the House of Commons today to a member who asked him whether Charles Lindbergh had not "consistently, always used his influence to prevent effective action against Germany."

His questioner was Vyvyan Adams, Conservative.

The brief discussion involving Lindbergh brought a statement from Mr. Butler that the American flier's views on the strength of the Soviet Union about the time of the Munich pact in September, 1938, were considered of "no undue significance" by the British Government.

He refused to answer a question by Ellis Smith, Labor, whether Lindbergh had used his influence "along with a well-known lady member of this House."

Old Glory Flies In Scotland

The stars and stripes of the United States are raised with the flags of Poland and England's Royal Air Force at an airfield where Polish fliers are stationed "Somewhere in Scotland." The occasion was a visit to the field by President Raczkiewicz of Poland and Anthony Drexel Biddle, U.S. Ambassador to Poland.

Earl McAdam Elected President Of Campbellford Cheese Board

CAMPPBELLFORD, May 2 (ENS)—At the early opening of the Campbellford Cheese Board here Thursday evening members chose Earl McAdams as their president for 1941. The Board, which is now six years old held its first meeting three weeks earlier. Mr. McAdam during the three years he has been a member has occupied several offices including membership on the executive committee and vice-presidency. Mr. McAdam, president of the Hoards Cheese factory succeeds George A. Elliott as president of the Board.

"It is my intention to continue to work in the interests of the Board and I have every confidence that with the support of the members we will be able to carry on with our same amount of success," stated Mr. McAdam. He also spoke of the leadership and cooperation Mr. Elliott had given during the time he was president.

G. A. Elliott, vice-president of the Ontario Cheese Producers Association, addressed the Board, thanking the members for their courtesy, wishing them every success in the coming year.

"Twice as much cheese this year will be made over last," maintained G. A. Gillespie, president of Silverwood Dairy, Peterborough. "Although there is a black outlook under the present labor conditions, I know that the men engaged in making cheese will put forth every effort to put out as much as they can."

Need High Scoring Cheese

He urged each factory to endeavor to make high scoring cheese. This, he claimed, was no trouble if each factory obtained pure milk, which the milk produce could give if disposable sanitary strainers were used and the milk cooled in cold water.

J. A. Murray, dairy instructor, briefly reviewed the rules and regulations of the Board. Herb Nelson, vice-president of the Northumberland Cheese Patrons Association, assured members that every effort was being put forth to increase the price of cheese.

Much discussion arose over the basic 1941 price of cheese to Britain. This has been set at 14.4 cents added to this is a 6/10 cent subsidy from the Dominion Government, also 2 cents from the provincial government plus the premiums of 1 cent and 2 cents per pound on 93 and 94 score. This put the Montreal price for 92, 93 and 94 score cheese at 17 cents, 18 cents and 19 cents. This was explained by Mr. Nelson.

Others to address the Cheese Board were Mr. A. J. Meyers, Mr. J. Bradbury of Peterborough, Mr. W. H. Bailey of Belleville, and Mr. G. A. Thompson.

Officers elected were: First vice-president, Hector Arnold; second vice-president, Arthur Orr; secretary-treasurer, S. A. Maguire. The executive committee, Messrs. G. G. Stephens, Jesse Locke and George McCubbin. Auditors, J. A. Murray and M. H. West.

Mr. Roy Walker, a past president of Board, was chairman during the election of officers with Hylton Coxwel as acting secretary.

The next weekly meeting will be May 8 at 7:30 Eastern Standard Time. The membership fee of $2.50 will remain unchanged.

Voice For Labor

Harrisburg, Pa., May 2 (AP).

JOHN L. LEWIS says the United States government cannot expect "too much co-operation" in the defence program until labor is granted a voice in America's affairs.

Addressing a Pennsylvania industrial council convention dinner for Philip Murray, who succeeded him as Congress of Industrial Organizations chieftain, Lewis last night charged "selfish interests have been able to make a profit out of the nation's distress."

He blamed concentration of war orders in the hands of a few manufacturers for "the bottleneck that is restricting America's preparation."

William Knudsen, director general of production management, is "one of the men responsible for the bottleneck," added Lewis.

T.N.O. Secretary Dies

NORTH BAY, May 2 (CP)—William H. Maund, secretary and assistant general manager of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, died at his home here this morning following a lengthy illness. He was in his 58th year.

One of the oldest members of the T. and N.O. executive from the point of seniority, Mr. Maund had been confined to his home for several weeks. He was secretary of the T. and N.O. Railway commission.

Fenelon Hunters Bag 96 Foxes

LINDSAY, May 2—(ENS).—Colin McInnis, of Manilla, one of the best known residents of that district, was found dead in bed Thursday morning by his sister, Mrs. Ormiston. He had been a victim of arthritis, but appeared to be in good spirits before retiring the night before. He was a successful farmer for many years, and on his retirement took up residence in Manilla.

Hunters living in the Fenelon Falls district have compiled the number of foxes bagged during the winter's operations, and they report a total of ninety-six. The largest kill was by George Calder, who bagged 31. This is a record for the past twenty years. Wolves are reported in great numbers in the district around Wilberforce, Haliburton county, and the deer have been depleted at an enormous rate. A few nights ago a settler near the hamlet suffered the loss of a pig which was taken from his barn by wolves. The following night two deer were devoured near his home. Residents in that district state that wolves have been more destructive than usual.

Game Overseer Alf. Hodgson states that trapping season conditions were not as favorable as in past seasons. It was his opinion that prices per pelt would be considerably increased, but he also thought the catch would be smaller.

"... helps to bring VICTORY NOW and PROSPERITY at the end."

Right Honourable ERNEST BEVIN

"It's a sensible thing to do," said Britain's great labour leader, in his broadcast to Canadian workers, in support of War Savings Certificates . . . "a great double-barreled weapon which helps to bring victory now and prosperity at the end. The greater the willingness which people show in placing their surplus cash, large and small, to support war effort, the greater is their faith in ultimate victory. We know that if we slacken production for a minute we are prolonging the war."

May Block Hogs Going Into U.S.

OTTAWA, May 2—(CP).—hought has been given to the possible necessity of having to check the flow of hogs across the border to United States markets, Hon. T. G. Taggart, Saskatchewan agriculture minister and chairman of the bacon board, said yesterday.

Mr. Taggart said the situation was not pressing as the movement of hogs to the United States had yet to reach large proportions. There was the possibility that attractive hog prices south of the border might cause large-scale Canadian shipments at a time when the bacon board has demands above original contracts for supplying bacon to the United Kingdom.

Mr. Taggart said that board meetings in Ottawa were reviewing the general situation in respect to bacon.

Beautiful Drive About Rice Lake

GORE'S LANDING, May 2 (ENS)—With the balmy spring weather of the past few days bringing out the fresh green foliage of trees and hillside, "Wild-plum-blossom week" will be in full swing by the week-end.

To fully enjoy the restful beauty of the countryside in May, we suggest a drive around Rice Lake for the coming week-end.

Take the first turn to the left off Highway 28 after passing through Bewdley. Follow this concession which winds along the shores of Rice Lake to Gore's Landing and then to below Harwood. The road is a little rough in places, but is rapidly being put in shape for traffic. The ever changing view of lake and islands more than compensates for lack of paved roads.

The drive can be continued to Hastings and thence back the north shore of Rice Lake to Highway 28. If a shorter drive is wished, take the Baltimore road out of Harwood. This road winds through a lovely country and connects with the paved highway between Baltimore and Cobourg.

Another route is via Highway No. 2 from Port Hope, where it connects with Highway 28. Take the county road from Cobourg to Gore's Landing which is in excellent condition through to Harwood and Roseneath.

The tourist parks in the vicinity of Rice Lake are being put in shape for the summer season. Two parks in the village of Gore's Landing look most attractive and two more between the Landing and Harwood are having new additions to their buildings as an accommodation to the travelling public.

Murray Y. Gates And Bride To Live In Montreal

The marriage took place quietly at the home of the bridegroom's mother this afternoon at three o'clock of Lillian Ruth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford N. Hall of Halifax, N.S., to Murray Yeatman Gates, son of Mrs. A. B. Gates and the late Mr. Gates. Rev. Dr. G. S. Easton officiated, and wedding music was played by Mrs. A. C. Sharpe.

Given in marriage by her uncle W. W. Hall, of Toronto, the bride wore a gown of white marquisette over taffeta, the diagonal tucking in the narrow yoke repeated in the slim waistline and long, full sleeves. A band of bouvardia held her shoulder-length tulle veil, and she carried rapture roses and bouvardia. Mrs. A. L. Graham of Toronto, in blue marquisette over taffeta, and Miss Mildred Lloyd of Fort Frances, Ont., in mauve marquisette over taffeta, were the attendants. They wore matching hats trimmed with forget-me-nots. The groomsman was Mr. Kenneth Gates.

For travelling the bride wore a pastel blue wool dress with matching tweed coat, blue felt hat and beige accessories. Mr. Gates and his bride will live in Montreal.

Nurses To Raise Money For English Comrades

Emphasis was placed on the need of raising money for the British civilian nurses at the recent convention of the Registered Nurses' Association of Ontario. The response given to the appeal by the nurses themselves has been splendid up to the present, but the demand placed upon them exceeds their ability to give, and the R.N.N.O. officers announced their intention to apply under the War Charities Act for permission to raise money for this fund for the duration of the war.

It was explained at the convention that the nurses in the war services will be looked after by their respective government, but the nurses in public hospitals, in general hospitals, nursing homes, those doing private duty and those on public health staffs—all of whom are performing an important service in a bomb-raided land—have suffered severely from bombs and air raids, in many cases losing all their personal possessions.

As a result the nurses of Canada feel it is their duty to meet this need and to begin to meet it every nurse in Ontario—those who are married as well as those still active in their profession—are expected to give one cent for each day of the year.

All donations for England's civilain nurses are turned in to the Canadian National Nurses' Association, to be forwarded to the Royal College of Nurses in England.

To Wed This Month

The wedding of Miss Joanne Valerie Patterson and Mr. Keith Philip Copping, pictured ABOVE, is to take place in St. James-Bond United Church, Toronto, on May 17. The bride-elect is the daughter of Staff Sergt. R. R. Patterson and Mrs. Patterson, and Mr. Copping is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gray Copping of Peterborough.

LOVE .. POWER

By OREN ARNOLD

YESTERDAY: Dr. Robert Hale, young scientist, and his assistant, Leana Sormi, stand in awe of the modern miracle they have performed. Hurriedly, they lock their laboratory, plan to place a guard over their secret. Meantime Dr. Hale has advertised for a secretary. At his office he finds Carolyn Tyler, beautiful, charming. Salary is no item, but he warns her of the secrecy, the danger that must surround her work. She is not afraid. "But this," Dr. Hale continues, "is something that will revolutionize civilization!"

CHAPTER II

"THIS can be your desk. It's by a window. . . . Your typewriter needs a new ribbon. . . . Your notebook can rest on the desk arm, thus. . . . I can lower your chair, you are not as tall as I. . . . If I walk about as I dictate, don't be distracted, please. . . . You must weigh about 120 pounds, don't you, Miss Tyler?

It was Carolyn's first chance to get in an answer. He had been speaking in a monotone, getting her settled with meticulous attention to details.

"Only 118," she corrected. Then added, half amused, "Must I pass a physical test, too?"

"Oh, no! I—I was just noting how becoming your street dress is. I am sensitive to all sorts of phenomena. It is unimportant at the hire a guard. Men, with guns. I have no idea where to get them!"

Carolyn looked her surprise. She noted that he was gazing off now, frowning. Something inside her told her to take the initiative; here, maybe, was her chance to make good with him at once! An exceptional job with exceptional pay, th advertisement had said. Well, it meant she had to use her head, no doubt.

"I'll get them," she volunteered blindly. "How many men, Dr. Hale? And what salaries? And where— "

"Oh. Why, any salary necessary. You must understand that money is no object here now, Miss Tyler! We are amply financed. We have something of transcendant importance. All former requisites, all of human thinking, must be reorganized so as to—"

"Goodness! Then, no doubt, we can buy the necessary guns. What kind? And how many "

"Why, a dozen men at least. On all sides of the main laboratory yonder to see that absolutely no one even approaches the place night or day."

"Whew!"

"It is extremely important, Miss Tyler!"

"I don't doubt it. Let me use the telephone."

ODDLY enough, he appeared now to forget her entirely. She noted the way he buried his nose in papers and charts at his broad desk. Plainly he had been willing to delegate a task to her, then assume that she would do it promptly and exactly right.

She was a trifle nervous about all this. And yet, she would try! She dialed a number. Ken Palmer answered, and instantly she spoke most earnestly to him, in somewhat hushed manner.

"Ken! Ken, this is me. This is I, I mean. Look here, Ken, listen carefully. I got the job. I am out at Dr. Hale's laboratory now, at work and—listen carefully, Ken—stop whatever you're doing and go buy me one dozen rifles and one dozen pistols . . . No, Ken, no and no and no! Listen to me! Get a dozen of each and send them out here at once! Money is—is no consideration. Send them C.O.D. or anything.

"And Ken, hire me some — I am NOT being funny, I tell you! Hire me a dozen trusted men to use those guns. I mean, to stand guard around a place for Dr. Hale . . . Yes, guard, like—well, like soldiers or police or something. Men we know, or you know, Ken. Hurry!"

Something of her intensity must have slid over the wire to him. Ken Palmer became serious, as one does with any emergency call. A minute later Carolyn was back near her employer.

"It's taken care of," she announced. "They'll be here before night."

"That's fine. There's your dictation pad. A letter for Dr. P. D. Hines, University Hall, Detroit.

"Dear Dr. Hines: Miss Sormi and I hasten to report that the experiment was a complete success. Of course, I shall withhold details until adequate tests can be run. Anything but absolute secrecy would be devastating now. Also, there has been no time to prepare the necessary shields. It happened only this afternoon. Measure of the radiation is impossible today but lead plates can be arranged within a week. In any event there is grave danger at this stage, as you will realize. Leana Sormi knows every step I have taken, so that if anything should happen to me before I can have detailed reports made out, then—"

Carolyn's eyes narrowed. She stole a quick glance at him, then had to keep her pencil flying. Fortunately, she was an expert at secretarial work. Two years with an energetic banker had helped. Dr. Hale was gripping both corners of his desk now, looking straight ahead and talking. He ended this letter and went instantly into a rather technical report, referring often to his own notes as he dictated.

ABOUT 4 he paused to dismiss politely the other girls who had come hoping for a job. Carolyn felt a definite sympathy for them. At 5.20 she and Dr. Hale were interrupted again by a knock on the office door. Carolyn answered, glad of another moment of rest.

"Ken!" she greeted a tall young man. "You—you brought them "

He nodded. "Nearly $700 worth And C. O. D., if I may be so bold as to—"

Dr. Hale didn't even hesitate. He just wrote a check and gave it to Ken Palmer. Together the three went outside. Twelve men were waiting, mostly young men of excellent physiques.

"Happens the police department keeps a waiting list," Ken Palmer explained. "Up to 100 applicants for jobs on the force. Men who have passed rather rigid tests already. I was able to get a dozen in a hurry. I'd do anything Carolyn asked, Dr. Hale! I hope you treat her right out here."

"Hush, Ken! And thank you ever so much!"

They stationed the guard at Dr. Hale's direction. It took half an hour more. Soon after 6 o'clock, though, Carolyn and Robert Hale were back in his office at dictation again, which surprised her.

Things had moved with incredible swiftness since she nervily came out here at 3 o'clock, one hour ahead of her appointment. She had no idea what to expect next. A sense of excitement, too vague to understand but too emphatic to ignore, charged the air around this great laboratory and office here on the outskirts of town. Curiosity in Carolyn was at the steaming point, too, so that she had some difficulty maintaining a business-like poise.

At 7 p.m. Dr. Hale was droning on, using more and more scientific terms in his dictation. Her fingers were growing tired. Then all at once he surprised her again.

"Who is this Mr. Palmer?" he asked.

"Ken?" she looked up and smiled. "Oh, Ken's just a boy in love with me?"

Dr. Robert Hale, scientist, slowly frowned. "Astonishing."

"Astonishing that a boy should be in love with me?"

"No, no! I meant, it is astonishing how your—your eyes distract one. The, uh, pigmentation is—" He paused, awkwardly.

Carolyn squelched a quick little smile of amusement, tucked in her lower lip. Her distinguished employer was more than a scientist, she realized; he could be intensely interesting. And human.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, May 3

The planetary configurations, both by lunar and mutual aspect, should presage such an unusual, intriguing and perhaps spectacular trend of events as to suggest a state of mental confusion or obscurity in the public consciousness. And public, community or group interests may be of transcendent importance, with the nature of developments surprising and bewildering. In such circumstances great discrimination and discretion are required in the happy and successful manipulation of private lives. Being carried away by personal emotions holds hazards.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may participate in a year of great excitement or spectacular adventures, probably of a public or sensational nature. The personal emotions and excitements are liable to carry to heights of excessive expression or regrettable unconventionality. The mentality may be chaotic or confused, luring to dangerous intrigues, while discretion should bring proper gratifications and safe rewards.

A child born on this day should have many talents of a high order and possibly in the line of unique expression—artistic, musical, dramatic or scientific. It may be mystical as well as romantic.

DO YOU KNOW . . .

Costume jewelry and dress ornaments can usually be kept bright if washed frequently with a soft-bristled brush dipped in a thick soap lather. Use only a little water to avoid loosening the stone. Rinse carefully and dry with a clean, lintless cloth.

A pillow can be checked for resilience by depressing its centre with the palm of the hand. If it quickly regains its shape after the pressure is removed, there is still life and buoyancy in the feathers. If not, it is indication that the feathers are probably worn out and a new pillow needed.

Good quality feather pillows are light in weight—an all-down pillow 21 by 27 inches weighs about 1½ pounds.

Shall never fade away.

Career Girl Gets Good Pay

Excitingly successful! That's how every young fashion artist feels when her first cheque assures her. "You're good!"

And it doesn't take great talent or many years of study. You can begin to learn at home.

Charts show you the proportions of the body, how to start your figure. Draw a vertical line for body and legs, an oval for the head. Then draw horizontal lines for bust, shoulders, hips and waist, slanting them as the pose requires.

You easily draw the graceful poses of fashion figures when you know such simple rules as this one. Weight on one side of the vertical line is always balanced by weight on the other—in letter "S" effects in our diagram. On the side supporting the body draw the hip high.

The main contours flow easily now and your garment should follow these contours faithfully. Be sure to play up the main features, for your aim is to sell the dress, you know. And place its center on the figure's center.

Our 24-page instruction book shows in detail, with charts and illustrations, how to draw the fashion figure. Explains perspective, foreshortening, line and wash techniques, the drawing of brics and furs.

Send 15c in coins or stamps for your copy of FASHION DRAWING MADE EASY to the Exsminer, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of book-let.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

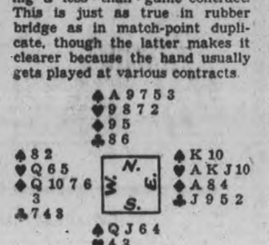
WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

WHO IS VULNERABLE?

IN MANY a situation, the action you take depends upon which side, if either, is vulnerable. One standard situation of that kind arises when you reckon your side can make a game or set the opponents' doubled bid a couple of tricks. If you are vulnerable and they are not, you have to beat them four tricks to get a better score than the game. If they are vulnerable and you are not, defeating them a mere two tricks will give you the better result. The same principle applies to part score deals. If your side cannot make a game, you do better by setting them even one vulnerable doubled trick than by making a less-than-game contract. This is just as true in rubber bridge as in match-point duplicate, though the latter makes it clearer because the hand usually gets played at various contracts.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♠	1 NT
Dble

South led his club K against this, and then, wishing to retain a chance for North to lead through East's probable guarded J, switched to the spade Q. The A won, the K was knocked out by the return, and East then ran four heart tricks, followed by the diamond A. He then was doomed to lose the rest. When he led his diamond 8 to the K, South switched to a spade, so that his side finished with tricks in the black suits. This defeated East only one trick, but since he was vulnerable, it gave North and South a score of 200, top on the board for them in the duplicate where the hand was dealt.

Most tables produced a contract of spades for North-South, who made three-odd for a score of 90 plus 50 bonus for part-score contract, or a total of only 140. These declarers lost one trick in spades, two in hearts and one in diamonds.

Of course, if West, over the double of 1-No Trump, had made a weakness takeout of 2-Diamonds his side would have been in a makable contract, but he passed on the hope that the doubled contract could be made for a top score. Anyway, if he bid the diamonds, the opponents would have gone into spades, though not for any top score.

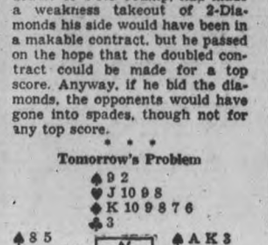
Tomorrow's Problem



(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

If the defenders take the club A, two top spades, two high hearts and East then leads the club Q, how can South keep from losing any more tricks at his contract of 3-Spades on this deal?

SICK HEADACHE?

BOTH ARE IN ALKA SELTZER

Don't let that "all-in" feeling get you down. When fatigue upsets your stomach, makes your head miserable, take Alka-Seltzer. Its alkalizing qualities help to neutralize excess stomach acid. Its pain-relieving elements quickly help to ease the misery of upset stomach or sick headache.

Pleasant and Refreshing

Drop an Alka-Seltzer tablet or two in a glass of water. Watch its sparkling, effervescent action. Then drink it and see how it comes to your rescue when you need relief. Not a laxative.

MORE ABOUT—

Beaverbrook

full time to the military and diplomatic aspects of the war.

Political observers said Lord Beaverbrook's new post would make him, in effect, a sort of deputy prime minister.

It appeared the change would not affect the composition of the existing war cabinet of which Lord Beaverbrook has been a member.

Two other minor government changes were made, Col. J. J. Llewellin and Frederick Montague trading their respective posts as parliamentary secretary to the minister of transport and parliamentary secretary to the minister of aircraft production.

The Daily Express, published by Lord Beaverbrook, said: "Lord Beaverbrook's transfer to a job without departmental cares means he can be thrown by the prime minister into the battle wherever it is hottest."

The New Expert

Unification of the ministries of transport and shipping brought favorable comment from most quarters. Mr. Leathers, who takes over the new wartime communications portfolio, has been adviser on coal to the ministry of shipping. Though his name does not appear in "Who's Who" and he has not been prominent in politics, he is a director of 51 corporations with worldwide connections and is known as an expert on shipping problems.

Born in London's poor East End, he began his career as an office boy and is now managing director of the company with which he started.

Lord Beaverbrook, whose origins were also humble, long has been an important figure in public life, where he has earned a reputation as a gruff go-getter.

He was born William Maxwell Aitken, son of a Scottish minister, near Aurora, Ont., on May 25, 1879. Starting as a newsboy, he went into the insurance business and then into banking, engineering a series of financial coups culminated by the merger of several Canadian cement companies.

Before he was 30 he had massed a fortune which later enabled him to become a powerful figure in Britain as a publisher.

He was influential in the unseating of the Asquith government and the rise of David Lloyd George to prime minister. He was raised to the peerage in 1917. His only public office before he was called into the government a year ago was as minister of information in 1916.

Run Dive-Bomber

The Royal Air Force saved most of its pilots, for the great German numerical superiority in the air enabled the Nazi fliers to bomb the R.A.F. planes to bits when they were on the ground and unoccupied. The British fliers estimated they had down about 10 per cent of the German planes, with a high toll of German pilots.

Here is the way the British troops escaped:

Whole British battalions lay concealed beneath the trees by day as the soldiers waited for boats, and the German dive-bombers searched vainly for them.

By night the beaches were alive with men, the sea cluttered with boats. Every vessel that could pass muster was used, and the greater part—48,000 out of 60,000—got away.

All Material Destroyed.

Little material could be taken away, but most of that which was left behind was destroyed. The Germans, when they reached the shore, found the woods full of wrecked vehicles, destroyed supplies.

British troops came down to the sea with their rifles, packs and machine guns, and most of them carried them away with them.

In the cases of bigger guns, the breeches were torn off before they were abandoned.

Many trucks were merely rolled into the sea, others pitched over cliffs so the Germans could never use them.

In some cases hand grenades were used to destroy British vehicles; others were chopped to pieces with axes or set afire with gasoline.

With the R.A.F. having lost its forward air fields by the break through the Mount Olympus line, and with the Greeks near collapse for all their valliant struggle, the British Command desided on the afternoon of April 22 to pull out.

With a motley group of Australian troops, civilian refugees and 130 German prisoners, I left Piraeus on the last boat out of that port of Athens. Our little boat, jammed with nearly 1,000 persons left the harbor at night, shortly before midnight, and got clear just as the Germans bombed the port for the fourth time in 24 hours.

Piraeus already was a jungle of broken and twisted wreckage when we left, threading our way through channels strewn with German airborne mines.

Arriving at Crete by noon, we found our port there under steady German and Italian air attack. I saw one ship go down in seven minutes but our own was not touched.

Going ashore, we learned that King George II of Greece, the Premier and the Royal household had arrived in Crete in a British plane April 23.

There were no arrangements for receiving royalty, but a station wagon was obtained and in it the monarch was driven for 4½ hours over Crete's rough mountain roads to his destination.

Crete will be defended, and the rugged island, with snow-capped peaks and scarcely any level ground, lends itself to defense. A British general told me it could and would be held, and the Greeks agreed.

The crew of our Greek ship did not want to go further, so most of the refugees were taken to a camp ashore. The Australians and I stayed aboard for another day, then came on to Egypt on an oil tanker.

Sitting atop 6,000 tons of oil at sea with dive-bombers playing about overhead does not induce calm nerves, but nothing serious happened.

Bad Weather Helped

Cloudy days are rare at this time of the year in the Mediterranean, but we got one overcast sky, with a bitter wind, and a cold, piercing rain.

"Nice cloudy day, sir," said the mate to the captain as grey dawn arrived. Everybody laughed, but it was nice weather for us, because bombers could not locate us, and we came safely through to Egypt.

The problem of British troops in Greece was complicated by the fact that Greece had only two harbors, with facilities for unloading heavy British materials. These were Piraeus, adjoining Athens, and Salonika.

Salonika fell early into German hands, and Piraeus was quickly wrecked by German bombs.

This prevented landing of any more effective aid, and it was decided to withdraw the British Expeditionary Forces with their comparatively low casualties up to that time—much lower than they had inflicted on the Germans — rather than try to continue holding back a German force of at least thirty divisions (300,000 or more men, against the British 60,000).

Orderly Withdrawal

When this decision was made, Britons and the Anzac commanders had just installed themselves on the so-called Thermopylae line, an elliptical front running from Thermopylae on the Aegean to a point near the ancient oracle of Delphi on the Gulf of Corinth.

The withdrawal to this line had been most orderly, despite terrific and constant German air attacks.

I was in the withdrawal with British, Australian and New Zealand troops falling back in their vehicles behind covering forces. They were somewhat chastened by the fury of the German attacks which drove them from the Mount Olympus line, but still were grimly determined to defend the new positions.

It has been planned to make an intermediate stand north of Lamia, but this was abandoned primarily because of the danger of Germans landing airplane troops and parachutists on the plain just to the south.

The Germans did use air-borne troops but did not succeed in landing them behind the British lines. They resorted to parachutists later to grab the single bridge over the Corinthian Canal to keep British engineers from blowing it up, and also landed troops by plane in the Peloponnesus later.

This speeded up their penetration of Southern Greece, but it had little effect on the British troops, who by that time had mostly withdrawn.

Bathed in Hot Springs

Thermopylae itself, a shelf of land between the cliffs and the sea, was filled with barbed wire and tank traps.

We tarried there long enough to bathe in the hot springs from which the place takes its name—the Hot Gates.

Strong positions were taken up on the main road farther west, and other British and Imperial troops dug in on the rugged mountains which formed the rest of that line.

But no great "modern battle of Thermopylae" ever was fought. Instead, the pass was held merely by covering parties for the evacuation line, and there was no truly major contact between Britains and Germans after the withdrawal from the Olympus sector.

The German air attacks on all the roads were so heavy that most of the withdrawals were by night. The nights of April 22 and 23 were moonless. This, together with the fact that the earlier Olympus withdrawals were achieved on two rainy nights which kept the Germans out of the air, was of tremendous importance.

Some British troops got to the beach of the Evvoia (Euboea) Channel, south of Khalkis, and were picked up by small boats. Others were taken off at many points along the Aegean coast.

The bulk of the army cut across Attica to the Megaramandara region.

House Endorses

seedings by increasing their summerfallow, coarse grains or grass acreage.

These acreage bonuses—together with the Government's decision to continue the initial wheat price of 70 cents per bushel, basis No. 1 Northern at Fort William, on a limited quota of wheat deliveries based on 65 per cent of the 1940 crop—came directly in issue through a C.C.F. amendment to the Conservative motion. The amendment was defeated by 134 votes to 40, the main motion by 128 to 44.

Regardless of whether the House disposes of the wheat question today it will turn to the budget debate on Monday. At that time Conservative House Leader Hanson will act as chief Opposition financial critic in a discussion of the new taxation and financing program announced by Finance Minister Ilsley in his budget speech last Tuesday.

The agricultural debate started before the Easter recess when Mark Senn (Con. Haldimand) proposed a want-of-confidence motion by way of amendment to the Government motion to resolve the House into Committee of Supply. While Mr. Senn dealt with farm conditions generally, Western members turned the discussion largely into a discussion of the wheat situation.

6-Point Alternative

The C.C.F. amendment concentrated attention on this phase of the farm problem by expressing disapproval of the government's 1941 wheat program. It put forward the six-point program endorsed by the Saskatchewan legislature as an alternative.

That program included an initial wheat price of 85 cents against the government's announcement of a 70-cent price, and called for a processing tax of 50 cents a bushel on wheat milled in Canada for domestic consumption, against the present tax of 15 cents, proceeds to be added to the initial 85-cent price.

Harry Leader (Lib. Portage La Prairie), an outspoken critic of the government's policy, voted with the C.C.F. group on this issue, as did all New Democracy members and a majority of Conservatives. Five Conservatives, J. S. Roy of Gaspe, Percy Black of Cumberland, George Black of Yukon, King Hazen of Saint John-Albert and Harry Jackman of Toronto-Rosedale voted against it with the Liberal following.

The main Conservative motion drew united support of all opposition groups. Mr. Leader refrained from voting.
